HOUSE BUILT FROM ONE FIR.

A fourteen room, two and a half story house, built entirely of the lumber from a single fir tree, was recently finished at Elma, on the west coast.

The tree was a giant Douglas fir and was felled west of the town. It was marvellously straight and when scaled was found to contain 40,000 feet of serviceable lumber. Inside the bark the stump measured 7 feet and 9 inches in diameter, and the total height of the tree was over 300 feet.

At the standard price of $25 a thousand the lumber in this tree was worth more than $1,000, Elma is in the midst of the great fir timber belt on the west slope of the Cascade Mountains.

FOLLY IN FUNERALS.

A trumpet blast from The Sun against the prevailing custom—the insane folly—of expensive funerals and still more expensive tombstones would be appreciated by many. A.M.

Our correspondent complains of a great and growing grievance. The cost od funerals and of tombstones is being carried to a most unreasonable height and many families are in consequence being subjected to a heavy financial strain at a time when they are least able to bear the same. It is doubtful, however, if a "trumpet blast" will provide the remedy. What is rather called for seems to be a little quiet reflection while death is still apparently in the distant future.

The causes which have brought about the increase complained of are easily discovered. A family to which affliction has suddenly come is, by that affliction, rendered temporarily unfitted for dealing with cold business affairs. The one desire is to express their respect and affection for the dead and this object can, they feel, be sufficiently accomplished only by the purchase of a costly coffin; and, later on, by buying a still more expensive monument. The tendency to give expression to grief in this manner is helped on by the action of neighbors and friends in filling the chamber of death with extravagant floral offerings.

The evil, for it is an evil, can best be met by community of action through church boards. A discussion and resolution by such boards approving the limitation of floral offerings to home garden or wild flowers, and disapproving of unduly expensive caskets, would have a beneficial effect. Still better results would be produced if, by any means, a sentiment could be created in favor of confining the stones marking the last resting place to those laid parallel with the ground. The towering monument is an abomination; it is out of keeping with the lowly dead and is a constant incentive to many, who can ill afford the cost, to indulge in like folly because it is the custom. A plain slab, laid on the level, is more enduring, and much more in accordance with the situation than a shaft of granite or marble which represents a futile attempt to carry the pride and pomp of life to the silence of the tomb through which we all return at last to the earth from whence we came.—The Weekly Sun.

THREE FEATHER BEDS.

Village of Victoria Concerned About Strange Disappearance.

The little village of Victoria, north of Brampton, is stirred to its depth by a mystery; and no ordinary kind of a mystery at that. Where did the three feather beds go to?

On the evening of Thursday, the 25th of August, Mrs. McKillop, who conducts a rooming-house in Victoria had three fleecy, sleep-producing feather beds. The night was dark, and while the village slept away the peaceful hours something was astir. Mrs. McKillop awoke in the morning to find that her prized feather beds had mysteriously disappeared, together with a complement of pillows, a quantity of loose feathers distantly related to those in the bed, and a supply of butter and eggs.

That the eggs might have come to life and walked away was within the bounds of possibilities, but that three feather beds could do so was out of the question, and suspicion was at once aroused by the further discovery that two guests of the house were missing. The guests who were engaged in the interesting business of gathering rags, bones, bottles, and sundry other commodities, possessed a waggon—still more suspicious, in view of the disappearance of the beds.

As it happened, a villager remembered the license number on the waggon, and, armed with this information, High Constable Broddy, of Brampton, paid a visit to Toronto. The result was that Moses Bergstein of 73 Walton St. was placed under arrest by Detective Newton on a charge of theft.

The feather beds are still missing.

DEEP BREATHING TO DEVELOP BUST.

Breathing exercises to develop the bust are very beneficial. Take a deep breath through the nostrils, keeping the mouth tightly shut; hold the breath for several moments, then breathe out again, slowly and steadily. No tight clothing should be worn during this exercise.

Twitching of the Nerves

It is only by watching the symptoms of nervous exhaustion and applying restorative treatment that you can ever hope to ward off locomotar ataxia and paralysis.

Mrs. E. J. Vanderburgh, of Eastern Welland Ave., St. Catherines, Ont., states:—"For twenty-one years I was badly afflicted with heart trouble, nervousness and cramps in the limbs, also twitching of the nerves and nervous headaches. I became weak, debilitated and emaciated. My condition was distressing and I was made worse through worry and loss of sleep.

"I tried a hundred remedies in vain. After having used half a dozen boxes of Dr. Chase's Nerve Food my old trouble had entirely vanished, and I was enjoying better health than I had since girlhood."

Such cases as this prove the wonderful efficiency of Dr. A. W. Chase's Nerve Food. It cures in Nature's way by enriching the blood and for this reason its benefits are lasting. 50 cts. a box, all dealers, or Edmanson, Bates & Co., Toronto.

SAVED FROM THE KNIFE

NEWBURGH, ONT., Feb. 12th, 1910.

"Just about a year ago, our daughter Ella, (fourteen years), was taken with terrible pains in the right side. The pain was so severe that we had to carry her to bed. We at once put her under the care of a first-class doctor, who pronounced it a case of Appendicitis and advised an operation.

We took her to a hospital in Kingston where she was again examined by an eminent specialist. He said she had Appendicitis and must be operated on at once if we wanted to save her life. As we had taken her to Kingston to have this done, we were ready, but our daughter was afraid and cried and begged so pitifully, that we postponed it for that day. Luckily for us and for her an uncle came in with some 'Fruit-a-tives' and insisted on Ella taking them. Good results were apparent, almost from the first dose, and the continuous treatment cured her.

'Fruit-a-tives' saved our daughter from the surgeon's knife and to-day she is enjoying the best of health."

LILLIAN FOX, (Mother).

Words cannot express the gratitude of Mr. and Mrs. Fox. And Miss Ella will always remember "Fruit-a-tives"—the discovery of an eminent physician, and the only medicine in the world made of fruit. 50c. a box, 6 for $2.50, or trial box, 25c. THE PHILOSOPHY OF INDIFFERENCE.

Generally speaking, energetic people are a torment; they are the cause of much of the good, but still more of the ills of this life. I cannot forgive them the ills for the sake of the good, possibly because I possess that rare gift, a sense of proportion, and so can discern relative values.

Now, this sense of proportion is precisely what restless people lack; they are energetic by temperament, not by reason of outward circumstances; nay, I should rather say in spite of outward circumstances. They energise through life amidst the calmest and most unprovocative surroundings, to the infinite discomfort of their quieter brethren. If such an one ties his bootlace or cuts his bread, it is a source of much discussion and feverish excitement; the exact kind of knot must be discovered and made, at the probable expense of much valuable time, or the exact thickness of bread must be laboriously achieved.

Should one of the Brethren of Peace venture to expostulate, he calls down on himself a hurricane of abuse on the evils of indifference and the philosophic importance of trifles.

Personally, I am disposed to doubt that doctrine of the importance of trifles. Certainly trifles must receive due consideration; they must be treated with respect, but why put them on the pedestal of important events? They should be attended to, summarily rapidly, with as little fuss as possible, and then dismissed for ever; they are not worth excitement or nervous waste, and even total indifference to their claims (when not combined with an absence of interest in more significant matters) is in reality a lesser evil than the habit of creating for them a false atmosphere of magnitude. But the nervous waste is not the chief evil of over-energy; the greatest danger lies in its fatal attraction to its twin sisters, interference and influence.

The energetic man observes that the world around him is out of gear; something must be done. Who should do it if not himself? Obviously no one else is attempting to set things right, and it is his bounden duty to step in. He never stops to think, "Can anything be done, should anything be done, and, if so, am I the right man to do it?" No; his only certainty is that any action is better than no action.

We meddle in each other's affairs with influence and advice; nine times out of ten our interference has a prejudicial effect, yet, being for the most part thoroughly illogical and stone blind as to the cause and effect, we pat ourselves morally on the back and continue serenely to meddle till the end of our days.

Truly, the medium in all things is difficult of attainment, and as restlessness often mistakes itself for public spirit, so apathy mistakes itself for philosophy; but the saving grace of apathy is its tendency to a sense of proportion. Almost invariably it possesses an intuitive knowledge of the relative significance of the events of daily life; it forms its judgments with a clearness and rapidity quite irreconcilable with its usual languor, and atones for its normal torpor, when sufficient occasion arises, with bursts of intense energy, and a height of enthusiasm to which few energetic people ever attain.

It is a matter of everyday remark that those who have regard to the pebbles at their feet are unobservant of the grandeur of the mountain. Say what he will to the contrary, it is impossible for a man to expend his best energies on trivialities and retain the same amount of vitality to employ in larger issues. Energy is limited; some of us have more and some less, but limited it is, and will remain to the end. Neither can the human system bear the strain of constant petty excitements; sooner or later the nerves show signs of overwork. Rest at that stage of the game is impossible, for one of the worst symptoms of nervous disorder is the overmastering desire of the victim to "energise." What begins at the outset with a mere temperamental restlessness and an illogical exaggeration of the value of detail, develops eventually into an overstrung nervous system, with its attendant evils of irritability, physical breakdown, and total inability for rest and repose.

The patient wears out both himself and the world he lives amongst. Obviously, we Indifferentists are the philosophers of life.

FACHNIE'S WANDERINGS.

James Fachnie, an Osprey township man, of unsound mind, caused considerable uneasiness in the Redickville section of Melancthon township a week ago Sunday, where he put in an appearance wandering around the fields with a pitchfork in one hand and a loaf of bread in the other. An unsuccessful attempt was made to round him up on Sunday and Monday. On Tuesday County Constable Snider, of Shelburne, acting under instructions from Police Magistrate Rutherford, took the man in charge and started for Dundalk with him to place him in the care of Grey county authorities. About a mile from Dundalk, however, Fachnie made a successful break for liberty, and we understand he is still at large. This man was committed to Hamilton Asylum a couple of years ago, but succeeded in escaping from custody, and has since been allowed to retain his liberty.

Fred. Chalmers, a young man in the employ of Mr. William Watson of the 6th line of Tecumseth, while assisting Mr. Davis of the 5th line in threshing, met with a serious accident. In jumping from a hay mow he came in contact with a broom standing against the mow, the handle of which penetrated the bowels, inflicting serious injuries. Dr. Brewster was summoned and found his condition precarious, but under the skilful treatment of the doctor he is progressing favorably and will likely recover.

SEVEN MODERN WONDERS OF THE WORLD.

Of the seven modern wonder works of the world not one is American. One of them, 400 years old, has its inspiration in religion—St. Peter's at Rome, the largest church ever built. The second, 100 years old, is the greatest triumphal arch ever erected, commemorating the victories of the great conqueror Napoleon I. The other five are modern engineering works.

Of these the Suez canal easily comes first. It shortens the sea route from Northern Europe to the Orient by 5,000 miles, between certain ports more than half. The canal was begun in 1859, estimated to cost $30,000,000 and to be finished in 1864. Its actual cost was $80,000,000 and it was opened in 1869.

The next greatest engineering work was also French, the Eiffel tower, rising 1,000 feet into the air, at once the highest structure erected by man and the prototype of modern street construction.

The third great wonder is the Firth of Forth bridge; cantilevers, similar to three pairs of great Eiffel towers, each pair joined at its base, each half stretching out horizontally 900 feet without end support.

The fourth modern wonder is the Gotthard tunnel, twelve miles long, under the Alps.

The seventh and last of the modern wonders are twin cousin ships, the Lusitania and Mauretania, subsidized and designed to restore to Great Britain the blue ribbon of the sea. Of these seven wonders one belongs to Italy, one jointly to Italy and Switzerland, three belong to France, and two to Great Britain.

PALE ANAEMIC GIRLS.

The languid, semi-invalid girl is no longer popular. Firm flesh, rounded form and a healthy glow to the complexion are the results of using Dr. A. W. Chase's Nerve Food. Mrs. Goodson, 104 Sebastapool St., Montreal, Que., writes: "My daughter's appetite was bad and she was pale and bloodless. Since using Dr. A. W. Chase's Nerve Food there is a marked change in her condition. She is stronger and healthier in every way."

Mr. A. A. McFall has purchased from the Canada Grain Company, the elevator erected by the company at Bolton station a couple of years ago.

Mr. Thos. Christian, of Ennis, has purchased from Miss Law, of Newton Robinson, the residential property, corner Main and Lorne, recently occupied by Mrs. Kearns. As soon as repairs to the house have been completed, the present owner and his family will move therein.

The destruction of the house fly is a public duty. Almost every American State Board of Health is carrying on a crusade against him.

His filthy origin and habits, and the fact that his body is generally laden with disease-producing germs, makes him one of the greatest enemies of the human race.

If the housekeepers of Canada will use persistently, this peril would be tremendously reduced.

WILSON'S FLY PADS

JOHN JOHNSTON,
BROADWAY - - - - ORANGEVILLE.

NEW YORK'S BLIND LAWYER.

Raymond G. Brown, Assistant States District Attorney in New York is blind. When only a few years old he lost the use of his eyes, and has not been able to see since. Despite this terrible handicap he has entered the struggle of life with such energy and ardor that already he has won place and recognition far above that gained by many of his former playmates who entered the lists unhandicapped by any physical deficiency.

Mr. Brown is a graduate of the Law School of Harvard University. When eight years old he lost his eyesight. The blow was one which he found almost impossible to bear. But at time passed on the feeling of bitterness left him, and he determined that he would not permit loss of sight to curtail his usefulness in the world.

Fortunately his family was able to give him all the financial assistance that he needed. The first problem to be solved was that of education. The little blind boy studied hard. A tutor was employed and read the textbooks to him. Then he learned how to read raised print, the kind used in books for the blind.

It was a hard, uphill task all the way, but young Brown stuck to it with a determination seldom found in children. Gradually he acquired a good high school education and then went to a preparatory school, where he attended classes and had a companion to read the lessons to him. Then his thoughts turned to a career, to some profession which he could following during life despite his blindness. He revolted entirely when it was suggested that there was no need of his working, no need of his taking up a vocation.

"I won't be a drone," he said to himself day after day. Medicine, of course, was out of the question, and so was engineering and a dozen other professions that youths of his age were preparing for. Then he thought of the law. There was one vocation which he did not believe, his physical handicap would bar him from.

When his friends first heard of the project they were inclined to treat it lightly. "It's just a passing notion," they told each other. "Who ever heard of a blind man being a lawyer?" But Brown had made his choice and wasn't to be laughed out of it.

He decided to study law at Harvard, and presented himself for the entrance examinations. These he passed with flying colors, although he had to engage a stenographer to read the questions to him and write at his dictation his answers. His parents provided him with a companion while he was in college, and the latter read the textbooks to him and at first wrote his examination papers from his dictation.

Then Mr. Brown decided that it would be a good idea for him to learn how to use a typewriter. He bought one and began to learn the arrangement of the keyboard. He soon found out where each letter, figure and punctuation mark was, and it was not long before he became an expert writer.

After Mr. Brown had mastered the use of the typewriter he always used it in writing out his examinations, and only required some one to read the questions to him. His professors took a deep interest in him, and his classmates say that there was no one in the class who was better able to reason out and carry in his head a complicated and abstruse question.

In Mr. Brown's class at Harvard there were two hundred law students. He was graduated ahead of 188 of these, and there seems little doubt that his standing would have been even higher if illness had not prevented his taking his examinations in 1909. When he stood his final examinations he had to take at the same time those of the preceding year.

Mr. Brown has a bright, interesting face. His eyes appear to be perfectly normal, as his misfortune is due to an affection of the optical nerve. He is of medium size, and his address is quick and direct.

He is twenty-four years old now, and has been blind for two-thirds of his life. He turns out briefs as quickly as any one could.

Mr. Brown employs, at his own expense, Chester Binsmade, to assist him. Brinsmade, who was also a classmate of Brown's, is his "eyes." He reads to him from opinions, looks character, but the young District Attorney does his own thinking in drafting briefs. He prepares them himself and does the actual work of typewriting.

That is the work, the preparation of briefs, which has been assigned to him at present, and the District Attorney is well pleased with the manner in which it has been executed.

William G. Nixon, of Dundalk, has secured a patent in Canada on cooking utensils. The patent is numbered No. 127478, and was secured through the agency of Marion & Marion, patent attorneys, Hontreal.

SUTHERLAND'S COLONIZATION SCHEMES.

The Duke of Sutherland, who is presently inaugurating a system of organized emigration from Scotland to Canada which recalls by its extent the settlement in Canada of the Glengarry clansmen and the Selkirk colonists, is, although best known by his Scottish title, very much more of an Englishman by descent than a Scotsman. His family name is Leveson-Gower (pronounced Lewson-Gower) and the family belongs to the midland counties of England. Mr. Leveson-Gower, who up to twelve months ago was Comptroller of the Household at Government House, Ottawa, belongs to the same family, and is helping his titled kinsman with some of the details of his colonization work.

His Grace is fifty-nine years of age, and succeeded his father in his titles and estates eighteen years ago. He married Lady Millicent Fanny St. Clair-Erskine, eldest daughter of the fourth Earl of Rosslyn. The Duchess of Sutherland is deeply interested in social problems and an active participant in benevolent work, particularly in London and in the vicinity of her two chief English country homes in Staffordshire and Shropshire. Her Grace was largely instrumental in inducing the Government to hold an enquiry into the subject of lead poisoning and other evils in the Staffordshire manufactories and potteries, the result being the saving of many lives and improved sanitary conditions, not only in the industrial works themselves but also in the homes of the mechanics. The Duchess is ambitious as an author, and has already attained considerable distinction in that direction. Two of her novels, "One Hour and the Next," and "The Winds of the World," have had a large sale and were favorably received by the reviewers. She also wrote a play, "The Conqueror," which was produced with much acceptance a few years ago.

The Duke of Sutherland is the largest land owner in Great Britain, his holdings in Staffordshire, Shropshire, Sutherlandshire and the city of London aggregating about 1,358,600 acres. His revenues are derived almost entirely from his English property, his estates in Sutherlandshire being rather a source of expense than profit. His Grace is very proud of his Scottish tenants and believes that if they were given the chance they would prove themselves to be amongst the best farmers in the world. For centuries they have striven to make a living in one of the bleakest and most barren parts of the Highlands, and have barely managed to sustain themselves. For years the Duke has been discussing with these industrious people and his friends the idea of providing a home for them in one of the colonies. Among others consulted were Lord Strathcona, the Earl of Aberdeen and Lord Grey, and as a result His Gace has purchased 150,000 acres of land in Alberta and British Columbia near the route of the Grand Trunk Pacific, intending to establish thereon colonies of the Sutherlandshire Highlanders. One hundred families are being brought over this season, and it is expected that practically the whole agricultural population of Sutherlandshire will be eventually settled in the western provinces of Canada. The land secured by the Duke in connection with this big colonization scheme is of two kinds, one suitable for fruit culture, the other for mixed farming. It is stated that the Duke and Duchess intend to visit their western colonies next year to personally study the conditions of the people and to supervise the distribution of the land among the large number of families who are expected to take advantage of this interesting scheme of colonization.

WHO GOT THE MEAT?

The Standard has been reliably informed that on Monday night of last week a steer was brought into town suffering from what appeared to be an advanced stage of lump-jaw. The animal is said to have had a sack tied over its neck presumably to prevent its enlarged jaw from being seen, but it was noticed by several citizens who were curious enough to endeavor to ascertain what was being done with the animal. It was taken to the cattle pen in the C. P. R. yards, where it was tied, and during the night was removed. Where it was taken, or by whom, the local authorities have been unable to ascertain, but are determined to find out if possible. The disappearance of this diseased animal, and the possibility that it was killed and the meat sold should be made the subject of a thorough investigation not only by the local but by the provincial authorities as it is a serious matter. There is an opening for some interesting detective work in connection with this case.—Markdale Standard.

HOW TO TRAIN A BIRD.

"When the casual observer with little if any knowledge of birds, first sees the little pets going through the many stunts that a bright bird can easily be taught to perform, the first thought is usually hypnotism," said Miss Virginia Pope, a bird specialist, when asked for the secret of training them, "the bird lover's hypnotic influence is affection—kindness. This is the only witchcraft used and it is all sufficient.

"Only a bird lover can train a bird successfully. The process is a slow one, involving infinite patience. Like human education, it is a gradual process, with a humble A. B. C. beginning to which we add little by little.

"About the worst way in the world to begin is to be harsh to the bird, starving or abusing it, although some little reward, such as a nut, a leaf of lettuce or a scrap of apple (according to the variety of the bird) may be given when the pet has proved specially apt and willing. First of all, gain the confidence of your bird, which of itself is a process requiring time and understanding of bird natures. When at all possible the little creatures should be accustomed to leave the cage now and then, to fly around the room, becoming in this way members of the family circle. This means splendid exercise, which your pet does not obtain in his cage, besides helping him to outgrow any feeling of fear he may happen to have in the presence of humans.

"Enjoying this freedom, too, a bird will often develop pretty little traits and tricks of his own devising, which are less often noticed in the always caged pet. These individual traits can be utilized as a basis of his future training. What the little creatures like to do they will perform readily, and by adding to this often by some extremely simple means a pretty trick is evolved.

"To gain a bird's confidence speak to it always in a quiet, reassuring voice. They are nervous beings and highly sensitive to the atmosphere of their surroundings. If you have occasion to handle them, let it be with a gentle, reassuring touch. These seem trifles, but they are of great importance not to be afraid of you. In approaching his cage call to him gently to let him know you are coming and that his breakfast is in sight. Many masters or mistresses fail in this simple precaution. They approach the cage suddenly, jerk the seed cup from its position, replace it in the same way, almost frightening the bird to death, and without a work to reassure him.

"Every morning accustom the bird to some little handling. First remove the top perch, put one hand inside the cage and follow the bird with the other hand outside. Hold carefully, but very gently. Feathered pets will not stand squeezing or pressure of any kind. Let it rest with its feet comfortably arranged on one of your fingers. Talk to it quietly and coaxingly. On returning it to the cage give it a treat in the way of lettuce, apple, etc.

"By placing a piece of lettuce on the palm of the hand and holding it just outside of the cage door, which has been opened, the bird can be taught to hop on to your hand.

"Another time, pin a leaf of lettuce to the sleeve of your coat or gown, and by this means tempt it by placing something between the lips. In time the birds will learn to take the morsel from your mouth and to kiss you.

"A clever canary of my acquaintance was taught not to eat until after its master had been fed. Two or three hemp seeds were placed in the seed cup, after which the master would say, "Tiddledewinks, your master wants his breakfast." The bird would immediately take up one of the seeds and come to the cage door with it. The owner would then open the cage, holding out a finger, on which the pet would perch. The bird invariably shelled the seed, by the way, before placing the kernel on the gentleman's lips, afterward flying back to the cage for another tidbit.

"A popular trick in trained bird exhibitions is that of climbing a ladder. This pretty feat, given patience and a bird who loves you, can be managed by any amateur. Begin by having the bird hop from one finger to another, lifting one above the other so as to give the suggestion of ascent. Now try it with a toy ladder, resting it on a chair or anything suitable. Put the bird on the lowest round and coax it to mount from one step to another higher up until the top is reached. Here there might be a tiny bell fastened with a ribbon, which the bird will learn to ring. This trick is of course not the work of a single lesson or of one day. The pet must be led to it little by little, taking him only in his most favorable moods.

"When there are two birds to be trained they can be taught to balance together on a ladder or to balance on a ball. With three birds one can be trained to draw a tiny cart in which the other two ride. I myself once owned a bird which would jump through a hoop like a circus clown, with apparently great enjoyment of the feat, and another that turned over on the swing like an acrobat in the circus. The favorite stunt of another little fellow was sliding down a rope, or wire as if escaping from some burning building.

"Birds are like human beings, differing greatly in character, likes and dislikes. They are, moreover, extremely whimsical. To train them successfully one must study their dispositions. One feathered pet of my acquaintance refused to sleep at night unless it had a cracker in its cage. This dainty was not to eat, from his lordship's point of view, but to perch upon. The whim of another, was never to bathe in the conventional white dish provided for this purpose. However, as he seemed to heartily enjoy shaking the drops from a wet lettuce leaf, thus making an impromptu shower bath for himself, it was not hard to see that the dish was at the root of the objection, not the water itself. One day instead of the ordinary bath, a Japanese dish was placed in the cage. Immediately the tiny esthete plunged into it and took a splendid bath.

"An accident occurred later on, and the pretty Japanese dish was broken. The bird refused once more to bathe, and persisted in his whim so sturdily that it was necessary to buy another dish of the Japanese pattern that had so attracted his eye.

"To any one wishing to train a bird," concluded the specialist, "I would emphasize above all the necessity of gentleness, kindness and infinite patience. To try to force or to ill-treat your pet when beginning his education is to lay the foundation of a complete failure."

SHOOTING SEASON SHORTER

The announcements are out for the open season for hunting this year. For the past two years the partridge has been protected by a close season. This year instead of the regular month and a half shooting, hunters will only have one month's hunting for this bird. Evidently hares are getting scarce for the opening season has been shortened by two weeks for this animal. The open season is as follows:—Hares, Oct. 1st. to Dec. 15; grouse, pheasants, prairie chicken, partridge or woodcock, Oct. 15 to Nov. 15; deer, Nov. 1 to Nov. 15; quail, wild turkey, black and grey squirrels, Nov. 15 to Dec. 1; swans or geese, Sept. 15 to April 15; ducks of all kinds, Sept. 15 to Dec. 15; snipe, rail, plover, Sept. 1 to Dec. 15; both days inclusive.

AN INTERESTING JOURNEY.

Trip of 2100 Miles by Waggon Trail and Steamer.

Mr. S. C. Lee, B.A., Supervisor of Public Schools in Portage la Prairie, Man., has recently returned from a most interesting trip through the Peace River country. Mr. Lee, who is a son of Mr. Chas. Lee, York St., was one of a party of twenty-five, who visited the Peace River country for the purpose of making themselves acquainted with its resources. The party started from Winnipeg on July 27th and was away over a month. It covered a distance of 2100 miles, 700 of which was made by wagon trail and 1400 by steamer. Mr. Lee's account of the trip is as follows:—

"We left Edmonton by wagon and drove north 100 miles to Athabasca Landing, where we took boat up Lesser Slave river for 75 miles, this being followed by a portage of miles, when we again boarded a steamer for a distance of 45 miles to Lesser Slave Lake, which is 75 miles long and which was crossed to Lesser Slave Lake Settlement. From here we drove to Peace River Landing, a distance of 97 miles, the trail running through wooded country, good level land, but without settlement. This occupied two days, there being 6 wagons in the outfit, including the grub wagon, but this was added to by an abundance of game which was shot by the party. During the trip several bears were shot, one weighing over 300 pounds.

From the landing we took the Hudson Bay steamer for Fort Vermillion, a trip of 300 miles. This steamer makes but three trips a year between Vermillion and Fort St. John, but a special trip was made for the party. From Vermillion we went down the river to Vermillion Shoots, a distance of 60 miles. We then retraced our route to Peace River Crossing, which occupied four days, when once more the wagons were brought into play and a drive of 75 miles was taken up to Dunbagane, through good land with excellent soil. We drove from here over a hundred miles on the Grand Prairie, a country largely wooded and sparcely settled, and on which some good grain is grown. Here it is a rolling prairie, with good trails, except through the wooded land.

Saskatchewan Lake was the farthest point west we reached, from which point we returned to Peace River Crossing, then taking the same route back to Edmonton. On arriving at Edmonton on Monday last the party was tendered a complimentary banquet by the board of trade of that city at which it was shown that the Peace River country holds the last free inheritance of the Anglo-Saxon race, and at which all the members of the party were called on for remarks.

Mr. Lee made the trip in the interests of Bullman's Magazine, of Winnipeg, and states that it was a trip of a life time, one in which he had to roll himself up in a blanket at night and sleep on the ground, but in spite of all this he had a most enjoyable and instructive and interesting time.

AFTER SUFFERING YEARS

Cured by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Fox Creek, N.B.—"I have always had pains in the loins and a weakness there, and often after my meals my food would distress me and cause soreness. Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has done me much good. I am stronger, digestion is better, and I can walk with ambition. I have encouraged many mothers of families to take it, as it is the best remedy in the world. You can publish this in the papers."—Mrs. WILLIAM BOUDREAU, Fox Creek, N.B., Canada.

The above is only one of the thousands of grateful letters which are constantly being received by the Pinkham Medicine Company of Lynn, Mass., which prove beyond a doubt that Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, made from roots and herbs, actually does cure these obstinate diseases of women after all other means have failed, and that every such suffering woman owes it to herself to at least give Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound a trial before submitting to an operation, or giving up hope of recovery.

Mrs. Pinkham, of Lynn, Mass., invites all sick women to write her for advice. She has guided thousands to health and her advice is free.

YOU NEEDN'T DESPAIR.

Here's an Offer that Should Interest Sufferers from Skin Diseases.

First of all we want to explain that the remedy we are about to tell you of carries our promise of money back for the mere asking to anyone not thoroughly pleased with its use. That should unquestionably establish the sincere faith we have in it.

Parasites or germs cause eczema, and eczema is probably the most prevalent cause of all skin ailments. To overcome them, the remedy must of necessity destroy or remove the parasite or germ before relief can be obtained.

Possessing remarkable antiseptic, germicidal, cleansing, soothing and healing power, the curative value of Rexall Eczema Ointment is very pronounced in the treatment of eczema and allied skin diseases, whether of the dry scaly sort, the weeping type, where there is a flow of ill-smelling excretion, or the intermediary kind, such as pimples, blotches, discolorations, ringworm or acne. It is very useful for treating hives, nettle rash, insect bites and wounds. It is ideal for the skin ailments peculiar to children.

Rexall Eczema Ointment is grayish-white in color, has a pleasant odor, and is very cleanly for use. If you are a sufferer from skin irritations or eruptions in any form whatever, we purge you to try a box at our risk. At the mere hint of dissatisfaction, you may have your money back. Two sizes, 50c. and $1.00. Remember, it is only sold at our store, —The Rexall Store. T. F. & T. J. Brown, Orangeville.

If there is a strong wind and the doctor has left orders that a window in the sick room must be kept open all night, nail a piece of muslin over the aperture. This will prevent draughts, and at the same time not obstruct the ventilation. The material should be close.

Instead of a hot-water bag, use a bag of hot salt. Put the salt in a pie plate and heat it in the oven, then put it into a small bag, or in case of emergency, tie it loosely in a thin cloth and lay it over the afflicted part. Many prefer a hot salt bag to a hot-water bag. The salt may be reheated.

Music Loving Spiders.

It has been asserted that spiders possess a sensitiveness to musical sounds. Some species seem to respond to the notes of the piano, the harp, the flute, and so on, in a manner suggestive of their ability to recognize these sounds or the harmonic vibrations on which they are based. But Professor Lecaillon of Paris, who has made a special study of the instincts and the supposed "psychism" of spiders, thinks that the apparent sensitiveness of these insects to music has been misunderstood. It is thought that when musical instruments are played near their nests the spiders simply feel the vibrations through their webs or otherwise without recognizing the musical notes as sounds. The effect upon them is similar to that of the buzzing of an entrapped fly.—Harper's Weekly.

Ancient Mirrors.

A French investigator has lately interested the French Academy of Sciences in his researches concerning the glass mirrors which were used in ancient times in Egypt and in Thrace. They were backed with a highly polished metal, the nature of which has been in question. It has now been ascertained that the metal was almost pure lead, and it is believed that the method of manufacture was to pour the molten lead on the concave surface of disks cut from balloons of blown glass. In consequence of their shape the mirrors minimized the images of objects looked at in them.

Limestone Wool.

Wool not the product of sheep is being utilized abroad for the making of men's clothing. This is known as "limestone wool" and is made in an electric furnace. Powdered limestone mixed with certain chemicals is thrown into the furnace, and after passing through a furious air blast it is tossed out as fluffy white wool. When it comes from the furnace the wool is dyed and made into lengths like cloth. A pair of trousers or a coat made of this material cannot, it is claimed, be burned or damaged by grease and is as flexible as cloth made of sheep's wool.

IS A HARDY YOUNGSTER.

Prince Edward of Wales Lives a Healthy Life.

Nothing could be more erroneous than the idea which exists in the minds of some people that the children of royalty are pampered pets. Although born to exalted rank, it does not follow that they live in an atmosphere of luxury. Indeed, in the majority of cases the kings and queens of to-morrow are trained and educated in a far more simple and disciplinary manner than hundreds of other little folk in humbler roles.

Take, for instance, Prince Edward of Wales, who is at present being educated at Dartmouth College. His parents' idea is to make him into a hardy little prince, and with that end in view instructions have been issued that he shall fare in exactly the same way as the other cadets, with the same hours of study, the same food and accommodation, and, like all the other boys, a shilling a week for pocket-money and no "tuck-shop" account allowed.

The German Emperor, as is well known, is one of the strictest parents in Europe. He brought up his sons on severe lines, and the German Crown Prince is determined that his little son, who is now four years of age, shall be raised in the same plain, healthy fashion on simple food and plenty of work. The Crown Princess Cecile, too, is not likely to "spoil" her boys, for she is imbued with the sensible idea that they should be fitted for the important roles destined for them—not by keeping them in luxurious nurseries, but by making them live the hardy and healthy life of the normal middle-class child.

For two brief years his mother had her little son all to herself. But since his second birthday all this has changed. The prince is now considered the property of the royal family—and subject to the orders of the emperor. He will henceforth be brought up in the discipline in which the emperor himself and his sons, and all the German princes for generations have been reared.

The seven-year-old Prince Olaf, Crown Prince of Norway, like his cousin, Prince Edward of Wales, is being brought up in a simple, unaffected way. His parents allow him to live in the open air as much as possible, and he is never so happy as when skating or ski-ing. He is extremely popular with his father's subjects, for he is a simple, merry-hearted little fellow who, although he once confessed he "liked to mix with kings," is being brought up with the idea of first making a man of him and a king afterwards.

Another engaging little chap is Prince Leopold, who will one day inherit the throne of Bavaria. He is a grandson of the aged Prince Regent of Bavaria, a rugged octogenarian, who still goes hunting in bare knees, according to the national custom. Prince Leopold is trained on the simplest of lines. He might, indeed, be the son of a small country farmer, so little is he affected by his exalted sphere in life.

It is a curious fact that both the King of Italy and the Czar of Russia have gone abroad for governesses for their children. In the case of the latter, it was an American lady who acted for some years as governess to the little princesses of Russia, and she has described the delights of the simple life they led on a special farm set apart for their residence. Here the princesses led a free outdoor life with their pets, and in consequence are growing up fine, healthy children.

FARM LANDS.

The Story of Their Rise In Value Reads Like a Romance.

The farmer, not the money king of Wall street, is the real owner of the United States. The gleam of his fields is another Aladdin story, only instead of rubbing a lamp he has simply scraped the ground.

Our cereal crops last year were worth $3,000,000,000, which is sufficient to pay for all the tools, implements and machinery of the whole of American industry. While this sum seems huge as it stands alone, you have only to go back a few years in the story of our agriculture to see the miracle of the steady increase that has been achieved. Eleven years ago the value of all our farm products for a single year was reckoned at $4,417,000,000. You have already seen how that figure was doubled by 1909. During these years the sum total that the soil has yielded the farmers is $70,000,000,000. The advance is so steady and sure that you can almost calculate upon it year by year.

Compare this record with the ebb and flow of earnings in steel or any other industry and you realize as never before how agriculture keeps the even tenor of its prosperous way unmindful of panic or depression. Why? Simply because land is stable and, given proper methods of farming, the more you take out of it the more valuable it becomes. It cannot be moved away. It is in truth the very foundation of the nation's material welfare. It would take $24,000,000,000 to buy our farm lands, and their value is real and not watered, save by irrigation.—Isaac F. Marcosson in Munsey's.

Measuring Memory.

Attempts have been made from time to time in France to "measure memory." One of the experiments consists in reading a series of figures to the subject at a regular speed of about two per second and observing how many he can repeat without error in the order in which they were given. The faculty of voluntary attention is, of course, called into play by this experiment. Children from six to eight years old retain on the average five figures, children ten years old six figures and adults seven figures. It has been ascertained that Jacques Inaudi, the lightning calculator, can retain more than forty figures.—Harper's Weekly.

A SUDDEN DEATH.

Mr. Hugh Smith, a well-known resident of Amaranth, died very suddenly on Tuesday of last week. He had been working all day on the farm of his son, Ernest Smith, lot 26, con. 7. In the evening just after they had finished the day's work and were preparing to go home, he dropped dead while walking toward the barn to close the doors. Dr. Smith, of Shelburne, who was notified of the sad occurrence, did not deem it necessary to hold an inquest as death was undoubtedly due to heart collapse. The late Mr. Smith was 58 years and 11 months of age and is survived by a widow and a family of three sons and three daughters. He was an honest, hard-working man, whose genial, kindly manner made him many friends, to whom the news of his sudden demise came as a great shock. The funeral was held from his late home on the 7th line, Amaranth, to Shelburne cemetery on Thursday afternoon.

A SUDDEN DEATH.

Mr. Finley Smith, a wealthy Chinguacousy farmer and a brother of the late John Smith, M.P.P. for Peel, died very unexpectedly in Brampton last Friday. Deceased arrived in Brampton Thursday night from Toronto, where he had been attending the Exhibition. He spent the night with his brother, William Smith, and left after dinner the next day to visit a sister-in-law, also residing in the town. Immediately after his arrival he was taken seriously ill and expired within a few minutes. Deceased, who was about 75 years of age, was one of the best known farmers in Chinguacousy. A widow, four daughters and one son survive. He was apparently in perfect health on the morning of his death. The funeral, which was a very large one, was held on Monday afternoon.

MRS. J. B. SMITH.

We regret to be called upon to chronicle the death of Mrs. J. B. Smith, of Alton, who passed away in the Western Hospital, Toronto, on Tuesday morning, August 30th, after an illness of several weeks' duration. The deceased had not been in good health for several months and some weeks ago was obliged to leave her home and go to the Hospital for special treatment. Mrs. Smith was formerly Miss Hannah Babe, and taught school for several years in the neighborhood of Orangeville, where she received her High School education, and subsequently at Shelburne. She was a daughter of Mr. James Babe, of West Toronto, and a sister of Dr. Thos. Babe, reeve of Shelburne. Mrs. Smith was 34 years of age and is survived by her husband and two bright little daughters. She was highly esteemed by all who knew her and profound sympathy is felt for the bereaved husband and relatives. The interment took place in Owen Sound on Wednesday.

SKIN WHITENER.

Just now, and for the next few months, women have a powerful assistant in whitening their skins in the juice of the fresh cucumber. Cucumbers are not expensive, and should be simply sliced and bound on a streaked and discolored neck, and this will gradually take off the brown streaks and spots. The hands and arms may be bathed with cucumber juice, and the tan will gradually go away. But unless preventive measures, such as glove-wearing, are resorted to, the tan will return or, if the spots are from a discolored liver the ugly color will come back, or stay. Wash and slice the cucumbers, peel and all, into a porcelain-lined sauce-pan, water in proportion of a cupful to two medium-sized cucumbers, and the whole simmered until the pulp is quite soft. If the vegetable is boiled hard instead of soft the juice is not at all extracted, and the lotion is worthless. It is the arsenic contained in the skin of the vegetable which is the whitening principle.

Another way to extract this property, wash the cucumbers, slice skin and all, and pound into a pulp in a marble or china bowl, then squeeze the juice through a thin muslin.

How the Concrete Fence Post Came

The Travelling Agent Tells About Improved Farm Conditions Back Home

"ONE of the most striking changes amongst the farmers in the vicinity of my old home," said the travelling agent of a large Canadian firm of agricultural implement manufacturers, upon his return from a visit to his birthplace, in the State of New York, recently, "is the better and more permanent character of the buildings and various farm improvements."

"I remember how, years ago, it took my father and all three of us boys one whole day to harvest a certain field. The present owner of the place says that his young son now does that work in a single day, and so far as he can see he never even has to mop his brow.

"Talking with some of the farmers in that section, regarding the methods of the present day, as compared with the past, I find that a very great saving has been effected by the introduction of the use of cement. The price of this article, when I was a boy, was almost prohibitive. In fact, we had hardly ever heard of cement at all, and when we did, it was more as a luxury—an article to mend the dishes in mother's kitchen—rather than as an article to be used out on the farm. Nowadays, most of the boys have been learning how to use it, and no matter where you go you are sure to see something made of it."

"I was particularly struck with a fence which my brother put up on his place, some years ago. My brother and I, you must know, particularly hated looking after fences. We used to prop the posts up mainly by aid of the stones we had picked off the property. Somehow these stones would get removed, and down would come the fence. Father used to be a little hard on us sometimes we thought. When the other boys were off playing he used to set us at work repairing these fences. As the stones wouldn't hold the posts up, he made us dig holes deep in the ground, and drive the posts down into them. These held fairly well, but the trouble was that the posts would rot. That did not matter so much those days, for posts were cheap. The trouble was that we had to go over the fence and repair it and waste all sorts of time over it. In fact, the fence was the bane of our lives, and must have cost a lot to keep in repair.

"A good many accidents took place, one way and another, with those fences, which it seems to me now must have cost father even more than the fences did. I remember one night the horses got tearing around the fields and bumped into a part of the fence which had been neglected for some time past, for the reason that we were busy harvesting the hay. There was a field of green grain. The horses got into it and trampled all over it; but worse than that they gorged themselves with it, with the result that two of them died the following day, and the other two were barely pulled through by the aid of a veterinary from the nearest town.

"As I was about to say, my brother, who lives on part of the old farm, took me down to the old line fence, just to look at the place where the horses broke through that time. He told me that when he saw cement being used so much he wondered if it wouldn't be a good thing to make fence posts of, so that they would not rot or break. He got into touch with a cement firm, without further delay, with the result that they sent him full instructions regarding the making of cement fence posts.

"Jack was very proud of his fence, and it struck me, when he showed it to me, that I had never seen anything nicer. It was as straight as a die, and there wasn't a sign of a break in it from end to end. The posts were all upright, and the wire—it was smooth wire—was as tight and as trim as it used to be on Judge Foster's lawn. Jack asked me how long I thought it was since the fence was built. I told him perhaps a few months—four or five months. 'Well,' said he, 'make it years instead of months and you would be nearer it.'

"It was a fact that for half a dozen years that fence had stood there, and that during that time not a break had taken place, and Jack had not spent five minutes looking after it.

"I asked my brother if the fence had not been a little costly.

"Said he: 'That's the cheapest fence I ever had on my farm. It cost more to begin with than the old kind we used to have so much trouble with when we were boys, but once put up it is there forever. Those posts can never rot. The longer they are up, the harder and the stronger they become. I made a few little mistakes when I began the work, but they were not serious, and I now know how to provide against them. One of the great advantages of this sort of fence is that it never needs to be repaired. I suppose, in the course of time, the wire will rust out and break, but that will not be the fault of the posts; and as you will remember, it was always the posts that used to give us the worry when we were boys.'

"I asked him if the posts never loosened and fell over to one side in the way that used to make so much work for us in the old days.

"'Well,' said he, 'they do loosen sometimes. But do you remember how solid the wooden posts used to be after they had been in the ground a good while and before they began to rot. The longer they remained there the solider they became. That's the way with these posts. I never have to tinker with them, so that they are never disturbed, but are allowed to become imbedded in the earth. I have sunk them pretty deep, so that the frost will not affect them, and the result is that the fence is always just as you see it now. The strongest man on this farm could hardly move one of those posts. I am just now completing the last fence on my farm, and after it is finished the fence problem on this place will be settled forever. No more time will be wasted looking after them, and there will be no danger of the horses breaking in like they did at this spot thirty years ago, or so—as you may remember.'

"I remembered all right, and as we stood there laughing, we instinctively began rubbing the sore spots once more, which father left on us upon that memorable occasion."

THE AUTO ON THE FARM.

Large Number of Cars Used by American Farmers—Advantages Claimed for it.

The Chicago Tribune has reports from two thousand automobile dealers in the United States which show that 55 per cent. of the sales of cars put through by these dealers have been made to farmers. In the section west of New York the proportion is 60 per cent. to 75 per cent. with the cars sold ranging in price from $1000 to $3000.

F. D. Coburn, in an article in The American Agriculturist, undertakes to show why it is that American farmers, particularly those in the Western States, are going to largely into the purchase of autos. There are, he says three distinct reasons why Kansas farmers are doing this : First, Kansas farmers are in a sufficiently prosperous condition to buy the car as a luxury; second, the good roads, natural or made, with which the state abounds; 3rd, the distance, owing to the comparatively sparse population, between neighbors and cities Kansas farmers find, according to Mr. Coburn, that the auto is an actual saving—that they can by using these machines, greatly accelerate the transaction of business with distant towns.

Another correspondent of the same journal says the car can be used in a business way; to carry milk to the creamery, take the women shopping, haul minor products to market, and to carry the family to church on Sundays while the work team is resting. The car may also, it is said, be made the means of recreation for an evening run after the day's work is over. Moreover, it helps to break the isolation and loneliness of rural life by enabling farmers to exchange more frequent visits with each other.

A third correspondent of The Agriculturist says it takes less time to get the machine ready for use than it would to hitch up a team. This correspondent uses his machine in making quick trips for repairs to farm machinery, and he further says he can carry his whole family on a lengthy journey for less than two cents per mile. He uses about ten or twelve gallons of gasoline a month, and some five gallons of cylinder oil in two months.

A fourth correspondent thinks a dollar a day will more than cover the expense of running his machine, and in this case the machine is evidently out a good deal of the time.

A fifth writer says that in his case it was a question between leaving the farm and going to town in order to provide for the education of his children or buying an auto. By buying a car he has found it possible to remain on the farm since the motor provides a means of transporting his children to school besides adding to the pleasures of the family in other ways as well.

The conditions by which the writers quoted are surrounded differ very much from those existing in the greater part of Ontario. The distances between neighbors and from market towns is not so great here as in Kansas. Moreover, in Kansas, there are not long winters during which the auto is left to rust out in idleness. When, too, a correspondent speaks of carrying his family at a cost of less than two cents a mile he refers doubtless, simply to the cost of oil. He clearly does not include the repair bill for tires, and the certainty that the first outlay on his machine will have wholly disappeared in a shorter time than in the case of a buggy.

Pain in Heart

"For two years I had pain in my heart, back and left side. Could not draw a deep breath or lie on left side, and any little exertion would cause palpitation. Under advice I took Dr. Miles' Heart Remedy and Nervine. I took about thirteen bottles, am in better health than I ever was, and have gained 14 pounds."

MRS. LILLIE THOMAS,
Upper Sandusky, Ohio.

For many years Dr. Miles' Heart Remedy has been very successful in the treatment of heart troubles, because of its tonic effect upon the heart nerves and muscles. Even in severe cases of long standing it has frequently prolonged life for many years after doctors had given up all hope, as proven by thousands of letters we have received from grateful people.

PEANUTS CAME HIGH.

A trio of smart young men neglected to pay Antonio Reno, of Meaford, for ten cents' worth of peanuts. The Express tells the sequel thus : "The peanuts were put up and handed to the trio in the buggy by a boy clerk and the party drove off without the formality of settling for their purchase. The matter was reported to Proprietor Reno, who took the matter as an insult and started after the buggy. He ran to the foot of the sandhill and took the railway track with a view to heading off his customers at Bumstrad's crossing, but when he got there they had just passed that point. With a determination that would have made a Philadelphia lawyer sick with envy he proceeded to Mr. Charles Taylor's where he hired a horse and followed the unsuspecting baseball enthusiasts to Thornbury, where he got the names of the three. Returning to Meaford he went to Chief Constable Morgan and Mayor Clarke, got out the necessary papers, paid the Chief's expenses to Thornbury and sent him after his "game." The chief located the three young men and made them settle, and the two bags of peanuts cost them in the neighborhood of $7. These fellows might be clever, but the little man from Sicily made them sit up and take notice.

GOOD HEALTH AND GOOD COMPLEXION.

No powder or cosmetic will aid one's complexion when her blood is out of order. Good health is the foundation of good complexion. A good tonic for those who are thin and sallow is, says Spare Moments, as follows : Dissolve one-half cup of sugar and one ounce of kardene in one-half pint of alcohol; then add enough hot water to make a full quart and you will have a sufficient supply of a dependable home-made tonic that will tone up your system and build up your strength. Kardene aids digestion, arouses a torpid liver and purifies the blood. It will clear your complexion of sallowness and pimples, and give a charming comeliness that is denied when you ate so "run down." You can purchase kardene from any first-class druggist.

FELL 51 FEET AND NOT BADLY HURT.

To fall fifty feet through space, with nothing to light on but mother earth, and not get killed instantly, savors of the miraculous and reminds one of the performances of the hero in the story book. But this same feat was accomplished right here in Durham on Saturday morning last, and the victim of the accident, while receiving a bad shaking up, and not yet out of danger, by any means, stands a good show of recovering from his fall in a comparatively short time. Mr. Grant Wise, son of Mr. Frank Wise, of Bentinck, is employed at the cement works here, and his duties consist of dumping the marl and clay off the cars on top of the trestle. To unload the clay it is necessary to open a trap door near the side of the track, and drop the material into the clay room below. When a car is unloaded this trap is supposed to be closed, though, apparently, this has not been done at all times—especially on this occasion. When the car was unloaded Mr. Wise proceeded to replace some of the side boards back on the flat car, and stumbled, or fell, into the opening, and landed on the clay he had just unloaded, a fall of exactly 51 feet 6 inches. He was hurriedly conveyed to the residence of Thomas Wilson, with whom he has been boarding, and the Dr. summoned. At first it was thought his back was broken, but this, happily is not the case, and he is now doing as well as can be expected, and though not yet out of danger, will undoubtedly recover—Chronicle.

Do You Know Your Ailment

There is only one medicine that can prove thoroughly satisfactory in complicated ailments of the liver and kidneys, and that is Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills.

They begin by regulating the bowels and awakening the action of the liver, thereby effecting a thorough cleansing of the excretory system. By thus removing the poisons from the system they lighten the work of the kidneys and gradually restore them to health.

Nobody who once learns of the definite and certain action of Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills in regulating and invigorating the kidneys, liver and bowels, is willing to take chances by experimenting with other medicines.

ANECDOTAL.

"What part of a railway train do you regard as the most dangerous?" inquired the nervous man.

"The dining-car," answered the dyspeptic.

"Well, Jim," said Bingleton, as he proudly showed off his first-born, "what do you think of that for a kid?"

"He's some kid, all right, all right," returned Jim unemotionally.

"Think he looks like me?" persisted Bingleton.

"H-m- Well-er-ah-hum-well. Bill, I-well, old pal, to tell you the truth, I'm afraid he does!" replied the embarassed Jim.

THE CAGED BABY.

The report from Bar Harbor that the parents of little Vinson McLean, America's $100,000,000 baby, have adopted, as a means of protecting the infant Croesus against kidnappers, a steel cage on wheels, cunningly wrought by skilled craftsmen and safeguarded by locks of the most complicated design, will doubtless be regarded by future generations as an amusing illustration of the barbarism of the twentieth century. Edward B. McLean's mansion at Bar Harbor was the scene of an attempted burglary not long ago, and this new steel perambulator is said to be an echo of that incident. The McLean baby is now understood to be securely guarded from all save his nurse and detective warders, and no one could be more certainly a prisoner than is he. The description of the device may amuse posterity, but social conditions which hold over anxious parents an apparent necessity for such an extreme measure as this is in reality far from amusing. The kidnapping danger, particularly to children of wealthy parents, is too horribly real. It has manifested itself on more than one occasion, and the wonder is that parents have not been driven to desperate protective measures long ere now. The time will come, if it is not already here, when the kidnapping industry will be so hazardous as to render such extreme precautions unnecessary and absurd.

Not a Drop of Alcohol

What is a "tonic"? A medicine that increases the strength or tone of the whole system. What is an "alterative"? A medicine that alters or changes unhealthy action to healthy action. Name the best "tonic and alterative"? Ayer's Sarsaparilla, the only Sarsaparilla entirely free from alcohol. Ask your own doctor all about it. Never take a medicine doctors cannot endorse. J.C. Ayer Co., Lowell, Mass.

Without daily action of the bowels poisonous products must be absorbed. Then you have impure blood, biliousness, headache. Ask your doctor about Ayer's Pills for constipation.

There is more Catarrh in this section of the country than all other diseases put together, and until the last few years it was supposed to be incurable. For a great many years doctors pronounced it a local disease and prescribed local remedies, and by constantly failing to cure with local treatment, pronounced it incurable. Science has proven catarrh to be a constitutional disease and therefore requires constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure, manufactured by F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, Ohio, is the only constitutional cure on the market. It is taken internally in doses from 10 drops to a teaspoonful. It acts directly on the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. They offer one hundred dollars for any case it fails to cure. Send for circulars and testimonials.

Harry Sproule, of Bramoton, met with a nasty mishap at Malton station the other evening. He was standing on a bench which upset throwing him to the platform. The ligaments of his ankle were badly torn, and, as a consequence he will be unable to play lacrosse again this season, which will be a decided loss to the team.

A good advertisement will carry a business message to more people in a day than any other means of talking to them. You cannot reach as large an audience by talking on the street corners. You cannot go to as many homes if you send a dozen messengers. The newspaper carries the message and works where you could not go. You will see the results of the publicity and should be able to see the moral of the investment.

They have a live license inspector in Owen Sound, one who is certainly worthy of a diploma. He is making things simply red hot for the illicit booze sellers. Last week James Doyle got soaked for $125.00. Every week one or more of the bunch are fined, but Inspector Deckett still seems to have a line of work ahead of him, notwithstanding the fact that several have been sent to jail and others are fugitives from justice.

PALE ANAEMIC GIRLS.

The languid, semi-invalid girl is no longer popular. Firm flesh, rounded form and a healthy glow to the complexion are the results of using Dr. A. W. Chase's Nerve Food. Mrs. Goodson, 104 Sebastapool St., Montreal, Que., writes: "My daughter's appetite was bad and she was pale and bloodless. Since using Dr. A. W. Chase's Nerve Food there is a marked change in her condition. She is stronger and healthier in every way."

Mrs. Cameron, wife of Rev. Ernest Cameron, of Brussels, was the victim of a runaway accident near Rosemont recently in which she had both of her left legs broken at the ankle and the ligaments torn. She was returning with the mail-carrier, Mr. Robinson Holland, from Rosemont to the home of her mother, Mrs. Fletcher, Mono, when the horse became unmanageable. The assessments of the municipalities of the county of Halton for 1910 are as follows:—Trafalgar township, $3,514,680; Esquesing township, $3,234,588; Nelson township, $2,305,100; Nassagaweya $1,515,210; Oakville, town, $885,358; Georgetown village, $449,071; Burlington village, $623,064; Acton village, $422,005; Milton town, $484,476. Total $13,432,743; Assessment in 1909, $12,935,482; Increase, $497,261. In equalizing the county rate the county council placed Trafalgar at $52 per acre, an increase of $2 over last year. Esquesing at $49, or $1 additional; Nelson at $50; or $2 additional; Nassageweya at $34 or $2 additional.

There is a paper in Owen Sound whose editor announces that he will publish the na es of all under sixteen who are out on the streets late at night. He is in danger. Some little girl's big brother will come up and wipe the floor with him. Why publish the names of the youngsters? Put in the names of the parents who allow them to run at night. It's strange how father and mother will allow their sons and daughters to run. Then they wonder how it is he or she turns out so badly. Mother never can understand how her daughter was led astray. Well, mother, it wasn't when the sun was shining. Keep your children in the house after dark and you'll save yourself many a sorrow and your youngsters many a sin.—Peterborough Review.

THURSDAY, SEPTEMBER 15, '10

If the Ontario Municipal Association has its way the man who is too idle or too intemperate to support his wife and family will be compelled to work and the Government will see to it that his earnings are devoted to the support of his home. At the annual meeting of the Association last week the following resolution, introduced by Mayor Lamason, of Dundas, was carried :—"That the Provincial Government should establish an institution or institutions to which heads of families and others required by law to maintain their families who fail to do so through inebriety or without reasonable cause, can be committed by the County Judge; that the institution or institutions shall be provided with some means whereby such persons will be compelled to earn or help to earn a livelihood for their families, and their earnings be forwarded by the officials of such institution or institutions to their families for their support and maintenance."

The acceptance of the finding of the Hague Court of Arbitration on the fisheries question is a triumph for the principle of arbitration. The Atlantic fisheries question has been a source of friction between Great Britain and the United States for over a century. It has on several occasions brought these two great nations almost to the verge of war. It constituted a constant menace to the peace of Canada, for an appeal to the arbitrament of arms would assuredly have involved this country in the costly struggle. It is creditable to the statesmanship of the two nations that the vexatious question has been settled peacefully. That the settlement is reasonably satisfactory to all the interested parties will add materially to the prestige of the arbitration court. It is perhaps too much to hope that all international disputes may be adjusted in like manner, but the finding of the Hague Court will undoubtedly give a great impetus to arbitration as a means of settling the issues which so frequently arise between nations and which hitherto have usually been decided on the battlefield.

As Orangeville Fall Fair will be held on Thursday and Friday it may not be amiss in this week's issue to urge our citizens to show their interest by attending the Exhibition. While agricultural shows are intended primarily for the benefit of the farming class, townspeople have a very real and substantial interest in their success. Particularly is this the case in a farmers' town like Orangeville, where business prosperity is dependent to a large extent on the prosperity of the farmers in the surrounding country. Whatever, therefore, is calculated to improve farming methods, stimulate an interest in improved stock or in any way contribute to agricultural knowledge is deserving of the hearty encouragement and support of our townspeople. While on the subject, we might also add that farmers themselves should not overlook the opportunities that the Fall Fair offers. The Agricultural Society has a first claim upon their support. Let farmers and townspeople, therefore, unite and by their presence on the Exhibition grounds next Friday each do their part in making the Orangeville Fair the success that it deserves to be.

There appears to be very good reason for believing that in the not distant future municipalities will not be allowed to bonus industries under any conditions. The municipalities themselves seem to be awakening to the evils of the system. At a meeting of the Ontario Municipal Association last week the delegates by an almost unanimous vote placed themselves on record against the bonus principle. About forty Ontario municipalities were represented when the vote was taken and only four or five delegates voted against the resolution. There is of course something to be said in favor of bonusing. Where private enterprise undertakes to start an industry that promises to be remunerative and to give employment to considerable labor, but is handicapped by lack of sufficient capital, the municipality can sometimes assure the success of the enterprise by furnishing additional means either in the form of a bonus or a loan without interest. Unfortunately, however, as scores of Ontario municipalities have found to their cost, a municipal bonus or loan does not assure the success of a manufacturing industry. If the industry is not suitably located and wisely managed no amount of bonusing will make it successful permanently. Herein lies the great danger and evil of the bonus system. The knowledge that the average municipality can be easily induced to grant financial aid to manufacturing enterprises which hold out the promise of increasing its population and adding to its prosperity has given rise to a class of professional bonus hunters. These men make a business of exploiting municipalities. They are often practically without capital themselves and depend on what they can get out of the municipality to run their enterprise. In the great majority of cases industries that are launched under these conditions, particularly in the smaller towns, are short lived and in a few years the municipality finds itself with an empty factory and a burdensome addition to its debt.

FOOD SALE.

The Charity Society will hold a Food Sale of homemade Cakes, Candy, etc., on Saturday, Sept. 24th, afternoon and evening, in the store recently occupied by Mr. R. J. Frampton.

MIXED FARMING.

Alberta's greatest attraction for the home finder, is its adaptability for mixed farming. With the one possible exception of fruit growing, the man in other countries, no matter what his specialty may be, will find here conditions for carrying on his farming operations successfully. Grain growing, horse raising, cattle raising, sheep raising, swine raising, dairying and poultry raising can be followed with almost equal success. It is this variety of opportunity that makes Alberta a promising field for the farmer. Grain growing may be a very good thing to begin on. But under the most favorable conditions as regards original soil fertility grain growing continued over a long period of years, cannot be made a profitable undertaking. Other lines of farming such as live stock raising, dairying, etc., must be introduced, with a view to maintaining fertility. Other countries have found this out, and after years of robbing the soil by continuous grain growing, have had to fall back upon some other line of farming to regain what they had lost. And it is a slow and tedious process to build up a worn out soil by live stock husbandry. But it has been done, and is the only sane thing to do. How much better is it then to start in at the beginning in a system of farming that will maintain the soil's original fertility. This the farmer in Alberta is enabled to do, for the one good reason that the opportunities for mixed farming are there, and it will be his own look-out, if he does not take advantage of them.—Canadian Farm.

THE PERSONAL ELEMENT.

The September number of the Busy Man's Magazine contains a very suggestive article dealing with the element of personality in business. The writer holds that one of the great factors in a successful retail business is a strong personality back of the enterprise. Skilful personal interest, he maintains, has in all probability sold more staple goods than all the special discounts and prices devised by merchants. Personality enables the retailer in the small towns to successfully meet the competition of the department store. It is the best means he can employ to hold his trade against his bigger rival. In the words of the article the retailer should aim to "put into his smaller business a whole lot of strong individuality—add to it the personal element—and to make the people in his community trade with him rather than the departmental store because they like the spirit of the place better, because they like the element of sympathy and mutual understanding which is entirely lacking in the department store method of retailing." The following extract will convey an idea of the underlying thought of the writer :

"Still another point where it affects the interests of the smaller retailer is in the relation which he bears to the great mail order houses which continue to make tremendous strides in the sale of their goods in the rural communities and smaller cities and towns. Here again, price is not the best basis on which to compete. The element of service, plus personality, is the important thing. Every retailer in this country could get out into the middle of the street in front of his store and shout himself hoarse telling the people what a curse the mail order houses are, but it wouldn't do much good. The thing which handicaps the mail order houses—and their owners realize the fact—is their inability to come into personal contact with their customers. They have to speak through the printed page, they have to sell through arguments in type, and the person who buys from them misses the confidence which he can place in the goods, which he buys from John Brown, or some other local storekeeper—a man who shows him the article before he makes the purchase, and who will stand back of it after it is sold. Of course, if the local store entirely lacks these combined factors of personality and a high quality of service in customers, the advantage is lost, and the mail order house rushes ammunition to that spot and reaps the harvest."

TOWN COUNCIL.

An adjourned meeting of the Town Council was held in the Public Library on Tuesday evening, with all the members present, except Coun. Gillespie, who has not returned from his trip to the West. Little business was done except to pass a number of accounts and the meeting did not last over an hour. Payment of the following accounts was authorized :—

Jos. Ogston, $18; John Gough, $7.35, $2.34; George King, $7; Thos. Campbell, $7.50; Jos. Snowden, $9; John Hammond, $70; McGuire & McKitrick, $80; John Watson, $3; L. Herman, 35c.; Jos. Corneilius, $3.75; James Grahame, $45.

The Cataract Electric Co's. accounts for street lighting, for months of July and August, each amounting to $195, were ordered to be returned to the Company with the request that they be rendered for the proper amount. The Council holds that the amount The Cataract Electric Company is entitled to under its contract is only $191.25.

The usual grant of $75 was voted to the Dufferin Agricultural Society.

ST. VITUS DANCE

A Striking Example Of Its Cure By The Tonic Treatment.

St. Vitus dance is the commonest form of nervous trouble which afflicts children, because of the great demands made on the body by growth and development, and there is the added strain caused by study. It is when these demands become so great that they impoverish the blood, and the nerves fail to receive their full supply of nourishment, that the nervous debility which leads to St. Vitus dance.

The remarkable success of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills in curing St. Vitus dance should lead parents to give their children this great blood-building medicine at the first signs of the approach of the disease. Palor, listlessness, inattention, restlessness and irritability are all symptoms which early show that the blood and nerves are failing to meet the demands made upon them. Mrs. A. Winters, Virden, Man., says : "When my little girl was six years old she was attacked with scarlatina, which was followed by St. Vitus dance. Her limbs would jerk and twitch. Her speech became affected, and at last she became so bad that she could scarcely walk, and we hardly dared trust her alone. She was under the care of a doctor, but in spite of this was steadily growing worse, and we feared that we would lose her. As Dr. Williams' Pink Pills had cured her older sister of anaemia I decided to try them again. After the use of a few boxes, to our great joy, we found they were helping her and in the course of a few weeks more her power of speech fully returned, and she could walk and go about as well as any child, and she has been well and healthy since. When illness come to any one of our family now, we never call in a doctor but simply use Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, and they never disappoint us."

Sold by all medicine dealers or by mail at 50 cents a box or six boxes for $2.50, from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

the confidence which he can place in the goods, which he buys from John Brown, or some other local storekeeper—a man who shows him the article before he makes the purchase, and who will stand back of it after it is sold. Of course, if the local store entirely lacks these combined factors of personality and a high quality of service in customers, the advantage is lost, and the mail order house rushes ammunition to that spot and reaps the harvest."

AUTUMN WEATHER.

Hicks' Forecasts for Month of September.

Rev. Irl R. Hicks, the St. Louis weather prognosticator, has issued the following forecasts for the month of September :—

A Regular Storm Period will be in progress as September comes in, and storm areas will pass the central valleys and the eastern states on the 1st, 2nd and 3rd. Low barometer and very high temperature will culminate on and touching the 3rd. From August 31st to September the 6th a seismic period, central with new Moon on the 3rd.

A Reactionary Storm Period falls on the 5th, 6th and 7th. The passage of the Moon over the celestial equator on the 5th, so near the new Moon on the 3rd, will probably prolong storm conditions from the first into the second period. High temperature and electrical storms, at all events, will be natural on and touching the 5th. Change to somewhat cooler, rising barometer and fair weather may come progressively from the northwest from about the 6th to 9th.

A Regular Storm Period central at Moon's first quarter on the 11th, covers the 9th to the 14th. Students of our "Foundation Facts" will remember that the Earth is at a magnetic crisis every year about the 8th to the 15th of September. Very threatening and often dangerous storms appear during this annual crisis. Auroral and other magnetic manifestations, such as the disturbance of the compass, seismic tremors, and telegraphic trouble by currents over the wires, are among the things common at this time. No reader need be surprised if equatorial, or West India, storms threaten the sea and coasts in the regions of the Gulf at this period. Sympathetic storms will come out of the northwest and join disturbances from the south at this, or a subsequent September storm period, bringing a decided change to colder with frost over northern to central regions.

A Reactionary Storm Period falls on the 16th, 17th, 18th and 19th, intensified by the Mercury period, the crisis of the Autumnal equinox, the incoming of the Venus period, and full Moon on the equator on the 18th and 19th. This is a time when West India storms will most likely be heard from, menacing the waters bordering our south coasts. These storms will outlive this storm period, growing in violence as they approach, and pass inland through the states and over the great lakes. The 16th to the 23rd constitutes a period of very severe seismic strain. Watch the world's record.

A Regular Storm Period, extending from the 20th to the 26th, will most likely take up, intensify and prolong the disturbances originating at the reactionary period immediately preceding. A glance at the storm diagram shows the astronomic causes centering in this period. This whole period of vast probabilities may bring nothing out of the ordinary, and no one should lose his head in anticipation of danger; at the same time, wise students of these forecasts, and the principles upon which they are based, are not going to be caught unawares by wild equinoctial storms. Watch all indications and warnings on sea, land and lake! Indications of general frosts and possibly early snow northward, are good in the high barometer areas that follow and push the western flanks of storms at this issue.

A Reactionary Storm Period will bring return of storm conditions during the last three days of the month. Mercury and Venus unite with Earth to disturb the elements at this time. Rain and possibly snow north.

MRS. SILAS FENNELL.

Word reached her friends here last week of the death at Gadsby, Alberta, on Thursday, Sept. 8th, of Mrs. Silas Fennell. Deceased, whose maiden name was Martha Menary, was a daughter of Mr. David Menary, of Bowling Green, and had been married only a little over a year. Her husband, who is also a native of Amaranth, served through the South African war and after returning to Canada went to Alberta, where he took up land. His young wife went out to join him in July 1909, their marriage taking place shortly after her arrival. We have not learned the particulars relating to her untimely demise, but understand that it was caused by typhoid fever. Mrs. Fennell was only 32 years of age and is survived by her parents and a family of five brothers and a sister. The brothers are John Menary, of Brampton; Thos. and Wm., of Amaranth; Lewis, of Grand Valley, and Alfred, who is a member of the Amaranth Council. Miss Ellen, at home, is the only sister. Mr. Wm. Menary, this town, is an uncle. The remains were brought east for burial, arriving in Orangeville yesterday morning. They were met on their arrival here by a large number of the friends and Amaranth neighbors of the family. The funeral was held from the C.P.R. depot to Greenwood cemetery. Profound sympathy is felt for the bereaved husband, family and other relatives.

THURSDAY, SEPTEMBER 15, '10

If the Ontario Municipal Association has its way the man who is too idle or too intemperate to support his wife and family will be compelled to work and the Government will see to it that his earnings are devoted to the support of his home. At the annual meeting of the Association last week the following resolution, introduced by Mayor Lamason, of Dundas, was carried :—"That the Provincial Government should establish an institution or institutions to which heads of families and others required by law to maintain their families who fail to do so through inebriety or without reasonable cause, can be committed by the County Judge ; that the institution or institutions shall be provided with some means whereby such persons will be compelled to earn or help to earn a livelihood for their families, and their earnings be forwarded by the officials of such institution or institutions to their families for their support and maintenance."

The acceptance of the finding of the Hague Court of Arbitration on the fisheries question is a triumph for the principle of arbitration. The Atlantic fisheries question has been a source of friction between Great Britain and the United States for over a century. It has on several occasions brought these two great nations almost to the verge of war. It constituted a constant menace to the peace of Canada, for an appeal to the arbitrament of arms would assuredly have involved this country in the costly struggle. It is creditable to the statesmanship of the two nations that the vexatious question has been settled peacefully. That the settlement is reasonably satisfactory to all the interested parties will add materially to the prestige of the arbitration court. It is perhaps too much to hope that all international disputes may be adjusted in like manner, but the finding of the Hague Court will undoubtedly give a great impetus to arbitration as a means of settling the issues which so frequently arise between nations and which hitherto have usually been decided on the battlefield.

As Orangeville Fall Fair will be held on Thursday and Friday it may not be amiss in this week's issue to urge our citizens to show their interest by attending the Exhibition. While agricultural shows are intended primarily for the benefit of the farming class, townspeople have a very real and substantial interest in their success. Particularly is this the case in a farmers' town like Orangeville, where business prosperity is dependent to a large extent on the prosperity of the farmers in the surrounding country. Whatever, therefore, is calculated to improve farming methods, stimulate an interest in improved stock or in any way contribute to agricultural knowledge is deserving of the hearty encouragement and support of our townspeople. While on the subject, we might also add that farmers themselves should not overlook the opportunities that the Fall Fair offers. The Agricultural Society has a first claim upon their support. Let farmers and townspeople, therefore, unite and by their presence on the Exhibition grounds next Friday each do their part in making the Orangeville Fair the success that it deserves to be.

The thing which handicaps the mail order houses—and their owners realize the fact—is their inability to come into personal contact with their customers. They have to speak through the printed page, they have to sell through arguments in type, and the person who buys from them misses the confidence which he can place in the goods, which he buys from John Brown, or some other local storekeeper—a man who shows him the article before he makes the purchase, and who will stand back of it after it is sold. Of course, if the local store entirely lacks these combined factors of personality and a high quality of service in customers, the advantage is lost, and the mail order house rushes ammunition to that spot and reaps the harvest."

TOWN COUNCIL.

An adjourned meeting of the Town Council was held in the Public Library on Tuesday evening, with all the members present, except Coun. Gillespie, who has not returned from his trip to the West. Little business was done except to pass a number of accounts and the meeting did not last over an hour. Payment of the following accounts was authorized :—

Jos. Ogston, $18; John Gough, $7.35, $2.34; George King, $7; Thos. Campbell, $7.50; Jos. Snowden, $9; John Hammond, $70; McGuire & McKitrick, $80; John Watson, $3; L. Herman, 35c.; Jos. Corneilius, $3.75; James Grahame, $45.

The Cataract Electric Co's. accounts for street lighting, for months of July and August, each amounting to $195, were ordered to be returned to the Company with the request that they be rendered for the proper amount. The Council holds that the amount The Cataract Electric Company is entitled to under its contract is only $191.25.

The usual grant of $75 was voted to the Dufferin Agricultural Society.

ST. VITUS DANCE

St. Vitus dance is the commonest form of nervous trouble which afflicts children, because of the great demands made on the body by growth and development, and there is the added strain caused by study. It is when these demands become so great that they impoverish the blood, and the nerves fail to receive their full supply of nourishment, that the nervous debility which leads to St. Vitus dance.

The remarkable success of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills in curing St. Vitus dance should lead parents to give their children this great blood-building medicine at the first signs of the approach of the disease. Pallor, listlessness, inattention, restlessness and irritability are all symptoms which early show that the blood and nerves are failing to meet the demands made upon them. Mrs. A. Winters, Virden, Man., says : "When my little girl was six years old she was attacked with scarlatina, which was followed by St. Vitus dance. Her limbs would jerk and twitch. Her speech became affected, and at last she became so bad that she could scarcely walk, and we hardly dared trust her alone. She was under the care of a doctor, but in spite of this was steadily growing worse, and we feared that we would lose her. As Dr. Williams' Pink Pills had cured her older sister of anaemia I decided to try them again. After the use of a few boxes, to our great joy, we found they were helping her and, in the course of a few weeks more her power of speech fully returned, and she could walk and go about as well as any child, and she has been well and healthy since. When illness come to any one of our family now, we never call in a doctor but simply use Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, and they never disappoint us."

Sold by all medicine dealers or by mail at 50 cents a box or six boxes for $2.50, from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

the confidence which he can place in the goods, which he buys from John Brown, or some other local storekeeper—a man who shows him the article before he makes the purchase, and who will stand back of it after it is sold. Of course, if the local store entirely lacks these combined factors of personality and a high quality of service in customers, the advantage is lost, and the mail order house rushes ammunition to that spot and reaps the harvest."

AUTUMN WEATHER.

Hicks' Forecasts for Month of September.

Rev. Irl R. Hicks, the St. Louis weather prognosticator, has issued the following forecasts for the month of September :—

A Regular Storm Period will be in progress as September comes in, and storm areas will pass the central valleys and the eastern states on the 1st, 2nd and 3rd. Low barometer and very high temperature will culminate on and touching the 3rd. From August 31st to September the 6th a seismic period, central with new Moon on the 3rd.

A Reactionary Storm Period falls on the 5th, 6th and 7th. The passage of the Moon over the celestial equator on the 5th, so near the new Moon on the 3rd, will probably prolong storm conditions from the first into the second period. High temperature and electrical storms, at all events, will be natural on and touching the 5th. Change to somewhat cooler, rising barometer and fair weather may come progressively from the northwest from about the 6th to 9th.

A Regular Storm Period central at Moon's first quarter on the 11th, covers the 9th to the 14th. Students of our "Foundation Facts" will remember that the Earth is at a magnetic crisis every year about the 8th to the 15th of September. Very threatening and often dangerous storms appear during this annual crisis. Auroral and other magnetic manifestations, such as the disturbance of the compass, seismic tremors, and telegraphic trouble by currents over the wires, are among the things common at this time. No reader need be surprised if equatorial, or West India, storms threaten the sea and coasts in the regions of the Gulf at this period. Sympathetic storms will come out of the northwest and join disturbances from the south at this, or a subsequent September storm period, bringing a decided change to colder with frost over northern to central regions.

A Reactionary Storm Period falls on the 16th, 17th, 18th and 19th, intensified by the Mercury period, the crisis of the Autumnal equinox, the incoming of the Venus period, and full Moon on the equator on the 18th and 19th. This is a time when West India storms will most likely be heard from, menacing the waters bordering our south coasts. These storms will outlive this storm period, growing in violence as they approach, and pass inland through the states and over the great lakes. The 16th to the 23rd constitutes a period of very severe seismic strain. Watch the world's record.

A Regular Storm Period, extending from the 20th to the 26th, will most likely take up, intensify and prolong the disturbances originating at the reactionary period immediately preceding. A glance at the storm diagram shows the astronomic causes centering in this period. This whole period of vast probabilities may bring nothing out of the ordinary, and no one should lose his head in anticipation of danger; at the same time, wise students of these forecasts, and the principles upon which they are based, are not going to be caught unawares by wild equinoctial storms. Watch all indications and warnings on sea, land and lake! Indications of general frosts and possibly early snow northward, are good in the high barometer areas that follow and push the western flanks of storms at this issue.

A Reactionary Storm Period will bring return of storm conditions during the last three days of the month. Mercury and Venus unite with Earth to disturb the elements at this time. Rain and possibly snow north.

MRS. SILAS FENNELL.

Word reached her friends here last week of the death at Gadsby, Alberta, on Thursday, Sept. 8th, of Mrs. Silas Fennell. Deceased, whose maiden name was Martha Menary, was a daughter of Mr. David Menary, of Bowling Green, and had been married only a little over a year. Her husband, who is also a native of Amaranth, served through the South African war and after returning to Canada went to Alberta, where he took up land. His young wife went out to join him in July 1909, their marriage taking place shortly after her arrival. We have not learned the particulars relating to her untimely demise, but understand that it was caused by typhoid fever. Mrs. Fennell was only 21 years of age and is survived by her parents and a family of five brothers and a sister. The brothers are John Menary, of Brampton; Thos. and Wm., of Amaranth; Lewis, of Grand Valley, and Alfred, who is a member of the Amaranth Council. Miss Ellen, at home, is the only sister. Mr. Wm. Menary, this town, is an uncle. The remains were brought east for burial, arriving in Orangeville yesterday morning. They were met on their arrival here by a large number of the friends and Amaranth neighbors of the family. The funeral was held from the C.P.R. depot to Greenwood cemetery. Profound sympathy is felt for the bereaved husband, family and other relatives.

HOME FROM GREAT BRITAIN.

Mr. Arch. McBride and daughter, Miss Grace, Third Avenue, arrived home on Wednesday of last week after a delightful pleasure trip to the British Isles. Mr. McBride and daughter were away two months and spent the greater part of their time visiting their friends in Glasgow, Dumbarton, Aberdeen and elsewhere in Scotland. Glasgow, Mr. McBride describes as a progressive and wonderfully busy city. Its world-famed shipyards present a scene of indescribable activity. The city, which is growing very rapidly, has the distinction of having the best municipal government in Great Britain. Edinburgh is a much prettier city and has greater attractions for the sightseeing tourist. While in the ancient Capital, Mr. McBride and daughter visited Holyrood Palace and among other places of interest were shown the bedchamber occupied by the beautiful, but unhappy Mary Queen of Scots. Mr. McBride also had the pleasure of being present at Aberdeen Horse Show, which was attended by between 30,000 and 40,000 people. 254 superb horses were shown in the various classes. They were without exception splendid animals and many of them, Mr. McBride says, finer than anything he had ever seen in horseflesh. Horsemen were present from all parts of England and Scotland and some from foreign lands. There were numerous sales, mostly at fancy prices. Mr. McBride saw a stylish hackney driver sold to an English buyer for £100, or nearly $500. The farmers have excellent crops in England and Scotland this year, but the weather was very unfavorable for harvesting and when Mr. McBride left the farmers were becoming very anxious on account of the almost continuous rainy weather. The weather was unusually bright and fine during haying, but unfortunately this favorable condition did not continue through the harvest. Mr. McBride paid a flying visit to Belfast, only remaining there over night. Mr. and Miss McBride are both looking well after their sojourn abroad.

GROCERY CHANGES HANDS.

Mr. James Sanderson, formerly salesman in Marshall Green & Co's., has bought Mr. W. E. Brawley's grocery. Mr. Sanderson took possession last week. The new proprietor is a young man, with energy and a business experience that should prove a useful asset in his present undertaking.

A SUCCESSFUL OPERATION.

Mr. Howard Black, aged 18, the second son of Mr. and Mrs. James Black, of East Garafraxa, went to Toronto a week ago Monday to attend the Exhibition. While in the city he was taken suddenly ill and was removed from his residence, 8 Nassau St., to St. Michael's hospital, where it was found that he was suffering from a severe attack of appendicitis. His physician decided that an operation was the only means of saving his life and notified his parents to that effect. The operation took place on Saturday and proved quite successful. Mr. Black is doing as well as can be expected and will likely be able to come home in a couple of weeks. His parents went down to Toronto on Saturday, returning home Tuesday evening with the cheering news that their son was already practically out of danger.

Two Minute Talks About

PANDORA RANGE

for Coal or Wood

THE Pandora Range is for those who desire to make a permanent investment. The high quality of the materials and the superior method of construction assure long life.

The Body of the Pandora is very heavy. The Rods and Bolts are on the outside where they cannot burn or rust out. The Expansion Rings of the cooking section provide ample allowance for extreme expansion and contraction and eliminate the possibility of the metal cracking.

The Cooking Top is Burnished which toughens the surface of the metal and increases its strength. McClary Oil Cement is used between the joints. Unlike cheap, ordinary cement, it will not dry out and need replacing. The Nickelling will not tarnish and is many times more durable than the single coat of nickel on ordinary ranges.

The Semi-Steel Fire Box Linings are twenty per cent. heavier than cast or gray iron linings. Sulphur fumes, so destructive to cast iron, cannot penetrate the hard, smooth as glass surface of Semi-Steel. The Grates have Three Faces, which allows the wear to be distributed on three sides, insuring triple durability.

If you want a range of guaranteed quality get the Pandora. It's built to give you lasting service.

CHARLESTON.

Quite a number from here attended the National Exhibition this year and report the "Fair" better than ever. Chester says the Grenadiers Band was a rare treat.

The County Roads System, which was at one time quite a popular scheme here, is being denounced on all sides on account of the expending of large sums of money on useless machinery and high wages to men to operate the same. The question asked is: "Have our representatives at the County Council any control over such needless waste of the public purse, or are they serving our best interests?" We would like to hear them explain it away. Speak up Jack!

Mrs. Jas. McKeracher (nee Miss Julia Griffith) of Northwood, Ont., who has been spending a pleasant holiday at the home of her sister, Mrs. Wm. McCartney, of the 2nd line, west, left for her home on Monday. Mrs. McKeracher has been in rather indifferent health for some time but her many Caledon friends were very agreeably surprised to see her almost herself again.

A young lady was heard to remark in the post office on a rather cool evening not long ago that it reminded her of Caledon Fair. On reflection, we remembered that our Exhibition had rather unfavorable weather last year, but cheer up girls, it's going to be better this year as Wm. Rutledge, the veteran secretary of the Society, has sent in the order for a fine day and some new special features have also been added to the list, which means that our fair will be one of the best in the province.

Mr. Wm. Harris, who has been rather seriously indisposed of late, is on a speedy road to recovery.

Mrs. Leslie and daughter, Ottie, left for their new home in the West on Friday.

Threshing and fall seeding is the order of the day here now. There has been the largest acreage sown with wheat that has been known in this section for many years.

The Sutton house is again occupied by the owner, Mr. Wm. Sutton, and as formerly, the best of accommodation will be provided for the travelling public.

Mr. Will Atkinson, son of our genial and obliging station agent, who has been assistant manager of the hat and cap department in the Eaton Store, Toronto, has been transferred to their branch in Winnipeg and placed at the head of a similar department there. We congratulate him on his advancement, and wish him continued success.

MARSVILLE.

The Marsville Branch Women's Institute held its regular meeting on Wednesday afternoon. There was a good attendance and the meeting proved the most interesting and instructive of the season. Mrs. T. Legate, Secretary of the Orangeville Branch, was present and gave an appreciated address on the different plans adopted by the Orangeville Society for carrying on its work, and the many suggestions will prove beneficial to the Branch here. Part of the programme was taken up with the Question Drawer and all questions were open for discussion by all members present: "What Plan Should be Adopted to Make the Men Rise First and Light the Fires" was one of the topics that brought out many interesting and amusing answers. We understand the Society intend holding an entertainment in the early fall.

Mr. and Mrs. Geo. Boggs, of Dallas, Texas, spent a few days last week with friends in this vicinity.

Mr. and Mrs. Bowles and their daughter, of Markdale, spent Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. V. Armstrong.

Miss Mabel Legate, of Shelburne, and Miss Bessie Kirby, of Nichol, are visiting at the home of Mr. James McBride.

Mr. Wm. Watson has sold his farm containing 150 acres on the 7th line Erin, to Mr. Geo. Wheeler of the adjoining farm. The price paid was $11,000.

Mr. John Cook, B.A., has been appointed by the Committee on Foreign Missions of the Presbyterian Church to foreign missionary service and will labor in Central India. He will leave shortly for his field.

UNIFORMITY

WHAT do we mean by uniformity in flour? We mean stability and dependability, every barrel like every other barrel, every baking like every other.

Now, uniformity in flour comes only from eternal vigilance. It is the result of everlasting care and watchfulness at the mill. It can only be produced by the most advanced methods of milling and the most expensive up-to-date equipment.

One of the many great virtues of

is its absolute uniformity. It never varies. It is the same yesterday, today, to-morrow. Year in and year out it is always uniform, always the best, always invariable in results whether for Bread or Pastry.

Royal Household Flour has to be uniform. It cannot be anything else. It is surrounded at every stage of production with the utmost care and watchfulness.

The Ogilvie Mills are models of up-to-date equipment—the machinery is the most advanced and most expensive—the inspection laboratory and test baking departments are the most complete and scientific in the world.

It has taken enormous Capital and the experience of a life time to achieve the absolute uniformity of Royal Household Flour. The watch, watch, watch and test, test, test which have made ROYAL HOUSEHOLD FLOUR the world's finest flour are your permanent safeguard as to quality.

Royal Household Flour is best for bread, best for cakes, best for pies, best for all household baking.

To be sure of uniform results in baking whether for bread or pastry—use Royal Household Flour and stick to it.

Write for "Ogilvie's Book for a Cook". This book contains 125 pages of excellent recipes many of which have never before been published and will be sent free if you mention the name of your dealer.

VICTORY FOR BRITAIN

Important Points In Fisheries Case Decided In Her Favor.

Hague Tribuna Announces Its Findings.

The International Court of Arbitration, to which had been given the task of settling the fisheries dispute between Britain, Canada and Newfoundland on the one hand and the United States on the other, announced its award last Wednesday afternoon through Professor Lammasch, President of the Court. Britain and the colonies have won the two points on which they laid most stress. On the other five points the decision was in favor of the United States.

One of the most important questions submitted to the Tribunal had to do with the definition of a bay. The United States contention was that the three mile limit followed the coast and that their fishermen had the right to fish in any bay on the Canadian shore having a radius of more than three miles. Great Britain contended that the three mile limit should be measured from an imaginary line connecting the head lands. This contention the Tribunal has upheld. Great Britain also held that the liberty of the inhabitants of the United States to take fish on the coast is subject to the consent of Britain or her colonies in the form of fisheries regulations or laws. This contention was also sustained, the Court holding that the right to make such regulations without the consent of the United States is inherent in the sovereignty of Great Britain.

Following, as reported by the Canadian Associated Press, are the questions submitted to the Tribunal, together with the answers returned :—

QUESTION ONE.—To what extent are the following contentions or either of them justified ?

It is contended on the part of Great Britain that the exercise of the liberty to take fish, referred to in the treaty (of 1818), which the inhabitants of the United States have forever in common with the subjects of his Britannic Majesty, is subject to the consent of Newfoundland in the laws, ordinances or rules, as, for example, the regulation in respect of (1) the hours, days or seasons when fish may be taken on the treaty coasts. (2) The methods, means and implements to be used in the taking of fish or in the carrying on of fishing operations on such coasts. (3) Any other matters of similar character relating to fishing, such regulations being reasonable.

It is contended on the part of the United States that the exercise of such liberty is not subject to limitations or restraint by Great Britain, Canada or Newfoundland unless they are appropriate and necessary for the protection and preservation of the common rights in such fisheries, and unless they be reasonable in themselves and fair as between local fishermen and fishermen coming from the United States, and not so framed as to give an advantage to the former over the latter, and unless their appropriateness, necessity, reasonableness and fairness be determined by the United States and Great Britain by common accord, and the United States concurs in their enforcement.

ANSWER.—The right of Great Britain to make regulations without the consent of the United States as to the exercise of the liberty to take fish, referred to in article 1 of the treaty of October 20, 1818, in the form of municipal laws, ordinances or rules of Great Britain, Canada or Newfoundland is inherent in the sovereignty of Great Britain.

The exercise of that right by Great Britain is, however, limited by the said treaty in respect of the said liberties therein granted to the inhabitants of the United States in that such regulations must be made bonafide and must not be in violation of the said treaty regulations which are (1) appropriate or necessary for the protection and preservation of such fisheries, or (2) desirable or necessary on grounds of public order and morals, without unnecessarily interfering with the fishery itself, and in both cases equitable and fair as between local and American fishermen, and not so framed as to give unfairly an advantage to the former over the latter class, are not inconsistent with the obligation to execute the treaty in good faith, and are, therefore, reasonable and not in violation of the treaty.

For the decision of the question whether a regulation is or is not reasonable, as being or not being in accordance with the dispositions of the treaty and not in violation thereof, the treaty of 1818 contains no special provision. The settlement of differences in this respect that might arise thereafter was left to the ordinary means of diplomatic intercourse. By reason, however, of the form in which question one is put, and by further reason of the admission of Great Britain, by her counsel before this Tribunal, that it is not now for either of the parties to the treaty to determine the reasonableness of any regulations made by Great Britain, Canada or Newfoundland, the reasonableness of any such regulation, if contested, must be decided, not by either of the parties, but by impartial authority in accordance with the principles herein above laid down, and in the manner proposed in the recommendations made by the Tribunal.

In virtue of article 4 of the agreement, the Tribunal further decides that article 4 of the agreement is, as stated by counsel of the respective parties at the argument, permanent in its effect, and not terminable by the expiration of the general arbitration treaty of 1818 between Great Britain and the United States.

QUESTION TWO.—Have the inhabitants of the United States a right to employ as members of the fishing crews of their vessels persons not inhabitants of the United States ?

ANSWER.—In view of the preceding considerations, this Tribunal is of the opinion that the inhabitants of the United States, while exercising the liberties referred to in the said articles, have a right to employ as members of the fishing crews of their vessels persons not inhabitants of the United States; but, in view of the preceding considerations, the Tribunal, to prevent any misunderstanding as to the effect of its award, expresses the opinion that non-inhabitants employed as members of the fishing crews on United States vessels derive no benefit of immunity from the treaty, and it is so decided and awarded.

QUESTION THREE.—Can the exercise by the inhabitants of the United States of the liberties referred to be subjected without the consent of the United States to the requirements of entry or report at Customs houses or the payment of light or harbor or other dues, or to any other similar requirement or condition or exaction?

ANSWER.—The requirement that an American fishing vessel should report, if proper conveniences for so doing are at hand, is not unreasonable, for the reasons stated in the foregoing opinion. There should be no such requirement, however, unless there be reasonably convenient opportunity afforded to report, in person or by telegraph, either at a Customs house or to a Customs official, but the exercise of the fishing liberty by the inhabitants of the United States should not be subjected to the purely commercial formalities of a report of entry and clearance at a Customs house, nor to light, harbor or other duties not imposed upon Newfoundland fishermen.

QUESTION FOUR.—Under the provision of the said article that the American fishermen shall be admitted to enter certain bays or harbors for shelter, repairs, wood or water, and for no other purpose whatever, but that they shall be under such restrictions as may be necessary to prevent their taking, drying, or curing fish therein, or in any other manner whatever abusing the privilege thereby reserved to them, it is permissible to impose restrictions conditional upon the payment of light or harbor or other dues, or entering or reporting at Customs houses or any similar conditions?

ANSWER.—It is decided and awarded that such restrictions are not permissible unless American fishermen entering such bays for any of the four purposes aforesaid and remaining more than 48 hours therein should be required, if thought necessary by Great Britain or the colonial Government, to report either in person or by telegraph at a Customs house or to a Customs official, if reasonably convenient opportunity therefor is afforded, and it is so decided and awarded.

QUESTION FIVE.—From where must be measured the three marine miles of any of the coasts, bays, creeks or harbors referred to in the said article ?

ANSWER.—The Tribunal decides and awards that in case of bays, the three marine miles are to be measured from a straight line drawn across the body of water at the place where it ceases to have the configuration and characteristics of a bay. At all other places the three marine miles are to be measured following the sinnosities of the coast.

QUESTION SIX.—Have the inhabitants of the United States the liberty to take fish in the bays, harbors and creeks on that part of the southern coast of Newfoundland which extends from Cape Race to Rameau Islands, or on the western and northern coasts of Newfoundland from Cape Race to Quirpon Island, or on the Magdalen Islands?

ANSWER.—This Tribunal is of opinion that American inhabitants are entitled to fish in the bays, creeks and harbors of the treaty coasts of Newfoundland and the Magdalen Islands, and it is so decided and awarded.

QUESTION SEVEN.—Are the inhabitants of the United States, whose vessels resort to the treaty coasts, entitled to have, for those vessels when duly authorized by the United States on that behalf, the commercial privileges on treaty coasts accorded by agreement or otherwise to United States trading vessels generally?

ANSWER.—For these reasons this Tribunal is of the opinion that the inhabitants of the United States are so entitled in so far as concerns this treaty, there being nothing in its provisions to disentitle them, provided the treaty liberty of fishing and the commercial privileges are not exercised concurrently, and it is so decided and awarded.

The decision is signed by the whole Tribunal, but notice of dissent from the majority report is filed by Luis M. Draga with respect to question five.

Now Cured of Rheumatism

Cost him $100.00 for medicines which failed—Cured by DR. CHASE'S KIDNEY-LIVER PILLS.

Mr. James Clark, Maidstone, Sask., writes: "I suffered for four years with rheumatism in my shoulders and could not lift my arms above the head. I tried nearly all the advertised remedies but none of them gave me relief. It cost me at least $100.00 for medicines before I used Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills.

"With the use of this medicine, I soon found relief. I followed up this treatment for six months and was then quite free from rheumatism. While using Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills I also used Dr. Chase's Backache Plaster when so stiff that I could scarcely bend. They always found the weak spot and gave relief while the internal treatment was bringing about a thorough cure."

The success of Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills has been phenomenal. One pill a dose, 25 cents a box, at all dealers or Edmanson, Bates & Co., Toronto. Dr. Chase's Recipes will be sent free on request.

THE SAFETY OF "FRUIT-A-TIVES"

May Be Taken For Years

The Ideal Remedy For Young and Old

Nature's gifts do us good, if used judiciously. We eat bread from babyhood to old age without ever tiring of it. We drink water, year in and year out, with the greatest benefit to our health. So too, we eat fruit in season and are better for the change of diet. This is true, because such things are the natural foods and drink of mankind. It is for this reason that "Fruit-a-tives" may be used for years in correcting some ill of the body. As is well known, "Fruit-a-tives" is made of the juices of apples, oranges, figs and prunes.

Just as fresh fruit may be eaten at every meal, so "Fruit-a-tives" may be taken every night for 20 years or more with the greatest benefit.

The absolute safety of "Fruit-a-tives" has been a great factor in its success. Those who suffered with chronic troubles such as Constipation, Dyspepsia, Rheumatism, etc., naturally took a number of boxes of "Fruit-a-tives".

As they became better, they found that instead of being compelled to increase the dose as in most medicines, they were decreasing it, and gradually taking fewer doses.

50c. a box, 6 for $2.50, or trial box, 25c. At dealers, or sent on receipt of price by Fruit-a-tives Limited, Ottawa.

Decrease in Holdings in all Lines, Save Hogs.

A report issued by the Ontario Department of Agriculture shows the number of animals of various classes in the Province on the first of July last.

The report shows that in all lines, save in hogs, there has been a reduction. In hogs the number on hand on July 1st was 1,561,642, against 1,551,187 last year. Even with this increase we are far behind the figures of 1905 when there were upwards of two and one-quarter million hogs in the province. While there is, therefore, some little increase in the number as compared with last year, that increase is not nearly sufficient to justify any considerable slump in present market prices. There is, however, one significant fact in the figures dealing with swine. While there was an increase in the number on hand on July 1st there was a decrease in the number sold or slaughtered during the previous year, the figures for the departmental year recently closed being 1,844,405, against 1,986,432 the year before. This would seem to indicate that a larger proportion than formerly are being kept for breeding purposes, and points to the probability that next year production will considerably exceed the figures for this year.

In sheep and lambs the number on hand on July 1st was 1,065,101, as compared with 1,130,667 last year; in milch cows 1,052,796, compared with 1,075,496; other cattle 1,514,332, compared with 1,593,088; and horses 724,384, as compared with 728,308 in 1909.

The shrinkage in the number of horses is not due to a decrease in production, but to an increase in demand. The department's figures show that 97,900 were sold during the year ending June 30th, as against 76,461 the year before. There is no doubt that a large proportion of the sales were made to the West and this accounts for the falling off in the number of horses found in Ontario on July 1st, notwithstanding the great increase which has taken place in breeding.

In cattle, again, despite the decrease in the total number kept, the sales were 817,239 during the year, an increase of 17,000 over the previous year.

In sheep there was a decrease in the number of sales and slaughterings, the figures for the year just passed being 512,909, as against 533,441 the year before.

While the general live stock industry does not show the expansion it ought to show, there has been a gratifying increase in poultry. The number of turkeys on hand on July first was 629,313, as compared with 567,105 in 1906; geese 347,705, against 285,786; ducks 378,969, against 314,083; and other fowl 11,104,800, compared with 9,087,860 in 1906.

THE ACTRESS GOT HIM.

Another American millionaire has married an actress. Now, inasmuch as actresses are admittedly pastmistresses in the art of make-up, there is scant encouragement in this for the genuine don-care-a-particle-how-I-look-girl, who scorns powders and frills, and who is only herself—not a perambulating drug store and hairdresser's establishment.

The girl who wears her own hair and whose skin is not smeared with marvelous restoratives is not the one who gets the prize. Oh no. She is of the cunning ways, the marvellous form, and the impossible complexion who captures the coin. The girl who stays at home and takes care of mother is overlooked in the matrimonial rush, and only touches the fringe of it, where she may or may not be picked up by some little "ten-per" toiler.

Not many such girls would take to the stage, however, for the purpose of acquiring an inside knowledge of the wonderful beauty which finds the heartstrings of the immensely rich. They will still stay at home, cooking the things that mother used to cook. Here's to 'em—may their shadows never grow less.

NEW POST-OFFICE RULES.

Our postmaster formulates the following rules for the benefit of his patrons and that you may know what you may expect. No letters given out until they have been received. If you don't get a letter or a paper on the day you expect it have the postmaster look through all the boxes and down the cellar also. It ought to be there somewhere and he likes to hunt for it just to please you. If your friend don't write rave at the postmaster. He is to blame. If he tells you no, put on a grieved look and say there ought to be some. He is probably hiding your mail for the pleasure of having you call for it. Ask him to look again. If you are buying stamps make him lick them and put them on, that's his business.

A LITTLE THING.

A pen once cost me an order, says James N. Bower, in System. I had just worked up the executive of a large concern into a desire to buy. I had my contract form lying on his desk, with my finger on the dotted line. He reached over toward the pen rack, took off a pen and plunged it into the ink-well. He turned to me with a frown on his face—the well was empty.

I was ready with a fountain pen. The pen uncapped, I handed it to him. He started to write it; the ink would not flow. I took it and shook it. Again he made the attempt with no result.

"I will get one," he said. So he stepped into the other room. Evidently someone stopped him with a question, for he did not come back for three minutes. Then he stood at his desk; he looked down at the contract.

"I believe I had better think this matter over again," he said. And all the talk I put up could not budge him.

I had lost a sale because my fountain pen was empty. Now one of my regular morning duties, week in and week out, just as regular as my shave and my checking over of calls to be made and the making out of my expense account, is filling my fountain pen.

THE SINGING COWGIRL.

Once upon a time there was a little girl called Mary who used to drive the cows to the meadow every morning, and then she would sit down by the brook and sing while the brook sang, and the sunbeams sang, and everything about her did nothing but sing. Even Colin, who was only a country boy and used to drive his cows to the opposite side of the stream, began to sing when he saw her.

Mary had brown eyes and brown hair and her face and arms and feet were burnt so brown by the sun that everyone called her the nut-brown maiden, and some people said she wasn't real at all, but simply a brownie.

"Mary," said Colin one day, "I love you."

Mary just laughed and sang, but did not answer.

"Mary," said Colin, "tell me, are you real or are you a fairy?"

"Of course I'm real," said Mary, "and I'm only a cow-girl, but I'll marry you if you really love me."

"Well then," said the golden butterfly, interrupting, "Mary is really a fairy and she is going to live with us as a golden bird for a year and a day, and then if you still love her, she will come back and marry you."

"Dear Colin," said Mary, "I'm going away, but though you will not see me you will hear me, for I will come and sing every day and milk the cows in the evening."

So Mary flew away with the golden butterfly, and left Colin alone beside the stream.

Donald, Mary's father, came along soon after, and saw his cows without Mary.

"Hullo!" he said, "where is Mary?"

"She has become a golden bird and has flown away, but I can still hear her singing in the distance."

But old Donald thought Colin was making a fool of him and gave him a good thrashing. Then when he saw Colin crying, he felt sorry again and said, "never mind my lad, you can look after the cattle till Mary comes back."

So every day Colin came and watched the cattle. Some said he was mad, and others said that he mistook the singing of the stream for Mary's singing, but Colin knew better, for only one person in the world could sing as Mary sang, and he knew that Mary must be there for the cows were milked without his having to touch them and the farmer often wondered how the pails were so full.

"It must be the fairies," he said to himself. "But I won't say anything or perhaps they would be frightened and run away."

Sometimes in his dreams even the farmer thought he heard a voice singing,—

"My Colin has cattle
So grey and so brown
And warm is their milk
When the sun has gone down."

So for a year and a day Mary lived as a golden bird among the fairies and still Colin loved her truly, for he knew that she would come back to marry him. And she did come back, and old Donald gave them a cottage and cattle of their own, so that they lived happily ever after.

While engaged in hauling in grain, Tom Jackson, an employe of Mr. Hamilton Bateman, near Bond Head, made an attempt to cross on a scaffold from one mow to another. A plank broke, letting him fall through. The plank, following, struck him on the knee. He sustained a compound fracture and other injuries.

MAINTENANCE OF EARTH ROADS.

Should be Someone's Business to Look After Them.

Any one who has given the subject even the most cursory examination will readily agree that the prevailing system of repairing earth roads once a year is woefully deficient. The system of maintenance is at the bottom of most of the road trouble and it is useless to expect better roads as long as it remains in vogue. Under the present system roads deteriorate to such an extent that all the available road funds are required to put the road back into as good condition as it was when last repaired. In this way roads remain at a standstill and no true progress results.

In order to make roads good roads in the true sense of the word. He continuous maintenance must be adopted. Many have argued that every farmer should keep in repair a certain definite piece of road near his farm, but this system, although often productive of a great deal of good, has never been entirely successful. The trouble is that the farmer has too much important private business to attend to and cannot always give the road his attention when the condition of the road requires it. Then too this system is against the tendency of the times which is for division of labor and intense specialization.

The present day farmer is a specialist in the true sense of the word. He no longer concerns himself about the making of his shoes, clothing, tools or other equipment; he no longer worries about the bringing of his mail and the time is coming when he should no longer bother about the direct maintenance of his roads. The farmer's mail is brought to his door and he takes it as a matter of fact, stopping to consider the system which brings it there only when the mail for some reason or other fails to appear. Likewise the ideal road maintenance is one by which the roads are kept in repair as automatically, but as surely as the delivery of the rural mail.

KEEP AHEAD OF THE FARMER.

Of experiment stations and agricultural institutions in Canada it can be said that the work carried on and the results obtained from experiment and demonstration are not beyond the comprehension of the average tiller of the soil. If he so desires he can avail himself of this information and apply it to practical every day problems on his own farm. As this country grows and farmers become better informed and more skilled in the management of their farms and in producing maximum crops from the soil, research at our experimental institutions can reach down for deeper things. But the process must be gradual. The work carried on must not get very far ahead of those whom it is designed to benefit most. In a few special lines this deeper research may be necessary even to-day. The number of farmers who are specializing in one or two branches of farming is increasing in this country. As this number increases the experimentalist must keep pace with it. In fact he should set the pace, keeping a notch or two ahead of those whom his work is supposed to benefit. When one reads of the exhaustive research of some of the agricultural institutions in Europe one may be inclined to the opinion that similar institutions on this side of the Atlantic are only playing at investigation work. This may seem so to the advanced student in agriculture. But he is not the one who should benefit by this work. It is the every day farmer who needs help most, and the agricultural institution that deals out good practical, reliable information for his benefit, is accomplishing the most good. If there is a weak spot in Canadian agricultural institutions it is that the information obtained by them is not given out in the best form for the average farmers to assimilate. There should be some other way than the annual report and the occasional bulletin for disseminating information.—Canadian Farm.

CHAMOIS FOR THE FACE.

When the skin takes on a shiny appearance one should take especial care of it.

Rinse the soap off well with water when washing.

Before the face is quite dry a little powder should be placed on it.

Then rub the face gently with a chamois after the powder has dried.

In many cases, where the blood is not at fault for the condition, this remedy will be found entirely sufficient to take away the shiny appearance.

TOLD BY TEA LEAVES.

First the one whose fortune is to be told should drink a little of the tea while it is hot, and then turn out the rest, being careful not to turn out the grounds in doing so. Also, not to look at them, as it is bad luck.

Then she must turn the cup over so that no water remains, for drops of water in the grounds signify tears.

Next, she must turn the cup over slowly towards her, three times wishing the wish of her heart as she turns it.

After this she must rest it a minute against the edge of a saucer— to court luck.

Then the fortune teller takes it and reads the fortune.

Three small dots in a row stand for the wish. If near the top it will soon be realized; if at the bottom some time will elapse.

If the grounds are bunched together it signifies that all will be well with the fortune seekers, but if they are scattered it means much the reverse.

A small speck near the top means a letter. What it is depends on the shape of the speck.

The sticks are people—light or dark, short or tall, according to their color and length. A small one means a child, a thick one a woman.

If they lie crosswise they are enemies. If straight up, intimate friends or pleasant acquaintances.

If a larger speck is near them, it means they are coming for a visit bringing a valise or trunk.

If there is a bottle shape near a stick it means a physician. If a book shape a minister or lawyer. If many fine specks a married man.

The sticks with a bunch of grounds on their backs are bearers of bad news or they say things about you.

A long line of grounds with no opening between foretells a journey by water. If openings, by rail.

A large ring closed means an offer of marriage to an unmarried woman.

To a married woman it means a fortunate undertaking. To a man, success in business.

A small ring means an invitation.

A half-moon or star to married people means a paying investment.

A pyramid is extremely lucky.

A square or oblong, new land.

Flowers, a present, what it is depending on the shape, or the present may be flowers.

Leaves, sickness and death.

Fruit of any kind, health.

Baby's Terrible Eczema.

Hands Tied to Prevent Scratching.

Five Doctors Failed to Relieve But Zam-Buk Worked a Cure.

Mrs. Chas. Levere, of Prescott, North Channel, Ontario, tells how Zam-Buk cured her baby. She says:—"My baby's head and face was one complete mass of sores. The itching and irritation were fearful, and the little one's plight was so serious that at one time we feared her ears would be eaten off by the disease.

We had to keep her hands tied for days to prevent her rubbing and scratching the sores. Doctor after doctor treated her in vain, until we had had five doctors. They all agreed it was a frightful case of eczema, but none of them did any permanent good.

As a last resource we were advised to try Zam-Buk. The first box did so much good that we felt sure that we were at last working in the right direction. We persevered with the treatment until we had used thirteen boxes, and at the end of that time I am glad to say Zam-Buk had effected a complete cure.

Mrs. Holmes, of 30 Guise Street, Hamilton, is quite as eloquent in her praise. She says:—"Zam-Buk cured my boy of boils and eruptions when he was so bad that he had been un-Buk is a wonderful preparation, and able to mix with other children. Zam-Buk is a wonderful preparation and mothers throughout the land should always keep it handy.

For eczema, eruptions, rashes, tetter, itch, ringworm, and similar skin diseases, Zam-Buk is without equal. It also cures cuts, burns, scalds, piles, abscesses, chronic sores, blood poisoning, etc. All druggists and stores at 50c. a box, or post free for price from Zam-Buk Co., Toronto. Refuse imitations.

The farmer who owns a farm is the particular person who is fixed. Banks may fail and factories close, workmen strike and mines suspend, merchants fail and towns burn, times may be panicky and even crops may be short—but the farmer who owns his acres will get along. He will live in comfort and quiet, with plenty to eat, drink and wear. He is the most independent man on earth. Yet there are lots of them who do not appreciate their situation.

PROF. WIGGIN'S AND HIS STORMS.

Twenty years ago the name of Prof. E. Stone Wiggins, who passed away recently in New Brunswick, was a household word not only in Canada but in America because of his ability as a weather prophet. A highly educated scientist, he came in for some ridicule because many of his theories were diametrically opposed to those of other physicists and astronomers. He foretold a violent storm to occur on March 10th, 1883, to rise in the North Pacific, and striking America from the southwest, to sweep eastward and along the Great Lakes. General havoc was to be done along the Lower St. Lawrence region and the Gulf of Mexico. Dread of the storm induced Canadian and New England fishermen to keep in port. They were well rewarded for it came on time with all its fury, dealing death and destruction in its path. Upon one occasion Professor Wiggins wrote to the Lords of the English Admiralty, warning them not to allow vessels out of port on a certain date as a most disastrous storm would occur at that time. They only laughed. However, a few days later the Lord Mayor of London opened a subscription for the widows and orphans of the four hundred men of the Hull fishing fleet lost in that storm. One of the greatest discoveries was that the atmosphere cannot absorb moisture till charged electrically. To the perpetual rains of the summer of 1902 he attributed the eruption of Mt. Pelee, which filled the northern hemisphere with electric energy, turning it into a large aerial sponge. In his book the "Architecture of the Heavens," published in 1864, Professor Wiggins propounded his theory of the universe, namely, that the sun is enclosed in an atmosphere of electricity by whose positive and negative forces it attracts and propels the comets through space. In time these bodies become so great that the sun can no longer repel them, when they fall into irregular and finally circular orbits around the sun. — Saturday Night.

ARMY HORSES.

The army horse question is affording some concern to military men in Great Britain. It seems that of whatever horses are produced there suitable for military purposes, the best of them are picked up by foreign powers, leaving the inferior ones for the home defense, which all goes to show that there is no sentiment in trade. Because the foreign power will pay more for army horses than will the home government, it gets the pick, and from all reports, the bulk of the horses produced The British Government must therefore put up the price, or look to other sources for their supply, or do without. The Royal Commission on horse breeding in their annual report urge the government to buy remounts at an earlier age as the foreign powers do. This seems to be the crux of the whole situation so far as the profitable production of army horses is concerned. When a farmer has to keep a horse till it is four or five years old he needs to get a pretty good price for it to come out even. After a horse is grown, a couple of years adds greatly to its cost, especially if the animal is of a class not suitable for farm work. There is all outgo for the keep of the horse and no return in work. If the army authorities would take over these horses say at three years of age and pay a reasonable price for them, there would be more produced, not only in Great Britain, but in Canada also. — Canadian Farm.

THE OUTER CIRCLE.

The value of the output of the mines and smelters of Ontario for the year 1910 was over twelve million dollars. The silver output was worth over six millions, nickle two millions, pig iron three and one-half millions.

The Fergus council is greatly pleased with its experiments with regard to the available water supply on the premises of Mr. W. M. Armstrong, and after repeated tests has instructed the clerk to write the engineer asking him to come up at once, make an official test, and report immediately, so that no further time may be lost. A waterworks vote may yet be taken this fall along with the proposition with regard to the People's Railway, to be laid before Fergus electors.—News-Record.

General Baden-Powell, the hero of Mafeking and the chief of the Boy Scouts, has been making a tour of Canada. We see a great deal of good in the movement of which he is the founder, as explained by him. It is not military. It trains boys to lead successful lives by helping them to be obedient, unselfish, courteous, and chivalrous. "Obey orders, no matter what it costs you, and learn to swim," is the pithy way he sums up the duties of the Scouts. A company would do good in Orangeville.

What do the fall fairs mean to you and to your family? A place to have a holiday, a frolic, to see friends not often seen, and to meet new ones, to hear the bands and to see the races? Good. But not so good if at the same time you and your family do not get an inspiration for better things on your farm, a suggestion for new improvements to make the home work easier, more quickly, more satisfactorily done, lessons learned for the betterment of your stock and your farm.—Farmers' Advocate.

You don't have to go to war to be patriotic. Improve your locality, uphold your town, enlarge its interests and lend a hand to progress and you are a patriot—a lover of your country—as truly as the soldier who shoulders his musket. It is not patriotism to neglect your work and run around the town to get signers to a petition to oppose any public work that is for the benefit of the town, such as proper drainage, etc. We have some of the latter class and they are small potatoes certainly.

The latest invention to hang in the family dining room is the gum board. It is a neat little circular board, plain or decorated, fastened to the wall. The name of each of the family is painted on the circumference, and marks the spot where the gum is left until wanted. This saves carrying the gum to bed and getting it in one's hair, or swallowing it in the night. It is obvious that the gum board supplies a long felt want, and he who invented the new fad will have the best wishes of the young ladies.

A rumager among old papers of the date of 1845 found the following prices, which will be of interest in comparison with the prices of the present time: 2 pounds of nails 16c.; 1 lb. of tea $1.25, 7 yds. of calico at 22c. per yd., and 10½ yds at 33c. per yd., 83 lbs. of beef at 2c. per lb., butter as low as 4 and 5c. per lb., black muslin 18c. per yd., corn 15½ to 16c. per bushel, fresh pork 3c. per lb., 2 hogs weighing 340 lbs. each at 2½c. perl b., brown sugar 82½c. per lb., eggs 2 cts. per dozen, whiskey 37½c. per gallon.

That the fools are not all clamped down in their coffins yet we have lots to prove. A case in point is that a prize was offered for the motor boat making the fastest time between the steel arch bridge below Niagara Falls, down the rapids to Lewiston, a distance of six miles in all. Several entries were made, but all those who entered, with more discretion than valor, contracted cold feet and withdrew, with the single exception of Claus P. Larsen, of Cleveland. The race has been called off, but Larsen declares he will make the trip anyway. If he does he will be wise to take along several life insurance policies and a balloon. Better kiss the baby goodbye, too, before he casts off.

Inspector Alfred Hunter, of the Game and Fisheries Department, Toronto, was in Mount Forest on Friday and investigated an information laid by one farmer against another, both living near Pike Lake. The complaint was that one of them used a net for fishing on Pike Creek, the outlet of the lake. The defendant pleaded guilty of this offence and was fined $10 and costs, $21.00 in all. The inspector desires that all parties interested should note that fishing in streams with nets is illegal and punishable by a heavy fine.—Mt. Forest Confederate.

An exchange says:—It is little use for the local editor to waste his lungs and sprain his spine in trying to boom a town when the citizens all stand around with their hands in their pockets and indifferently wait for something to turn up. If the capitalists or business men do not put their shoulders to the wheel and do a little boosting it is useless for the editor to try and boom things. He can write "boom" articles till he gets bald headed, but if the citizens themselves do not take hold and push, the town will forever stick in the mud. Of what use is it for the local paper to suggest improvements and new enterprises if the suggestions are never acted upon? One man cannot boom a town. It requires the concerted action of the citizens. When one man shoulders a town and attemps to carry it there are always a lot of cranky kickers ready to jump on top of the load. Unity of action is what knocks.

The Toronto National Exhibition has grown to such proportions and presents such a variety of products that it is not possible to get acquainted with a tithe of them on a visit of a few hours. Our reporter spent Friday evening in viewing the sights. A number of the buildings were visited and entertainment and instruction were found everywhere The art exhibit was of special excellence, a number of famous paintings being on view, among them Wellington at Waterloo, the death of Nelson and most notable of all, Holman Hunt's Shadow of the Cross. On the Midway and in front of the Grand Stand one or two of the so called attractions were a little more vulgar than usual. At the Press Luncheon the chief feature was an address given by the Rev. Dr. Bryce, of Winnipeg, on the work of the Conservation Commission and the Commission on Technical Education, of both of which he was a member.

The Harriston Review says that "The Daughters of the Empire Park, in a wo-begone quarter of the town, is being rapidly converted from an "eyesore," to a spot of beauty; trees have been planted, a stone wall is being erected on both sides of the river, the old ashery has vanished from sight, and already an improvement is quite noticeable and by this time next summer Harriston can boast of having one of the most beautiful parks in this part of Ontario, due to the untiring efforts of General Wolfe Chapter of The Daughters of the Empire." We rejoice that our enterprising neighbor is getting rid of its ashes and lava and things. There is a good hint here for Mount Forest. It would seem that we shall not have a creditable Park System nor get rid of disgraceful eyesores like the old cemetery until the ladies take hold with a will. To slightly paraphrase a remark made in a letter recently to hand the ladies know more about matters of taste in a minute than mere men know in a week, and can do more in a week to beautify a place than men can do in a thousand years.—Mt. Dr. Rutledge, pastor of Wingham Methodist church, in the presence of a few relatives and friends of the contracting parties. Mr. and Mrs. Button left on the afternoon train for Toronto and will take a trip down the St. Lawrence. On their return they will commence housekeeping in the apartments over the store. The Economist extends congratulations. — Shelburne Economist.

A YOUTHFUL CLIMBER.

If Toronto Exhibition had as thrilling an act on its programme as that performed by two-year-old Albert Hibbert last week those who like sensational features would be more than satisfied with the performance. It was certainly a "thriller" for those who saw it. The observation tower completed last week by the Dominion Government on Mr. Hibbert's farm in Melancthon, a couple of miles from Dundalk, was the scene of a steeplejack performance by the two-year-old who had early ambitions for climbing high in life. The tower is ascended by 12 foot ladders each with a small platform base. The young steeplejack was on the 5th ladder and about 50 feet from the ground when observed by his mother. To engage his attention was perilous and the mother was naturally frantic with fear. She was not long in deciding to run back to the fields for the father who was soon on the spot. These were anxious minutes but it did not take long to make the ascent to where the young lad was enjoying himself, the danger unknown to him. The rescue was safely effected and the parents are rejoicing that they have their boy restored to them when he was in such imminent danger of being dashed to death or maimed for life.—Dundalk Herald.

OPERATION HER ONLY CHANCE

Was Cured by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Lindsay, Ont.—"I think it is no more than right for me to thank Mrs. Pinkham for what her kind advice and Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has done for me. When I wrote to her some time ago, I was a very sick woman, suffering from female troubles. I had inflammation of the female organs, and could not stand or walk any distance. At last I was confined to my bed, and the doctor said I would have to go through an operation, but this I refused to do. A friend advised Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, and now, after using three bottles of it, I feel like a new woman. I most heartily recommend this medicine to all women who suffer with female troubles. I have also taken Lydia E. Pinkham's Liver Pills and think they are fine."—Mrs. FRANK EMSLEY, Lindsay, Ontario.

We cannot understand why women will take chances with an operation or drag out a sickly half-hearted existence, missing three-fourths of the joy of living, without first trying Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

For thirty years it has been the standard remedy for female ills, and has cured thousands of women who have been troubled with such ailments as displacements, inflammation, ulceration, fibroid tumors, irregularities, periodic pains, backache, indigestion, and nervous prostration.

TAKE THINGS QUIETLY.

Everyone has a welcome for the person who has good sense to take things quietly. The person who can go without her dinner and not advertise the fact, who can lose her purse and keep her temper, who makes light of a heavy weight and can wear a shoe that pinches without anyone being the wiser, who does not magnify the splinter in her finger into a stick of timber, nor the mote in her neighbor's eye into a beam, who swallows bitter words without leaving the taste in other people's mouths, who can give up her own way without giving up the ghost, who can have a thorn in the flesh and yet not prick all her friends with it—such a one surely carries a passport into the good graces of mankind.

THE ALLIANCE PROGRAMME

Plans for Campaigns in One Hundred Ontario Municipalities.

That there will be local option contests in fully one hundred municipalities next January was announced at the meeting of the General Executive of the Ontario branch of the Dominion Alliance held at the Administration Building of the Toronto Exhibition last week. Already the Alliance is in correspondence with about eighty of the proposed municipalities where contests will be held. Arrangements have been made with Mr. G. W. Morrow, of Detroit, Superintendent of the Anti-saloon League of Michigan; Mr. E. S. Shoemaker, of Indianapolis, Superintendent of the Anti-saloon League of Indiana, and Mr. J. H. Roberts, of Montreal, Secretary of the Dominion Alliance, to give assistance with the fall's campaign.

The report of the Treasurer, submitted by Mr. Theron Gibson, was an especially interesting document, and showed the finances of the Alliance to be in a hopeful condition. The total cash receipts from all sources for the first eight months of 1910 were $24,994.44. For the same eight months in 1909 the receipts were $13,624.80.

It was decided to endeavor to secure the presence of Miss Cora Stoddart, of Boston, Secretary of the Scientific Temperance Federation, with an exhibit, for the next annual convention.

A vote of thanks was tendered the Board of Exhibition Directors for giving the use of the Board room for the meeting of the Alliance.

AFTER THE QUEEN'S.

Mr. Geo. E. Morrison, of the Ontario License Department, spent Wednesday of last week in town and while here called at Police Magistrate Pattullo's office and laid an information against the Queen's hotel for selling liquor without a license. We understand that the case will be heard on Tuesday next, September 20th. Police Magistrate Rutherford of Shelburne, may be asked to try the case, as P. M. Pattullo is reluctant to act owing to the fact that he is owner of part of the premises occupied by the Queen's. Mr. Morrison's visit would seem to indicate that the Provincial authorities are going to take a hand in the game in Orangeville. There has undoubtedly been a good deal of drinking in town lately. Apparently every person who wanted to might sell booze with impunity so far as Local Inspector Tom McDowell is concerned. Mr. McDowell, who lives on a farm near the north end of Melancthon, is very seldom seen in Orangeville and knows little or nothing of what is doing in the county town. His appointment was a mistake in the first place and the sooner he is retired the better the Inspector should be a live, energetic officer, and to do his work efficiently he should live in Orangeville, Shelburne or Grand Valley.

WILL GO TO CENTRAL INDIA.

At a meeting of the Presbyterian Foreign Missions Board in Toronto last week, Rev. W. J. Cook, B.A., of Norton, was appointed a missionary to Central India. Mr. Cook, who is a graduate of Queen's University, received his High School education in Orangeville and is quite well known here. He occupied the pulpit in St. Andrew's Church one Sabbath about two months ago. Mr. Cook will sail for his field of labor about October 1st.

Mr. Joseph Foster, of Mono, spent a few days in Toronto last week visiting the Exhibition and also taking in the sights around the city. On Sunday he attended divine service in Cooke's Church, where he had the pleasure of listening to Rev. Dr. Taylor, who occupied the pulpit morning and evening.

Mr. Sellars is now engaged in the wholesale fruit business in Tonapah.

Mr. W. F. McLachlan, of Alton, and his brother, Mr. Alexander McLachlan, of Scotland, South Dakota, were visitors in Orangeville yesterday. The latter is spending a couple of weeks visiting with his brother at Alton and other relatives in that neighborhood. The two brothers have not seen each other for 31 years, so that their meeting has been a particularly pleasant experience for both of them.

Rev. B. Davies, pastor of the Baptist church, gave an address on Western Missions at the Harvest Home and Thank-offering services held by Cheltenham Baptist Church on Monday. On Tuesday he visited Acton and assisted at the ordination of Mr. F. G. Burrell, a brother of Rev. C. E. Burrell, a former pastor of Orangeville Baptist Church. Mr. Davies was appointed clerk of the ordaining council.

Mr. J. D. Torrie, of the local firm of McMillan & Torrie, arrived home on Tuesday after a delightful six weeks' trip through the Canadian West. Mr. Torrie was as far west as Edmonton and also visited Saskatoon, Regina, Brandon, Medicine Hat, Moose Jaw, Calgary, Lethbridge and other important centres west of Winnipeg. He says that the crops are turning out much better than expected and with the prospect of realizing good prices on the surplus product of their farms the Western farmers have little reason to feel dissatisfied or discouraged. Mr. Torrie looks well after his lengthy vacation and reports a thoroughly enjoyable trip. He met many people from Orangeville and neighborhood in the course of his travels and says that with few exceptions they appear to be prospering.

Rev. John R. Wilkinson, of Holland Centre, occupied the pulpit at both services in the Methodist Church on Sunday and also spoke to the young people of the Epworth League on Monday evening. Mr. Wilkinson, who is a comparatively young man, delivered two thoughtful and well-reasoned discourses, which were greatly appreciated by his hearers. His addresses were characterized by an earnestness and a quiet forcefulness that won and held the attention and interest of his congregation. Mr. Wilkinson, our readers will be interested to learn, is a native of Caledon township. He spent his boyhood on a farm on the 2nd line, west, a short distance below Orangeville and attended the Public School here for several years. He was the guest of his cousin, Mr. J. E. Smith, while in town.

AUTUMN MILLINERY

Orangeville Houses Held Their Annual Fall Openings This Week.

Displays Attract Large Crowds Of Admiring Femininity.

Orangeville autumn millinery openings were held yesterday afternoon and evening and were well attended by the ladies of the town and surrounding country. The different showrooms were prettily decorated for the occasion, and, with the fine hats shown, made very pleasing displays. The visitors who thronged the different establishments were courteously received by the presiding milliners and their assistants and given every facility for acquainting themselves with Fashion's last word in autumn headgear.

The ladies should have no cause to complain this season of any lack of variety in the new shapes. There has seldom been a greater diversity either in shapes or sizes and the customer should find it a comparatively easy matter to make a selection that will become any face. Large brimmed hats are the acme of style and some extremely large models are shown in dress hats. Then for the woman who prefers something small and compact, there is ample room for choice in turbans which are shown in many varieties. These range from soft cap-like models, which envelop the head, to the Oriental turbans and the Louis XV. models, with ample looking crowns that are arranged in folds that protrude outward, upwards and even backwards. Another style shows the turban with an upright brim, almost as high as the hat itself, but with a slight backward slant. While not particularly new, large wide-brimmed picture hats with low crowns are shown and make very pleasing and graceful models. Beehive hats with huge bunches of ribbon are also meeting with much favor. In the large hats, mushroom shapes with deep straight drooping brims that slope almost directly from the crown are conspicuous and bid fair to be quite popular. Large hats are mostly trimmed with plumes, in black and white and also pleasing colored effects. Beaver hats are much in evidence and are shown in smooth and rough felts. Many of the hats shown are of two fabrics, velvet, silk plush and beaver being used with Persian printed silk or satin, plain satin or ottoman. Paisley silks and handkerchiefs are used a great deal for trimmings and are seen in some decidedly novel and withal pretty effects. Black and white are still very popular colors, but blue in all its shades is also much fancied. Deep purple and cerise is a new color combination that will be seen a great deal this season. Altogether this may be said to be a season of mixed shades and colorings. A new idea in trimming that appears to be meeting with considerable favor is white lace on colored and black hats.

HILL & CO.

Among the many attractive models shown here, particular mention should perhaps be made of a black panne velvet turban with ruching of lace on the edge of a decidedly drooping brim and trimmed with ribbon flowers. Another striking type was a black panne velvet hat, with brim drooping well over the face and slightly upturned on the left side. The trimming consisted of large ostrich plumes and jet ornaments. Equally attractive was a white hat of ottoman corded silk with black facing, finished with white ostrich plumes, a bandeau of black and white chenille and jet ornament. Another charming creation was a large green velvet hat trimmed with Paisley silk, green wings and touches of gold. A bonnet in mauve shades trimmed with bird of paradise osprey and shaded roses and ornaments was also an object of admiration. Miss Waddell, the head milliner, is showing some exquisite designs in mourning hats, as well as a line of pretty headwear for children. The leading colors are black and white, with the old rose and cerise shades also prominent. The chantecler, a new shade of red, is also shown and creates a decidedly pretty effect. The new blues, shading all the way from very light to extremely dark, are much used and ostrich plumes, wings and coque feathers are in demand for trimming materials. Flowers have been relegated to the background for this season at least.

MARSHALL GREEN CO'Y.

This well-known firm is confining its showing this season to ready-to-wear hats, which are on display in a great variety of styles and sizes. One of the most attractive lines is the Russian turban, which is quite popular and will be greatly worn this autumn. One pretty creation was made of draped panne velvet with draped crown, fancy braid rim and jewelled ornaments. Another beautiful style was what is called a Normandby bonnet, golden brown in color, made of pan velvet, with soft box pleated rim, large fancy shirred crown and rosettes of white valenciennes lace. Interest also centred in a large black beaver hat, with brim rolled at the side and trimmed with huge black wings and a gilt cord and tassel. Miss Kennedy, the chief saleslady here, is showing a variety of pretty turbans and also some extremely large picture hats. There appears to be no medium sizes this autumn. The hats are either very large or very small, and the trimmings are as a rule quite bright, with gilt and silver, fancy buckles, jewelled and jet ornaments and Persian trimmings very much in evidence. Persian printed ribbons are greatly fancied for trimming. Velvet ribbons are also much used, but chiefly in the narrower widths.

THE CLOTHING MEN, - - Broadway, Orangeville

GILLESPIE, ROGERS & CO.

Miss Elliott, who is in charge of this establishment this season, emphasized the important place the drooping brim occupies in the autumn styles. Picture hats are unusually large, while turbans, generally speaking, run to the other extreme, being noticeably smaller than in former seasons. Blue in all the shades, including the new Royal or King's blue, is a dominant color and plush, Paisley silks and ribbon occupy first place among trimming materials. One of the favorite models shown is a large hat with king's blue silk top, black velvet facing and a bandeau of Persian lamb, surmounted by black sprays and finished with large jet buckle. Another equally popular shape was a small French hat with high coronet, covered with black velvet and shirred silk crown finished at the left side with black wings. Very attractive indeed was an exquisite hat in the popular Parisian shape, with gold colored top and black velvet facing. The trimming included three large plumes coming from the back to the front, a black silk girdle around the crown and ornament of jet. Necessarily incomplete as this brief description is it would be even more so, were mention not made of a pretty girls' hat in grey, with plain drooping rim and draped with Paisley pattern velvet the trimming consisting of two toned feathers to match.

RITCHIE BROS.

One of the new hats shown on opening day was a pretty drooping shape for young ladies. The top was covered with golden brown moire, and a wide fold of Paisley under the brim. The only trimming was a gold cord and tassel tied in a bow knot at the right side and on the left a beautiful gold and brown mount. Another extremely pretty hat was made of black silk velvet and fashioned in the prevailing drooping style. A soft draped crown of velvet, white ottoman silk facing two large black and white pom-poms on the left side and a knot of velvet at the back made a very effective and artistic combination. Another creation of the milliner's art that was very much admired was a large brass shade velvet hat, faced with black, the only trimming being a brass bandeau encircling the crown, and feather ornament of black and brass, caught near the back with cabochon. Turbans, which will be very much worn by both old and young this autumn, had a prominent place in the display and were justly admired by all. High trimmings and feather effects were very much in evidence here and were shown in seemingly endless variety. Miss Sweet, who is well-known to the ladies of Orangeville and neighborhood, is head milliner again this season.

GLOBE SCOTCH DOUBLES.

E. C. Clark and Geo. E. Brown and Dr. T. A. Carson and A. D. McKitrick represented the local lawn bowlers at the Globe Scotch Doubles tournament in Toronto last week. Both pairs got through the preliminary safely, but neither one was able to negotiate the first round. Clark and Brown downed L. K. Cameron and G. T. Chisholm, of the Royal Canadian Yacht Club, by 19 to 7 in the preliminary and were beaten by J. R. Code and G. A. Orr, of the Caer Howell Club, by 15 to 8 in the first round. Dr. Carson and McKitrick won their first game from Dr. C. D. Clarke and W. B. Smith, of the Victorias, by 18 to 11 and tied J. Maxwell and H. G. Salisbury, of St. Matthews, in the second game, only to be beaten out on the extra end. The score was 16 to 15. The Tournament was won by R. Aitken and Geo. Chapman, of Guelph. Aitken, who is a young Scotchman, was in the employ of Hughes & Norris, for a time a few years ago.

THE UNMUZZLED PRESS.

A free people should guard zealously the disinterested independence of its press. The regular reading of any paper, no matter how shallow, prejudiced and illogical it may be, moulds one's opinions more subtly than he would suppose. Particularly is this so in the case of papers trusted as independent, but really perverted to the furtherance of ulterior purposes. A biased journal, openly pledged to support a party or a cause through good report or evil is bad enough, but it is admirable and respectable compared to those serpentine publications professing one cause, but insidiously serving another. Prostitution of the press to the promotion of corrupt political and business ends, has been the bane of journalism, public honor and freedom in many cases across the line. Dozens and scores of papers have been started or purchased by corporations, to be used ostensibly as independent or as straightforward party newspapers and magazines, but really to chloroform public opinion at critical junctures, preventing, or at least ameliorating, public outcry against nefarious grabs, steals, and other irregularities. These purposes are served with consummate skill, the corporation or political organ often feigning a mild protest as a cloak against public suspicion of its true ownership and motives. Many a man reads such a paper long after it has changed hands, without realizing that its policy, while assumed to be the same, is actually switched straight about. He wakes up some time when a nefarious project has been lobbied through the Legislature or Parliament, but if he thinks to support another paper, perhaps he finds it also has been acquired by the same or another equally obnoxious corporation. So, what is he to read ?

And not only those papers owned outright by designing interests, but others financed as bonafide business propositions, are frequently subjected to insidious attack. More or less thinly-veiled threats of withdrawing advertising patronage, unless such and such a policy be adopted, are met with by every publisher, and yielded to by many. Even in matters of business policy, attempt is sometimes made by threats of boycott to prevent papers from carrying certain lines of advertising manifestly of advantage to the public.

The canker of corporation control for ulterior purposes has not eaten into Canadian journalism to nearly the same extent as across the line Many of our newspapers, and most of our agricultural journals and magazines voice honest convictions. There are, however, exceptions, and signs are not wanting of an attempt to warp, blind and twist Canadian public opinion in the same underhanded way so common in the neighboring Republic. It behooves Canadian readers, if they value their manhood, their freedom and their rights, to spurn all such sheets, when recognized, as they would a viper.

It is not our desire to pose as the only disinterested agricultural journal in Canada. We rejoice in the fact that there are several, but one thing is certain, there is none more absolutely free from political, corporation or other sinister influence, because none can be. "The Farmer's Advocate" is the organ of no clique, faction or interest. It studiously seeks to maintain that detached point of view which alone enables one to draw fair and impartial conclusions. We ask no one to agree with us, save in so far as our published opinions and reasonings commend themselves to his judgment, but this, at least, we claim without fear of contradiction, that the utterances of this journal are the frank expressions of honest men, whose aim ever is to discern and espouse the true interests of the agricultural community in so far, but only in so far, as those interests coincide with the public weal. —Farmers' Advocate.

Owen Sound is to have a dry dock, in keeping with the prevailing state of dryness in that town. The line between the booze and temperance elements is closely drawn up there. The writer saw, a short time ago in that town, a hotelkeeper's horse run away, simply because a water wagon was approaching.

Nervous Prostration For Three Years

"Dr. Miles' Restorative Nervine cured me of a period of nervous prostration of over three years duration, and the Anti-Pain Pills are as necessary to us as the roof of our house. They have been household remedies with us for many years."

WM. J. LOUGHRAN,
1214 Catherine St.,
Philadelphia, Penna.

Much sickness is due to nervous troubles. Headache, dizziness, epilepsy and insanity are nervous troubles. Then there is a large class of disorders which arise from a weakness of the nerves of an organ or part, as weak lungs, heart, stomach, kidney, bladder, eyes, etc. Dyspepsia and indigestion are usually the result of nervous disorders.

Restorative Nervine

soothes the irritated nerves, and assists the nerve cells to generate nerve force.

PURIFIED HIS BLOOD

Dr. Morse's Indian Root Pills Healed Mr. Wilson's Sores

When the sewers of the body—bowels, kidneys and skin ducts—get clogged up, the blood quickly becomes impure and frequently sores break out over the body. The way to heal them, as Mr. Richard Wilson, who lives near London, Ont., found, is to purify the blood. He writes:

"For some time I had been in a low, depressed condition. My appetite left me and I soon began to suffer from indigestion. Quite a number of small sores and blotches formed all over my skin. I tried medicine for the blood and used many kinds of ointments, but without satisfactory results. What was wanted was a thorough cleansing of the blood, and I looked about in vain for some medicine that would accomplish this.

At last Dr. Morse's Indian Root Pills were brought to my notice, and they are one of the most wonderful medicines I have ever known. My blood was purified in a very short time, sores healed up, my indigestion vanished. They always have a place in my home and are looked upon as the family remedy."

Dr. Morse's Indian Root Pills cleanse the system thoroughly. Sold by all dealers at 25c a box. 6

NO USE TO WHINE.

There isn't anything in the world more disagreeable than a whining person. He whines if it is hot. He whines if it is cold. He whines at this, he whines at that; he whines at everything. Whine, whine, whine. It is just a habit he has fallen into. There is nothing the matter with him. It is just a bad habit.

The whiner is generally an idle person or a lazy one. What he needs is to be set to work—at real hard work, mental or physical. Some work that will interest and engage his whole attention and he will not have time to whine. We know two women. One of them does her own housework and takes care of her horse besides. She is happy and singing all the day long. The keyboard of her life sounds no whining note. It is a pleasure to be with her, a good wholesome tonic to watch her. The other woman is so situated that she does not have to work. Nothing to do but to amuse herself. She has no zest in life, no interest in anything. She is a bunch of selfishness and whines at everything. Whining has become such a habit with her that her most casual remark is tinged with a whine. She is miserable herself and makes everybody else in her presence miserable. She is a weakling, a parasite, a drag, a heavy weight on somebody all the time.

Get the whine out of your voice or it will stop the development and growth of your body. It will narrow and shrink your mind. It will drive away your friends; it will make you unpopular. Quit your whining; brace up; go to work; be something; stand for something; fill your place in the universe. Instead of whining around, exciting only pity and contempt, face about and make something of yourself. Reach up to the statute of a strong, ennobling manhood, to the beauty and strength of a superb womanhood.

There is nothing the matter with you. Just quit your whining and go to work.—Medical Talk.

TEA-DRINKING.

The Hamilton Herald says : "Canada stands very low in the list of alcohol-consuming countries. Canada stands high in the list of tea-consuming countries. Excepting Australia and Britain, Canadians drink more tea than do the people of any other European or American country. On the whole, this is a cause for satisfaction; for, although even tea-drink- when indulged in to excess is bad for the tea-toper, the cosy cup of tea generally deserves Cowper's endorsement as "the cup that cheers and not inebriates." If properly made, tea is more wholesome than coffee for most people. Not boiled tea, however. That concoction is bad for the nerves and the digestion. The leaves should be gently infused—never submitted to such harsh treatment as boiling.

Here are the figures which show the consumption of tea per annum, per head of the population, in ten countries :—

Had Eczema In Both Legs

Remarkable cure of Chronic Eczema by use of DR. CHASE'S OINTMENT.

You could scarcely imagine a more severe test of this ointment than the cure of Mrs. Clark recorded here. For twenty years she suffered all the tortures of this terrible disease and tried in vain the prescriptions of doctors and the cures commonly recommended.

Mr. Fred W. Clark, Petworth, Ont., writes:—"My mother had Eczema in both legs for about 20 years and suffered from the dreadful itching, stinging sensations which can never be described. She doctored and tried everything for it but got no relief until she used Dr. Chase's Ointment which was recommended to her by a friend. She found that this brought relief and by continuing its use has been cured of Eczema. I do not think any one could have this horrible disease any worse than she did and can recommend Dr. Chase's Ointment as a thorough cure for Eczema."

Dr. Chase's Ointment, 60 cents a box, at all dealers or Edmanson, Bates & Co., Toronto. Dr. Chase's Recipes sent free.

A SMART KIDDIE.

Previous to the recent entrance examinations held here, a little daughter of one of our esteemed citizens decided that she wanted to try the exam. Her parents, however, did not favor her ambition, thinking that she had not the slightest chance of passing and refused to put up the necessary dollar to give her a chance. A short time before the time limit was reached a letter was received by the parents purporting to be from the little girl's teacher, advising them to let her try. They sent in the deposit and the little girl tried her exam—and passed! Later it came out that the letter which the parents received was a rank forgery and written by the youthful candidate herself. Therefore, we say, she is "a smart kiddie," and if working expedients will bring success she is ticketed for a top place in the struggle for existence.—Flesherton Advance.

AS THEY LOOKED SIX YEARS AGO.

The Free Press windows have had lots of visitors the past day or two, as there are a lot of young ladies and gentlemen who are anxious to see how they looked six or seven years ago. There are a couple of photos in the window of the scholars of Acton Public School, taken about six years ago, and it is surprising to note how much most of them have changed in these few years. The greater part of the youngsters of that time have graduated from the Public School—many of them from the High School. Some of those who were just little shavers then are now nearing six feet tall and count themselves real men. Many of the girls are now our pretty young maidens. Several are married, a few have gone to a premature grave, and many have left town. It has been most amusing to watch the different ones who have seen the pictures. Some of our young ladies, to whom the camera did not do justice, do not care to look very long, but immense enjoyment has been provided many youngsters and such remarks as "Say Grit, I see you;" "There's Rooster;" "Look at Happy;" followed by peals of laughter, are constantly being heard. In fact nearly every nickname which has been heard around town in the last ten years has been gone over as the different ones were spied out. Nothing seems to afford so much amusement as old photos of well known persons. —Acton Free Press.

Last year 1,265,000,000 passengers were handled on the British railways and only one was killed by an accident to a train. Nineteen, however, were killed in getting on or off trains and 390 were injured in the same way. The British railways seem to have reached perfection in the matter of safety. But our own are not to be regarded as wanting in care. Every year the degree of safety is raised.

A $17,000 BLAZE.

Grand Valley Had a Bad Fire Early Sunday Morning.

J. McIntyre & Sons Are Among Heaviest Losers.

Municipal Records of Village and East Luther are Destroyed.

	Loss	Insurance
G. A. Davey	$4000	$2900
J. W. Rounding	200
The Weather Insurance Co.	700	350
G. M. Lawson	5000	3000
Wm. McIntyre, building	3000	1200
Wm. McIntyre, fixtures	500
J. McIntyre & Sons	4000	3000

The above will give our readers a fair idea of the loss resulting from a disastrous fire that occurred in the neighboring village of Grand Valley early on Sunday morning. The conflagration originated in some unknown manner in G. A. Davey's workshop in the McIntyre Block about fifteen minutes after midnight. It was first noticed by P. E. Bradley, of the Traders' Bank staff, who hurriedly gave the alarm. By the time the fire engine was manned and ready for action, the flames had gained alarming headway and were rapidly devouring everything that lay in their path. Scores of citizens were now gathering and by a determined effort most of the contents of Mr. Davey's shop and Geo. M. Lawson's boot and shoe store were removed to a place of safety. The books and papers in John McIntyre's office and the typewriter in J. W. Rounding's office were also saved. A determined effort was made by Wm. McIntyre and other citizens to reach the former's office upstairs, which contained Grand Valley and East Luther municipal books and records, the village school board books and some lodge documents. After a brave effort they were unfortunately driven back by the heat and dense smoke. The loss of their records will be severely felt by the two municipalities and will undoubtedly cause a great deal of confusion. The fire engine did good work, pouring a steady stream of water on the fire wall of Dr. Hopkins' block and extinguishing fires in the gable of Alex. Richardson's house and on the roof of S. Tate's machine shop. It undoubtedly kept the fire from spreading and working even greater destruction. The fire only lasted a couple of hours, but it was an intensely hot one during that time. At one time time it was thought that it would be impossible to prevent it from spreading to adjoining buildings. A. Richardson's house was on fire a couple of times and the north end got a severe scorching.

The origin of the fire is enveloped in mystery. An employee of Mr. Davey's says she used a charcoal iron for pressing in the afternoon, but it was out when she left at six o'clock. As far as can be learned there was no other fire about the place afterwards. Mr. Davey locked up about 11.30 p.m. and saw no sign of smoke or fire then. The safe of the Ontario Farmers' Weather Insurance Company, which was in the hottest of the fire, came through the trying test in excellent shape. It was slightly cracked on account of water reaching it while heated. When it was opened on Monday morning the books and papers were found in good condition, although the heat had softened the glue, causing the covers to fall off some of the books. The business of the Company will not be interfered with in any way. Managing Director J. W. Rounding called a meeting of the Directors on Monday morning and temporary quarters were secured in Hughson & Island's law office.

FORMER CALEDON MAN LOST HIS LIFE.

Lived in Charleston For Many Years.

Having worked for 22 consecutive hours on his job as railway gateman at Dunn avenue, South Parkdale, Edward T. Crane was struck down and killed by a passing G.T.R. light engine, of whose approach he was waving his flag to warn a milk driver.

The old man had bid his wife goodbye at their home, 65 Triller avenue, a week ago Sunday morning and had gone out to take a 25-hour shift on a job, the chief requirement of which was watchfulness. Coroner Lynd opened an inquest on Monday, which was adjourned till Thursday night.

Crane was standing on his crossing at 6.30 on Monday morning when he heard the engine approaching from the east. He noticed a milk wagon coming from the south and waved his flag to stop it. The engine whistled and frightened the horse, so that it was almost on the south track before it would be stopped and it is thought that Crane must have stepped back to avoid the horse and was hit by the piston of the engine. He was hurled in a complete circle and was quite dead when picked up by Engineer Abraham Newman, of Belleville, who was in charge of the engine, with Fireman Ezra Teal, of the same place. The milk wagon was driven by Leonard Harris, Elm Grove Avenue.

Edward Crane, who was 65 years of age, was at one time well known in Caledon Township, Peel County. He resided at Charleston for many years, and was sectionman on the C.P.R., both at Charleston and Macville for twenty years. He removed to Toronto some years ago. He is survived by a widow, three sons, Messrs. Thomas, of Caledon East; Henry, of Port Credit and King, of Toronto, and five daughters, Misses Mary, Susie and Lily, and Mrs. Walker, of Port Credit, and Mrs. Thompson, wife of the Captain of the King's Guard. His tragic death is deeply regretted by many old acquaintances in this neighborhood.

COBEAN—WHITE.

A quiet wedding took place at the home of Mrs. John White, Second Ave., at 2.30 o'clock yesterday afternoon, when her youngest daughter, Miss Ida, was united in marriage to Mr. John E. Cobean, of Jamestown, North Dakota. The ceremony was performed by Rev. W. M. Morris, pastor of St. Andrew's Church, in the presence of a number of the immediate friends of the bride and groom. Miss White, who was unattended, was given away by her brother, Mr. J. J. White. A dainty wedding breakfast was served after the ceremony. The happy couple were afterwards driven to the C.P.R. depot, where they left on the evening train for Toronto to the accompaniment of showers of rice, confetti and good wishes from the friends who had gathered to see them off. The bride, who is one of our popular young ladies, received a large number of handsome wedding gifts, including a beautiful Persian lamb coat from the groom. Mr. Cobean, who is an engineer on the Northern Pacific Railway, is a son of Mr. James Cobean, of Spiritwood, N.D., formerly of Mono, and a nephew of our townsman, Mr. G. A. Cobean. After spending a few days in Toronto and sightseeing at Niagara Falls, Mr. and Mrs. Cobean will leave for their western home, travelling by way of Chicago and St. Paul. The Banner joins their many friends in offering its hearty congratulations.

MacALPINE—THOMPSON.

An extremely pretty autumn wedding was that celebrated in Chalmers Presbyterian Church this afternoon, when Lena May, daughter of Mrs. Thompson, Manning avenue, became the bride of Mr. Cyril Douglas Hughes MacAlpine, of Winnipeg, son of Dr. MacAlpine, of Lindsay. The organ loft was decked with white dahlias, palms and ferns, white asters and smilax wreathed the pillars, and the guests' seats were marked with white ribbon. Officiating were Rev. Mr. MacPherson, Rev. Mr. Dickie, of Montreal, and the bride's uncle, Rev. W. G. Reilly, of Chatsworth. Mr. Race was at the organ, and during the signing of the register Mr. Norman Lambert sang "Beloved It is Morn." Mr. W. F. Kinsey, of Alliston, escorted his niece to the altar, and she was attired in a beautiful robe of white satin with rose point and duchesse satin. Lillies of the valley fastened her veil and formed her shower bouquet. Miss Gertrude I. Thompson was maid of honor, and Miss Jessie Barber and Miss Mary Evelyn Thompson were the bridesmaids. They wore pale pink chiffon over satin, with large black picture hats, and carried pink roses. Cameo pins were their gifts from the groom, who gave canes to the best man. Mr. George Ross, Winnipeg, and the ushers, Mr. W. L. McDonald, Mr. S. W. Field and Mr. R. W. Steele. Mrs. Thompson, who afterwards held a reception, wore pearl grey satin with mauve, with black picture hat. The wedding breakfast was served in a marquee on the lawn. Mr. and Mrs. MacAlpine left later for an eastern trip before going to reside in Winnipeg. The bride's going-away dress was of navy blue serge, with turban of navy blue with silver.—Evening Telegram, Wednesday, Sept. 14th.

OLDEST MAN IN ORANGEVILLE.

Was John Stephenson, Who Died on Saturday Morning.

John Stephenson, who had the distinction of being the oldest citizen of Orangeville and probably the oldest man in the County of Dufferin, passed away at his home on Bythia St. early Saturday morning. The deceased was a man of remarkable mental and physical vitality. During his long lifetime he had never been ill and had occasion to call in a doctor for the first time only a few months before his death. He was very regular in his habits and this, with the fact that he was a total abstainer, using neither tobacco nor liquor in any form, is no doubt largely the reason he enjoyed such immunity from the ills that flesh is heir to. Born in Leeds, England, in February 3rd, 1816, Mr. Stephenson lived under no less than six British sovereigns. George III. had not closed his long reign at the time of his birth and he lived to see George IV., William IV., Victoria, Edward VII., and the present sovereign, George V., ascend the throne. At the time of his birth the grass was scarcely green on the graves of the thousands who fell at Waterloo and the great Napoleon had only spent a few months of his lonely exile on the isle of St. Helena. To the present generation Waterloo and the world-moving events in which Napoleon figured seem to be far back in the dim and misty past. There is therefore a curious interest in the fact that we had among our citizens until so very recently one, who began life in this stirring and history-making period. Mr. and Mrs. Stephenson came to America in 1849, settling first in the New England states, where they spent several years. They arrived in Orangeville on May 3rd, 1859, a little more than fifty-one years ago. Orangeville was at that time a crude but busy village, without a railway and usually reached by travellers by stage from Brampton. Very few of the buildings that adorned the ambitious hamlet then are now standing. On North Broadway there is the old stone house at the corner of 3rd St., then known as Jimmie Graham's tavern, and Mr. G. A. Campbell's building, occupied until recently by Same Merlina. Of the citizens who were here when Mr. Stephenson arrived only a few remain. Among them may be mentioned James Keys, John M. Smith, S. Donner, T. Stevenson, Isaac Nicholson, Hugh Haley and Wm. Menary. Mr. Stephenson was by occupation a carder and his woollen mill on Bythia St., started over fifty years ago, is one of the landmarks of the town and is still in operation, being managed by his son. As already intimated, the late Mr. Stephenson was a pronounced temperance man. He had taken the pledge in England over seventy years ago and during his long residence in Orangeville always exerted his influence against the liquor evil. He was a staunch and lifelong Reformer. He was a constant reader of the Globe and had in his possession a complete file of that paper covering a period of many years. His wife died about twelve years ago and he is survived by one son, Mr. Irwin Stephenson and a daughter, Miss M.E., who gave their aged parent every care and comfort during his declining years. The funeral was held from his late home to the Forest Lawn cemetery on Sunday afternoon. In the absence of his pastor, Rev. Dr. Harper, Rev. Philip N. Jones, of Mono Road, conducted the service at the home and grave. The pallbearers were Messrs. Hugh Haley, Thos. Stevenson, James Brown, Charles Lee, G. A. Campbell and Isaac Nicholson.

A USEFUL LIFE ENDED.

On Friday afternoon at 1.30 o'clock Mrs. Ann Henry, widow of the late Robert Henry, responded to the Heavenly Father's message "I have need of thee" and joined her many loved ones in that home where partings are no more. Mrs. Henry was a daughter of the late Alexander Skelton, of Caledon. She spent her girlhood days and the early part of her married life in the vicinity of Orangeville, afterwards removing to Toronto, and later to Sault Ste. Marie, Mich. For the past three years she had resided in Calgary. She enjoyed the best of health until last autumn, when she began to fail. She came east early in June to consult a specialist in Toronto, only to find she was the victim of an incurable malady. She then came to Orangeville to her daughter, Mrs. B. McGuire, at whose home she awaited the inevitable summons with a patience and cheerfulness that was a constant source of inspiration to those about her. She was a woman of most excellent qualities, of a strong Christian character and was always ready to help whenever and wherever help was needed. She is survived by two daughters, Mrs. Blaney McGuire, of Orangeville, and Mrs. John D. Gillock, of Calgary, both of whom were in attendance upon her during her long illness. Messrs. Hugh Skelton, of Shelburne; Jeremiah Skelton, of Toronto; Mrs. Eliza Oliver, of Caron, Sask., and Mrs. R. G. Speers, of Battleford, Sask., are the surviving brothers and sisters. The funeral, which was attended by a large number of sorrowing relatives and friends, was held from her daughter's home to Mitchell's Church cemetery in Mono on Sunday afternoon. In the absence of Rev. W. M. Morris, Rev. S. R. Robinson, pastor of Knox Presbyterian Church, Charleston, conducted the services. The pallbearers were Messrs. Hugh and Jeremiah Skelton, brothers, B. McGuire and D. E. Harrison (Sault Ste. Marie, Mich.) sons-in-law, and Harry B. and G. P. McGuire grandsons. Her departure will be long mourned by her family and many friends, but her exemplary Christian life will ever be a blessed memory.

EX-REEVE OF ALBION DEAD.

Robert White, formerly a prominent resident of Albion, died in the hospital at Strathcona, Alta., a week ago Sunday. Deceased had been a sufferer from rheumatism for several years and had been undergoing treatment at the hospital for some weeks prior to his death. The deceased, who was about 58 years of age, was born at Mount Wolfe, Albion township, on the farm that his father cleared. He was a graduate of the Toronto Normal School and taught school for fifteen years, but gave up the teaching profession in order to go farming on the homestead. He was a member of the Albion township council for some years, serving as reeve for three years. Five years ago he rented his farm and took up a homestead on the Pembina River, northwest of Edmonton. He was a prominent member of the Masonic order, being a Past Master of Bolton and Tottenham lodges. He was a Liberal in politics. The remains were brought to his old home for interment, the funeral taking place to the family plot in the English Church cemetery at Lloydtown on Monday. He was buried with Masonic honors. He is survived by three sisters, Mrs. Clune, Mrs. Casserley and Miss Mary White, all of whom reside in Toronto.

GLEN CROSS.

(Intended for last week.)

Harvesting is all completed in this section and the farmers are busily engaged sowing their fall crops, and threshing.

Mr. Robert Lennox sold his driver last week. Robert says it was not heavy enough for the sand hills on the 5th line.

Mr. S. T. Still won the government trophy at the Orangeville Rifle Club's competition this year. Glen Cross seems to be fortunate in good riflemen as Carson Jeffers won the trophy last year.

Billy Bell left for the West on Tuesday last. Billy has taken up a homestead and intends doing the Government duties on it this winter.

Mrs. Jacob Still, who has been visiting friends in Caledon, has returned home.

James McKibbon intends giving up farming this fall and it is understood that he intends moving to the city in the spring.

Mr. John Sherra and Mr. Earl Smith, of Camilla, were the guests of the Misses Woolner on Sabbath last at their home "Mount Heather."

Miss Gordon, of Orangeville, our worthy teacher, has again resumed her duties in our school.

Mr. Fred. Jeffers has purchased a fine driver. Fred is a great horse fancier and nothing but the best will suit him.

W. C. T. U. CONVENTION.

The annual Convention of the Women's Christian Temperance Union of the Counties of Grey and Dufferin will be held in the Baptist Church in Orangeville on September 27th and 28th.

CALEDON EAST.

Quite a number of the farmers in this neighborhood are putting up silos this fall. Mr. Enoch Price, of East Garafraxa, is the contractor, and is giving those who employ his services, excellent satisfaction. At time of writing Mr. Price and his men are building a silo for Mr. C. Cranston.

Considerable threshing has been done and generally speaking excellent yields are reported. Fall wheat, which has been a splendid crop this year, is running as high as 40 bushels to the acre.

Parsons Bros. are enlarging their greenhouse to double its present capacity. They are also putting in a furnace for heating purposes. This will enable them to run all winter. The firm is doing a rapidly growing business and is finding a ready market for its output not only in Caledon but in Palgrave and Bolton as well.

R. W. Burrell & Son, general merchants, are making preparations to erect a large shed for the accommodation of their patrons and the general public.

MONO CENTRE.

Rev. and Mrs. G. W. Rose and children, of Alton, spent Sunday with friends in this neighborhood. Mr. Rose took the services in the Presbyterian Churches here and at Camilla, and delighted his friends with his admirable discourses. Notwithstanding that the day was not as favorable as it might have been, the congregations were larger than usual and everybody was apparently pleased at having Mr. Rose here again.

Misses Brown and Levens, of Hoath Head, are the guests of their cousin, Miss Annie Ewing.

WHITTINGTON.

Mr. Wm. Beckett, of St. Mary's, was the guest of Miss Emily Sawyer, last week.

The Whittington Branch of the Women's Institute will meet at the home of Mrs. S. J. Cruikshank, on Friday, Sept. 30th.

CAMILLA.

Mr. Dane Ross, C.E., of Montreal, visited at John McNaughton's last week.

Mr. Murray Bremner has returned home from New York, where he spent the summer.

Charlie Scott had the misfortune to have his foot cut on Saturday while working with the binder at the home farm. Dr. Kyles attended to the injured member, but he will be unable to be out for some time.

Rev. G. W. and Mrs. Rose and family, of Alton, are visiting their numerous friends here. The pulpit was occupied very ably by Mr. Rose Sunday afternoon, and his old congregation was glad to have him back.

A congregational meeting was held last Tuesday evening and it was decided to extend a call to the Rev. Mr. Bailey, of Camlachie, who preached here several weeks ago.

Orangeville Fall Fair was well attended by residents of this burg. The ideal weather was undoubtedly accountable for the large crowd.

Mr. Langdon is at present engaged in building a cement bridge over the Nottawasaga River on lot 22, the Prince of Wales Road. This has been a long needed improvement, and people of the township will sanction the wise action of the council in regard to the matter.

FALL FAIR NOTES.

Superb weather.

The afternoon passed off without mishap of any kind.

Editor Wm. Hull, of the Erin Advocate, gave satisfaction as starter of the races.

Fruit and peanut vendors did a flourishing trade during the afternoon.

E. A. Warren, teller in the Bank of Hamilton, exhibited a stylish hackney driver.

The attendance was the best yet.

The gate and concert receipts were almost $600.

Great interest was taken in the horses. The judging in the different classes was followed closely by rings of spectators.

President J. E. Booth and Secretary, Jos. J. Kelly, who were much in evidence during the day, were more than delighted with the success of the Exhibition.

The showing of cattle was disappointing. There will probably be little improvement until the Society has seen its way to erect sheds for the protection of the stock.

Orangeville, Ont., Sept. 19th, '10.

We, the undersigned Officers of the Dufferin Agricultural Society, certify that the work of Mr. James McKim, of Duart, Ont., as judge on light horses, and Mr. R. B. Smith, of Columbus, Ont., as judge on heavy horses at our fair held here on the 16th inst. was satisfactory, and we have not heard a single complaint.

A very pleasant and sociable entertainment was given in the school room last Friday evening by the Sabbath School pupils. Mr. Joseph Duke was elected chairman and commenced the program, which consisted of songs, readings and recitations by the pupils, which were rendered in first class style. Instrumental music of the choicest kind was furnished by Messrs. Daniel Waters, Wm. Stone, Jr., Jno. Martin and David Craig. After this part of the program, Mrs. Henry, Superintendent was placed in the chair. The chairman called on Miss Mabel Watson, who read a very appropriate address in a fluent and audible manner. The presentation of a handsome rocking chair was made to the Superintendent by Miss Annie Atkinson, after which Mrs. Henry, although taken by surprise, made a brief, but suitable reply, thanking the pupils for their handsome present. The presentation being over, refreshments of the most appetizing kind were served to all present, and from appearances, were relished, and ample justice done by young and old present. After spending a few hours in harmless hilarity the meeting was brought to a close about 11 o'clock when all wended their way home, well pleased with the evening's entertainment. The following is a copy of the address:—

Dear Mrs. Henry,—We, your pupils, desire on this occasion to show our appreciation of you as Superintendent of our Sabbath School. Your punctuality in attending from Sabbath to Sabbath has had a marked effect in promoting the attendance and success of our school. Besides, you have been very assiduous and ready on all occasions to expound to us the divine truths contained in God's holy word. And as a token of your kindness to us, we ask you to accept this easy chair, not for its intrinsic value, but as a slight token of the esteem you are held in by the pupils of this Sabbath School, and we hope and pray that you may be long spared to enjoy the pleasure of occupying it, and also, in after years when reclining in it, you will remember the pupils of Sunday School No. 7, Melancthon.

Signed on behalf of the school.

John Stone, Secretary.

Give Children Good Bread and Butter

YOU may say bread is bread and all children want plenty of it. In a way, that's true.

But it makes considerable difference whether the bread you give your children now counts just as a "filler" or whether it counts for future health. For there is a vital difference between breads made from different flours.

The most healthful as well as the cheapest food in the world is bread made from

Royal Household Flour

This bread isn't merely something to fill a hungry stomach. It is a perfectly balanced food, rich in strength-giving, blood-making material.

It counts for long life.

It counts for a vigorous constitution.

It counts for bone and muscle making and good rich blood.

And this because "Royal Household" is made from the finest wheat in the world — the famous Red Fyfe—richest in high quality gluten, most in demand, and most valued in all the markets of the world.

Growing children thrive on bread made from "ROYAL HOUSEHOLD". It gives them just the nourishment their systems need and in the most digestible and tempting form.

And it is natural food. It takes the place of meat, at one quarter of the cost, and is more quickly assimilated.

There is no better flour in the world than "ROYAL HOUSEHOLD", it is best and most economical for Bread, Pies, Cakes, Rolls, Muffins, Biscuit, and all family baking. 29

TROUBLE OVER HORSE.

Clergyman Claims He Was Defrauded By Seller

Experts Disagree Over Age and Condition of Steed.

Rev. Wm. Williamson, a Dundalk clergyman, figured prominently in a horse deal which was ventilated in the Toronto police court last week. Mr. Williamson paid John McPherson, of Toronto, $55.00 for an equine which he subsequently discovered was not exactly as represented. The Toronto Daily Star of Wednesday, Sept. 14th, gave the following spicy report of the trial:—

The brown gelding which Rev. William Williamson came down from Dufferin County to buy, thinking to get a quiet creature, has caused a lot of agitation, and a lot of expert evidence from the circles of veterinary surgeons, and the usual conflict of opinions.

It represents the horse deal following which John McPherson was charged with fraud to the amount of $55.

Yesterday Dr. J. T. Bond described the animal as "fit to be killed, almost toothless, not able to work or eat enough to make it work."

This morning T. C. Robinette, as defence counsel, brought in the contradiction in the form of Dr. J. G. Stewart.

"Value, from $45 to $50. Good wind, limbs good, teeth good——"

At this point Magistrate Denison sat up briskly.

"How many?" he fired.

"Thirty-two molars—up and down—solid, and right."

Then he leaned back again. "You've seen the wrong horse."

"Or the wrong witness yesterday," suggested T. C. Robinette.

"Age, eighteen," continued Dr. Stewart.

"The other said he couldn't tell, but at the least, 25," said the magistrate again, "and humane to have it destroyed."

Next came a letter from Dr. Pen- "The teeth are there," he declared, "Unfit to work," said the extracts, "aged twenty-five, value $10."

"We'll have to judge for ourselves" was the Magistrate's smiling solution, "but I don't know much about bad horses. Never had one."

Then the case stood a half hour while other expert opinion could be rounded up.

But these came back with the horse itself, in charge of Constable Chapman. So the whole session adjourned to the courtyard below—magistrate, veterinaries, lawyers, detectives, court officials, and police.

They felt its ribs, and poked it, and rubbed it, till even that staid animal became frisky.

Finally, the question all appeared to hinge on the teeth. Its mouth was pried open, a speculum inserted, and Magistrate Denison invited to look inside. He did, but could only shake his head. Too deep for him. But Dr. Stewart put in his arm, and felt the jaws.

"The teeth are there," he declared, with conviction.

"Then put your own hand in," ordered Dr. Stewart.

No, Dr. Nole wouldn't.

"You're afraid," but Dr. Nole only smiled.

Another man was also concerned, Mr. Bond, of the livery. Somebody was owing him $8 for the creature's keep, "but if they take it away, they can have the halter," he held out as encouragement.

"Eight years," reflected J. W. Curry, K.C., "It's all they guaranteed, and more."

J. Johnston, M.D., had a firm opinion to express. "It might be worth something to some trader who wanted it to swindle people with," and Constable Chapman, who poses as an expert in horseflesh, corroborated this.

At this point T. C. Robinette broke into the flow of evidence and asked for another day's remand. He got it.

The conclusion of the case is told thus in Thursday's Star :—

For the third morning in succession Rev. Wm. Williamson, of Dundalk, and the little brown gelding he bought for $55, and found to be almost toothless, have occupied the attention of the bench. In the end, Magistrate Denison holds that John McPherson, the man who guaranteed the creature as "eight years old, and sound in wind and limb," has been guilty of a ruse common among some horse-traders—a breach of faith with the man who confided in him.

T. C. Robinette, defence counsel, suggested the cash settlement already made was sufficient, but that wasn't all the magistrate was looking for. He wanted to express his opinion of those who abuse other people's trust.

At this juncture Rev. Mr. Williamson showed anxiety. He sidled up to Crown Attorney Corley :

"I hope you'll see that he gets off," he pleaded. Previously he had begged with the magistrate personally for the man.

"Already it's cost McPherson $100," informed his counsel. "He's paid over the price of the horse, the clergyman's expenses to the city, etc.

That didn't interest Magistrate Denison.

"There'll be a conviction," he declared. "It is one of the most contemptible pieces of fraud that ever came before me," he fired at McPherson. "Here is this man who trusted to your honor; he told you he knew nothing about horses, and yet you palmed that worthless creature off on him. It's deliberate, wilful fraud."

Then he looked at the clergyman.

"He'd be willing to be at some expense even to get the man off," put in the Crown Attorney.

"If it wasn't that I knew this kind old gentleman would worry about it more than you would yourself," continued the magistrate, "I would send you to jail. It would punish him more than it would you. Remanded till called on for sentence."

Rev. Wm. Williamson smiled again.

A TRAGIC DEATH.

Berkeley Young Man Struck on Head by a Falling Tree.

The tragic death of Mr. Morton Hewitt, who lived north of Berkeley, came as a shock to the people of that vicinity on Thursday morning of last week. Mr. Hewitt, accompanied by Mr. Robert Love, a neighbor, went to his own bush to cut some timber and while felling a tamarack tree it lodged in another, breaking off some large limbs, one of which was thrown back with terrific force striking Mr. Hewitt on the back of the head and throwing him against a stump, cutting his forehead and crushing in the back of his head. Dr. Ego was summoned at once but Mr. Hewitt expired shortly after receiving the blow. When Dr. Ego arrived he pronounced death almost instantaneous Deceased was a promising young farmer, in his prime, being 34 years and 2 months old. He leaves to mourn his loss: his father, Mr. John Hewiet, of Sault Ste. Marie, Mich.; Mrs. Price, of Monteagle, Hastings County.; Mrs. Speck, of B. C., and Mr. Harry Hewitt, of Mountain, Ont., all of whom are expected to be present at the funeral, which will take place from his late residence to the Methodist cemetery at Berkeley, on Thursday the 15th., at 2 o'clock. The bereaved ones have the sympathy of the community in their distressing grief.—Markdale Standard.

DOG CAUSES TROUBLE.

A real dog case occupied the attention of Magistrates Stewart Tate and Wm. McClelland, of Grand Valley, last week. Joseph Carroll, of East Luther, missed his collie dog for about a week when a neighbor intimated that a young chap named Wood, of the 9th line, Garafraxa and Taylor of the 12th line had it. Woods had been working about the Graham farm, not far from Carroll's. The latter asked for his dog, and when Woods hesitated about giving the dog up, he laid the information against them. Carroll intimated his willingness to withdraw the charge, on Woods and Taylor paying the costs, but they would not consent, and an adjournment was made for one week.

SLASHED HIMSELF WITH RAZOR.

During a fit of temporary mental aberration, Reuben Switzer, a young chap about 24 years of age, slashed his throat and wrists with a razor, but not with fatal effect. He says he did the deed down by the river near Oscar Crewson's, but was first noticed in the orchard at this place. He apparently held the razor in his right hand and inflicted only a small cut on the throat when he gave his left wrist a gash. He then used the blade on the other wrist, severing the pulse vein and two tendons. Fainting from loss of blood he must have lain for some time, and in falling cut his forehead in two or three places. On coming to he walked up to the orchard where he was seen and a doctor summoned. He put in about 10 stitches, and says there is no likelihood of a fatal termination. — Grand Valley Star & Vidette.

MAGISTRATE CURED OF PILES & ECZEMA

One of the latest prominent gentlemen to speak highly in Zam Buk's favour is Mr. C. E. Sanford of Weston, King's Co., N.S. Mr. Sanford is a Justice of the Peace for the County, and a member of the Board of School Commissioners. He is also Deacon of the Baptist Church in Berwick. Indeed it would be difficult to find a man more widely known and more highly respected. Here is his opinion of Zam-Buk. He says :—

"I never used anything that gave me such satisfaction as Zam-Buk. I had a patch of Eczema on my ankle which had been there for over 20 years. Sometimes also the disease would break out on my shoulders. I had applied various ointments and tried all sorts of things to obtain a cure, but in vain. Zam-Buk, unlike everything else I had tried, proved highly satisfactory and cured the ailment.

"I have also used Zam-Buk for itching piles, and it has cured them completely also. I take comfort in helping my brother men, and if the publication of my opinion of the healing value of Zam-Buk will lead other sufferers to try it, I should be glad. For the relief of suffering caused by Piles or Skin Diseases I know of nothing to equal Zam-Buk."

Zam-Buk cures ulcers, abscesses, blood-poison, ring-worm, festering or running sores, bad leg, varicose ulcers, salt rheum, prairie itch, cuts, burns, bruises, baby's sores, etc. Purely herbal. 50c box, druggists and stores. Refuse imitations.

FATAL ACCIDENT AT INNISFREE.

Mr. J. J. Gulley, formerly of East Garafraxa, while engaged on his farm near Innisfree, Alta., his little son, Ralph, in his ninth year, (the eldest of three bright children), holding the horses, because he delighted to be helping. The second time they went to the field before they got a half load on Ralph dropped a line and in trying to recover it, it is thought lost his balance and fell between the horses. Mr. Gulley thinking his boy was in the waggon jumped in, but not finding him there he let the horses take a straight course, arguing in his own mind that if he were under the wagon that he would not be run over but such was not the case. When the young spirited team were brought to a standstill, the vehicle had passed over Ralph's abdomen causing such serious injuries that in spite of all the doctor and his mother could do he died a few hours later. Ralph was very clever at school a favorite among his companions, and a splendid little student of his bible. The parents are very highly esteemed in the community.

BUSINESS MAN DEAD.

One of Toronto's aggressive young business men, Mr. Roy Walter Gordon Milliken, died a week ago Wednesday at his home, 72 Vistor avenue, after an illness of only a few days. He had not been in good health for two or three weeks, and while at the exhibition contracted a cold which resulted in his death. The doctors state he was a victim of that new disease, commonly called infantile paralysis, which is fatal in 90 per cent. of adult cases.

The deceased was 29 years of age. Born at Hagerman's Corners, he removed to Toronto a few years ago. He was employed by Ryrie Bros. and had risen to the position of departmental manager. As a sportsman he was well known as an expert lawn bowler and as secretary of the Riverdale Lawn Bowling Club.

The late Mr. Milliken is survived by his parents, his wife and child, a brother and two sisters. His widow is May Scott, eldest daughter of Mr. W. R. Scott, formerly of Grand Valley, to whom the warmest sympathy is extended. The funeral took place on Friday to Hagerman Cemetery.

DANGEROUS DANDRUFF

Will Make Canada a Baldheaded Nation if Not Checked.

M. Pasteur, the great French Physician of Paris, once said: "I believe we shall one day rid the world of all diseases caused by germs."

Dandruff is caused by germs, a fact accepted by all physicians.

Dandruff is the root of all hair evils. If it were not for the little destructive germs working with a persistency worthy of a better cause, there would be no baldness.

Parisian Sage will kill the dandruff germs and remove dandruff in two weeks or money back.

T. Stevenson guarantees it. It will stop itching scalp, falling hair and make the hair grow thick and abundant.

It puts life and lustre into the hair and prevents it from turning gray.

It is the hair dressing par excellence, daintily perfumed and free from grease stickiness. It is the favorite with women of taste and culture who know the social value of fascinating hair.

A large bottle costs only 50 cents at leading druggists everywhere, and in Orangeville by T. Stevenson. The girl with the auburn hair is on every package.

JAMES FACHNIE DEAD.

Committed Suicide by Hanging Himself.

The officials in charge of the Administration of Justice in the counties of Grey and Dufferin have been very lax lately and deserve censure in allowing a known lunatic to run at large endangering the lives of people whom he might meet and as a wind up end his own career by suicide. In our issue of Sept. 1st we gave an account of the escape of Jas. Fachnie, from Constable Snider at the residence of his brother-in-law, Ferguson, near Redickville, on Sunday, August 28th, 1910. Constable Snider should have secured his man that night and it was his carelessness that allowed Fachnie to get away. When he arrested the man on the following Wednesday he should have handcuffed him before starting for Dundalk and should have had assistance to deliver his prisoner over to the Dundalk officials. The attempt to drive the horse with one hand and hold the unshackled prisoner with the other was simply a farce and the man got away. From recent developments it has been learned that Fachnie never left the locality where he escaped from Constable Snider. On Thursday of last week his remains were found hanging to the limb of a tree at the line fence between Percy Neitherceutt's and the Hughes' farm, and about seven rods from the road. These farms are situated on the 3rd con. east of The Toronto and Sydenham Road in Melancthon township. Richard and J. W. Neithercutt are the parties who made the discovery and informed the authorities. Fachnie had been in that neighborhood from Wednesday, Aug. 31st, when he escaped from Constable Snider, until Friday, as he had been seen by several persons between those dates. He is supposed to have hung himself on Friday, as the body when found was badly decomposed and was a terrible ghastly sight. The people in the vicinity of the place where he was found were greatly relieved that he was beyond doing harm, as he had threatened to kill some of them and had tried to get a gun at different places. Dr. Martin, coroner, of Dundalk, went out and viewed the body and gave as his opinion that the man had been dead for five or six days. Constable Hemphill had the body removed to Dundalk and the friends of the deceased were notified. Dr. Martin did not consider an inquest necessary. John Fachnie, of Nottawasaga, father of the dead man, arrived on Thursday evening and gave Undertaker McDuff charge of the remains to have them prepared for interment. The funeral was held on Friday to the Badjeros cemetery. The dead man is survived by a widow and family, who reside on the Centre Line in Osprey township.—Free Press.

On August 9th, David Middleton, of Shelburne, fell and broke his leg and he is still in the Toronto hospital. Misfortune seems to follow the family as recently Florence Middleton, a twelve-year old daughter of the injured man, fell on the sidewalk and broke her left arm below the elbow.

The release from custody of John Coote, of Peel township, has been ordered by Mr. Justice Middleton. Coote was convicted by Magistrate Woodman, of Drayton, on July 9, of illegal liquor selling and sentenced in his absence to four months' imprisonment for a second offence, a previous conviction made May 16, 1907, standing against him. His Lordship held that the Act requires this to be proved in the prisoner's presence and therefore the conviction as for a second offence was faulty.

HINTS ON CARE OF THE MOUTH

As a moist tooth brush will not cleanse the teeth properly, have several tooth-brushes, hanging them from little pegs so they can drain nicely, says New Idea Woman's Magazine. In this way you will always have a perfectly dry brush remedy at hand at any hour.

The mouth should be carefully rinsed with an antiseptic wash immediately upon arising and before going to sleep. A good wash is made by adding one or two teaspoonfuls of listerine to a glassful of tepid water, but this must not be used too constantly. Another excellent mouth wash is: thymol, seven and a half grains; borax, fifteen grains; distilled water, one pint.

It is said that discolored teeth can be bleached to a milky whiteness by brushing them once a week with a tooth brush dampened in apple juice. A noted medical writer when suggesting peroxide of hydrogen as a mouth wash adds that it whitens yellow teeth until they look like pearls.

WOMEN HAVE BACKACHE.

Many women have kidney disease and do not know it, because they attribute backache to other causes. The use of Dr. Chase's Kidney and Liver Pills makes short work of backache and prevents serious trouble from deranged kidneys. Ask your neighbors about this great family medicine.

PRINTING OFFICE SECRETS.

A properly conducted printing office is as much a secret society as a Masonic lodge. The printers are not always under an oath of secrecy, but always feel themselves as truly in honor bound to keep secrets as though under triple oaths. Any employee in a printing office who willingly disregards this rule in regard to printing office secrets, should not only be scorned by the brethren of the craft, but should lose his position in the office at once. We make this statement because it sometimes happens that a communication appears in a newspaper, under an assumed signature, which excites comment, and various parties try to find out who the author is. Let all be saved the trouble of questioning the honorable employee or attaches of the printing office. They are know nothings on such points as these. On such matters they "have eyes and ears, but no mouth," and if they fail to observe this rule, let them be put down as dishonorable members of the craft, who are unworthy to be trusted with anything.

KILLING SOW THISTLE.

One of the most troublesome weeds with which the farmers of this country have to contend is the perennial sow thistle and the eradication of this pest is a live issue. To farmers, who are bothered with this troublesome weed, the following methods for eradicating it are given. Some system must be adopted which will prevent the development of leaves for a period sufficiently long to kill the roots by smothering them. Several methods of exterminating it are here outlined in detail. They have all been suggested by practical farmers. It is hoped that those who are looking for information on this subject will find among them a method suited to their own conditions.

No. 1. This method is suggested by Professor Zavitz, who found it effective in the eradication of Quack Grass. Cultivate the field until about the middle of June, running over it frequently with the cultivator so as to keep the tops down and thus awaken the "roots." Then apply manure at the rate of about 20 tons an acre (12 good loads). Cultivate the manure in thoroughly and with a double mould board plow slightly ridge up the land, making the ridges about 26 inches apart. On the ridges sow pasture rape at the rate of 1½ lbs. an acre. It is important that the right amount of rape should be sown, for if too little is sown the stand will not be thick enough to smother the weeds, and if on the other hand too much is sown the plants will be too crowded and not grow vigorously enough to keep ahead of the thistle. Sow the rape when the land is sufficiently moist to insure quick germination of the seed. If the rape is slow in starting the Sow Thistle may get a start in the rows and thus necessitate hand cultivation there. Cultivate the rape every week or ten days until it occupies all the ground and makes further cultivation impossible. If, when the rape is cut, or pastured, and Sow Thistle remain, the field should be ridged up the last thing in the fall and put in with a hoed crop the following year. This should not be necessary if a good stand of rape is secured.

No. 2. This is a system of intensive cropping suggested by Professor Zavitz. As soon as a cereal crop is harvested, plow the land and give frequent cultivation to the first or middle of September at the rate of about two bushels an acre. This can be pastured the following spring, or cut for hay or grain. As soon as the crop is off the land, put in rape, turnips or buckwheat. The advantage of this system is that three crops are harvested in two years and the Sow Thistle fought at the same time.

No. 3. This method is recommended by Professor Day. Immediately after harvest gang plow shallow and run over the field several times with the broad shared cultivator. Later in the fall plow a little deeper, and continue cultivating every week or ten days as long as the season permits. Last thing before the ground freezes rib up the land with a double mould board plow. The following spring give frequent cultivation up to the first of July, then sow pasture rape.

No. 4. This is a short rotation which has been recommended by several Farmers' Institute workers. Clover is followed by a crop of grain, then clover again. The clover is cut in June, and the land plowed about four inches deep and given frequent and thorough cultivation during the rest of the summer. The following spring a grain crop is sown, seeding down with clover. For best results the grain crop should be one which can be cut early enough to prevent the thistle from seeding.

No. 5. Directly after harvest plow the land lightly, and then give frequent cultivation as long as the season permits. The following spring gang plow, and leave in summer fallow until it is time to sow fall wheat. The summer fallow to be effective must be a bare fallow. The field must be cultivated thoroughly and frequently with the object of keeping the tops down and breaking up and bringing to the surface of the ground as many of the "roots" as possible. The gang plow should occasionally be run over the field in order to insure the cutting of the roots. Bare summer fallow has given excellent results on the College farm in seasons when other methods were, at best, only partially effective.

PREVENTION.

There is an important result of moral reform work, the extent of which is never known, the value of which is incalculable, and which receives very little consideration. That fact is the prevention of evil that would have come about were it not for the efforts made.

Sometimes we hear and read sneers at temperance workers as enthusiasts who are spending time and energy with little effect. The practically stationary per capita consumption of drink, and the record for drunkenness, are pointed to as evidences that little is done in the way of lessening intemperance. Sometimes these superficial criticisms have weight with thoughtless people; sometimes they are discouraging to workers anxious for speedy results.

The liquor traffic is continuously aggressive. The rush of modern life impels to excitement, and its facilities for social intercourse tend to the encouragement of the treating system. Conditions exist to-day that would bring about a rapid increase in drinking and drunkenness unless strenuous efforts were being made to prevent such a disaster.

The temperance reform would not be discredited if it were true that no progress were made. If the church, the school, the temperance press, the other agencies at work, only succeeded in preventing the tendency in Canada towards conditions that have already developed in other lands, the success attained would far more than compensate for all it costs.—Pioneer.

Last fall, while plowing on his farm on the fifth concession, Raleigh Township, near Chatham, T. J. Montgomery, lost a roll of money containing $32. He never expected to see it again, as it was plowed under and he had no idea which furrow he lost it in. Recently, while Mr. Montgomery was plowing the same field, his eye was caught by a peculiar looking crinkled bunch of paper that turned off the moulding board of the plow. He picked it up and examined it, hardly able to believe his eyes, for it was none other than the wad of money containing the $32 he had lost the year before. The bills were a little stiff from the dampness, but were not discolored or otherwise damaged. The roll contained three ten dollar Standard Bank notes, and two one-dollar Canadian bills.

On Friday evening, Sept. 2, at Parkdale, might be seen a casket covered with flowers, ready to be taken by the C.P.R. to Durham. It contained the remains of a young man, Archibald Kennedy, whose home was three or four miles from Durham. A few days before he had been a stalwart, healthy young man of twenty years of age and was a motorman on the Toronto Street Railway. He had not been feeling very well for a few days, and on Wednesday morning, after working two hours, had been obliged to go to his boarding place with a severe pain in the lower part of his back which gradually extended up his spinal column. On Thursday morning paralysis set in first of the lower limbs, then of the arms and finally the muscles of respiration, so that he could not get breath and died about nine o'clock on Thursday evening. An older boy happened to come to the city a day or two before and was with him to the end. The case was diagnosed as Marsh's paralysis and seems to be the same as that reported in the press from Hamilton, where 50 persons are said to have been attacked by it. It is generally fatal and when the patient lives often leaves a permanent paralysis. It most frequently attacks persons between 20 and 30 years of age. It is supposed to be a germ disease and seems to be beyond the reach of any known medical treatment.—Mt. Forest Confederate.

A SUCCESSFUL EXHIBITION.

Dufferin Agricultural Society Favored with Beautiful Weather.

Orangeville Fall Fair Drew a Large Crowd on Friday.

Exhibits Excellent & Attendance Away Ahead of Former Years.

The officers of the Dufferin Agricultural Society have not the slightest reason to regret their decision to hold this year's Fall Exhibition about the middle of September, instead of near the end of the month as has been the custom for many years. The change proved a most fortunate one for this year at any rate. Ideal weather conditions prevailed Thursday and Friday, particularly on the latter day, which was clear, sunny and pleasantly warm. Largely because of the fine day, the Fair was one of the best ever held in Orangeville. The attendance nearly doubled last year's and as a consequence the gate receipts showed an increase that brought joy to the heart of every officer of the Society. For the first time in thirty years the Society is completely out of debt, and as a result of Friday's success is on easy street for the next year.

It was feared by some that the early date of the show might interfere with the exhibits, particularly in roots and vegetables. The fear proved groundless, for the exhibit was fully up to the average in each of these departments. As a matter of fact the showing of vegetables was better than usual, both in quantity and quality. There was an excellent exhibit of field grains and roots. Entries surpassed the average in dairy products and the quality of the exhibits was uniformly good. There was an excellent showing of fruit in the main hall and the display of flowers was the best seen at Orangeville fair for years. Upstairs the west side of the hall was given over to ladies' work, of which there was a splendid exhibit. In the south end of the gallery, A. Henderson and Geo. R. Gray, local photo artists, made highly creditable exhibits of the work of their studios. These exhibits were a very popular feature and the space before them was densely crowded all afternoon. There were fewer exhibits than usual in the fine arts department, but whatever lack there was in number was amply compensated for by the superior quality of the exhibits. There were a number of interesting special displays, one of the most noteworthy being that made by the Orangeville Soap Works. Mr. H. E. Stuckey, the genial manager, was in charge and under his supervision many hundreds of pieces of fragrant toilet soap were handed out to Exhibition visitors. E. A. Robinson, representative of the National Mnfg. Co., made a creditable showing of his firm's wares. J. E. Smith, Massey-Harris agent, exhibited the De Laval Cream Separator and a line of cutters. Gillespie Bros. had an attractive looking line of furniture that came in for much favorable comment and Geo. E. Reid and Wm. Fiddes made displays of pianos. Upstairs McMillan & Torrie, the well-known clothiers and gents' furnishers, had a large and very attractive display of ready-to-wear clothing, overcoats, rain coats, fur coats, etc. J. W. Wild made a neat display of boots and shoes and A. Page, the local upholsterer and repair man, was to the fore with samples of his lines. The High School teachers and students made an interesting exhibit of art work and also contributed several selections of Canadian plants, weeds and weed seeds. The latter were entered in the Natural History Department and the names of the fortunate prize winners will be found elsewhere. Taken altogether the Hall Exhibit was a credit to the Society and constituted, as the crowds that thronged the building throughout the afternoon testified, one of the popular features of the Fair.

The trotting events were well contested and provided first-class sport. In the open trot Dr. Riddell's fine stallion, The Bison, was too speedy for the field and won in straight heats pretty much as he wished. Hugh Mac and Little Fred made a great race for second place, the latter just managing to win the deciding heat after a thrilling drive in the home stretch. There was a field of eight or nine in the farmers' trot. They were all good horses and made an exceedingly pretty race. Harvey's "Alley Boy" and Steen & Martin's "Tan Roo" were just a little too good for the rest and were always a little ahead of the field. Four or five of the other entries were very evenly matched, but Geo. Reid's Monty managed to win the place. Reid, who was up behind the black, drove in heady fashion and his coolness and judgment had a good deal to do with the result. The winners in the two events were:—

FARMERS' TROT.

1. Alley Boy—Wm. Harvey, Brampton.
2. Tan Roo — Steen & Martin, Derry West.
3. Monty—Geo. Reid, Mono.

OPEN TROT.

1. The Bison—Dr. W. H. Riddell, Orangeville.
2. Little Fred — Rance Overland, Erin.
3. Hugh Mac.—Neil McQuarrie, Orangeville.

There was an excellent showing of horses and in the roadster and carriage classes there were a great many entries. The agricultural and draft classes were much better filled than usual and great interest was shown in the judging. Smith Bros., the well-known Erin horsemen, were much in evidence in the heavy classes, capturing first prizes for the best heavy draft and best agricultural teams in harness. They also carried off the red ribbon for the best high stepping horse on the grounds. There were nearly a dozen entries in the single roadster class. They were all splendid animals and it took the judge a long time to make his decision. Local horses won first and second, the owners being D. A. Hogg and L. K. Johnston. The third prize went to W. J. Calhoun. Miss Jennie Atkinson, of Orangeville, won the ladies' driving contest, second prize going to Miss Lucy Cosen and third to Mrs. S. Hastings. The gent's driving class brought out a large field and some very stylish turnouts. Walter Potter, of Tottenham, won first and J. S. Rutherford, of Brampton, second. D. A. Hogg carried off the honors for the best single turnout, Lou Johnston again taking second. There was a poor showing of cattle. It is doubtful if there were more than a dozen animals on the grounds. The Society should devise means to increase the interest in this Department, which has fallen behind sadly in recent years. There were not as many sheep shown this year as usual, although there were some good pens. Haffey Bros., of Mono Mills, Alfred Tolton, of Waldemar, and John Besley, of Shelburne, were the principal exhibitors. T. J. Henry, of Mono Mills, showed several fine improved Yorkshire hogs and captured no less than four first prizes. His exhibit included a fine boar, which won second prize at the Toronto exhibition a year ago. Councillor T. J. Parks, of Mono, showed some good Chester Whites. The poultry sheds were a favorite resort for the boys, who found there an opportunity of gratifying their innate interest in rabbits, chickens, pigeons, ducks and other fowl. The exhibit was even larger than usual this year and the capacity of the modest building was sadly over-taxed. W. G. Bailey was as usual one of the chief exhibitors, and carried off a large number of prizes. Local fanciers however beat him out in several of the classes.

Orangeville Citizens' Band and the vaudeville performers were two of the popular attractions during the afternoon. Bandmaster Wilson's musicians were out in full force and have seldom been heard to better advantage. The Band played several selections on Broadway before marching to the grounds and again prior to the concert at night. Our citizens have good reason to feel proud of the band and should show their appreciation whenever opportunity offers. The vaudeville performance consisted of a weight lifting exhibition by Beasley and character songs and dances by Charley and Verna Raymond, a pair of clever and sprightly artists.

The only disappointment of the day was the non-appearance of Hon. J. S. Duff, Minister of Agriculture, who had been billed to open the Fair. The Minister took a trip to the West a few weeks ago and was unable to get home again in time to officiate here. However, Mr. C. R. McKeown, Dufferin's versatile M.P.P., stepped into the breach and performed the inaugural ceremony in his usual eloquent manner.

The concert in the Town Hall Friday night drew a packed house. Every seat was filled before the curtain rose and late-comers were accommodated with chairs in the aisles. Mr. C. R. McKeown, M.P.P., occupied the chair, and in a neat introductory address thanked the audience for the splendid attendance and congratulated the Agricultural Society on the success of its Exhibition. The programme was furnished by Robert Wilson, comic singer, Beasley, billed as an "exponent of physical culture and hampion lever heavyweight lifter," Charley and Verna Raymond, comedians, and Harold Rich, pianist and accompanist. The numbers appeared to catch the fancy of the audience and the artists were repeatedly encored. They responded generously, and as a consequence it was nearly eleven o'clock, when the programme concluded. Miss and Mr. Raymond did some decidedly clever comedy work, their dancing and the former's singing being one of the brightest features of the programme. Wilson was clever and at times original. Beasley, who is a marvel in the way of strength and physical development, performed some unusual feats of strength. He toyed with a 350 lb. dumb bell, raising it from the floor with one hand and holding it at arm's length above his head and also lifted a heavy platform weighted down by six men.

Which of These Pictures Best Represents Your Stable?

If your Stable interior is of wood, you'll do well to tear down those old, unsightly stalls and mangers—and build new ones of Concrete.

In fact, the entire Stable—inside and out—should be built of Concrete.

This is the modern material—it has the merits of sightliness, endurance, and economy—and is sanitary.

The farmer himself can, by its use, make many little improvements that, with any other material, would require the employment of skilled labor.

So favorably were they impressed that before leaving Orangeville they bought a large block of the Company's bonds. Messrs. Taylor & Rae left here on Tuesday on an extended trip through the Canadian West. Their itinerary includes Winnipeg, Saskatoon, Regina, Calgary, Edmonton, Vancouver, Victoria and other centres of population.

Mr. and Mrs. W. G. Kearns arrived home from their Western trip on Wednesday of last week. Mr. J. R. Gillespie reached home Thursday afternoon. The other members of the party, excepting Mr. J. E. They were greatly impressed with British Columbia and particularly with the city of Vancouver, which has been growing at a rapid rate during recent years. They met a number of Orangeville people in Vancouver and were members of a party of no less than twenty Orangevillians and ex-Orangevillians, who happened to come together on the street one afternoon.

Startlingly sudden was the death of Clarence, the six year old son of Mr. and Mrs. Nicholas Willoughby, of West Toronto, who passed away very unexpectedly on Saturday. The little fellow was taken ill while playing and expired inside of a few hours. His death was caused by appendicitis. The funeral was held to Prospect cemetery on Monday afternoon. Mrs. Willoughby is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. K. Pattullo, this town.

CHARGE DISMISSED.

The liquor selling charge laid against The Queen's Hotel a couple of weeks ago was ventilated before Police Magistrate Rutherford, of Shelburne, in Cadi Pattullo's office on Tuesday afternoon. The witnesses, who included several prominent farmers, all told the Court that they had either partaken of cigars or harmless temperance beverages. The magistrate accordingly dismissed the case. W. J. L. McKay appeared for the prosecution and A. A. Hughson for the defence.

The Tuesday evening meeting will be open to the public, when Mrs. Margaret Hyslop, of Toronto, Dominion organizer of the W. C. T. U., will give an interesting address. Other items on the programme will include quartettes and solos from the different churches. A collection will be taken.

J. H. CAMERON COMING.

Mr. J. H. Cameron, one of Canada's most versatile entertainers, will appear in company with George Fox, the celebrated violinist, at the Methodist Choir concert in the Town Hall, Orangeville, on Friday evening, September 23rd. Speaking of a recent appearance of Mr. Cameron in the Royal City with Madame Albani and her English Concert Company, the Guelph Herald says:—"Mr. J. H. Cameron appeared as an extra attraction with Madame Albani and her company. The entertainer, as Mr. Cameron is called, amply justified the title he has chosen. His style is distinctly good, and far above the "character comic." His selections were good, his elocution excellent, and his humorous songs just what is wanted in his particular line."

A PECULIAR ACCIDENT.

A peculiar accident occurred on Mr. John Meek's farm, 5th line, Mono, a couple of weeks ago. While taking off a load of grain in the barn, something started Mr. Meek's team causing them to make a rush for the back door of the barn. They knocked the door open and jumped through, falling to the ground, a distance of 9 or 10 feet. The wagon caught against the door frame and remained on the threshing floor, suspending the horses just above the ground below the door. Mr. Meek had no alternative except to cut the tugs which he had considerable difficulty in doing. Then one of the horses fell on the other and there was still more trouble before they were finally freed from their awkward predicament. Strange to say neither of the horses was injured and the only damage sustained was by the harness.

McMILLAN & TORRIE

THE CLOTHING MEN, - - Broadway, Orangeville

A SPLENDID EXHIBIT.

McMillan & Torrie, the well-known local clothing men, showed their usual enterprise and readiness to take advantage of every legitimate opportunity to place their business before the public, by making a decidedly attractive special display of their goods at Orangeville Fall Fair last Friday. The firm had reserved a large space on the upper floor of the Main Hall, in which was shown neatly arranged lines of fur and fur-lined overcoats, cloth overcoats, men's and boys' ready-to-wear suits, and a line of children's suits and overcoats. The display included the popular "College" overcoat which is having a tremendous run this season. This coat, which is said to be one of the most complete garments ever placed on the market, has a convertible collar that adds greatly to its serviceability as well as to the satisfaction that the wearer derives. It is made in both fall and winter weights in all the new shades and sells at moderate prices. The firm is also showing some specially attractive lines in heavy black cloth coats with curl and seal finings. These have to be seen to win the appreciation they deserve and overcoat buyers should make it a point to call at the store and inspect these desirable and thoroughly dependable garments. When buying for fall and winter trade this year, McMillan & Torrie gave special attention to children's suits and overcoats and are able to offer their customers goods and values in these lines that have never been surpassed in Orangeville. While on the subject we might remind Banner readers that the firm have their fine new store thoroughly in order, with their fall and winter stock, which is much larger and more varied than any they have heretofore carried, arranged to suit their more commodious premises. They are anxious that their out-of-town friends and customers should have a look through their new store and to that end extend a hearty and general invitation to all to pay them a visit at the earliest opportunity. Those who can call on them will find it interesting, and profitable as well if they decide to buy, to have a look through their stock of Suitings, Overcoats, Hats, Caps, and Furnishings. This brief notice would not be complete without some reference to the Tailoring Department run under the personal supervision of Mr. J. D. Torrie, one of the members of the firm. Trade in this Department has increased by leaps and bounds, but the facilities, which their new store affords, will put the firm in a much better position to keep pace with the demands of their fast expanding business. Customers can always rest assured that their orders will be filled just as quickly as circumstances will permit, and in a manner that will leave no room for anything except entire satisfaction.

THE MAN WHO PUT THE WORLD RIGHT.

By Newman Flower in Canadian Courier.

The two hands of St. Paul's clock had just met and folded placidly over the hour of twelve, announcing silently to the sleepers and loungers in the street below, and to the never-sleepers and never-loungers in the big many-windowed buildings of Fleet Street that it was midnight. But, despite the fact that the thermometer was slipping down dangerously near to zero, and the wind from the two rivers met and wrangled in a manner which made that particular section of the city anything but inviting, the bustle of life was going on as usual.

Within gunshot of the great cathedral, in one of those huge, hundred-eyed structures where the rattle and crash of presses and scurrying of feet up and down iron staircases, and the hot, sickening smell of printer's ink, give a first-rate imitation of a second-rate Inferno, the Daily Wire had its birthplace; and upstairs, where the noise and stench was faintest, and the glare of the electric light on it shine as though it were silver-made everything with a bit of polish on it shine as though it were silvered, Mr. Richard Cardyce, Editor in Chief, had the hive he called his office.

The revise of the last page had been rushed off to the foundry, and Cardyce, putting on his great coat and muffler, was getting ready to go home when the two hands met on the face of the cathedral clock; but he had barely completed his preparations when the door was pushed open and one of the subs came hurrying into the room.

Cardyce took the flimsy the sub held out and read it :—

"If you print in to-morrow's paper that Robert Meadows, the steel magnate, poisoned himself at midnight you will have an exclusive piece of news."

That was all. Cardyce crumpled the paper in his hand and threw it on to the floor.

"Curious," he muttered aloud thoughtfully. "Meadows could never be contemplating suicide. Why, it would be a cataclysm in the steel world. Murder? Hardly. The murderer wouldn't risk the clue. I think, Rogers, this is some stupid joke. Take no notice of it, but you might as well look up the biography of Meadows in case we want it."

Rogers retired and Cardyce went home. But when some hours later he turned up at his office again he was met by a little group of men who scanned his face to see if he had heard the news.

"Extraordinary think about Meadows, isn't it, Cardyce?" said the chief sub.

"That wire? Yes, it was odd."

"No; his death I mean. Haven't you heard? Good heavens! Meadows was found dead this morning, and it looks like suicide."

"Good Lord!" Cardyce came to a full stop and looked at the other incredulously.

"Poison suspected," added the chief sub gravely.

Cardyce took off his coat, hung it up carefully, and sat down at his desk before he uttered another word.

"What became of that telegram? Have it looked out from the waste. The police may want it. This is the most astounding thing I have ever heard. How's the steel market?"

The chief sub waved his hands deprecatingly.

"I've 'phoned Turnbull for a special report from the city. A message has just come through from him that there is something like a panic in the Street. Thousands will be badly hit. Meantime I've sent four men out on the job, and expect reports every minute."

"God. Keep back page nine for the very latest word."

The sub left the room, and Cardyce set to work to plod steadily through his letters. This done, he went home.

It was on the Monday following the week of this mysterious affair that Cardyce arrived a trifle late at his office well wrapped up, for he was in the grip of a heavy cold. Hardly had he started running over a column of the latest news telegrams with the chief sub than a boy entered bearing a small budget of letters, one of which was marked: "Urgent and Personal."

"Just a moment," said Cardyce to the sub, as he proceeded to slit open the envelope with his paper knife. He pulled out a typo-written letter and read it with growing horror in his eyes.

"My God! What does it all mean? Look here, Manson. Liston to this"

"Print in to-morrow's paper that Abraham Tregennis, the owner of the Red Moon, the Trans-Pacific, and a dozen other shipping lines, has committed suicide, and you will have an exclusive item of news."

He was breathing heavily as if he had received a knock-down blow, while his sub stared at him with white face and fright-stricken eyes.

"It's horrible!" he gasped. "Simply horrible!" Cardyce jumped to his feet.

"Phone Scotland Yard headquarters," he exclaimed. "Quick, don't lose a minute; we may be in time to stop a tragedy. Use the other wire for 'phoning to Tregennis' house, and see if the news is true. He may be out of town, so try all his country places till you find him. Track him down, alive or dead, somehow, but get police headquarters first."

Cardyce walked across to a cabinet and produced a flask of brandy, a siphon, and a tumbler, and proceeded to pour himself out a strong drink, which disappeared down his bull throat in a gulp. He tugged at his collar, choking as if something were stifling him, and his hands were hot and trembling. He rang a bell, and a young man came in.

"Just ring up the Morning Star office for me," he said. In two minutes he was in communication with the rival paper.

"Is Mr. Coleridge there?" he asked. "I'm Cardyce, of the Wire. Put me through to him, please. . . . That you, Coleridge? Oh. . . .have you received a letter to-night prophesying a certain tragic event? . . . No! . . . . Most amazing letter just to hand . . . like the one I told you about before. . . . I shan't take any notice of it, of course; but after that business about Meadows I'm suspicious. This time I'm warned that it is Tregennis, of the Red Moon Line, and you can publish it if you like. I shan't, anyway."

In twenty minutes a police inspector and the chief sub entered the room together. Cardyce turned to the latter first with a look of inquiry. The expression of horror on the sub's face told him that something extraordinary had happened.

"It's true," Manson gasped. Found dead to-night. Poison suspected. Police already on the spot. No one seen to enter the house. In fact, he has had no visitors all day."

"Curse my luck!" exclaimed Cardyce. "I've just given the Morning Star the news because I thought it was a fake. What a fool I am! This thing has unnerved me. Excuse me, inspector, you must think I am demented. This is too horrible for anything."

"May I see the letter you received, Mr. Cardyce?" returned the inspector calmly. "Thanks. And now, please, tell me all about it."

The astounding assassination of another millionaire held London spellbound. The police had not only failed to find any clue to the murderer of the dead steel king, except a glass and a sample bottle in which the dregs of poison remained, but as the days passed the mystery of Abraham Tregennis' death also remained unsolved. No letter or clue of any kind was forthcoming, and common gossip began to speculate as to who would be the next to go.

A month passed, and no further tragedies occurred. The great armies of commerce began to churn their way forward again. Staggered they had been for the nonce; but the death of these two men had not affected the pockets of those who toiled in the factories and stuffy offices of the firms involved, save that in the case of the Red Moon Line the employees realised that out of evil had come good, and that ere long they would profit by the generosity of their dead master.

It was a blustering April night when Cardyce entered the sub-editor's room, to find the juniors gathered together in a group and speaking quickly. He saw at a glance that something was toward, and as he approached, one of them thrust a small pocket-book into his hand.

"Rather odd thing to send to us, sir," said Rogers. "It was received in a sealed envelope addressed to this office, and arrived a few moments ago."

Cardyce, with growing apprehension, turned the book over and then opened it. His eyes met column after column of pencil notes, armies of figures stared at him from every page, figures, and private memoranda. Then he stopped, and his jaw fell as he noticed the name of the owner written in a flowing hand on the flyleaf.

"Thomas Masterman Goodyear, Riverside Drive."

He went into his own room at length, taking the pocket-book with him, but not before he had sent to the machine room, whither his chief sub had gone, to bring that individual back.

As Manson entered, he held out the book, and in a few words explained the mysterious facts relating to its receipt. "Are we on the threshold of another tragedy, or are we not? That's the point," he said; "but it's no good wasting time. You'd better take the book up to police headquarters at once. Use my auto. Don't be long."

"Very well," said Manson. "I can get up and back in an hour, or less if they don't keep me. I don't like the look of it at all."

He turned to leave the room, and as he did so the door opened and a messenger boy, followed by Inspector Taylor from Scotland Yard, entered.

Cardyce jumped up with an exclamation of pleasure.

"You're the very man we want, and you've come in the nick of time," he said. "Sit down and tell us first if you came about anything important."

"There's another tragedy brewing, and we haven't a moment to lose," said the inspector. . . . "No, thanks, I won't sit down. I got a message through from the Morning Star saying they had received a letter prophesying that another millionaire would be destroyed to-night. No name was given in the letter, but the message said we were to go to the office of the Daily Wire and we should know who had been chosen."

"Heavens above!" Cardyce leapt to his feet, white and trembling. In his hand he clutched the pocket book.

"This came to-night . . . sent in then he held it out to the inspector. "a sealed envelope," he began excitedly. "I found the subs looking at it as I came in. It belongs to Goodyear, the colliery owner. What in God's name is going on? Can't you stop it?"

"A letter, sir."

Cardyce looked at the open door and saw the boy holding out a grimy note. "I was told to bring it up at once."

"Here, stop!" The boy had turned to go when the editor's command brought him to a halt.

Cardyce wrenched the letter open as if he knew what it contained. With strained eyes he scanned it, then the paper fluttered from his nerveless fingers to the floor. The inspector bent and picked it up, and this is what he read :—

"Ring up Thomas Goodyear's house at midnight precisely. Keep the line open exactly five minutes, and you will hear something! Don't be later than twelve to the minute. You will then have an exclusive piece of news for your paper."

Both Cardyce and the inspector looked at the clock together. It was four minutes to twelve.

"Get the telephone book quick, and be back here within ten seconds!" Cardyce shouted to the astonished boy.

The urchin vanished, and Cardyce went across to the 'phone in the corner of the room, while the inspector studied the typewritten letter carefully. A moment more, and the boy had returned. Cardyce snatched the book from his hand and began turning over the leaves wildly.

"Fe . . . Fo . . . Fu . . . Ga . . . Ge . . . Gollard . . . Goodyear. Here it is!" he exclaimed "2705 West."

He jerked down the receiver and almost shrieked the number to the Exchange. "I want the line for a quarter of an hour. For God's sake, don't cut me off till I tell you," he said. "Can't get through," he added to the inspector, who was standing quivering with suppressed excitement by his side. "Oh, yes, here we are! Who are? This Mr. Goodyear's house? Thanks!"

The clock on the mantlepiece stood at a minute to twelve.

"Here, Taylor, you had better tackle this," Cardyce said. "It's a police job, anyway. Don't forget I want to publish every word you hear."

The inspector snatched at the 'phone and forced it well back against his ear. With a wild expression on his face he listened. Not a sound broke the silence except the smothered rumble of the printing machines below, and the heavy breathing of the man beside him.

"I can't hear anything. Yes. No. Great God!"

He dropped the receiver and fell back, his face white and set, horror unspeakable in his eyes, cold sweat beading his brow, his breath coming in short, quick, gasps.

"What—what is it?" gasped Cardyce.

"Merciful Heaven! An explosion!"

The inspector sat down limply, trying to catch the words that came from the spent lips.

"I heard it all . . . an explosion . . deafening. It must have wrecked the house."

In a moment he was on his feet and had shaken himself like a bear waking from sleep. The terror on his face vanished; he tried to smile.

"Let me ring up headquarters. They must send some men at once, while I go back and report." Red murder, that's what it is, and— the fiendish cunning!"

He turned to the telephone again and rang madly. Cardyce strode away and groped for the flask of brandy in the cupboard.

Two days had passed, and Cardyce was busy writing a strong leader on the chain of unsolved crimes which had enslaved the city.

He paused as a knock came at the door, and a boy entered with a card.

"The lady says she must see you, sir. I told her you were busy, but she wouldn't listen. She said she must see you at once, on a matter of life or death."

Cardyce took the card and glanced at it with a frown.

"Did she say what she wanted?" he asked.

"She would give no message, sir. She said she must see you in private."

"Mrs. Stokes." Cardyce read the name again. "Wife of the great oil millionaire, I suppose," he muttered aloud. "Yes, show her up."

In two minutes a beautifully dressed woman, about thirty-three years of age, stumbled into the room, and almost fell into the nearest armchair. She put her hand to her breast. She was panting for breath. Her eyes closed and opened, a dull pallour was slowly growing over her face, and her lips moved as she struggled in vain to speak.

Cardyce rose from his chair, and fixed his eyes on her face in growing surprise.

"You don't remember me," she gasped. "You must have forgotten, you——"

"No; but I didn't know you had married, Gwen. You see, I cannot forget the old name."

"Oh, it's awful. I married Arthur in India. . . . . It was quite a private affair; we did not want any fuss. We only came home a week ago. This morning he got that awful warning."

"What warning?" asked Cardyce.

"A letter saying he would be killed to-morrow, that he had been marked down by the man who was reforming the world, the man who was diverting money into the proper channels. That's what the letter said."

"Then it is the Socialists," Cardyce muttered, half aloud.

"Socialists? Whoever it is they mean to kill him. They told me your paper was the most influential in the country, and that it has been associated with all the previous attempts to solve the murders of this kind. I have been to the police, and now I come to you. You must—you shall save him!"

The words trailed off into a sob. She looked at him with strained eyes in which there was no trace of tears. The working of her lips and her obvious terror were pitiful to look upon.

"I really don't see that I can do anything," Cardyce returned. "The police will do all that is possible, but what on earth can I do?"

"Richard, you must—you must!" In her emotion she called him by the name she best remembered. "You loved me once!"

"I have had no cause to change my feelings," he said quietly.

"You never knew the truth. I was forced into this marriage, and we were only boy and girl lovers after all, you and I."

"You speak only for yourself. My regard for you is the same as it was then, and I fear it will never change. I am a busy man, and I live a busy life, but often in the midst of it——"

"Yes," she said, half rising from her seat, "and I am sorry."

"But by the arbitration of fate I am the odd man out," he said, with a short laugh.

"Yet you will help me," she exclaimed, her mind attuned anew to the object of her visit. "I know you will."

He got up and went across to her side. His face was strong and set, a smile almost of a new joy overspread it. He put his hand on her shoulder.

"You really love this man?" he asked.

"Love him? I worship the ground he walks on. He is to me all the world. He has made my life splendid and glad."

He looked down at her upturned face and saw the love light shining there. In his look there was something of tenderness, of pity, of suffering. Then his lips set firmly, and he walked back to his desk.

"I will do all I can," he said, in a matter-of-fact voice. "If I can stop this awful crime I will. Yes, more——"

He paused, and she looked at him, a smile on her lips. He watched her, his eyes revelled in her beauty, wandered over the curves of her cheeks, the russet hair, the delicate contour of her lips.

"I promise you your husband shall live if all the strength in me can command it," he said.

A moment more and she rose to go. Now he saw in her all the fresh beauty of the years when he had known her best, when he had pressed his lips to hers on the threshold of his career, when he was setting out with her encouragement to urge him to make his place in life, to conquer through strange worlds which they knew but vaguely.

He touched the tips of her fingers as the door opened. Then she passed through and the door closed silently.

When she had gone he stood and looked at himself in the glass. His face was sadder than usual, and the contemplation did not please him, for he turned away, and, taking a cigarette from his case, he slowly lit it. Then he walked to the telephone and rang up police headquarters.

Inspector Taylor was sitting discussing with his chief his interview of an hour ago with Mrs. Stokes when his telephone bell rang. Almost expecting a new development in the rapid chain of events, he rushed across to the receiver.

"Yes?" he said.

"Are you Inspector Taylor?"

"Yes, who is that?"

"Cardyce, of the Wire."

"Oh, good. Anything new?"

"Yes. I am going to tell you a strange story, and you've got to listen to every word, for you will never get another chance, d you hear?"

"I do."

"It is this. It must be pretty obvious to you that the murders of these moneyed men have been achieved for one purpose, and that is the dispersion of their money to the working classes. Don't you agree?"

"My chief and I were just discussing that," said the inspector.

"As you know, I am the editor of a paper which is the greatest Conservative organ of the day—a paper that is run in the intetests of capital, that condemns Socialism and everything to do with it. Yet my personal views are absolutely opposed to this policy—do you hear distinctly?"

"Yes."

"I resolved to split up those great accumulations of wealth. . . . I meant to put the world right, to make man equal to man. The only way was the destruction of the millionaires. . . . A woman came to me to-night—Mrs. Stokes—whose husband had been warned—and she—d'you hear?"

"I love her—I have always loved her. She loves her husband— and I couldn't——"

"Go on—for God's sake, go on!" exclaimed the inspector.

"My breath is going—I have drunk the poison with which I murdered Meadows, by sending him a specimen of a new wine with which I said I was connected, and wanted him to help me float. It is no less efficacious than the infernal machine that went to Goodyear's and—I can't last long—but I found that Mrs. Stokes loved her husband with every breath in her body, and— I couldn't go on with it!"

"Speak, man, speak, tell me all of it!" gasped Inspector Taylor.

"I did it—I sent those letters to myself to arrest suspicion— I killed them to split up those hoarded millions. I did it, I alone did it!"

The words melted into a gurgle, and the inspector heard the sound of a heavy fall.

The press marvelled for a week over the extraordinary death of an editor whose paper had been to the foremost in endeavouring to unravel the chain of murders. That he should have been killed with the same poison that struck down the others astonished nalists in their colossal wisdom.

But Scotland Yard has its secrets, and this is one of them.

THE FORMULA OF "FRUIT-A-TIVES"

Is On The Outside Of Every Box For All The World To See

Every user of "Fruit-a-tives" knows exactly what is being taken. The formula of this famous fruit medicine is printed plainly on the outside of every box. We have stated many times—and now state clearly—that "Fruit-a-tives" is made of the juices of apples, oranges, figs and prunes, with valuable heart and nerve tonics and antiseptics.

Everyone knows that fruit juice is healthful—but perhaps some do not understand why this is true.

Fruit juice consists of about 91% water, 8% of sweet principle, and 1% of a bitter substance. It is the quantity of bitter principle in fruit that gives the fruit value as a medicine. An eminent physician of Ottawa, after years of experimenting, found a method of increasing the bitter principle in fruit juice, thus increasing the medicinal or curative qualities.

The juices are first extracted from fresh, ripe oranges, apples, figs and prunes. By a secret process, some of the sweet atoms are replaced by the bitter principle. Then tonics and antiseptics are added, and the whole made into tablets, now known far and wide as "Fruit-a-tives."

"Fruit-a-tives" is the only medicine in the world that is made of fruit juices, and is one of the few remedies that have let their composition be known from their introduction to the public.

"Fruit-a-tives" is nature's stimulant for the liver, bowels, kidneys and skin. In cases of obstinate Constipation, Liver Trouble, Indigestion, Backache, Rheumatism, Headaches and Impure Blood, this wonderful fruit medicine cures when everything else fails.

"Fruit-a-tives" is sold everywhere at 50c. a box, 6 for $2.50, or trial box, 25c., or will be sent, postpaid, on receipt of price by Fruit-a-tives Limited, Ottawa.

There is more Catarrh in this section of the country than all other diseases put together, and until the last few years it was supposed to be incurable. For a great many years doctors pronounced it a local disease and prescribed local remedies, and by constantly failing to cure with local treatment, pronounced it incurable. Science has proven catarrh to be a constitutional disease and therefore requires constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure, manufactured by F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, Ohio, is the only constitutional cure on the market. It is taken internally in doses from 10 drops to a teaspoonful. AN EASY MARKET.

The Toronto Weekly Sun predicts a comparatively easy market for beef during the remainder of the fall, and even into the early winter, with higher prices later on. One fact which seems to point to comparatively easy prices in the early winter is that an unusually large number of cows and heavy steers are being fattened now and are billed to reach market during the next three months. After that the prospects seem to be for a stiff market until after grass comes again. Even for the next few months there is nothing like a slump to be anticipated. Notwithstanding the fact that so many cattle have been forced to market as a result of the dry weather in the Western States, receipts at the great centres are barely more than past the level of last year. In Chicago for the week ending Friday, receipts were, indeed, less than 67,000, as against over 67,000 for the same week in 1909, and the receipts at the six principal markets for the year to date are only 155,000 over last year, a mere bagatelle when the fact is remembered that the total receipts at these six markets number 5,800,000.

How steady prices are keeping is seen by a top of $8.30 in Chicago during the week ending Saturday, as against $8.35 the week before, and $8.50 four weeks ago. In the same week last year the top was $8.40, and in 1908 it was $7.75.

POPULAR WITH FARMERS.

The farmers of this country, and, indeed, throughout the Province, have been favorably impressed with the large amount of information being presented daily in the Farming, Commercial and Financial Departments of The Toronto News. Many papers have attempted, with varying success, to provide daily information to the farming communities of this Province of such a character as to command the respect of men who know farming and its kindred industries from actual experience. The NEWS has placed Farming, Live Stock and Dairy Departments in the hands of editors who know this business. The result is that every day this department contains selected news and suggestions, market quotations and every information that makes The Toronto News invaluable to the farmer, the shipper, producer of dairy products, fruit, etc.

The News is national in the character of its news. It is served by the British and Colonial Press and Cable and National services over direct leased wires, by the Associated Press and Canadian Association Press and a corps of trained correspondents in all parts of Canada.

Through an arrangement we are able to offer The Banner and The News at the remarkably reasonable figure of $2.50. Send in your order to us to-day.

FREDERICK CRESSWELL

The death of Mr. Frederick Cresswell, a brother of Mr. Ralph Cresswell, York St., occurred at his home 30 St. Mary St., Toronto, on Monday of last week. Cresswell, of Hamilton, and Ralph, of Orangeville, and five sisters, Mrs. Baine, and the Misses Cresswell, of Brampton and the Misses Cresswell, of Toronto, who resided with him. METHODIST CHOIR CONCERT.

Large Audience Has Pleasure of Hearing an Excellent Programme.

The local musical season was splendidly inaugurated on Friday last, when a rich programme was given at the Town Hall, before a large and fashionable audience. The entertainment was under the auspices of the Methodist Church Choir, who have reason to be gratified at the appreciation evinced by those fortunate enough to be present. Mr. George Fox, who had been featured as the "head liner," failed to put in an appearance, or send any satisfactory apology, and the committee were more than fortunate in securing the services, on very short notice, of that gifted violiniste, Miss Buschlen, of Arthur, who is preparing to go on an extended concert tour. Any disappointment, which the absence of Mr. Fox gave rise to, was quickly dispelled, when Chairman Mr. C. H. McKeown, M.P.P., made the announcement of the change in the programme. Miss Buschlen was assisted by Miss McKay, of Toronto, a youthful pianiste of great promise and marked ability.

The opening number was the familiar piano duet, "Qui Vive," played by Misses Elliott and Wright, which was warmly appreciated. Mr. J. H. Cameron, of Toronto, was given a salvo of applause on his appearance, the audience recognizing an old favorite. A humorous song put the audience in good nature, and some droll stories followed, most of which were new, and many original. Mr. Cameron does not pose as a comedian, though he produces many a laugh, by methods which are peculiarly his own. He appeared in his various characters in evening dress, and did not resort to grostesque costumes, or any ludicrous make-up to get results. Miss Buschlen's appearance was enthusiastically received. The fair astiste wore a fascinating gown of pale pink satin, and presented an attractive picture, as she bowed her acknowledgments. Her introductory number was the fantastia from the grand opera of "William Tell" by Rossini, the delight and despair of many musicians. This difficult piece was rendered with rare feeling and expression, the player's deft bowing, correct execution, and fine tonal effects, being promptly recognized. A rapturous encore was given. On Mr. Cameron's second appearance, he gave that irresistibly funny soliloquy, from the well known comic opera, "The Yankee Consul," which, those who have seen Raymond Hitchcock in the role, felt the song lost none of its drolliness under Mr. Cameron's treatment. The rendition was uproariously applauded. Miss Buschlen next played a sweet gem, Legende, by Wieniawski, which caught the fancy of the music lovers present, and a rapturous encore was granted. Mr. E. A. Warren, of the Bank of Hamilton staff, made his first appearance on the concert platform in this town, and received a flattering reception. His first offering was a robust baritone song, entitled "Kings of the Road." The number was sung with an abandon, swing, and correct intonation, and phrasing, that was a positive delight. Mr. Warren has a high baritone, which is remarkably clear and dulcet in the upper register; few professional singers who have visited us have so good a style, so accurate an attack, or more easy vocalization. Mr. Warren's fine stage presence adds much to the interpretation of his songs, and he divided the honors with the visiting artists. In response to a hearty encore, Mr. Warren sang a pretty little Scotch ballad, entitled "Mary," which appealed to the Highland element in the audience. A selection by Mr. Cameron, "A Scotch Sermon," displayed that gentleman's versatility, and an encore concluded the first part of the programme. In the second half Miss Buschlen was down for two solos, but graciously added three more, so insistent were her auditors. The numbers included the popular gavotte by German, "The Shepherd's Dance." Other pieces were "The Flowers of the Forest," and a realistic imitation of the bag pipes, which was true to life; concluding with the Austrian National Anthem, which disclosed considerable charm and melody. Probably Mr. Cameron's most ambitious number was "Mark Anthony's oration over the body of Caesar." It is no flattery to say that Mr. Cameron rendered these immortal lines in a way which gripped the feelings of the audience, and held the deepest emotions spellbound. It was an aspiring number, and by a less capable artist, might have been a burlesque. The lines were given with a fine force, and an underlying reserve, which indicated histrionic ability of no mean order. Equally effective was the rendering of the "Charge of the Highland Brigade." Miss McKay, of Toronto, who played Miss Buschlen's accompaniments with fine taste throughout the evening contributed a piano solo, in which she exhibited a marvelous technic, and dexterity of movement, and a soulful interpretation, which proclaimed her to be an artist of considerable resource. Mr. Warren's concluding number was a Scotch ballad, "My Ain Folk," and as an encore, he gave "Eileen Allana," an old Irish favorite, which always awakens pleasant memories. The latter song probably displayed Mr. Warren's fine voice to its greatest advantage, the higher notes being taken with surprising delicacy, pathos and feeling. Miss Wright was a most satisfying and conscientious accompanist. The Bell piano was used, being furnished by the local agent, Mr. Geo. E. Reid.

RHEUMATIC PAINS.

Not Due to Cold, Wet Weather—The Trouble is Rooted in the Blood.

Many people believe that the twinges and tortures of rheumatism are due to cold, damp, or wet weather, and treat themselves by rubbing with liniments and lotions. This is a serious mistake, and one which allows the disease to progress to such an extent that it is often impossible to get it out of the system. Rheumatism comes from poisonous acid in the blood, and it must be cured through the blood. All the liniments and rubbing, and so-called electrical treatment in the world will not cure rheumatism. This is a medical truth which every sufferer from this excruciating trouble should know. Rheumatism can only be cured by driving the poisonous acid out of the blood, and enriching and purifying it. There is no medicine will do this so speedily and surely as Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. They actually make the new, rich, red blood, which drives out the poisonous acid, upbuilds the system, and makes the sufferer well and strong. It is because they do this that Dr. Williams' Pink Pills have cured thousands of cases of rheumatism after all other treatment had failed. As proof we give the case of Mrs. F. X. Boisseau, St. Jerome, Que., who says: "Almost two years ago I was a terrible sufferer from rheumatism. The trouble first located in my right leg, rendering all work impossible, and walking excessively difficult. I tried to cure myself by means of all sorts of liniments and lotions, but without avail. The trouble was constantly growing worse, and the pain more and more unbearable. Finally the disease spread to my other leg, and I was all but helpless, and I was completely discouraged, thinking I would be a sufferer for the rest of my life. At this time I read an advertisement in our home paper, of this trouble being cured by Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, and I decided to try them. I first got four boxes of the Pills and after using them for several weeks I could see that the painful rheumatism was gradually disappearing. I continued taking the Pills however, until I had used about a dozen boxes, when every symptom of the trouble had disappeared, and I could walk as freely as ever I did, and do my housework without the least trouble. I have no hesitation in recommending Dr. Williams' Pink Pills to every rheumatic sufferer."

Sold by all medicine dealers or by mail at 50 cents a box, six boxes for $2.50, from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

Local artists and Mr. Walter Edwards, a Toronto humorous entertainer, will provide the programme, which promises to be well worth hearing. Plan of hall may be seen at McGillivray's store.

STORY OF TWO YOUTHS.

Young Alexander Jimson Jopp was working in a hardware shop, and as he wrapped up iron rails, and anvils, bolts, and kegs of nails, and knives and screws and pigs of lead, he often to his fellows said: "This labor makes me tired by jings! for I was built for higher things. I'm fitted to adorn the bench instead of selling monkey wrench and spade and hoe and tailor's geese and evil-smelling axle grease. He loathed the work he had to do, and cussed it till the air was blue. Young Richard Henry James Kerflopp was also working in that shop; He carried anvils all the day, and as he toiled he used to say: "There may be better jobs than this imparting more of ease and bliss, but I will do my best, and strive to show the boss that I'm alive; I may be built for higher spheres, but I won't wet the shop with tears. If those blamed spheres are hunting me they'll find me busy as a bee." Young Alexander Jimson Jopp still sweats around that hardware shop, and carries anchors to and fro, and draws a paltry bunch of dough, while Richard Henry sits in state, wears hard-boiled shirts and pays the freight.

Buying good goods; selling good goods at only reasonable profits; dealing squarely—giving all customers the same price; standing behind everything we sell; treating our patrons with courtesy; and, as you know, by attending to our business and carrying the stock. Good intentions come only out of the head; good goods must come out of a good store that is able to get good goods. We enjoy our business activity. Progress is enjoyable. We are business men, proud of our profession, and we make a profession of our business. A professional man is a man especially skilled in what he does. Attending Fall Fairs and doing fall plowing are the chief occupations of the people of this section at present.

Mr. Tom. Allen has purchased a new Goodison separator. Tom says that if the Hockley wolves are all threshed, the Relessey lambs are not, and he will depart from hence.

The new concrete bridge on the Hockley Road opposite the third line has been completed and the thoroughfare is once more open for traffic. The new structure, which is a cement arch, is a credit to the contractors as well as to the Mono Council.

Messrs. Bob. Brown and Donald McDonald took in the Roman Catholic picnic at Colgan on Wednesday of last week.

Mr. Roland Moffatt has rented the Jeffers estate. Report has it that Rolley may coax the bird down the hill in the near future.

A large number from this section took in the International Fair at Orangeville. Danny Markle says things are quiet in Orangeville since the spirit of the spirits has passed away.

Mr. Robert Lennox was the guest of Miss Hazel Moffatt at "Churchill Farm" on Sunday last.

Mr. Willie White was a visitor at "Sunnyside," Mr. James Hicks' residence last Sunday.

It is rumored that the Bell Telephone Co. intends erecting a line along the Hockley Road to Hockley this fall.

CALEDON EAST.

On Monday of last week Mr. John J. Evans, a well-known and lifelong resident of this community, passed away at his home, lot 24, 2nd line, Albion, after a lengthy illness. Deceased, who was in his 60th year, was a native of Albion and was the owner of a fine 150 acre farm in the second concession. He underwent a severe surgical operation in Toronto last spring, and was then told that there was little chance of his living longer than a few months. He was a man, who was well thought of, and was a successful farmer. His wife, who was formerly Miss Belle Mitchell, of Brampton, survives him. Mr. Evans was a member of the Anglican Church and a Conservative in politics. The funeral, which was largely attended, took place to St. James' Church cemetery on Wednesday afternoon. Rev. G. Gandier had charge of the services.

Anniversary services in connection with the Caledon East Methodist Sunday School will be held next Sunday, Oct. 2nd, at 11 o'clock in the morning and also at 7 in the evening. Rev. H. L. Partridge will preach at both services. On Monday a grand concert will be given in the church under the direction of Miss Amy L. Doty, of London, who has been training the children for the past two weeks. The programme consists of solos, recitations, choruses and exercises. There will also be two good drills, "The Maple Leaf Drill" given by sixteen young ladies and a "Military Drill," by sixteen young men. The concert begins sharp at 8 o'clock, so don't miss the opening number. Admission 25c.; children 15c.

ALTON.

Mr. J. B. Smith, our butter maker, brought a successful season's business to a close this week with a large shipment consigned to Owen Sound. We understand that the consignment will be shipped from Owen Sound to Fort William.

The Barber Carriage Company are making a large addition to their factory to make room for their steadily expanding business.

Farmers and others having business in Alton express themselves as more than pleased with the excellent table and shed accommodation provided by our citizens since local option came into force.

Dick & Son are busy making sixty set of bobsleighs for this winter's trade. Over half of their output has already been sold.

Mr. Graves has acquired the old mill privilege near the east end of the village and is busy making preparations to build and open a new mill.

Master Will Presley, one of the popular members of the Alton Band, is taking a course in the Orangeville Business College.

We understand that Mr. Thos. Presley, a well-known resident of our community, will move to Orangeville shortly. Alton will lose and Orangeville gain a useful citizen by the change.

PALGRAVE.

Another bumper market was held last Wednesday in our village. The following prices were paid by the buyers:—Fresh eggs, 22c. to 24c. per dozen; butter, 22c. plain wrappers, 23c. and 24c. for printed wrappers. These prices are really Toronto prices and the fair maidens of the locality should be delighted at such prices actually at their door. We congratulate the business men of the place who have started such a convenient and satisfactory market with actually Toronto prices paid. The business men of the place will spare nothing to make the market a success and to secure for the farmers the highest prices for their farm produce. Next Wednesday there will be four good buyers in the market to purchase all the farm produce, including potatoes, eggs, butter, poultry, in fact everything that a farmer wishes to sell. The buyers represent four of the finest wholesales in Toronto and the farmers patronizing our market may depend upon it that they will obtain the top prices for anything they put on sale. The business men of Palgrave have put their heads together to make it a success and that settles the matter as to the stability and success of the market. We are expecting during the poultry and potato season exceptionally high prices paid, as it is well known far and near that Palgrave and vicinity can produce both the potatoes and the poultry. The writer would again advise the farmers to consider their own weekly cash market and obtain the highest prices paid for farm produce in the Province of Ontario.

We regret to chronicle the demise of Mrs. John Rolley, of the 8th line, Albion, on Sept. 21st, 1910 after a long and lingering illness, extending over many months. The deceased was in her 53rd year, and was a most considerate and affectionate mother and wife. She left two daughters, Jennie and Irene, and three sons Ashton, Holland and Burgoyne to mourn her loss. She was a member of the English church, and the remains were interred in St. Alban's cemetery, Rev. Mr. Westney, of Bolton, officiating. The family have the sympathy of the entire community in their great bereavement.

Mr. and Mrs. Nathan Henderson have just returned home after nearly six weeks rusticating on the Pacific Coast, and several intermediate points. Both are looking hale and debonair.

A new disease called cerebro-spinal-meningitis has broken out in this locality, causing the inhabitants great alarm. Several young people in the locality have been snatched off so unexpectedly and suddenly that the community has become very much alarmed. The alarm seems to be increased by the fact that the physicians admit that they are unable to cure it.

Mrs. John McClelland is at present spending a few days with her daughter, Mrs. F. Taylor, of Toronto.

Mr. John Lavery made a flying visit to Toronto this week.

SPEERSVILLE.

Your Speersville correspondent to the Banner of September 15th, must be getting very short of breath or else is kept extremely busy, judging by the small amount of news he was able to gather. There are surely lots of happenings of interest taking place and he should not have found any difficulty gathering a respectable budget.

Our little burg still keeps growing and its present prosperity bids fair to be lasting. Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Moat and family moved in last spring and Mr. R. M. Speers has another heir. Dick says he thought it was a boy until the last moment.

Miss Jennie Speers is visiting friends in the city.

Mr. and Mrs. James Duke took in Brampton fair and didn't get home again until next day.

Mr. N. Rayburn and sister took in Brampton fair last week and were away two days. They say that they will take two weeks next year.

Mr. Henry Spears says it is very pleasant to have some children around the house.

Mr. H. McMahon, who is plowing for Charley Atkinson, says he can set the furrows up to the king's taste.

Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Atkinson were among the visitors at Brampton Fall Fair.

Speersville school seems to be falling into disfavor for some reason or other. So far as we can learn, only about half the children in the section are attending it.

Our J. P. says that our citizens will soon have to elect a mayor for the town. The place is growing so rapidly that it will be entitled to the dignity of having a chief magistrate, and besides there is the probability of some lawsuits shortly.

Mr. Chester Glassford is still making his rounds, bringing fresh meat to town.

Mr. Richard Blain, M.P. for Peel, paid Caledon a visit on Monday.

There are some men around the town who think they ought to be boss, for if they get a nag they think they have a horse.

There are some women round the town who think themselves so nice. They are as sleek as any cat when she is after mice. The girls all are smiling and curling up their hair. They're putting their best foot first getting ready for Charleston fair.

There are some boys around town who think themselves great men. They talk as if they were twenty, when really they're only ten. If they have anything to say, they soon will let you know, for they have lots of cheek, wherever they may chance to go.

SCHOOL BOY.

MARSVILLE.

An event of unusual interest took place on Monday evening in the Presbyterian Church, the occasion being the ordination of Mr. W. J. Cook and his designation by the Orangeville Presbytery to Foreign Missionary work. The ceremony was witnessed by a large congregation, and was solemn and impressive throughout. The following are the members of the Presbytery who conducted the service. The Rev. J. A. Matheson, of Price ville, presided, Rev. Mr. Cheyne, of Claude, preached; Rev. R. S. Scott offered the ordination prayer, Rev. S. Robinson, of Caledon, addressed the newly ordained candidate and Dr. McKay addressed the people and directed his remarks particularly to Central India, where Mr. Cook will labour. After the ceremony Mr. Cook was presented by the congregation with several travelling comforts and an address which was read by the pastor, Rev. R. S. Scott. Mr. Cameron, a college chum, was present and spoke a few words of congratulation and encouragement. Rev. Mr. Cole, of the Methodist Church, also gave a short address. Rev. Mr. Cook left on Tuesday for his new field of labour, and carries with him the best wishes and earnest prayers of the entire community.

Harvest Home Services were held in the Grove Church on Sunday. The pastor, Rev. Mr. Cole, preached in the morning, and the Rev. Mr. McLeod, of Belwood, occupied the pulpit in the evening. Both speakers were greeted by large congregations, and the discourses were much appreciated. The church was prettily decorated with flowers and with the products of the field and garden.

The Rev. Dr. McKay, of Toronto, occupied the pulpit in the Presbyterian Church on Sunday afternoon and gave a vivid and instructive address on Korea and the encouraging work that is being done there by the missionaries.

Mr. and Mrs. Jas. Keith returned last week, after spending over a year with their son, Samuel, in Vancouver, and a few months with their daughter, Mrs. Herbert Jessop, Grand Forks, Mich. Both are looking well and their many friends here are pleased to welcome them back.

Mr. Harold Jestin left on Wednesday for a trip to Red Deer and other points in the West.

The schools in this vicinity will be closed Thursday and Friday owing to the teachers attending the Convention held in Grand Valley.

Mrs. J. Moodie, of Black Bank, Mulmur township, is visiting her mother, Mrs. McDougal.

ROSEMONT.

Mr. Editor, I ask the favor of a little space in your columns to tell your readers something about the long journey I made during the past summer. Some people think that the old traveller has left the country. That may be so, but as I am out for sport I will take his place. Well, to begin with, one fine day as I was coming down from Alliston I chanced a ride with Ben Knight, the painter, who had been doing some work in Alliston. As we drove along talking, sometimes both at once, a fine youth drove up behind us and asked for half the road. "Hold on a minute," said Ben, "and we will give you the whole thing." As he drove by, Ben turned to me with the statement, "That is Billy Milligan from Arlington. I don't know where he is heading now. He used to go up to talk with Geo. Moore at Mulmur, but Ed. Hanna, of Rosemont, has taken his place lately." At that moment we met William Edward Murphy. He has been building a new house on the third line, Tossorontio, and was looking for a painter, so of course Ben thought it better to drive up and look after the job, before it was too late. As he turned back I jumped in with the boy and we were soon off again. "This is a very dry country," I ventured to remark. He replied in the affirmative and then began to discuss local option. As we agreed that more good than harm came from the measure, the discussion was soon dropped. Just now Gladstone Murphy wheeled along enquiring for Robert Hunter's and wanting to know if Jim Rose was on his way to Joe. Murphy's. Of course we knew nothing about that. Continuing on our way we met Albert Graham and had a long talk with him. We next met Dick McCreary and as he is single like myself we naturally drifted into an interesting conversation. Leaving Ben and William to go on alone we eventually strolled over to Jim Gilmour's. Going in we were pleased to meet Mrs. Arthur Love from the West. She had been very ill and we were glad to learn that she was improving. Ernest McNabb, who was there visiting his sister, began to tell us a little of the news around Rosemont, mentioning particularly the following items:—

Mr. and Mrs. Joho Murphy, who spent the past two or three months in the West, have returned home. They report having had a good time.

Mr. Kemp Horner, who sold his farm to Mr. Alex. McDowell a short time ago, has not bought another place yet.

Erle Brett claims that he threshed sixty bushels of wheat to the acre this year. That seems a very large yield.

Mr. Spilker from Shelburne, was in this neighborhood last week doing some eavetroughing.

Mr. Robert and Miss Luella Shaw are visiting Toronto friends.

Mr. Fred. and Misses Winnifred and Laura McNabb spent Sunday with Whitfield friends.

AN IMMENSE CROWD.

Large Attendance at Brampton Fall Fair Last Week.

Peel Agricultural Society had an ideal day yesterday for their fall fair and President Aiken Dolson and his officers are to be congratulated on the success of the county fair of 1910.

The crowd on the grounds is estimated to have been 7,000. 4,500 paid admission, 600 complimentaries were out, 400 members and attendants were there, and 1,000 school children yelled and enjoyed themselves. The gate receipts were the largest taken at any fair held on the present exhibition grounds.

The show was very much the same as in past years. Entries in cattle and horses were very large. The racing was much better than usual but the races were conducted in the same, tiresome way and it was dark before the last one was over.

The crowd was the most orderly one we ever saw in Brampton. There was only one drunk on the grounds, the dago who peddles coal oil. Down town there was none of the usual fair day squabbling or drunken disorderliness. The conduct of the crowd was a big advertisement for Local Option.

The results of the races were as follows:—

2.20 trot or pace: Harry Shafor's Gold King 1; R. Scott's, Toronto, Easter Sunday 2; A. R. Speirs' Capt. Helf 3.

Fastest Walking Horse — Dixon Rutherford.

CAMILLA.

DR. CHASE'S OINTMENT.

LAUREL.

The second annual fair, conducted by the Laurel Branch of the Women's Institute, was held at Laurel on Wednesday, Sept. 14th. The weather was delightful and the attendance was large. The number of exhibits was quite large and made a very creditable showing in the township hall. The Fair was opened with an address by the President, Mrs. T. R. White. The following is the list of prize winners:—

Sweet Peas, Mrs. Robt. Hamilton, Miss B. Curry; Asters, Mrs. Ranton, Mrs. Geo. Gordon; Dahlias, Mrs. Robt. Hamilton, Mrs. Geo. Gordon; Pickles, Mrs. Ranton; Preserved Fruit, Mrs. E. B. Cooney, Mrs. Ranton; Raw Fruit, Mrs. Fred. Cooney; Eggs, Mrs. Geo. Nelson, Mrs. Fred. Cooney; Butter, Mrs. E. B. Cooney; Fancy Baking, Mrs. Edgar Trimble, Mrs. Ranton; Bread and Buns, Mrs. Fred. Cooney, Mrs. Ranton; Ladies' Fancy Work, Miss M. Patterson, Mrs. L. Johnston; Young Ladies' Fancy Work, Miss E. Nelson, Miss M. Hamilton; Young Ladies' Plain Sewing, Miss M. Hamilton; Girl's Fancy Work Vera Ranton, Lilly King; Girl's Plain Sewing, Bertha Nelson; Girl's Doll, Beulah Ranton, Ruth Nelson, Lena Russell; Patch Work Quilt, Mrs. Ranton, Mrs. Hamilton; Fancy Quilt, Mrs. Hamilton, Mrs. Ranton; School Work—Writing, Gladys Russell, Bertha Nelson; Drawing, Vera Ranton, Lilly King; Writing, Fanny Hamilton, Louie Walker; Drawing, Ruth Nelson; Tomatoes, Mrs. Fred Cooney, Mrs. Ranton; Potatoes, Mrs. Geo. Nelson, Mrs. Ranton; Vegetables, Mrs. Geo. Gordon, Mrs. E. B. Cooney.

With such a good beginning by the ladies, there is a strong sentiment growing among the men that they should next year hold a fair at the same time as the Women's Institute Fair, and inaugurate a Township Agricultural Fair to be held annually at Laurel.

Rev. T. R. White attended the Annual Theological Conference held in Victoria University, Toronto, by the Alumni Association of Victoria College last week, and also the Social and Moral Reform Conference of the Methodist Church held in the same city.

Rev. Alexander Halbert returns this week to Victoria College, after supplying for a few weeks on Laurel circuit.

The Young Ladies Organized Class of the Methodist Sunday-school undertook the work of renovating the Sunday-school room of the church and have done the work very creditably, giving to the school room a very attractive appearance. Their good work has been appreciated by the entire school. A couple of weeks ago this class entertained the Young Men's Organized Class at a delightful social gathering at the home of Mr. and Mrs. George Nelson.

The "Chemics" of Bread

LET us look a bit into the chemistry of bread.

For we want our bread not only to seem good but we want it to actually be good. And as bread is a question of flour and flour a question of wheat we see that wheat is where we have to begin.

Gluten, starch, water and phosphates, are the principal component qualities of wheat. And in proportion as these qualities are more or less present is the wheat more or less valuable so far as nutrition is concerned.

The nutritive and bread-making qualities of wheat are the things that make it more valuable than rye or oats or barley or corn as human food.

The quality of nutrition, too, is what makes one brand of flour more valuable than another.

If it were not for nutrition and bread-making qualities any flour would be as good as any other. We wouldn't have to care whether it was made from good wheat or poor wheat, from Spring wheat or Winter, from all wheat or part other cereals.

A chemist will tell you that ROYAL HOUSEHOLD FLOUR is richer in high quality gluten than flour made from low grades of wheat. And for that reason it is better for food, hence more valuable than ordinary flour.

And actual tests in your kitchen will tell you that it produces more and larger loaves to the barrel than ordinary soft wheat or blended flour, the reason being that flour made from hard Red Fyfe wheat is more expansive and more absorbent.

It is plain, common-sense that flour made from the finest hard wheat in the world and scientifically milled must produce the finest bread in the world. And it does. Try it. Prove it.

COMMERCIALISM AT FAIRS.

Fairs cannot be run by prayers. To put up an attractive prize list and provide the attractions necessary to attract both exhibitors and sightseers make the securing of a large revenue from some source necessary. Exhibition managers are, therefore, not to blame in using every legitimate means within their power for increasing the revenue. At the same time one cannot but deprecate the growing tendency towards commercialism at many of our larger exhibitions. The Canadian National to a very large degree shows this tendency of late years. The fellow with something to sell is becoming more conspicuous every year. In some buildings formerly given up to exhibits only, the purveyor of refreshments, trinkets and the like is found taking the space that should be occupied by attractive and educational exhibits. The Dairy Building furnishes a case in point. The dairy industry of this country is important enough to supply an exhibit sufficient to fill this building, which, by the way, was erected largely by the people's money; given by the Ontario Government. Other instances could be cited, all tending to show a growing tendency to cater to the man who has something to sell rather than to the fellow who has something to show. It is a temptation, no doubt, that the best of fair managements cannot resist, to make an exhibition as great a revenue-producing institution as possible, yet it would be fatal to the future success of any exhibition to allow the commercial end to side track the regular exhibits, which form the reason to be for the existence of any fair. — The Canadian Farm.

HIS GRANDMOTHER'S GIFT.

Men who have reached exalted positions in life should never forget that others are struggling along the path that they have travelled with more or less pain, and should show a little indulgence, but whether treating a struggler favorably or unfavorably it is always best to be cautious. Probably a well known colonel in Berlin seriously thought of this after a certain little mistake he made at a state ball.

A young lieutenant who wore a single decoration, a large badge richly set in diamonds, attracted the colonel's attention, and in a supercilious manner he asked :

"Young man, what is that decoration, pray ?"

"An order, colonel," replied the lieutenant.

"An order? Dear me, I don't know it."

"It's an English order, colonel."

"Oh, yes, yes; but whoever gave it to you?"

"My grandmother."

"Your grandmother!"

And here the colonel burst into a fit of laughter that lasted a couple of minutes.

During the interval the young lieutenant, unabashed, stood calmly by looking at him.

"But—er—young man, what is your grandmother's name?" finally asked the colonel.

PALE ANAEMIC GIRLS.

The languid, semi-invalid girl is no longer popular. Firm flesh, rounded form and a healthy glow to the complexion are the results of using Dr. A. W. Chase's Nerve Food. Mrs. Goodson, 104 Sebastapool St., Montreal, Que., writes : "My daughter's appetite was bad and she was pale and bloodless. Since using Dr. A. W. Chase's Nerve Food there is a marked change in her condition. She is stronger and healthier in every way."

YOUR BACKACHE WILL YIELD

To Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Rockland, Maine.—"I was troubled for a long time with pains in my back and side, and was miserable in every way. I doctored until I was discouraged, and thought I should never get well. I read a testimonial about Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, and thought I would try it. After taking three bottles I was cured, and never felt so well in all my life. I recommend Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound to all my friends."—MRS. WILL YOUNG, 6 Columbia Avenue, Rockland, Me.

Backache is a symptom of female weakness or derangement. If you have backache, don't neglect it. To get permanent relief you must reach the root of the trouble. Nothing we know of will do this so safely and surely as Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. Cure the cause of these distressing aches and pains and you will become well and strong.

The great volume of unsollicited testimony constantly pouring in proves conclusively that Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, made from roots and herbs, has restored health to thousands of women.

Mrs. Pinkham, of Lynn, Mass., invites all sick women to write her for advice. She has guided thousands to health free of charge.

CANADA'S MISSION IN THE "FEDERATION OF THE WORLD."

(From the Canadian Textile Journal)

Thanks to a good Providence that has guided them in times of threatened rupture, peace has been maintained between Great Britain and the United States for a hundred years, and in the closing years of this century of mutual good-will these nations have given new proof of their desire to perpetrate the peace by referring a century-old dispute — the Newfoundland fisheries difficulty— to arbitration by The Hague tribunal. These are among the first great nations to yield to this new international court the arbitrament of a grave and ancient controversy.

In the last conflict between Great Britain and the United States the carnage ground was Canada—a country in no way responsible for the trouble, but vicariously suffering the woes of a three years' war, which terminated without settling the cause or dispute, or even mentioning it in the treaty of peace. It was a war which, in its origin and ending, and in the miseries it inflicted on an innocent people, illustrated to the world the futility of wholesale butchery as a means of settling questions of equity or moral principles. It had its individual heroes, but as a war it has been regarded, from both sides, with shame and regret by the generations who have followed. This feeling of wholesome repentance is expressed in the sincere attempt to find new grounds on which the two nations may co-operate, and in seeking to win and to deserve each other's respect and good-will.

It is proposed to commemorate the signing on Christmas Eve, 1814, of the peace that has been kept for a hundred years between the United States and Great Britain by such memorials as will help to prolong this peace through the ages and become a sign and example to all nations. Canadians are responding warmly to the advances made across the border, and the brightest minds of both countries realize that, taking this supreme occasion by the hand, it is possible to start the world on a new path whereby good-will and reason may be enthroned in the place of force as the arbiter of national disputes.

Cessation from war among the great nations does not mean that the world shall relapse into idle luxury or political or social stagnation, but that national energies shall be directed to turning the material resources of the earth into the service of all, and especially of the millions to whom life now brings little but misery, and that the thoughts of men shall be devoted to the reconstruction and not the destruction of national life.

The influences that are tending to this reconstruction of society are rapidly accumulating. The staggering burden of the armaments now maintained by the leading nations; the inevitable increase of this load by new inventions, which are constantly altering its conditions and adding to its cost; the undue pressure of this burden upon that part of the community least able to bear it; the growing willingness of the leaders of great nations to substitute some code of international law for the unrestrained will of any one nation, however powerful; the growing tendency when men meet in conventions and assemblies to expand these meetings from local or national ones into international ones, and to deal with subjects from the standpoint of their effect on the world and not merely upon the nation — these are among the influences that are leading all races to understand that they have more to gain by co-operation than by antagonism.

Within the last five years these various influences have led to the formation of peace societies, arbitration leagues, international clubs, international scientific and other organizations, more or less world-embracing in their aims. As nations derive most of their antipathies from the ignorance due to separation, such movements as these will disarm suspicions and let in wholesome light.

The interest taken throughout the United States in the question of the world's peace, and especially the question of peaceful relations with the Anglo-Saxon peoples is remarkable. During the last few years peace societies and arbitration leagues have been formed in various States, and much literature has been circulated and educational addresses given on the subject. In June last a resolution was adopted by Congress creating a Commission of five to advise upon the limitation of armaments and the turning of the navies of the world into an international force for the preservation of the world's peace. Other organizations have been formed for the specific purpose of celebrating the centenary of Anglo-Saxon-American peace.

This happy result is in part a natural response to the friendship for the American people constantly shown by Queen Victoria and King Edward —a friendship which may well be said to be the keynote of the foreign policy of those great monarchs, and which we may be sure will consistently be maintained by King George. Canada, above all parts of the Empire, must now appreciate the immense service rendered to our race by these far-seeing rulers, whose regard for the American nation has been rewarded with such reciprocity of good-will and esteem. The true Imperialism of our Empire, which places its power at the service of the whole world, must have the active sympathy and participation of the United States. Hence, Canada's high mission is to promote this "federation of the world" by extending the hand of welcome to both the mother and daughter nations to hasten their destined reconciliation.

ONTARIO PEACHES SELLING IN LONDON.

Cablegram Announces Arrival of First Consignment in Splendid Condition —5000 More to Go.

The first Ontario peaches that were shipped over to England for sale have reached there in excellent condition.

A cablegram received by Mr. C. C. James, Deputy Minister of Agriculture, last week from Mr. N.B. Colcock, the Ontario Government agent in London, announces this and adds that the fruit is being eagerly sampled by dealers. It is on sale in the Covent Garden market. The London newspapers comment very favorably on the excellence of the fruit.

The fruit was grown near the experimental farm at Jordan Harbor and was selected and shipped from the farm by Mr. P. W. Hodgetts, director of the fruit branch of the Department of Agriculture.

Consignments of peaches have been made from South Africa to London with considerable success, and Mr. James states that there will be at least 5,000 baskets shipped from Ontario to London this season.

The interest in Ontario's fruit has spread in England and a representative of a leading commission firm of London is at Jordan Harbor getting information. He states that the tomatoes grown in the Niagara district were a revelation to him, and believes that if they can reach England in as good condition as they are sold on the local markets there will be a great demand for them.

Two Minute Talks About PANDORA RANGE for Goal or Wood

How It Will Save Fuel For You

OF course the Pandora Range is a few dollars more than an ordinary range. But it will soon pay for itself in the fuel it will save for you.

The Pandora Flue System and Wide Fire Box, designed by our brainy stove experts, save about half a ton of coal per year, because they supply more air than the flue systems and fire boxes of ordinary ranges, causing better combustion of fuel.

The Steel Oven saves some more fuel, because it heats up more rapidly than a cast iron oven. The heavy Fire Clay Coating on the main bottom of range prevents any heat wasting towards the floor. It drives the heat back into the oven, and thus saves still more fuel.

But the big economizing feature is this: The draft for cooking on top of the range is also the draft for baking in the oven. The heat does double duty and your fuel bill is largely reduced.

Get the Pandora---the range that pays for itself. No other range is high-class enough for you.

HOW LITTLE WE KNOW !

(The Farmers' Advocate.)

United States ex-President Roosevelt, notwithstanding occasional slanting references to his garrulity, has a habit of getting close to the pith of things, and delivering himself of rugged masses of common sense. Speaking recently upon conservation and rural life, he submitted that one reason why the great industrial leaders have gone ahead is that they are willing and eager to profit by expert and technical knowledge — the knowledge that can come only as a result of the highest education.

"The big business man, the big railway man, does not ask college-trained experts to tell him how to run his business; but he does ask numbers of them each to give him expert advice and aid on some one point indispensable to his business. He finds this man usually in some graduate of a technical school or college in which he has been trained for his life work.

"In just the same way the farmer should benefit by the advice of the technical men who have been trained in phases of the very work the farmer does. I am not now speaking of the man who has had an ordinary general training, whether in school or college. While there should undoubtedly be such a training as a foundation (the extent differing according to the kind of work each boy intends to do as a man), it is, nevertheless, true that our educational system should more and more be turned in the direction of educating men toward, and not away from, the farm and the shop. During the last half century we have begun to develop a system of agricultural education at once practical and scientific, and we must go on developing it. But, after developing it, it must be used."

There is a saving idea—utilize the advice and information of experts. To this end the first requisite is to realize the need of help and knowledge—to realize, bluntly, that we do not know much. There is the rub. It is so hard to convince us that there is anything worth while beyond the limits of our own ken. A farmer who has grown only clover grass and small grains is incredulous when told that alfalfa and corn are more productive and more profitable crops. The dairyman who has always picked cows by guess can hardly be persuaded that milk scales and Babcock test are much better. So we might box the compass. Bondage to half-knowledge and guesswork, we do not realize how small and impotent feet our information really is. One hundred per cent. knowledge concerning specific, wide-ranging, there is very little even among our agricultural leaders. So the editor only says to his readers what he says often to himself, when he prays, "Teach us how little we know and incline our hearts to wisdom." Seek humbly to appropriate as much as possible of the vast stores of agricultural knowledge being poured out over the land. Seek instruction beyond the confines of your own neighborhood. Try occasionally, that the scales may be brushed from the eyes. Read more diligently books, bulletins and the agricultural press. Experiment more estly after a painstaking and accurate manner. Substitute knowledge for guess-work. Utilize freely the services of specialists in every line from weeds and insects to chemistry and physics. Realization of ignorance is the beginning of knowledge.

"Give instruction to a wise man and he will yet be wiser; teach a just man and he will increase in learning."—Proverbs.

Preston is moving to secure a new furniture industry. Baetz Bros., who manufactured dining room and parlor furniture, and upholstered goods, were recently burned out in Berlin. Through a sufficient vote not being polled, Berlin had refused them aid to rebuild. They want a $10,000 loan from Preston, repayable in 15 annual instalments, with 5 per cent. interest. $5000 of stock to be subscribed locally, and a fixed assessment of $5000 for ten years. They will invest from $10,000 to $12,600 and employ 40 men.

A TRAGIC DEATH.

North Sydenham Farmer Killed by a Marl Train.

Death in a terrible form came to Andrew Ferguson, a North Sydenham farmer yesterday morning on the Canadian Pacific railway tracks near St. Vincent Crossing. The marl train with seven cars and the van was coming in from Williams' Lake about half-past ten, when Engineer Matt. Sproule noticed the man walking on the track. The whistle was pulled and the bell kept constantly ringing but the man kept on walking. When about fifty yards distant the man stopped for an instant and turning sidewise looked at the train, and the engineer had no other idea but that he would step aside. Coming closer, the man resumed his easy-going pace and to the horror of both the engineer and fireman threw himself or fell across one of the rails. The emergency brake was put on, but though not running over twenty miles an hour, the weight of the train and the grade prevented stopping, and the engine and all the cars passed over the prostrate form. When the brakes went on Conductor L. Campbell thought that a hose bag had gone wrong and sent Brakeman Bennett out to make repairs. The latter was met by Brakeman Wilcox who said that they had run over a man. Going back they found the mangled remains. Bennett was left with the corpse while the train went into town. Dr. Dow, coroner, went out, and after hearing the statement of the crew, decided an inquest was unnecessary. The remains were brought to town where they were identified. An only brother, Mr. William Ferguson, wagon builder, was informed. Deceased was a native of Scotland, unmarried, and had passed his fiftieth year sixteen days ago. He owned a valuable farm on concession two, near Annan. He boarded on the adjoining farm with Mr. James Thomson. Tuesday he was in town and got a quantity of wire fencing and in the afternoon, with the help of neighbors, put it up. He was apparently in his usual spirits and freely conversed with his associates. Yesterday morning, after breakfast he went out with the expressed intention of working in his potato field. The dinner-bell failed to bring him to the mid-day repast and the report of the tragic death a few minutes later explained the cause. Two ladies residing near where the tragedy took place were attracted by the whistling and going to the window saw the man fall across the tracks. Whether intentional or not, they could not say. Ferguson was a quiet dispositioned industrious man, and had bought the farm in Sydenham about two years ago. He had prospered and the farm is well stocked. Why he was at the point on the railway track at the hour he was killed can only be conjectured but his most intimate friends cannot believe that death was intentional on his part. The funeral takes place from his brother's residence this afternoon to Greenwood cemetery.—O. S. Times.

FLOORS.

Hardwood or parqueterie floors are, of course, ideal, both for appearance and sanitation; nevertheless, if one cannot afford these one need not despair. Any ordinary floor may be made very nice by the use of the floor finishes now on the market. Do not be persuaded into using varnish, which is never seen anywhere in the best houses. Simply wax the floor with floor-wax after the finish has dried, and rub down to a smooth, dull finish, with a weighted polisher, which may be made of a brick covered with flannel. Remember that a dull finish everywhere, from linen to floors, except, possibly, in highly ornate and formal drawing-rooms, shows much better taste than gloss or shine.

If the floor is so rough and uneven that it cannot be planed down to receive the floor finish, then buy some fine Japanese matting, or linoleum, for a much-used room, to go all around the edge, and then put your large rug in the center. It is obvious, of course, that where such a rug is used, the floor-finish need not go all over the floor, a border to reach a little under the rug being sufficient.

Unquestionably, brown is the best color for floor-finish, although a deep buff has been sometimes used successfully.

The next question is the rug.

If your floor is very handsome—and for bedrooms, no matter what the floor is like—small rugs are best. These may be fine-woven ones, in Oriental or other coloring, or they may be made of pieces of good carpet, with fringe across the end. For bedrooms, they may be hooked or woven rag rugs in art-coloring, designed to suit exactly the color-scheme of the room.

When the floor of living-room, reception-room, dining-room, library, or den, is not particularly handsome, then have a large central rug, after all, perhaps, the most reposeful treatment, and be sure to have it in the same general tone of the room, but a little darker than the walls. Usually in the rug may appear the note of contrasting color necessary to prevent the monotonous effect which would be produced if everything in the room were of the same color.

If you find it wise to choose a cheap floor covering, then get pretty Japanese matting, and put it together over the area which should be covered by the rug.

If, however, money is not too restricted, there is plenty of choice.

Oriental rugs are very durable, and, if well chosen, very handsome, but they are so expensive as to be seldom seen in farm homes. The same may be said of Navajo rugs, which are very effective in certain places. There are, however, Wiltons, Axminsters and Smyrnas, in Oriental and other coloring, which are quite satisfactory; also thick Scotch rugs, while rag rugs in artistic coloring are often very quaintly effective. Old Brussels and other carpets may usually be made into very good rugs, with the addition of a border to match.

All rugs must, of course, be removable, never tacked down. Tacked-down carpets are quite tabooed now, as both troublesome and unsanitary.

The hall floor, if not hardwood, should be simply treated with floor-finish, with a few small rugs, or a long runner, for coziness. The kitchen and bath-room may have interlocking rubber tiling, good linoleum, or paint, according to one's purse. Perhaps nothing is better either for looks or sanitation, than paint.

Death After a Scratch.

Morris Quatzam, an eleven-year-old Windsor boy, fell off his bicycle and scratched his wrist. He thought nothing of the injury, but blood poison set in and he is dead.

Such incidents as these— by no means infrequent—ought to make people realize the danger that may lie even in the smallest flesh wound.

Take a simple illustration. When a knife, a rusty needle, a splinter of dirty wood, a barbed wire fence, or a thorn, scratches the hand, the latter is inoculated with germs, of which the air about us is full. Directly these germs are introduced through the breach in the skin, a battle royal ensues between them, and certain organisms in our blood.

The way to avoid serious results is to cleanse the wound and apply Zam-Buk. Zam-Buk is a powerful, yet painless germ-killer, and when applied to the broken skin is absorbed into the tissue, instantly destroying the germs that spread disease and inflammation.

As soon as applied to a sore or a cut Zam-Buk stops the pain and smarting. That is why it is so popular with children.

The flesh thus soothed and purified, the wound is made perfectly healthy, and all poison and cause of festering removed. Having done this, Zam-Buk then proceeds to heal the wound or sore, and new healthy tissue is built up in a quick, painless and perfect manner.

Zam-Buk must not be confused with ordinary ointments. Zam-Buk is a unique preparation, possessing antiseptic, soothing and healing qualities that are not to be found together in any other preparation. It is not only a unique healing balm, but it is also a skin food. For all skin diseases and injuries—cuts, bruises, burns, eczema, chafing, ulcers, ringworm, etc., it is without equal. It is also used widely for piles, for which it may be regarded as a specific. All druggists and stores sell at 50 cents a box, or post free from Zam-Buk Co., Toronto, for price. Harmful imitations should be always refused.

At a meeting of the congregation of Caven Church, Bolton, it was decided to extend a call to Rev. T. B. McCorkindale, B.A. Rev. Mr. McCorkindale is a Scotchman from the old land and this is his first charge in Canada.

A CALL TO DUTY.

Editor Craig, of Grand Valley, Sounds Note of Alarm.

During the progress of Sunday morning's fire the citizens once more realised the total inadequacy of our fire fighting appliances, saw what might easily become of the whole place under favorable conditions, and while many admitted we are living in a fool's paradise, it remains to be seen if our town fathers can read the handwriting on the wall, call a public meeting to discuss the question, or submit a concrete matter to the ratepayers. Mr. Varcoe, than whom none is better qualified to speak on matters of property values and insurance affairs, locally, says: If a fire were to wipe out one side of Main street, and there is nothing to prevent it, except sheer good luck, there is little probability of it being rebuilt. The cost of building is so high, that the rents required to make a return on the outlay would be prohibitive. With one side of the street gone, residential property would depreciate at least a third if not more.

Just what is the best system to instal it is not for this paper to say, but if they intended to spend only a limited sum, for fire protection only, without the advantages of domestic service, then a pipe along Main Street and Amaranth Street with extensions up Crozier and Bielby Streets ought to about cover the field. This could be operated with a pump at the river, with direct pressure or by a stand pipe on the top of the hill.

A system which, besides giving good fire protection, would also provide drinking water in the houses is very attractive and would be a revenue producer, but might cost a little more. There would also be a very material decrease in the matter of insurance rates, sufficient in fact, to largely meet the fixed charges on the debentures. But, whatever the protection is to be, let it be commenced before another $20,000 blaze eats a piece of our town.—Grand Valley Star & Vidette.

WIFE DESERTION RIFE IN TORONTO.

Deputation Asked for Amendments to Law.

Hon. J. J. Foy Expressed the Opinion That the Law Should be Wider Than it Is.

Representatives of most of the charitable organizations in the city interviewed the Hon. J. J. Foy last week to ask for several changes in the law regarding wife desertion. Those who composed the deputation were:—Rev. J. A. Turnbull, Rev. Father Minehan, Rev. A. B. Chambers, Rev. S. W. Dean, Rabbi Jacobs, Mrs. R. L. Brereton and Mrs. S. Arnold, representing the Associated Charities. Mrs. Forsyth Grant and Mrs. J. Hunter Brown, representing the Toronto Relief Society; Lady Moss and Miss Barnum, representing the Creche; Miss Charity Cook, representing the Toronto Mission Union; Mr. Wm. Duncan, the Children's Aid Society; Mr. P. Hynes and Mr. D. Miller, the St. Vincent de Paul Society; and Staff Inspector Kennedy, of the Morality Department.

"As wife desertion is an indictable offence, for which a man can be prosecuted, the chief difficulty in carrying out the law being that no funds are provided for the purpose of bringing the man back to the city, it was suggested that the Ontario Government be requested to furnish funds to bring the man back from any part of Canada.

"That such prisoners convicted of this crime, and sentenced to a term of imprisonment, be supplied with remunerative labor so that part of the same might go towards the support of their wives and families. (To provide remunerative work for prisoners would be a good method.)

"That culpable failure on the part of a husband to maintain his wife and family, whether they suffer or not, should be a punishable offence, and that the wife should not be the one to prosecute.

"When a wife or family has to appeal for aid to a charity organization or institution, that such organization or institution be the parties to bring this to the notice of the authorities so that some legal action might be taken.

"This committee, having heard of the splendid work done by the Morality Department of the Police Force of Toronto for the past 25 years, do mostly heartily approve of their methods of dealing with cases of wife desertion, non-support of families and other family troubles reported to them, and suggest that all cities in the Dominion would do well to establish such departments in connection with their police forces."

Rev. Mr. Turnbull introduced the visitors and the Rev. Father Minehan presented their case. He said there was no meaner or more detestable crime than wife-desertion, and that some steps should be taken to stop it. One of the great drawbacks of the present police system was that the department did not have sufficient money to follow up the cases. He said there was far too much "sponging on the community" in cases where children were sent to charitable associations, whose fathers should be compelled to support them. Whether a wife was in want or not, he said, the husband should be compelled to support his children.

Mrs. Grant said the question was becoming more important every Winter. Most of the cases, she said, were of people who were in the country only a short time.

"These are very difficult cases to deal with," said Mr. Foy, "because we are dealing with a peculiar class of men. If we were dealing with ordinary men, we would know what to do."

Miss Barnum said her experience was that in many cases the men did not go away, but stayed around while their wives worked. Something should be done to compel men to work. Miss Cook thought a fund should be provided to bring men back when they left their wives.

Mr. Foy drew attention to the fact that the Ontario legislation dealt only with men who were able to pay and wouldn't.

Father Minehan suggested that the Ontario Government do all it could in the matter and co-operate with the Associated Charities in their efforts to have the Criminal Code amended by the Minister of Justice.

Hon. Mr. Foy expressed the opinion that something should be done to make the law a little wider than it is. "It certainly is very narrow at present," he said. He asked for specific instances of concrete cases where the law was unable to reach the cases. In this way the department would know how to deal with the cases. He said he would make enquiries concerning the laws of other countries.

To learn how to shoot is the all important question with Fishery Inspector John Small. No, he was not proving his markmanship on some pirate fishers, or running the gauntlet of some trespassers. Rather he tried to scare off a dog that had been troubling his chickens, and he succeeded. Picking up his fowling piece he held it at arm's length, and pulled the trigger. Any gun held in this position gives a fairly good jolt, but when the ramrod is left in the barrel, the results are much worse. At any rate, the guard of the gun plowed across John Smith's thumb and he had an enforced holiday.—Grand Valley Star & Vidette.

BOUGHT CHINGUACOUSY FARM.

At Brampton on Saturday Mr. Manson Hall, of Alton, bought lot 7, con. 5, west, Chinguacousy, belonging to the estate of the late Hugh Anthony. The farm, which is about 4 miles from Brampton, has the reputation of being one of the best in Chinguacousy. Mr. Hall is now offering to sell his fine 200 acre farm in Caledon and will move to Chinguacousy, when he makes a sale.

By-Law No. 398

A By-Law to provide for drainage work in the Township of Amaranth, in the County of Dufferin, and for borrowing on the credit of the municipality the sum of $5369.32, of which a certain area of the Township of Melancthon pays $555.88 for completing the same.

Provisionally adopted the 24th day of September, 1910.

WHEREAS the majority in number of the resident and non-resident owners, (exclusive of farmer's sons not actual owners) as shown by the last revised assessment to be completed by drainage work, have petitioned the Council of the said Township of Amaranth praying that the hereinafter described lots, namely,— lot No. 29 con. 5, e ½ 28 con. 5, pt. e ½ 30 con. 5, s e ½ 30 con. 5, w ½ 27 con. 5, e ½ 27 con. 6, w ½ 28 con. 5, e ½ 26 con. 6, w pt. 32, con. 5, s e ½ 31, con. 5, and w ½ 31 con. 5, to be benefitted.

AND WHEREAS, thereupon, the said Council has procured an examination to be made by A. R. Leicester, Engineer, being a person competent for such purpose, of the said area proposed to be drained and the means suggested for the drainage thereof, and of other lands and roads liable to assessment under the Municipal Drainage Act, and has also procured plans, specifications and estimates of the drainage work to be made by the said A. R. Leicester and an assessment to be made by him of the lands and roads to be benefitted by such drainage work and of other lands and roads liable for contribution thereto, stating as nearly as he can the proportion of benefit, outlet liability and injuring liability, which in his opinion will be derived or incurred in consequence of such drainage work by every road and lot or portion of lot, the said assessment so made being the assessment hereinafter by this by-law enacted to be assessed and levied upon the roads and lots, or parts of lots, hereinafter in that behalf specially set forth and described, and the report of the said A. R. Leicester, Engineer, in respect thereof, and of the said drainage work being as follows :—

Dear Sirs,—In accordance with your instructions and acting on petition, signed by David Hicks and others, I have made the necessary survey, etc., to enable me to locate the above drain.

The drain is commenced at the township line between Amaranth and Melanothon and runs in a southerly direction to an outlet on the south line of w ½ lot 22, con. 6, a distance of 31570 feet, all of which is clearly indicated on the general plan provided. I would respectfully call your council's attention to the fact that as this drain and its extension to the Grand River gives an outlet for sixty per cent. of the land in Amaranth Township, and a large area in Melancthon Township, it is very essential, in order to obtain all the benefits from constructing this drain, that the improvements be continued to its outlet into the Grand River.

The plan, profile, specifications, list of depths and widths, schedule of costs and assessment and award of maintenance are herewith respectfully submitted. Yours truly,

A. R. LEICESTER, Engineer.

AND WHEREAS the said Council is of opinion that the drainage of the area described is desirable;

THEREFORE, the said Municipal Council of the said Township of Amaranth, pursuant to the provisions of the Municipal Drainage Act, enacts as follows :—

1. The said report, plans, specifications, assessments and estimates are hereby adopted and the drainage work, as therein indicated and set forth, shall be made and constructed in accordance therewith.

2. The Reeve of the said Township may borrow on the credit of the Corporation of the said Township of Amaranth the sum of $4813.44, being the Municipality's proportion of the funds necessary for the work, and may issue debentures of the corporation to that amount in sums of not less than $50.00 each and payable within fifteen years from the date of the said debentures, with interest at the rate of four per cent. per annum, that is to say, the said debentures shall be payable on the 28th day of December of each of the following years, namely :—1911, 1912, 1913, 1914, 1915, 1916, 1917, 1918, 1919, 1920, 1921, 1922, 1923, 1924, 1925; the said debentures shall be $320.90 each, such debentures shall be payable at the Bank of Hamilton, Toronto, and shall have attached to them coupons for the payment of interest.

3. For paying the sum of three thousand and seventy-six dollars and seventy cents, the amount charged against the said lands and roads for benefit, and the sum of eight hundred and thirty-six dollars and forty-five cents, the amount charged against the said lands and roads for outlet liability, and the sum of seven hundred and twenty-five dollars and twenty-nine cents, the amount charged against said lands and roads for injuring liability, apart from lands and roads belonging to or controlled by the Municipality, and for covering interest thereon for fifteen years at the rate of four per cent. per annum, the following total special rates, over and above all other rates, shall be assessed, levied and collected in the same manner and at the same time as other taxes are levied and collected upon and from the undermentioned lots and parts of lots and roads, and the amount of the said total special rates and interest against each lot or part of lot respectively shall be divided into fifteen equal parts, and one such part shall be assessed, levied and collected as aforesaid in each year for fifteen years, after the final passing of this by-law, during which the said debentures have to run :—

A little son of Walter Reeves, of Egremont, was run over by his father's wagon the other day as Mr. Reeves was opening the gate to let the wagon through. Result, a broken collar bone.

While harvesting peas one day on James McPherson's farm, 10th con. Proton, one of the sons found an Indian pipe bowl carved out of stone. The relic is in a perfect state of preservation and no doubt has a history if it could only be read. It has probably been lost for hundreds of years by some Indian brave. The front of the bowl bears the image of a human face and underneath is an eyelet for a ring to attach to the belt. The carving was no doubt done by flint tools, and is well finished.

HOW MANY REALIZE THE MARVELLOUS VALUE OF FRUIT IN CURING MANY DISEASES?

Wonderful Success of "Fruit-a-tives"
—The Famous Fruit Medicine

Fruit juice consists of about 87% water, 9% of sweet matter, and only 4% of an intensely bitter substance. Chemical experiments show that it is this bitter principle, which is the active or medicinal material of fruit juice.

Under certain conditions, the bitter principle can be made to replace or transform some of the sweet sugars in the juice, thus making a new compound which is much more active medicinally than the ordinary juice.

Many fruits were analyzed and it was found that the juices of apples, oranges, figs and prunes gave the best results. These fruit juices, having been made more active by the secret process of changing the sweet principle into the bitter, are combined with tonics and antiseptics and made into tablets. These tablets are the famous fruit medicine "Fruit-a-tives"—known in every part of Canada for their wonderful curative qualities in diseases of the Stomach, Liver, Bowels, Kidneys and Skin.

"Fruit-a-tives" is the only medicine in the world made of fruit juices. 50c. a box, 6 for $2.50 or trial size, 25c.

Mr. Copeland is a farmer on the Base Line, Blanchard Township, and is a son of John Copeland, St. Mary's. While plowing the other day he dropped his wallet containing $29.50. As he looked over the field plowed with a sulky plow, the possibility of finding that purse seemed worse than that of discovering the proverbial needle in the hay stack. After sitting on the plough handle for three full minutes of hard thinking Mr. Copeland sprang up and unhitched his team. Rehitching them to a single furrow plow he commenced to undo his forenoon's work. He tramped after that plow diligently and finally his reward presented itself in shape of the much looked for pocketbook, padded to the gills with bills.—Exeter Advocate.

IN MEMORIAM.

Lines written in loving memory of Eliza Jane Anderson, beloved wife of Joseph Armstrong, who departed this life September, 1910 :—

Oh, mother, thy gentle voice is hushed
Thy warm, true heart is still,
And on thy pale and peaceful face
Is resting death's cold chill.

Thy hands are clasped upon thy breast,
We have kissed thy lovely brow,
And in our aching hearts we know
We have no mother now.

Peaceful by thy silent slumber,
Peaceful be thy grave so low,
Thou no more wilt join our number,
Thou no more our sorrow know.

Yet we hope again to meet thee,
When the day of life has fled.
And in heaven with joy to greet thee
Where no farewell tears are shed.

A precious one from us has gone,
A voice we loved is still,
A place is vacant in our homes
Which never can be filled.

God in His wisdom has recalled
The boon His love had given,
And though the body moulders here,
Her soul is safe in heaven.

'Tis hard to break the tender cord,
When love has bound the heart;
'Tis hard, so hard, to speak the word
We must forever part.

Dearest mother, we must leave thee,
In the peaceful grave's embrace,
But thy memory will be cherished,
Till we see thy heavenly face.

'Twas hard to leave behind
A husband and loved ones dear,
But when it was her Master's will
She could not linger here.

Backaches and tired feelings tell of weak kidney action—Prompt relief by using DR. A. W. CHASE'S KIDNEY AND LIVER PILLS

There is no treatment for kidney disease which will afford you relief as quickly as Dr. A. W. Chase's Kidney and Liver Pills, and none which will so certainly cure the most complicated forms of this disease.

Mr. S. J. Argue, Kars, Carleton, Co., Ont., writes:—"I have suffered a great deal with kidney troubles and pains in the small of the back and have tried a good many remedies without obtaining very much benefit. BIBLE SOCIETY MEETING.

The annual meeting of the Orangeville Branch of the British and Foreign Bible Society was held in the basement of the Methodist Church on Monday evening last. The chief feature of the meeting was an illustrated lecture on the work of the Society. Pictures were shown of the colporteurs at work in almost every part of the world and it must have been a revelation to many to find that the greatest missionary society in the world is the British and Foreign Bible Society. It is also an auxiliary quite indispensable to the various churches in their missionary work. The lecturer, Mr. H. Colclough, B.A., of Toronto, proved a fluent and entertaining speaker, who secured and held the undivided attention of his audience. There was a good attendance at the meeting and the following officers were elected:—

—Geo. Torrance, a Caledon farmer, is going about with a bandaged head this week, as the result of an accident which occurred while he was letting some cattle out of the stable. The animals made a rush for the door, which was of the sliding variety, and in the crush broke the door and knocked it over on top of Mr. Torrance.

—Nice selection of new, up-to-date Dress Goods at popular prices at Ritchie's.

Mr. N. Collins arrived home last week after a delightful two months' pleasure trip to Great Britain. Mr. Collins reports a most interesting trip and returns greatly benefitted in health by his long vacation. He brought home with him a pair of shoes, such as are generally worn by the laboring classes in the old country. The shoe has a wooden sole about an inch thick with a strong leather upper, that is fastened to the sole with short heavy nails. The sole is shod on the under side with a shoe of iron over a quarter of an inch in thickness and the heel is similarly protected. The shoe is not much heavier than the heavy working shoes sold in Canada, but feels clumsy when first worn and is very noisy when walking on wooden or cement pavement.

A RUNAWAY.

A team belonging to Councillor T. J. Parks, of Mono, caused considerable excitement on Broadway and First St. between five and six o'clock yesterday afternoon. A young man in Mr. Parks' employ had driven to town with a grist. While standing at the mill the team took fright and in a couple of minutes were dashing up Broadway at breakneck speed. They tried to make the turn at the First St. corner and swung around on the sidewalk in front of M. Robinson's grocery. The horses kept their feet, but were brought to a sudden halt by an electric light pole at the edge of the walk. The waggon collided with the pole with such force that it broke the neckyoke and pulled the greater part of the harness off the horses. One of them fell and was caught by Wm. Prior, who happened to be close at hand. The other continued in its mad career and speedily disappeared over the 3rd Avenue hill. The waggon did not seem much damaged, but the harness was badly broken.

—Full length Jackets at $7.85, $9.50, $10.00 and $12.50 at Ritchie's. Come in and see them.

Morning and afternoon meetings were held on both days. The programmes were quite interesting and furnished much information regarding the great work in which the Society has taken such an important part. There was a good attendance, including a number of delegates from the local branches throughout the two counties. HOSTLER GOT SMASHED.

Joe. Grasley, who was released from Kingston penitentiary about three weeks or a month ago on parole, came to Orangeville Saturday afternoon, and along with several other visitors and a few locals got filled up with bad whiskey. Between ten and eleven o'clock at night Grasley and John Donegan, an hostler at the Queen's hotel, got into an altercation in the Grand Central hotel yard. In the melee which followed, Donegan, who is said to have been too drunk to take care of himself, was knocked down and kicked about the head and body. His face and head were badly cut and bruised. Chief Ewing, who happened along in time to save the unfortunate man from still worse punishment, lodged an information against Grasley and the Magistrate has issued a warrant for his arrest. Grasley, who was sentenced to a two years term in penitentiary for stealing a watch, had served about fourteen months of his term when he was released. He is what is known as a "ticket of leave" man, which means that the commutation of his term was conditional upon good behaviour. He is obliged to report to the prison authorities once a month and is liable to be arrested again and returned to Kingston for any breach of the peace, habitual idleness or association with undesirables. If he is guilty of the serious offence with which he is now charged and receives his deserts, he will probably be sent back to Kingston for another term.

CITIZENS GET TAX SLIPS.

Taxes this year are payable at the Sterling Bank up to November 15th. A discount of two per cent. will be allowed on all taxes paid on or before October 17th, and two per cent. will be added to all taxes not paid on or before December 12th.

CHARITY SOCIETY FOOD SALE.

The Charity Society Food Sale and Art Exhibition on Saturday was well patronized notwithstanding the rainy, disagreeable day. The total proceeds amounted to $34.80 and $15 of this has been placed to the credit of the Town Hall Fund, which now amounts to $115. The Art Exhibition was interesting and decidedly original, the exhibits in many instances speaking well for the ingenuity of the exhibitors and the young ladies of the Charity Society.

DID A LITTLE JIG ON TOWER WALL.

Dancing a jolly jig on the wall of the Toronto City Hall tower, 290 feet from the ground, was about the crowning feat of William Mackie, a man 55 years of age, who was arrested last week after distinguishing himself in numerous ways at as many places. Mackie's pedal extremeties displayed considerable ability, but his attic was apparently empty.

His City Hall special may have been even more sensational but for the presence of mind of a tower employee who succeeded in getting him off the wall from the inside by using quiet methods.

"Touch me not," the crazy man howled dramatically as the guard approached, but some coaxing got him where he could be handled with care and evicted from the building.

He was bound to dance anywhere and created considerable amusement until he was picked up in the evening by Policeman Smith (130) on Simcoe street. He was doing a semi-Salome down the street near the freight sheds.

"You are persecuting me," he said to Smith. "If you would leave me alone I will get a pair of wings and fly away."

But Smith did not want aviation stunts. He wanted to look after Mackie and he took him to Wilton avenue station.

"You are taking awful chances," he said to Inspector Gregory when he arrived there. "I am Mackie the wonder, and I will blow down your building. Is that what you want."

The Inspector did not want that. He wanted Mackie. He kept him and the building still stood.

Mackie did not look nearly so crazy as he was given credit of being when he appeared in the Police Court next morning. When remanded for a week for the doctors to examine him he wanted to argue he was sane, but the Magistrate wanted expert opinion and he went down.

WM. BELL DEAD.

The Creemore Star gives the following account of the recent death of Billy Bell, of Banda, who was well known to many Banner readers :—

Many were the expressions of regret heard when it was announced that Wm. Bell, Banda, had passed away on Sunday last, after a protracted illness of more or less severity. Mr. Bell occupied a place peculiarly his own in the community, and will long be remembered by the large number of friends who had the pleasure of enjoying his friendship. He was a sufferer for years with an internal trouble which medicine only partially relieved. Last spring he went to Toronto and had an operation performed and it was then seen that his remaining days were limited. He was of a buoyant nature however and fought the fight to the end.

Mr. Bell was born in Aughnacloy, Ireland, in 1842, and in 1847 came to this country with his parents, who lived for a couple of years in Cookstown before settling on lot 25, con. 4, Essa, now occupied by his son, W. J., the well known poultry breeder. Mr. Bell lived in Essa until 1881, when he moved to Mulmur, just south of Banda, where he has since resided. He always took an active interest in public matters and was a member of the Essa township council for several years, also vice-president of the Conservative Association. In his younger days he was an enthusiastic Orangeman, which society he joined when about 18 years of age, and was at one time deputy master of Innisfil district. He was married in 1864 to Miss Matilda Willoughby, of Tecumseth, who, with their three children, Mrs. J. A. Coleman, Banda; W. J., of Essa, and Mrs. Abbott, of Mission City, B.C., survive him. The funeral took place to the union cemetery, here, on Tuesday afternoon, Rev. A. C. Miles conducting the services.

Mr. W. A. Hamilton, of Brampton, sold his farm at Sandhill last week to Mr. Jas. McKee for $6000 cash.

A GREY PIONEER.

Death of John Anderson, of Dundalk.

On Saturday, Sept. 17th, one of the pioneers of this portion of Grey county, in the person of Mr. John Anderson, passed away at his home in this village at the ripe old age of 81 years. The deceased had been in failing health for some length of time, gradually losing his vitality till the angel of death finally called his soul to the spirit world. Like the hardy pioneers he was a man of splendid constitution and he bore the hardships to which the early settlers were subject, with that courage which meets with success. He was born in the Parish of Achindore, Aberdeenshire, Scotland, and with other members of the family emigrated to Canada, settling first at Hamilton in October 1854. Three years later he moved to Proton and entered upon the arduous duties of clearing a farm on the 10th con., near the present Ventry post office. In 1886 he decided to retire from farming and moved to Dundalk, entering into the grain business in partnership for a time with Mr. S. Bell. In business he was regarded as a man of high moral worth and integrity. He was one of the first members of Knox Presbyterian church at Ventry, and on moving to Dundalk, has been associated ever since with Erskine Church where he has been a regular communicant as long as he was able to attend the services.

The funeral on Tuesday afternoon was largely attended by friends and neighbors who paid the last sad tribute of respect to one who was highly esteemed in the community. In the absence of the pastor of Erskine Church, Rev. J. A. Matheson, of Priceville, conducted the funeral ceremony. A number of beautiful floral offerings covered the casket. The pallbearers were Messrs. S. Bell, John Sinclair, Roderick Munro, Walter Bell, John Egan and John Madill.

Among the friends from a distance were Robt. Anderson, Grand Forks, N.D.; Mr. and Mrs. Calder, Mount Forest; Mr. and Mrs. McArthur and daughter, Egremont; Wm. Henry, Mono; Mr. Tough, Grand Valley; Chas. Anderson and Annie Anderson, Orangeville; Alex. J. Roy, Duncan M. Roy and Ed. C. Roy, Toronto.—Dundalk Herald.

Badly Hurt In Thresher

Blood poison set in—Great suffering—Cure effected by DR. A. W. CHASE'S OINTMENT

Mrs. C. Hopkins, St. George, Ont., writes:—"I feel like shouting the praises of Dr. Chase's Ointment. While threshing grain, my son got badly hurt. One of the men who was pitching sheaves, missed the sheaf and ran the prongs of the fork into my son's leg. He did not take much notice of it and in a day or two it got sore and very itchy and blood poison set in. We did everything for it but it would heal one place and break out at another and kept on this way for three months.

"Finally I thought of Dr. Chase's Ointment and in a week's time we noticed a wonderful change. By the use of three boxes he was completely cured and the wounds healed up. There has not been a sign of a spot on him since."

Wherever there is itching or irritation of the skin or a sore that refuses to heal you can apply Dr. Chase's Ointment with every assurance that the results will be prompt and satisfactory. 60 cents a box, at all dealers, or Edmanson, Bates & Co., Toronto. Write for free copy Dr. Chase's Recipes.

HOURS OF LABOR CUT FOR 600 EMPLOYEES.

McCormick Mfg. Co. Make a Popular Move—No Reduction in Wages.

London Advertiser, June 13th, 1910.

"Hereafter, the girls will commence work at 7.30 a.m., and quit at 5.30 p.m., making a nine-hour day, in place of ten, as it has been all along. The men will commence at 7 a.m., and quit at 5.30, in place of 6 o'clock."

Perhaps the most pleasant feature of the announcement was that although there will be a reduction in hours, there will be no reduction in pay. This will mean from 5 to 10 per cent. increase in wages, and will amount to a very large sum to the firm annually.

An Advertiser representative called on Mr. T. P. McCormick, Vice-President of the company, this morning, who confirmed the above, and said that the reason the firm made this move was that after a close study of conditions they felt that they would get more efficient service from their employees, and that a reduction in hours would be mutually profitable to all.

Long gloves are leaping into a new popularity.

Solid greens are promised a decided popularity.

Coiffures are going back to the Greek fashion.

Colors generally are less vivid, and black is to be much worn.

Hair ribbons for girls are narrower, and the bows less conspicuous.

Everything that is not black or somber now seems to be striped.

Tunics are quite long and are edged with heavy fringe or silk of beads.

Handbags are often made to match the gowns with which they are carried.

Veils as well as scarves and shawls of black Chantilly lace are very smart.

Filet and square mesh veils are beloved by the Paris woman of fashion.

Every new gown with the high waist line has a sash or girdle of some sort.

It will be a brown winter in men's attire—with a general liking for soft hats.

Very wide velvet ribbons have a vogue for hat trimmings, scarves and sashes.

Facings of bright satin, silk or velvet are popular on white or black dresses in Paris.

Already it is evident that hats and skirts of this season are to be far less eccentric than last.

Overwaists and regular waists for fall are mainly of the peasant or body-and-sleeve-in-one type.

The uncurled ostrich plume is a new-comer in fashion, with already considerable popularity.

Bryon and Dutch collars both continue in favor. Jabots are especially popular in the lacy varieties.

In hosiery the tendency is to very sheer plain styles with a moderate indulgence in lace or openwork hose.

Tosca net, black plaided with threads in Scotch colors and designs will be much used in dressy waists.

Tonic or Stimulant?

There is an immense difference between a tonic and a stimulant. Up one day, way back the next; that's a stimulant. Steady progress day by day toward perfect health; that's a tonic. Ayer's Sarsaparilla is a tonic, a strong tonic. The only Sarsaparilla entirely free from alcohol. Do not stimulate unless your doctor says so. He knows. Ask him. Do as he says. J.C. Ayer Co., Lowell, Mass.

Constipation is the one great cause of sick-headache, biliousness, indigestion, bad breath, debility, nervousness. Has your doctor ever recommended Ayer's Pills to you?

One day recently, a two-year-old colt belonging to Mr. C. E. McMillan, lot 22, con. 9, Erin, accidentally fell into a well, on the farm, going down hind part first. An attempt was made to attach a rope to it so as to pull it up and Mr. McMillan's son was lowered down for that purpose. However, before he could get the rope fixed he signalled to be brought up at once, being nearly suffocated with foul air in the well and was only got out in time, as he was in a collapsed condition by the time he was brought to the surface. The colt could also be heard gasping for breath and died in a few minutes before it could be extricated.

Prof. Lochead, formerly of the Ontario Agricultural College, now of Ste. Anne de Bellvue, is authority for the following figures showing that Dundalk is situated on the top peak of the earth. Toronto Union Station is eight feet above Lake Ontario; Orangeville 1151 feet; Dundalk, summit, 1462 feet. Then north of this point there is a very marked descent. Proton Station falls to 1366 feet; Flesherton 1310; Markdale 1112; Owen Sound 339, at the depot. To get at the heights of these places above the ocean level 247 feet has to be added to the height above Lake Ontario. Owen Sound is therefore 586 feet above the ocean, and Dundalk summit, the highest point on the division, is no less than 1710 feet above.

TEACHERS IN SESSION

Dufferin Institute Holds Its Annual Convention in Grand Valley.

"The schoolmaster is abroad, and I trust to him, armed with his primer, against the soldier in full military array, for upholding and extending the liberties of the country."

The annual Convention of the Dufferin Teachers' Association was held last week in Grand Valley. The day meetings on Thursday and Friday were convened in the public school, which had been decorated by the pupils, with bunting, flags and maple leaves. The meeting on Thursday night was in Chatfield Hall, where there was presented a good programme of which the chief part was a lecture given by Mr. Moshier, of the Toronto Normal School, on School Inspection. About eighty teachers attended the Convention.

The first session opened Thursday morning with devotional exercises conducted by Rev. Dr. Smith. Then came an extremely interesting address on Annuities, given by Mr. Cameron, of Lucknow; this system is quite unlike the provision made by the British government for those who need financial help in old age. The government pays the entire cost of management; four per cent. compound interest is paid on every dollar put in; the money cannot be withdrawn, seized for debt or used in any other way; at fifty-five years of age, or later, the annuity begins and continues till death.—a safe, convenient and simple way of providing for old age.

Mr. Cameron emphasized the wonderful power of money to grow and the necessity of teaching our boys and girls of to-day to make provision for old age.

The first lecture of the afternoon was given by Miss Powell, also of the Toronto Normal School; her subject was "How, When and why to Teach Art." Some years ago English teachers began to realize that the results achieved in their art classes were far less satisfactory than the work done in American schools. To study our methods, teachers came across the ocean both to Canadian schools and to those of the United States. They found that these objects were always kept in view: to teach the pupils to find beauty in ordinary objects; to make them desire more exquisite — not more brilliant—things; to develop character by teaching them truth, faithfulness in producing what they see; to give refinement, appreciation of the beautiful. Art work so taught should give the pupil greater power to express himself, and develop his skill of hand, his visual memory, his accuracy of observation. Miss Powell's two lectures on Friday on Color and Design were eminently practical, not only very interesting but also very helpful.

Of the three addresses given by Mr. Moshier, the first was devoted to primary work. "Never give up Phonics" he said. In a first lesson, to a class just from the kindergarten, it is quite possible to teach words such as these five—bun, fun, gun, run, sun,—and the common 'un' sound. "The old phonic synthesis, that is teaching individual sounds first, starts with the unknown, and proceeds to—the unknown." "In the number work, draw the child out, teach him to observe, to compare what he learns at school with his home life; above all, don't save all your best efforts for the inspector's visit. Never lose the high ideals you acquired in the training school."

On Friday, Mr. Moshier gave two lectures on the teaching of literature, in a very practical way. Taking all the teachers for his class, he taught them three selections from the public school readers, at the same time showing the preparation for the lesson which the teacher must make.

"Renewing our Ideals" was the subject of the first talk given by Mr. Scott, Principal of the Toronto Normal School. Our ideals are like the horizon, we never reach them; they continually move ahead as we make progress. Three points teachers should always remember are these; that school exists for the pupil, not for the teacher and trustees; that the teacher is to aid the pupil in working out his destiny; and that, to do this, there must be unity, harmony, oneness of purpose between teacher and pupil. You must first think, resolve, act as you wish your pupils to do. The purpose of education is, in the words of Spencer, "to prepare for complete living," to make a useful citizen, to teach self-control. The right kind of teacher and the right kind of parental control lay the strongest foundations for this self-control. The successful teacher must be confident, sympathetic, vigilant, just and kind.

In speaking of the elements of a good school, Mr. Scott reminded his hearers of the purpose of a school, to build character; to be a thought-shop as well as a work-shop; to teach truth and confidence. To keep his men from being lured to their doom by the music of the Sirens, Ulysses filled their ears with wax; in the same way, repression may keep a boy in the right path. A better way is to rely on the expulsive power of good,—give him the right things to do and think about and there is then no need for repression. Nature Study or Nature Acquaintance gives children sympathy with their environment, makes them careful and observant.

At the Thursday night session a thoroughly enjoyable programme was given; on all sides one heard appreciative remarks from the visiting teachers. The feature of the evening was an address by Mr. Moshier, on School Inspection; as an ex-inspector, Mr. Moshier knew his subject well, and how to make it appeal to his audience. The duties of inspector are many. He must help to lift the community to a higher point of view, to broaden their horizon. Some say that he has a soft snap; or that he is a critic, a grader of teachers. In reality he is the teacher's ally; he must help, suggest improvements, spread knowledge of the laws of sanitation. Another function is to encourage the boy who is to be the ambitious man of the future. He should endeavor to make the public feel its obligation to the teacher, to see the missionary sacrifices that are being constantly made in the effort to elevate young manhood and womanhood. Some hopeful signs may be noticed; the intelligence of the general public is increasing; the spirit of inquiry, the thirst for knowledge, developed by schools, is invading every department of life.

Pres., Mr. Lindsay, Grand Valley.
Vice-Pres., Miss Tate, Grand Valley
Sec., Mr. A. Firth, Orangeville.
Treas., Mr. N. Gordon, Orangeville.
Auditors, Miss Shain and Miss McGill, Orangeville.
Board of Managers, Teachers of Orangeville Public School.

With such an able Executive in charge, the Dufferin teachers may look forward to a very successful meeting in 1911. Mr. Lindsay is to be congratulated sincerely in obtaining the coveted office of President

The Convention was closed Friday afternoon by a short address from Mr. Steele, of the Orangeville High School, followed by a very hearty singing of the National Anthem.

DUFFERIN MUTUAL DIRECTORS MEET.

The Directors of the Dufferin Farmers' Mutual Fire Insurance Company held their regular monthly meeting in Grand Valley on Saturday A heavy grist of business was transacted in the usual expeditious manner. Heretofore the Directors have always held their meetings in Shelburne, but decided to go to Grand Valley this time to suit the convenience of the farmers in the south-western part of the county. A meeting will probably be held in Orangeville in the near future for the convenience of the farmers in the south-east of the county. It might in fact be well for the Directors to consider the advisability of holding alternate meetings in Orangeville, Shelburne and Grand Valley. One of the Directors has asked The Banner to state that he saw no drinking by members of the Board or farmers having business with the Company on Saturday afternoon. One of the Shelburne papers, in alluding to the Grand Valley meeting a few weeks ago, apparently sought to convey the impression that the Directors were going to Grand Valley because it was a license village. This is the reason we are asked to make the above statement.

DAWSON—DAWSON.

The appeal of the plaintiff, Mary Ann Dawson, from the judgment of Mr. Justice Magee in the suit of Dawson vs. Dawson, tried at the Orangeville Assizes in October 1907, was argued before Chief Justice Meredith, Justice Teetzel and Justice Clute in the Divisional Court last week. The suit, our readers will remember, was brought to recover $525 and interest alleged to be due the plaintiff by her brother, Thomas Dawson, under an agreement between the latter and the plaintiff's father, who conveyed his farm to the defendant, with the provision that the latter would pay the plaintiff an annuity of $87.50. Judge Magee reserved judgment until June 4th, 1910, nearly three years, when he dismissed the suit without costs, and without prejudice to any other action which the plaintiff may bring against the defendant or the executors of the will of Thomas Dawson, the elder. The appeal was to have the judgment set aside and the plaintiff's claim allowed. Judgment was reserved. Mr. W. D. Henry, who has since moved to Elk Lake, acted for the plaintiff at the original trial of the action. Mr. W. J. L. McKay represented her before the Divisional C[illegible] Mr. [illegible] R. POWER COMPANY'S DAM.

Huge Undertaking in Progress at Horning's Mills.

Interesting Description of Pete Edwards' Camp.

Pete Edwards' Camp,
Horning's Mills, Oct. 1st, 1910.

Editor of The Banner:

Dear Sir,—It is "lovely weather" and the autumn foliage in the woods surrounding the site of the Dufferin Light and Power Company's big dam is also lovely, verging on the gorgeous, and those of your subscribers who are acquainted only with railway building, and the operation of cement plants, should take a run up here during these beautiful brown October days and see for themselves the work that is under way at the head of the Prince of Wales Road, in the township of Mulmur. The vastness of the undertaking which, in their effort to supply the country for thirty miles around with an adequate and unfailing supply of light and power, it is the settled determination of the Dufferin Light & Power Co. to push through to a successful conclusion, must be seen to be appreciated. The rapid changes in the topographical appearance of this neck in the woods, which are daily being made, would be a revelation to most of your readers, and would well repay a trip of many miles. A regiment of stalwart workmen, a squadron of heavy draught horses and a battery of earth shifting machinery, all under the personal supervision of Mr. Pete Edwards, are moving with clock-like precision and smoothness from early morn till frosty eve, whether the weather be lovely or not, and with every round, tons of earth and rock are being torn from the hillsides and deposited in the river bottom, soon to be blocked by a huge embankment nearly sixty feet in height and five hundred feet in length. System here marks every movement of men, horses and machinery, and it is system that counts. All visitors, who are interested in big engineering propositions, will be handsomely entertained in Camp No. 1, the gentlemen by Mr. Edwards, the ladies by Mr. Thos. Huxtable, or vice versa.

The scenery hereabouts is characteristic of the township of Mulmur, a township, by the way, which has grown such products as Mr. John Best, M.P. To the north there are hills, to the west there are hills, to the south there are more hills, and to the immediate east there are some that might be classed as mountains. Naturally, between these lie ravines, dales and valleys, and it is one of these latter, which the power people are now blockading with a view to future profit for themselves and thousands of others. But it is not with the commercial aspect of the proposition this letter proposes to deal.

Following a passable road through a winding valley for some three miles east from the verdant village of Horning's Mills, the tourist suddenly arrives upon a scene of hustling and bustling activity. Here upon a hillside is a toiling army with modern weapons of destruction, or of improvement, fairly ripping mother earth to ribbons, while far down in the valley is another brigade piling boulder upon boulder, and tons upon tons of clay, all gliding along with the regularity of railway traffic, but with the noise and clatter of a dozen rolling mills. (Pete's great hobby is system and still more system.) The scene startles the traveller out of his day dream of rural quietness and pastoral peace, and he suddenly realizes that he is in the presence of big things and that this is the 20th century. And well may he wake up, for the work going on here is the construction of a power dam which in height, length, strength and capacity is not equalled in Old Ontario. The finished structure will be 200 feet at the base, 16 feet at the summit, 56 feet high and 450 feet long. From these figures some idea of the hugeness of the work in hand here may be formed, but the directors of the company, the men employed, and all concerned, have confidence in Peter Edwards, the master mechanic, and believe that he is "The man for Galway," and that the work will be completed in due time and that it will last for all time. Hours could be spent in examining the location and in "absorbing" the promoters' plans, but the visitor will not be long upon the ground until he is invited to drop in to the "Dew Drop Inn," the temporary home of the employees and to take a look at the stables, where are comfortably housed some thousand dollars' worth of Clydesdales, Percheron and Belgian horseflesh, for this work calls for the best in both man and beast.

And now, if the mind of the tourist has been at all biased by newspaper or other reports of rough life in logging camps, he is in for the surprise of his life. Instead of the proverbial rough-hewn log shanty of the backwoods, he finds, perched high upon a lofty eminence, surrounded by beech, birch and maple, clothed in crimson, orange and green attire, a commodious, comfortable and modern frame house, from one to three bunks high, with conveniences sometimes not found in town abodes, and under the roof of which are business offices, dining-room, store-room, kitchen, and sleeping accommodation for 125 men. Twenty feet from the kitchen door there gushes forth a natural fountain of sparkling spring water, which has been piped for the cook's convenience. Across the lawn and within easy distance, are two comfortable cabins for the convenience of the cattle, and storerooms for feed, which is bought by the carload. The sanitary arrangements all about the establishment are complete in every detail, the health of man and beast being another of Pete's hobbies. In a construction camp of this size there are three men who are paramount,—the foreman, the pay boss and the cook, and when all is said and done, the cook is chief. One has only to partake of a meal to realize that Camp No. 1 has secured a No. 1 cook in Mr. W. J. Williamson. He is an artist in bread, cake and pie baking, and in the making of puddings and sauces, and when he turns out a roast of beef or pork, a few turkies or geese, they are done to a turn. In the matter of frying sirloin steak, fresh eggs, chickens or lake trout, he has no superior within fifty miles. The boys say he fall from a Christmas tree. Needless to say, supplies are abundant and quality the best (Pete wouldn't stand for anything else). Good wages and good food have naturally attracted good workmen, and that this is so is evidenced by the good fellowship which prevails among them while off duty and the willingness with which they hustle when at work. We have men here from England, Ireland and Scotland, from Australia and from Canada. The language spoken as pure English, Irish and Scotch, the songs, of which there are many, are patriotic, and the instrumental music lively, sentimental or semi-religious, as requested. It is a happy family.

As before said, the construction of the Dufferin Light and Power Company dam is a huge undertaking, but it will be pushed through to a successful issue as rapidly as capital and labor can do it. O. L. A.

WOMAN'S HEALTH WHEN FORTY-FIVE

A Critical Period When Dr. Williams' Pink Pills are a Real Blessing.

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills are absolutely the finest medicine that ever a woman took. At special periods a woman needs a medicine to regulate her blood supply or her life will be a round of pain and suffering. It is at such times that Dr. Williams' Pink Pills are worth their weight in gold, for they make new, rich blood, that banishes the secret symptoms of distress that only women and growing girls know. They strengthen every vital organ for its special task, and bring rosy cheeks and shapely forms that tell of womanly health and happiness. Mrs. Richard Lobb, Red Deer, Alta., says: "At that critical period in my life known as the change I suffered so much that I hardly hoped to pull through. I doctored for months, but did not get any relief, and I grew so weak that I could hardly walk about, and it was impossible for me to do my housework. Only women who have suffered similarly can tell how much I endured—the constant misery, the dragged out feeling and the terrible backaches that beset me. No woman could have been in a more wretched condition than I was at this time, and it was then that my attention was directed to Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. I got a half dozen boxes and before they were all gone there was a good improvement in my condition. Then I got six more boxes and before I had used them all I felt like a new woman and was enjoying better health than I had done for years. Not only have Dr. Williams' Pink Pills proved a blessing to me, but they also worked a great change in the case of my daughter, who was in a very miserable condition after childbirth. I know also of two young girls whom I believe would have been in their graves now but for the use of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. Considering what they have done for me and what I have seen them do for others, I am justified in my enthusiasm for this medicine and I never lose an opportunity to recommend it."

Sold by all medicine dealers or by mail at 50 cents a box or six boxes for $2.50 from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

NIAGARA POWER.

Opening Ceremonies at Berlin on October 11th.

Niagara Power is at the doors of the municipalities of Western Ontario, a ready servant. Its energies will be turning the wheels of industry, lighting the marts of commerce and illuminating the homes of a score and more of towns and cities within the electric zone before the snow flies.

The Hydro-Electric Commission, a state board appointed by the Province of Ontario, with splendid foresight, indomitable courage and in face of strenuous opposition, has woven a web of transmission lines from Niagara Falls to Toronto on the East and Windsor on the West, and Berlin on the North at the behest of a group of 35 municipalities.

It was a vast work, undertaken by the people of a state. A unique piece of public ownership, which ensures to Ontario for all time to come — cheap power, cheap light and cheap heat.

This power line carries the highest voltage of any line in existence, namely, 110,000 volts, and its workings will be an object of interest to electrical engineers over the entire continent.

The official opening of this great public service is to be held at Berlin, Canada, on Oct. 11th, next, and will be made the occasion of a three day demonstration. The Ontario Cabinet, the Hydro-Electric Commission, the members of the Provincial Legislature, the mayors and editors of Canadian and American cities will attend.

Berlin was selected as the point at which this demonstration should be held because the movement to obtain Niagara power for the union of municipalities was launched there and it was the first municipality ready to receive it.

Berlin owns all its public utilities: Water, gas, electric light and power and street railway systems. It has over 70 manufacturing plants and is one of the busiest industrial centres in Canada.

Extensive preparations are being made for entertainment of their guests. In addition to the speech-making, when the switch is pushed in, there will be a grand street illumination, an exhibition of electrical machinery and appliances and an official banquet. It will be a brave day for Berlin, for Ontario, and for public ownership.

REGISTRAR BUYS A FARM.

Mr. D. J. Hunter, Registrar of Deeds for the County of Dufferin, has bought Mr. T. J. Cook's fine 160 acre property on West Broadway. The price paid for the place is in the neighborhood of $10,500. Mr. Hunter gets immediate possession of the fine brick dwelling house which Mr. Cook built this year and will move in at once. The house and other farm buildings are only a few rods west of the railway crossing and Mr. Hunter will therefore be able to live on the farm and still give his attention to his official duties. We understand the new proprietor intends turning the property into a stock farm and will devote himself to the breeding of Herefords and other pure-bred stock. Mr. Cook is talking of going to the West, but will move into town for the present.

THE OUTER CIRCLE.

WHOLE FAMILY WAS AFFLICTED.

But Dodd's Kidney Pills Restored All To Perfect Health.

Father, Mother and Daughter After Years of Suffering are made Healthy and Happy by Great Canadian Kidney Remedy.

St. Leon Standon, Dorchester Co., Que., Oct. 3 (Special).—That Dodd's Kidney Pills have no equal as a family medicine is proved conclusively by the statement of Mr. George Lacasse, a well-known resident of this place. His statement given for publication is :

"For twelve years I had pains in the small of my back. My head would ache and my muscles would cramp. Dodd's Kidney Pills cured me.

"My wife was troubled with Kidney Disease. Dodd's Kidney Pills cured her.

"My little girl had nervous trouble. She was so bad that she could not keep her hands and feet quiet. Dodd's Kidney Pills cured her."

Is it any wonder that Mr. Lacasse is shouting the praises of Dodd's Kidney Pills. He has learned through experience as have thousands of other Canadians that Dodd's Kidney Pills cure Kidney Disease no matter where it appears, or in what form it is found. Dodd's Kidney Pills should always find a place in the family medicine chest.

AUXILIARY AT HOME.

The "At Home" given by the Women's Auxiliary of St. Mark's church at the fine residence of Mrs. J. H. Anderson, Zina St., on Wednesday night of last week was a gratifying success. The attendance was large and an excellent programme was provided. Misses Jean McDonald, Bessie Lewis, Beatrice Harshaw, Nettie Darraugh, Lillie Robinson and Jennie Irwin and Messrs. J. M. Adams, S. R. Frost and A. E. Warren contributed solos. Miss Clara Hulse gave a violin solo, Misses L. Hulse and Lottie McMaster, the Misses Shaw, Mrs. (Dr.) Bowles and Mrs. J. Z. Henry, and Misses Edith Anderson and Birdie Leighton, piano duets. Dainty refreshments were served during the evening, Mesdames Preston and Hogg pouring tea. Mrs. Anderson and Mrs. J. H. Wylie who assisted, made gracious hostesses. The rooms were prettily decorated with green peas supplied from Mrs. Wylie's garden, and the verandahs and lawn were illuminated with Chinese lanterns. The proceeds were about $25.

GRASLEY ACQUITTED.

Joe. Grasley, who was charged with assaulting and doing grievous bodily harm to John Donegan, an hostler at the Queen's hotel stables, a week ago Saturday night, was tried by Police Magistrate Pattullo on Tuesday. The trial resulted in an acquittal, there being little or no evidence to connect the accused with the offence. Herman Jones and W. Sanderson both saw Grasley standing in the alley leading to the Grand Central hotel yards, but neither of them saw him quarrelling with anybody. Donegan, himself, had a very hazy recollection of events on the night in question. He admitted that he had been very drunk and thought he got his injuries from falling on the stable floor at the Queen's. The liquor, he said, had come from Grand Valley. W. J. L. McKay prosecuted and W. N. Irwin defended Grasley.

We notice the death of Mr. John Stephenson, of Orangeville, who is said to have been the oldest man in Dufferin, and we have been thinking that the title will now fall on Mr. John Dean, formerly of Whitfield, but who now lives near Mulmur Lake. The old gentleman, who was 94 last July, has fairly good health, and though his eyesight is a little dim his memory of things that took place a half century ago is wonderful. We have another old gentleman, who is a few months younger than Mr. Dean, in the person of Mr. Joseph Robson, who lives with his son-in-law at Redickville. He was in the village a month or two ago and he was as gay as a colt and walking was a pleasure to him. He can read without glasses, and like Mr. Dean, has a wonderful memory. Long may they both live.—Shelburne Economist.

Now—and Then

YEARS ago when none of us knew better we took our wheat to the village mill and our good friend the miller ground it for us the best he could.

It wasn't his fault if our wheat was mostly grits or if it was frosted or smutty. He did the best he could with the materials we gave him and the facilities he had for grinding.

The making of flour to-day is not a mere grinding process. The great Ogilvie Flour Mills of to-day are a vast commercial enterprise extending from ocean to ocean.

Royal Household Flour

is a world product. It is well known in Africa as well as in Canada. It is as much appreciated in the poorest household at home as it is in the Royal Household abroad. To make Royal Household Flour the product it is, involves vast capital and resources. Every advanced process, every modern device that can in any way improve the quality of Royal Household Flour is immediately adopted regardless of expense.

If the production of ROYAL HOUSEHOLD FLOUR was purely a milling process it would not be better than any good flour. But it is not the milling alone that makes it the finest flour in the world. It is the all embracing system of care and watchfulness and scientific knowledge that surround it at every stage from wheat field to kitchen.

Canadians may well be proud of Royal Household Flour. It is no small thing to have it to say that the world's most perfect flour is made in Canada from Canadian wheat and has become a world-wide factor through Canadian skill and capital.

"Royal Household" is head and shoulders above ordinary flour in quality.

The best flour for Bread and Pastry is "ROYAL HOUSEHOLD". To try it is to prove it.

If you send in your name and address, also the name of your dealer, "Ogilvie's Book for a Cook", containing 125 pages of excellent Recipes will be sent free of charge.

AUTOMOBILE VS. CEMENT CULVERT.

On Thursday night last Dr. Campbell unintentionally demonstrated that a cement culvert has a greater resisting power than an automobile. While coming down the Amaranth-East Luther townline about 11 o'clock at a fair speed, he ran full tilt into a new cement culvert near Harry Huffman's old farm. For a few feet back the road had been excavated down to the bottom of the creek, the wall of the culvert showing about 5 feet. The momentum of the machine carried it partly over this hole till the front springs hit the wall, where they buried themselves and held the car suspended in front. The jar broke off the front wheels, smashed the front of the car, and jerked the doctor sidewise out of it, fortunately without serious injury. Those interested in the work had a barrier across the road, quite close to the culvert, its location being determined by the formation of the banks preventing getting through the creek at any other point. There was no light on the road. The repairs to the damaged car will cost quite a sum, which the county will likely be asked to put up.— Star & Vidette.

ANOTHER SCORE FOR SAMMY.

The Grand Valley Star & Vidette says that Sammy Duckworth's troubles with police, other officers and landlords might upset the equanimity of some people, but to him it is the spice of life. To him a little legal diversion is a soothing balm to a business worried mind; and he does not believe in homeopathic doses, either. The last attempt to give him a pill did not prove just successful. It was thus. Sam has a property rented from Chas. Morrison, and early in the year put on about $280 worth of repairs,— with the verbal consent of his landlord, the cost of which was to be deducted from the rent. Now, Mr. Morrison says the improvements were made of Sammy's own accord, and wants his rent. To secure this he seized, or attempted to do so, a shipment of butter sent to Toronto. But it happened to be in possession of the C.P.R., so the seizure failed and Mr. Morrison is still out his rent, as well as the costs of the case.

A LUMBERMAN'S BACKACHE.

"The pains in my back were dreadful and the kidneys failed to do their work," writes Mr. L. J. McKinnon, Orillia, Ont. "Dr. Chase's Kidney and Liver Pills proved to be exactly what I needed, brought relief promptly and cured me. Sorry I wasted time experimenting with other medicines."

WITTY TOASTS.

A publisher once gave the following: "Woman, the fairest work in all creation. The edition is large, and no man should be without a copy."

This is fairly seconded by a youth who, giving his distant sweetheart, said "Delectable dear, so sweet that honey would blush in her presence and treacle stand appalled."

Further, in regard to the fair sex, we have: "Woman—she needs no eulogy. She speaks for herself." "Woman, the bitter half of man."

In regard to matrimony some bachelor once gave, "Marriage, the gate through which the happy lover leaves his enchanted ground and returns to earth."

At the marriage of a deaf and dumb couple some wit wished them "unspeakable bliss."

At a supper given to a writer of comedies a wag said: "The writer's very good health. May he live to be as old as his jokes."

Charges against two Newmarket citizens of violating the Lord's Day Act by selling cigars and temperance drinks on Sunday were dismissed by the police magistrate, who held that they were justified in selling refreshments.

THIRD OPERATION PREVENTED

By Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Chicago, Ill. — "I want to tell you what Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound did for me. I was so sick that two of the best doctors in Chicago said I would die if I did not have an operation. I had already had two operations, and they wanted me to go through a third one. I suffered day and night from inflammation and a small tumor, and never thought of seeing a well day again. A friend told me how Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound had helped her, and I tried it, and after the third bottle was cured."—MRS. ALVENA SPERLING, 11 Langdon Street, Chicago, Ill.

If you are ill do not drag along at home or in your place of employment until an operation is necessary, but build up the feminine system, and remove the cause of those distressing aches and pains by taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, made from roots and herbs.

For thirty years it has been the standard remedy for female ills, and has positively restored the health of thousands of women who have been troubled with displacements, inflammation, ulceration, fibroid tumors, irregularities, periodic pains, backache, bearing-down feeling, flatulency, indigestion, dizziness, or nervous prostration. Why don't you try it?

CLASSIFICATION AT FAIRS.

National, Provincial or semi-Provincial exhibitions have a different function to fulfil than have the district, township or county fairs. The county, or lesser district, exhibition, with its limited finances, serves a limited area. To succeed and to do the greatest possible service, it must stimulate, as far as in its power lies, every man in its constituency. There falls within the reach of most county agricultural society exhibitions but few breeders of pure-bred stock of any kind; consequently, prize lists must be extended so as to reach and encourage the man who is grading up his herds and flocks, yet in such manner as to stimulate the desire for pure-bred animals. For these reasons, the appearance of such classes for breeding horses as agricultural, and roadsters, or grade beef and dairy cattle, or grade sheep or swine, can be excused.

But, with our large fairs the case is different. Their constituency is sufficiently large to insure their financial prosperity. Their sphere is very much more largely educative; they should seek not simply to draw great numbers of animals to their grounds, but, more particularly, to attract only the very best of all breeds and classes. That the rings of some of these large fairs be truly educative, their prize lists need considerable overhauling. There is little, if any, justification for providing an agricultural class in horses. There is no such breed, and the specification that demands a weight under 1,400 pounds, with clean legs, practically specifies that what is desired is the horse classified in the market as expresser or vanner. There is no harder type of horse for a man to attempt to successfully breed, and the kind of horses ranging all the way from roadster to light draft, that usually answers the call for this class, bears ample testimony to their nondescript nature. Another unnecessary provision is the roadster breeding class. In one prize list, at a fair of considerable pretensions, this class is the only opportunity to show afforded to standard-breds, and in every ring, save in the three-year-olds or aged stallions, purity of breeding was not required. There is no Roadster breed of horses, but there is such a market class; and, while provision might fittingly be made for them in harness, there should be no breeding class for them at the large show, while there certainly should be for the Standard-breds. Good geldings make a very attractive feature at any show, especially mature ones. But what greater folly can there be than to bring them into the breeding classes to compete with the one, two and three-year-old fillies? To provide for the geldings is well and good, but surely they should be kept out of the mare classes.

Purity of breeding should be a requisite in all breeding classes of our large shows. To leave the Hackney female classes open to the competition of half-breeds, while it might be in accordance with the practices of the American Hackney Horse Society, can hardly be fair to the breeders of pure-breds, or in the best interests of the breed.

The managers of these shows have no easy task. These suggestions are submitted with the best of will, and with the hope of improving our already splendid shows.—The Farmers' Advocate.

Ed. Batters, of Grand Valley, had a valuable driving mare killed on the railway track a week ago Monday.

SIX MEN AND THEIR PASSING.

(From the Brandon Sun)

When the hand of death fell upon E. King Dodds, at Toronto, the other day, the soul of the last of probably the greatest sextette of newspaper men that Canada has ever known went out to its Maker.

In 1878, and for a few years later, King Dodds, Jim Fahey, Alex. Pirie, Andrew Pattullo, Ned Clarke, and Nicholas Flood Davin were the journalistic stars of Ontario and Canada.

All six had been on the press gallery at Ottawa together or upon the stump in the fierce political battles when the contending forces were lined up behind Sir John Macdonald and Hon. Alexander Mackenzie.

Ed. Farrer was shaping the policy of one party or the other in those days, and was probably the greatest force on the newspaper end of the political game. But Davin, Pirie, Pattullo, Fahey, Clarke and King Dodds were a coterie of brilliant men, who fought the battles on the platform or in the press with all the energy that each could muster, and daily met between the rounds in a social way to chat about the features of the struggle. They were the closest of friends, fair fighters, and every one o them a "white man" in every sense of the term.

Brilliant, brainy and clever as these men were, none of them ever got beyond being a packhorse for his party, and probably all suffered from the pangs of disappointed hope. They made and unmade members of Parliament, and Governments, too, perhaps, for in those days cash or graft was not the factor in politics that it is to-day. By their oratory or brilliant writing in countless political contests these men turned victory into defeat or defeat into victory—and some one else got whatever there was in it. Any one of these six men was of Cabinet calibre and even better than that, when one considers the average of those who have won seats on the treasury benches at Toronto and Ottawa.

Jim Fahey was probably the greatest paragrapher and one of the wittiest speakers Canada has produced. He was the first to disappear from the scene. It was said that rye got him, and perhaps it did, but Fahey, good soul that he was, harmed no man.

Davin, his spirit broken by disapointment, shot himself in his room in a Winnipeg hotel.

Pattullo, the maker of the greatest country newspaper in Canada, the Woodstock Sentinel Review, suicided in London, England.

Ned Clarke succumbed to a sudden illness at his home in Toronto.

Alex. Pirie, a prince of good fellows, warm-hearted, an eloquent after-dinner speaker and one of the cleverest of writers, driven to despair by domestic troubles and political ingratitude, put a bullet through his brain in his home at Dundas.

And now, King Dodds, the silver-tongued orator of thirty years ago, and one of the truest of friends of legitimate sport, after five years of blindness, has crossed the bar.

Each man of the six gave the best that was in him for his party and his country. Countless thousands owe to one or other of them a debt of gratitude, for what each did was not done for himself, but for some one else. Bright, clever, brainy, true, and great Canadians, were Fahey, Davin, Pattullo, Pirie, Clarke, and King Dodds. Let us forget how some of them died, for we know nothing of their heartaches; something about what they did, and we know that the world is better because these men lived.

"I FEEL IT MY DUTY

To Give You a Statement In Regard To 'Fruit-a-tives'

HARDWICKE, MIRAMICHI, N.B., Jan. 17th, 1910.

"I feel it my duty to give to you and the world an unsolicited statement in respect to the wonderful cure I received by taking 'Fruit-a-tives.' Chronic Constipation was the complaint I suffered with for years. My general health was miserable as a result of this disease, and I became depressed and alarmed. I was treated by physicians without the slightest permanent benefit, and I tried all kinds of pills and tablets but nothing did me any good.

I saw the strong testimonial in favor of 'Fruit-a-tives' by New Brunswick's 'Grand Old Man', the Hon. John Costigan, and I knew that anything he stated was honest and true and given only to help his fellow-men. I tried 'Fruit-a-tives' and the effects were most marvellous, and now I am entirely well from all my Chronic Constipation that I suffered from for so many years. My general health is once more excellent and I cannot say too much to express my thanks for the great benefits derived from taking 'Fruit-a-tives.'"

A. G. WILLISTON.

"Fruit-a-tives" is not gotten up by druggists or expert chemists—who know nothing about disease and the needs of the human body—but is the scientific discovery of a well known physician, and is the only medicine in the world made of fruit juices.

Two Minute Talks About
PANDORA RANGE
for Coal or Wood

How It Will Save Fuel For You

OF course the Pandora Range is a few dollars more than an ordinary range. But it will soon pay for itself in the fuel it will save for you.

The Pandora Flue System and Wide Fire Box, designed by our brainy stove experts, save about half a ton of coal per year, because they supply more air than the flue systems and fire boxes of ordinary ranges, causing better combustion of fuel.

The Steel Oven saves some more fuel, because it heats up more rapidly than a cast iron oven. The heavy Fire Clay Coating on the main bottom of range prevents any heat wasting towards the floor. It drives the heat back into the oven, and thus saves still more fuel.

But the big economizing feature is this: The draft for cooking on top of the range is also the draft for baking in the oven. The heat does double duty and your fuel bill is largely reduced.

Get the Pandora—the range that pays for itself. No other range is high-class enough for you.

McMURCHY—LUNDY.

A very pretty wedding took place yesterday afternoon at the home of Mr. Joseph Lundy, when his daughter, Allen Louise, became the wife of Mr. Norman D. McMurchy, of Erin. The ceremony was performed by Rev. Robert Lundy, brother of the bride, assisted by Rev. J. W. Thompson, of Cheltenham. The bride, who was unattended, was gowned in white satin with pearl trimmings. A large number of guests witnessed the ceremony and extended congratulations to the young couple. Mr. and Mrs. McMurchy left for Michigan on Wednesday evening and on their return from the wedding trip will reside in Erin, where best wishes follow them from many friends.—Conservator.

Boy Had Fits For 6 Years

Mrs. J. D. Palmer, of Park St., Amsterdam, N. Y., writes: "When six years of age my boy began to have fits. They came on at night. He would make strange noises, soften out, froth at mouth, face would twitch and sometimes turn black and purple. After the fit he could not speak.

"The family physician said all he could do was to keep them down somewhat. The second physician pronounced the trouble dental epilepsy, but could not cure him. He suffered for six years and before beginning the use of Dr. A. W. Chase's Nerve Food had three fits in about five days. Our druggist recommended Dr. A. W. Chase's Nerve Food. He has taken seven boxes and has not had the symptom of a fit since. His color has greatly improved; he is not nervous and irritable like he used to be, and we consider his cure complete."

Such results are only obtained by the use of the genuine Dr. A. W. Chase's Nerve Food—not from imitations or substitutes. 50 cents a box, all dealers or Edmanson, Bates & Co., Toronto.

WHAT VOLTAGE CAUSES DEATH?

At the recent meeting of the British Medical Association Dr. S. Jellinek, of Vienna, read a paper on "Disorders and Death Following Electric Shock." He stated that, while in some cases fatal accidents had been brought about by shocks at 100 volts, in other cases, in which the voltage had been 1,000, and even 10,000, recovery had ensued. In order to understand a matter so seemingly inconsistent, the doctor stated, it should be kept in mind that the danger of an electric current depended on circumstances which might be placed in the following two categories: 1. The external: (a) voltage, (b) amperage, (c) number of poles, (d) the time limit of contract, and (e) the kind of current (a.c. or d.c.). The continuous current appeared to be more dangerous than the alternating. 2. The individual: (a) the resistance of skin and body, (b) the path of the current through the body, or over the surface of the skin, and (c) the condition of mind and body. The speaker stated that electric lesions were painless. With regard to the mechanism of death by electricity there was no definite scheme or model. In most cases it seemed like suspended animation. It was an interesting fact that there was between electric shock and death an interim of a few seconds in which the stricken person appeared to be quite in normal state. By experiments on dogs in the physiological institute of Prof. von Tschermak it had been discovered that the irritability of the brain, which had subsided immediately after a shock, had a few seconds later become re-established, and everything then depended upon whether the action of the heart would be continued or not. As there were sometimes hemorrhages in the brain, and as the pressure of the cerebro-spinal liquid was increased, it was necessary and important in cases of first aid to lay the patient with the head elevated.

The Diamond Jubilee services of Claude Presbyterian Church, will be held on Sunday, October 16th and Monday, October 17th.

VOTERS' LIST COURT.

Grand Valley Citizens Clearing Decks for Local Option Fight.

Both Sides Make Strenuous Efforts To Increase Their Voting Strength.

When His Honor, Judge McCarthy, opened Court here on Monday in connection with appeals under the Voters' List Act, he he had a list of 72 appeals to be determined. Of course a local option contest next January had put both parties on their mettle, and each decided that the other would have the worst of it. It was a case of diamond cut diamond, or of fighting the other fellow with his own tools, even if zeal buried the moral aspect of the case. To many the knowledge of such a bull movement in land properties was inconceivable as was shown in court. Why, one after another of James Sargent's appelants produced deeds of various properties in town for which most of them had given their notes at 9 and 12 months. In one instance five parties were on as joint owners, and one of them did not know how much property he had bought. In another, the vendor disposed of a lot belonging to another man. The case for the other side produced almost as refreshing conditions. One sage, stated he had sold his property, received part of the purchase money and expected to get the rest; although he did not know the selling price, his son having managed the transaction. A decided titter broke over the audience, when the deed read "in consideration of natural love and affection" the property was deeded over. To the judge he admitted the transfer was made to make a vote. In other cases, a benevolent gentleman decided to enrich a couple of his sons-in-law with a lot apiece. Nearly all these deeds were dated Aug. 1st, and caused His Honor to remark on the amount of natural love and affection manifested about that date. Later, in deciding a rather scaly application he remarked it was very suspicious.

The net result makes a gain for the antis. Mr. Hughson appeared for James Sargent's side, and Mr. Kearns for Mr. Brown's side.

A big matter at stake was the admission of 13 trustees for the Methodist Church parsonage, as regularly qualified voters. In opposing, Mr. Hughson contended that they had no status as voters, not owning property in their own right or in the right of their wives, and as trustees their rights were fully defined and protected under the Act. His Honor coincided with Mr. Hughson's argument, and suggested to Mr. Kearns to leave the matter in abeyance for a few days until the latter's clients could decide on applying to the Court of Appeal for a ruling.

The status of the trustees for L.O. L. No. 256 is similar. If the appeal goes on, the Court stands adjourned for one week. Following is the result of the afternoon's work.

Trustees for Disciple Church reserved also.

A sad accident occurred at Teeswater the other day when Charles, the six year old son of C. R. Campbell, was killed while sliding down a door upon which his father had been carried home a short time before. Mr. Campbell is a C.P.R. conductor on the way-freight, and while at Wroxeter that afternoon was about to step from the top of one car to another when the cars parted and he fell between them, breaking his ankle. A door was used to carry him to his car and from the car to his home on his arrival there. The door was left on the steps at the front of the house, and his little son was using it as a slide. The little fellow fell and struck the back of his neck on the door, and died in a very short time.

A FATAL ACCIDENT.

Culross Farmer's Horse Frightened at an Automobile.

On Friday last, a very sad accident occurred that brought bereavement and sorrow to several homes in Culross township. On the day referred to, Mr. Joseph Moir, one of the pioneers of the township, left his home on the first concession to drive to Wingham, little thinking that death was so near at hand. As he was about one-quarter of a mile from McCormick's corner, he met Mr. Lepard with his auto. When Mr. Lepard saw him he stopped the machine about 110 yards back, and while the horse was turning around it reared and broke the harness. It is thought the buggy ran against the horse, starting it to run, and on turning the corner Mr. Moir was thrown out and seriously injured. Mr. Lepard hastened to the scene of the accident, and with the assistance of Mr. Macdonald, lifted the injured man into the auto, and brought him to Wingham hospital. He was found to have severe injuries on his head; he also had several ribs broken, which were penetrating his lungs. Medical aid could do but little for him and he expired soon after reaching the hospital. Coroner Dr. Kennedy empanelled a jury, and after viewing the body, they adjourned until the 29th evening. Mr. Moir was one of the early settlers of Culross, having moved in there in 1857, settling on lot 30, con. 1. He enjoyed the esteem and confidence of the community, and had filled the positions of township councillor, reeve and county councillor. He was a member of Wingham Presbyterian Church. He leaves four sons—Alex. in Alberta, Miles, of Culross, John and James at home; there are also three daughters—Mrs. John O'Malley, Mrs. Geo. King, both of Culross, and Miss Jessie at home. The funeral took place on Monday to Teeswater cemetery, Rev. D. Perrie, conducting the service. A very large number of neighbors and friends showed their sympathy with the bereaved friends by attendance at the funeral. A DASTARDLY OUTRAGE.

Last Sunday some person or persons who were trespassing upon the property of the Toronto Lime Co., entered one of the buildings at the Dolly Varden Kilns and secured some of the detonating caps used in blasting. Several of these were deposited in a stove in the building, where the men go to have their dinner. On Monday just before noon William Miller, one of the employees went in and lighted the fire, and shortly after there was a terrific explosion. The stove was shattered and he was cut with flying particles of the cap or cartridge on the face and forehead, on the arms and legs and almost all over his body. He was brought to town and Dr. Gray dressed the wounds. Happily none of them were as serious as they might have been. Had all the men arrived for dinner the consequences might have been more serious. The Toronto Lime Co. is offering a reward for the culprits. The offence is a serious one, the lowest penalty for such being fourteen years in penitentiary.—Acton Free Press.

Any person can take these remedies in any reasonable amount with perfect safety, and the results have been found to be astonishing. RHEUMATISM CURED.

Zam-Buk Will Give You Relief!

When you have any deep-seated pain in the joints, the back, the wrists or elsewhere, place a liberal supply of Zam-Buk on the fingers or on the palm of the hand and rub it in. The penetrating power of this "embrocation-balm" is very great. It kills pain and removes stiffness. Mrs. Frances Wyatt, of 25 Guy Avenue, Montreal, says: "I have found Zam-Buk most soothing and valuable in a very bad case of rheumatism, and also for stiffness of joints and muscles. I suffered long and acutely from rheumatism, and tried one liniment after another in vain. I also took medicines internally, but it remained for Zam-Buk to effect a cure. I began applying this balm whenever I felt the aches and pains of rheumatism coming on, or felt any of the stiffness. The result was truly wonderful. Zam-Buk seemed to penetrate to the very seat of the pains, driving them completely out, and I am now quite cured."

So many of the ordinary embrocations and liniments are imperfectly prepared and not sufficiently refined to penetrate even the skin—much less the underlying muscles. Zam-Buk is totally different. Zam-Buk is so refined and its essences and juices are so concentrated that when rubbed into the muscles for rheumatism, sciatica, sprain, etc., its effect is very quickly felt.

If rubbed onto the chest and between the shoulders in cases of bad cold on the chest, Zam-Buk will give relief. Apart from its use as an embrocation, Zam-Buk will be found a cure for all ordinary forms of skin disease and injury. It cures eczema, rashes, ringworm, coldsores, ulcers, abscesses, chapped hands, piles, varicose veins, cuts, burns, bruises, etc. All druggists anh stores at 50c., or post free from Zam-Buk Co., Toronto, for price. Refuse harmful imitations.

The Misses Shore continue to do a rushing business in the millinery line. They use good materials and are quite up-to-date in their styles.

J. T. Scott sold a splendid set of team harness to Mr. Wm. Hassard, horse importer, last week for the sum of $100. The harness is a credit to the maker and to the village of Caledon East. Mr. Hassard proposes to take it with him to Hamiota, Man., together with a carload of standard bred mares and stallions. This is the fourteenth set of harness Mr. Stott has sent to Manitoba recently.

Mr. Wm. Smeaton, deputy-reeve of Caledon, passed through the village last week. He is again in the field for office.

Reviewing the statute labor done in our village during the past year we are pleased to say that Mr. W. L. Borland has given eminent satisfaction.

Inspector Orr, who was accompanied by Provincial Inspector Ayearst, of Toronto, made a search of the Royal Hotel and the Graham House in Brampton a week ago Saturday afternoon. In both places liquor was discovered and seized. At the Royal a considerable quantity of whiskey was secured, the evidence being so clear that Mr. Robson paid the fine without going into court. The amount of the fine, together with the loss of the liquor, it is said, will amount to about $40.00. At the Graham House, a fifteen gallon keg of wine was procured. Mr. Choate protests that the law was not violated and will fight the case before the magistrate.

MRS. JAMES McMENEMY.

Death came recently to Mary Ann Sloan, beloved wife of Mr. James McMenemy, and one of Esquesing's most highly respected residents. She was 73 years of age. Besides the bereaved husband, a family of two daughters and seven sons remain to mourn the loss of a devoted wife and kind mother. They are:—Mrs. Sinclair, Mrs. Givens, William, David, Joseph and Henry in the Northwest; George of Milton, James of Toronto, and Robert, of Georgetown. Deceased was a member of Union Presbyterian church and the funeral service on Sunday last was conducted by her pastor, Rev. Mr. Turner. Interment took place in Glenwilliams cemetery.

In 1876 Fred. M. Smith, of Barrie, marked his initials on a Yankee half dollar fresh from the mint and sent it out to help keep things moving. By-Law No. 398

A By-Law to provide for drainage work in the Township of Amaranth, in the County of Dufferin, and for borrowing on the credit of the municipality the sum of $5369.32, of which a certain area of the Township of Melancthon pays $555.88 for completing the same.

Provisionally adopted the 24th day of September, 1910.

WHEREAS the majority in number of the resident and non-resident owners, (exclusive of farmer's sons not actual owners) as shown by the last revised assessment to be completed by drainage work, have petitioned the Council of the said Township of Amaranth praying that the hereinafter described lots, namely,— lot No. 29 con. 5, e ½ 28 con. 6, pt. e ½ 30 con. 5, s e ½ 30 con. 5, w ½ 27 con. 5, e ½ 27 con. 6, w ½ 28 con. 5, e ½ 26 con. 6, w pt. 32, con. 5, s e ½ 31, con. 5, and w ½ 31 con. 5, to be benefitted.

AND WHEREAS, thereupon, the said Council has procured an examination to be made by A. R. Leicester, Engineer, being a person competent for such purpose, of the said area proposed to be drained and the means suggested for the drainage thereof, and of other lands and roads liable to assessment under the Municipal Drainage Act, and has also procured plans, specifications and estimates of the drainage work to be made by the said A. R. Leicester and an assessment to be made by him of the lands and roads to be benefitted by such drainage work and of other lands and roads liable for contribution thereto, stating as nearly as he can the proportion of benefit, outlet liability and injuring liability, which in his opinion will be derived or incurred in consequence of such drainage work by every road and lot or portion of lot, the said assessment so made being the assessment hereinafter by this by-law enacted to be assessed and levied upon the roads and lots, or parts of lots, hereinafter in that behalf specially set forth and described, and the report of the said A. R. Leicester, Engineer, in respect thereof, and of the said drainage work being as follows:—

Dear Sirs,—In accordance with your instructions and acting on petition, signed by David Hicks and others, I have made the necessary survey, etc., to enable me to locate the above drain.

The drain is commenced at the township line between Amaranth and Melancthon and runs in a southerly direction to an outlet on the south line of w ½ lot 22, con. 6, a distance of 31570 feet, all of which is clearly indicated on the general plan provided. I would respectfully call your council's attention to the fact that as this drain and its extension to the Grand River gives an outlet for sixty per cent. of the land in Amaranth Township, and a large area in Melanothon Township, it is very essential, in order to obtain all the benefits from constructing this drain, that the improvements be continued to its outlet into the Grand River.

The plan, profile, specifications, list of depths and widths, schedule of costs and assessment and award of maintenance are herewith respectfully submitted. Yours truly,

A. R. LEICESTER, Engineer.

AND WHEREAS the said Council is of opinion that the drainage of the area described is desirable;

THEREFORE, the said Municipal Council of the said Township of Amaranth, pursuant to the provisions of the Municipal Drainage Act, enacts as follows:—

1. The said report, plans, specifications, assessments and estimates are hereby adopted and the drainage work, as therein indicated and set forth, shall be made and constructed in accordance therewith.

2. The Reeve of the said Township may borrow on the credit of the Corporation of the said Township of Amaranth the sum of $4813.44, being the Municipality's proportion of the funds necessary for the work, and may issue debentures of the corporation to that amount in sums of not less than $50.00 each and payable within fifteen years from the date of the said debentures, with interest at the rate of four per cent. per annum, that is to say, the said debentures shall be payable on the 28th day of December of each of the following years, namely:—1911, 1912, 1913, 1914, 1915, 1916, 1917, 1918, 1919, 1920, 1921, 1922, 1923, 1924, 1925; the said debentures shall be $320.90 each, such debentures shall be payable at the Bank of Hamilton, Toronto, and shall have attached to them coupons for the payment of interest.

3. For paying the sum of three thousand and seventy-six dollars and seventy cents, the amount charged against the said lands and roads for benefit, and the sum of eight hundred and thirty-six dollars and forty-five cents, the amount charged against the said lands and roads for outlet liability, and the sum of seven hundred and twenty-five dollars and twenty-nine cents, the amount charged against said lands and roads for injuring liability, apart from lands and roads belonging to or controlled by the Municipality, and for covering interest thereon for fifteen years at the rate of 4 per cent. per annum, the following total special rates, over and above all other rates, shall be assessed, levied and collected in the same manner and at the same time as other taxes are levied and collected upon and from the undermentioned lots and parts of lots and roads, and the amount of the said total special rates and interest against each lot or part of lot respectively shall be divided into fifteen equal parts, and one such part shall be assessed, levied and collected as aforesaid in each year for fifteen years, after the final passing of this by-law, during which the said debentures have to run:—

DEATH OF NEIL SHAW.

Mr. Neil Shaw, formerly a farmer living on lot 29, con. 5, west, Caledon, died at the home of his sister, Mrs. Joseph Riddell, in Toronto, on Tuesday evening of last week. Mr. Shaw was 61 years of age and his death was due to valvular heart trouble. Deceased was born and lived in Caledon for upwards of fifty years. He retired from active work about ten years ago and has since made his home with his sister in Toronto. Mrs. Angus McMurchy, of Hillsburg, is also a sister. Last spring he had a serious attack of illness from which he did not seem to recover entirely and his health has been gradually failing since that time. The remains were brought to Alton for burial, the funeral taking place from the C.P.R. station to Alton cemetery on Thursday morning.

MRS. JOHN CRUIKSHANK.

Mrs. John Cruikshank, a respected resident of this town, passed away at her home in the West Ward on Sunday after a trying illness of about six weeks' duration. Mrs. Cruikshank, who was 54 years of age, was born at Brittannia, in Toronto township, and was a daughter of Mr. Allen Lougheed, who died in Alberta a few weeks ago. She resided on lot 6, Prince of Wales Road, Mono, for 23 years after her marriage, moving to her comfortable home in Orangeville about two years ago. She is survived by her husband and one daughter, Ethel, who was in constant attendance on her mother during her last illness. There are also two stepsons, Samuel Cruikshank, Medicine Hat, and W. J. Cruikshank, on the homestead in Mono, and a stepdaughter, Mrs. J. W. Maxwell, of Amaranth. Richard Lougheed, Salamo, B.C.; Joseph Lougheed, Brampton; Mrs. Margaret McClelland, Pincher Creek, Alta., and Misses Jane and Lizzie Lougheed, Toronto, are the surviving brothers and sisters. The late Mrs. Cruikshank was a woman of fine spirit and generous sympathies. She enjoyed the esteem of all who knew her and by her neighbors and close friends was held in the sincerest affection. The funeral was held from the family residence on Elizabeth St., to the Forest Lawn cemetery, on Tuesday afternoon, Rev. G. A. Rix being the officiating minister. There was a large attendance of sorrowing friends, including the following from outside points:—Mrs. Loughead and Mrs. Jos. Graham, Brampton; Mrs. D. Wanless, Laine, Mrs. W. C. Reazin and Mr. Jos. Bull, Toronto; Mr. and Mrs. Hugh McIntyre, Mr. A. McIntyre and Miss S. McIntyre, Sandhill, and Mr. Robt. Cruikshank, Beameville. The pallbearers were Messrs. S. Cruikshank, John Ellis, Wesley Maxwell, Arch. McIntyre, John Nesbitt and Edward Jenkins.

DEATH OF MATTHEW SHAW.

A resident of Arthur twp. for 55 years passed away on Sunday in the person of Matthew Shaw, of the 10th con. Deceased, who was 85 years of age, was born in Sligo, Ireland, and came to Canada in 1849 with his parents, who first settled in Caledon. He was married there to Miss Christy Watson, who died 38 years ago. In 1855 they moved to Arthur twp., on the farm where he died. He took up 400 acres of land and prospered on it. He is survived by a family of two daughters and five sons, viz: Mary Ann (Mrs. Johnson Shaw), of Farewell, and Miss Shaw, at home; Melville, of Arthur twp., Samuel and Matthew, in Owensville, Sask.; John A., on the homestead, and Jeremiah at Medicine Hat. Two sisters also survive him, viz.: Mrs. Jas. Craig of Wagram, and Mrs. Carberry, of Tullamore. The late Mr. Shaw was a quiet living, unpretentious man respected by all who knew him, but who took no active part in public life. He was a steward and trustee of the Methodist church and a Conservative in politics. The funeral on Tuesday to Derryade cemetery, Maryboro, was conducted by his pastor, Rev. Mr. Low, of Kenilworth.—Mt. Forest Representative.

Deceased was an uncle of Mr. Harry Shaw of this town.

DEATH OF MISS FRASER.

It is with sincerest regret that we record the sudden demise of Miss Gertrude Burnham Fraser, adoptive daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. S. Waugh, of this town. The death took place at ten o'clock on Wednesday morning in the Calgary General Hospital, and the immediate cause was meningitis.

The deceased young lady was apparently in the best of health until Monday last when she complained of pains in the head. A physician was called in during the evening and as the patient gave signs of the trouble that led to her death, he recommended her removal on Tuesday morning to Calgary that she might be cared for by specialists. All that the best surgical aid could afford was brought to her assistance, but after an operation, she passed peacefully away on Wednesday morning.

Miss Fraser's death has caused the profoundest sorrow in many hearts and homes in High River. She was possessed of strong domestic attachments and simple, quiet tastes, and was never so happy as when able to be of service to others. She spent a quiet, unpretentious life in doing good, and she will be affectionately remembered by many who were the recipients of that bounty of sympathy and human kindness which in her was an inexhaustible store. Her good spirits, pure ideals, and cheerful self-sacrifice gave to her life a wonderful charm of sincere, unaffected maidenhood. She was dearly beloved by her foster parents and held in most affectionate esteem by all who had the privilege of coming into contact with her.

As a communicant of the parish of St. Benedict's, she was an example of earnest faith and piety, and never wearied of doing all she could for the church she loved so well. She passed to the great congregation of Christ's faithful souls in the other world on St. Matthew's day, just after the hour that special remembrance was made of her at the altar of the church in which in her earthly life she had been wont to receive the sacrament of the Holy Communion.

Mr. and Mrs. Waugh and family are joined in their sorrow by a great circle of those in this town who had the privilege of the friendship and acquaintance of Gertrude Fraser.

The funeral will take place to-morrow (Friday). A private service will be held at the home, and the body will be taken to St. Benedict's Church at 3 p.m.

On Sunday evening a special service of thanksgiving for the deceased lady's earthly life will be held in St. Benedict's Church at 7.30 p.m.—High River (Alta) Times, Thursday, September 22nd.

JUDGMENT RESERVED.

The motion respecting the title to the John Jaffray farm was argued at Osgoode Hall a week ago yesterday. Judgment was reserved. The chief question at issue is whether the words "directing him not to dispose of same during his life," in the will of James Hunter constitute a valid restriction on the right to sell the property or not, and therefore whether his son, David Hunter, took an estate in fee simple or not. Judgment was reserved. McGregor Young, K.C., appeared for the vendor, W. J. Baldwin, of Aurora, one of the executors of the will of the late John Jaffary, and F. E. Hodgins, K. C., instructed by Geo. Robb, for the purchaser, Mr. Wm. Hunter.

YOUNG PEOPLE'S SOCIETY.

A social and business meeting of the young people of St. Andrew's Church was held on Monday evening under the auspices of the Men's and Ladies' Bible Classes. A short programme was provided during the early part of the evening, the numbers consisting of a piano duet by Misses Ethel Huston and H. Wallace, a ladies quartette by Misses E. and M. Huston, Bea Harshaw and E. McKenney, a solo by Miss Helen Dentad and a recitation by Miss Edna Campbell. The business meeting decided to organize a Young People's Literary and Missionary Society and to hold regular week night meetings. Officers were elected as follows:—Hon.-President, Rev. W. M. Morris; President, Mr. H. B. McGuire; Vice-President, Miss G. M. Strang; Secretary-Treasurer, Miss Dott McMillan; Programme Committee, Miss Brown, Miss Young, Mr. T. H. MacDuff and Mr. Ross McPherson. Social and Membership Committees were formed from joint committees of the two Bible Classes, Mr. R. Lawson and Miss Bea Harshaw being selected as Conveners. The Society will meet every Monday night at 8 o'clock. During the winter months the young people purpose making a special study of the topic, "The Strangers Within our Gates" or "The Coming Canadians."

AN AUTUMN WEDDING.

A pretty autumn wedding took place at "Hillcrest," the beautiful home of Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Pattullo, on Thursday afternoon last, when their daughter, Miss Beatrice, was united in marriage to Mr. Elmer H. Besley, manager of the dry-goods department in Ritchie Bros. The ceremony, which was witnessed by a number of the immediate friends of the bride and groom, took place in the drawing room, which was neatly decorated with autumn leaves and flowers. The silken knot was tied by Rev. John Locke, of West Toronto, a former pastor of Orangeville Methodist Church. The bride who was given away by her father, was unattended. She looked charming in a pretty gown of cream silk mulle, trimmed with satin and seed pearls and carried a shower bouquet of white and pink roses. After receiving the congratulations of the assembled friends at the close of the service, the newly wedded couple led the way to the dining room, where a dainty wedding breakfast was served. Mr. and Mrs. Besley were afterwards driven to the C. P. R. depot, where they were plentifully showered with rice, confetti and good wishes by the numerous friends who had assembled to see them off on their honeymoon trip. The bride who is very popular among her friends, was the recipient of a large number of handsome wedding gifts. The groom's gift to the bride was a handsome Persian lamb set. The happy couple are spending a two weeks' honeymoon in Toronto and at Niagara Falls. On their return they will take up their residence on First Avenue, where they will settle down to the realities of life amid the good wishes of many friends.

A DISTRESSING ACCIDENT

Milton Sanson, the 17 year old son of Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Sanson, was caught by a shaft in the Superior Cement Works about 2.30 o'clock Tuesday afternoon, and had his left arm literally torn off a short distance below the shoulder. He was also thrown over the shaft with great violence, breaking his right leg at the ankle and inflicting a severe scalp wound. A number of the workmen placed the suffering lad on an improvised stretcher and carried him to his home a short distance west of the Cement Works. Drs. Carson, Hunter and T. H. Henry were summoned with all possible despatch and did all they could for the unfortunate victim. The physicians amputated the dismembered arm about two inches below the shoulder, set the broken ankle and dressed the other injuries. It was feared at first that the injured lad, who is not particularly robust, would collapse from the shock, but he rallied remarkably well and at time of going to press yesterday was doing as well as could be expected. The physicians are, however, very much afraid of blood poisoning, but if the injured boy escapes this he will, it is thought, stand a good chance for recovery.

Sanson was assisting to line one of the new rotary kilns when the accident occurred. He was endeavoring to rotate the kiln by passing a rope over a shaft. One of his companions, Sanford Bowes, had just called to him to be very careful, when his left sleeve got caught between the rope and shaft. In an instant he was whirled off his feet, thrown over the rapidly revolving shaft two or three times and then as the arm gave way hurled away a distance of eight or ten feet. The arm remained caught firmly by the shafting. The bone of the arm broke beneath the terrific strain and the flesh was then torn asunder. The awful affair created consternation among the employees and was a terrible shock to the boy's parents. Mr. Sanson is, himself, not in any too good health and has been doctoring for some years for some bone disease in one of his feet. Profound sympathy is felt for the stricken family.

PERSONAL MENTION

George Morrison, of Toronto, was in town for a couple of days this week.

Mr. Jos. Foster, of Mono, visited his daughter, Mrs. D. Henderson, of Cheltenham, last week.

Mr. F. G. Kratzer, a former proprietor of the Lyric Theatre, was in town for a couple of days this week.

Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Wilson, of Toronto, motored up from the city on Sunday and spent the day with Mr. and Mrs. G. McIntyre.

Squire Stubley, Mayor of Batley, England, and Mrs. Stubley, who have been visiting Mr. and Mrs. G. McIntyre, left for home last week, sailing on Saturday.

Rev. W. M. Morris, pastor of St. Andrew's Church, will speak in Barrie on Sunday in the interests of the local option campaign in progress in that town.

Mr. Geo. H. Hughson, representative in Sarnia of the London Advertiser, is spending a two weeks' vacation at the home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Alex. Hughson, West Broadway.

Among the friends from outside points, who were guests at the Besley-Pattullo wedding last Thursday, were Mr. and Mrs. B. Sherman, Mr. and Mrs. T. J. Pattullo and Mrs. N. Willoughby, of Toronto; Mr. and Mrs. K. Pattullo and little son, of Farnham, Que., and Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Besley, of Shelburne.

The Banner had a pleasant call on Saturday afternoon from an oldtime friend in the person of Mr. Wm. Crawford, of Sheldon. Some years ago, Mr. Crawford was a frequent visitor to town, but of late years he has turned over the active duties of the farm to his son and consequently does not have to journey abroad so often. Despite advancing years, Mr. Crawford retains much of his old-time vigor and is looking both hale andhearty.

Rev. Dr. and Mrs. Harper arrived home last Friday morning after their trip to the Coast. They enjoyed their tour immensely and were both greatly impressed with the magnitude of the Canadian West, its wealth and wonderful possibilities. Dr. Harper returns to his duties greatly invigorated. His congregation was delighted to find him in his accustomed place in the pulpit on Sunday and even more so with the admirable sermons that he delivered morning and evening.

W. C. T. U. CONVENTION.

Interesting Features of Meetings in Baptist Church Last Week.

The Women's Christian Temperance Union of the counties of Grey and Dufferin held a well-attended convention in the Baptist Church here on Tuesday and Wednesday, September 27 and 28. Delegates were present from the different local branches in the two counties. Sessions were held morning and afternoon of both days. Reports were given from eighteen departments and proved very interesting, giving as they did a good idea of the work accomplished during the year. The report of the missionary work among the lumbermen of New Ontario was most gratifying. There are no less than four missionaries supported by the W. C. T. U. in that part of the Province, one of them entirely by the branches in the counties of Grey and Dufferin. These missionaries are doing excellent work in that district of sparse population and few churches. A paper on "Law Enforcement" by Miss Doyle, also one on "Purity and Mothers' Meetings" by Mrs. (Capt.) McLeod, contained many helpful suggestions. At the Tuesday afternoon session, a musical trio by Mesdames Adamson and Needham and Miss Lemont was much appreciated.

The meeting Tuesday evening was open to the public. Rev. Mr. Davies of the Baptist Church presided as chairman. The programme consisted of musical selections by Messrs. Harding and Warren, Mesdames Green and Bowles and the Baptist quartette and an address by Mrs. Margaret Hyslop, Dominion organizer, on the subject "The origin and work of the W. C. T. U." Miss Hyslop won the interest and good will of her audience immediately by her pleasant appearance and humorous reference to her broad Scottish accent. She said that on one occasion, when introducing her to an audience, a minister expressed the hope that they would excuse her broad German accent. After the meeting an old Scotch woman made her way to the platform and asked her if she was a German, adding that, if so, she was one too. Mrs. Hyslop stated that out of two million white ribboners, twelve thousand belonged to Canada. She also said that the W. C. T. U., although not a political organization, had its platform, the chief planks of which are total prohibition, the franchise for women and social and moral reform. Mrs. Hyslop closed her very interesting and instructive address with a plea for new members, which resulted in pinning the white ribbon bow on six ladies and two gentlemen. The latter as honorary members are entitled to all the privileges of the Society except holding office and voting. These will be granted when the franchise is extended to women.

The Wednesday morning session opened with a very impressive consecration service conducted by Mrs. Straith, of Owen Sound. The afternoon service was devoted to unfinished business and the election of officers for the coming year. Officers were elected as follows:—

President—Mrs. (Rev.) T. R. White, Laurel.

Vice-President—Mrs. T. Cook, Markdale.

Corr.-Secretary—Mrs. Straith, Owen Sound.

Rec.-Secretary—Miss Doyle, Owen Sound.

Treasurer—Mrs. Bushfield, Chatsworth.

The business of the convention completed the local union treated the visiting delegates to a drive around our beautiful town and so closed the W. C. T. U. Convention of the Counties of Grey and Dufferin for 1910.

DELICATE BABIES NEED BABIES' OWN TABLETS

For the baby who is delicate, who suffers from constipation, stomach and bowel troubles, worms or difficult teething, nothing can equal Baby's Own Tablets. They are a positive cure for all the little ills of childhood and can be given to the new born baby with perfect safety. They are sold under an absolute guarantee of a Government analyst to contain no harmful drug. They cannot possibly do harm—they always do good. Mrs. Geo. A. Windver, Rockcroft, Ont., writes: "I would not be without Baby's Own Tablets. My baby was small and delicate and never grew till I began giving her the Tablets. She is nine months old now and thanks to the Tablets, is well, fat and rosy. I will certainly recommend them whenever I get the opportunity." The Tablets are sold by medicine dealers or by mail at 25 cents a box from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

TO PROHIBIT DRUNKENNESS.

At a meeting of the Town Council on Monday night, Coun. Curry gave notice of his intention to introduce a by-law to prohibit drunkenness on the public streets. The by-law, we understand, will give the chief of police, or other law officers, power to arrest persons who are intoxicated. The Superior Cement Co. petitioned for leave to dig a drain on the road allowance between lots 30 and 31. Emmanuel Bell, a citizen who has property adjoining, is opposing the prayer of the petition. The Reeve, Deputy-Reeve and Councillor Hill will look over the ground and report.

DR. TALLING COMING.

Dr. Talling, of Toronto, a well-known writer and speaker on religious topics, will visit Orangeville next Sunday and will occupy the pulpit in St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church at the morning and evening services. Dr. Talling is a man of scholarly attainments and his addresses will undoubtedly be well worth hearing.

ADDRESS McGUIRE & McKITRICK, ORANGEVILLE

WHY IN FRENCH?

(From the Ottawa Citizen.)

At a luncheon given by the corporation of the city of London to the Queen's Own Rifles the bill of fare was printed in French, and some little amusement seems to have been derived from the fact that the bulk of the guests did not know that poulet roti meant roast chicken, or that tortue potage meant turtle soup. As the soldiers came from Canada, it seemed to be taken for granted that they should all understand and speak French. But the only point of general interest is, why it should be considered the proper thing in English-speaking countries to print bills of fare in French. It is safe to say that in the British Empire and the United States not one in a hundred patrons of restaurants understands enough French to decipher a bill of fare printed in that language, yet people who are paying for what they eat are expected to guess at what the list of edibles they are paying for means. Yet they are content, while probably paying heavily for the privilege, to guess at what they want, or call on a probably equally ignorant waiter to interpret for them. If the same people went into a grocery store and found that they could not buy anything unless they knew the French word for it, they would be naturally wroth, and soon find their way to another establishment where such nonsense did not prevail; yet such is fashion that they will meekly consent to handicap their digestive organs by paying high prices for victuals regarding the constituent parts of which they have only the faintest idea, even when they are placed on the table.

John Goodfellow, a resident of Flesherton for fifteen years, passed away at that place on Monday, Sept. 26th, in his ninetieth year.

HORSE WAS SMOTHERED.

Adam Densmore, of East Luther, lost a valuable horse in a peculiar manner on Saturday. During threshing operations they made use of a horse to tramp down the straw, and while the men were changing from one mow to another, tied the horse to a cross beam. It so happened that just beneath this beam there was a hole, extending down between the tramped mow and one of loose straw, and into this the horse slid. The halter acted so as to turn him on his back, and the poor brute actually smothered to death, despite the herculean efforts of a dozen men or more to fork the straw away.—Star & Vidette.

Mr. Wm. Beamish, of Caledon East, has purchased Kilhan Hill Victor, the stallion that won second prize at the Toronto National Exhibition. The price paid was nearly $2000.

THE DOCTOR'S QUESTION.

Much Sickness Due to Bowel Disorders.

A doctor's first question when consulted by a patient is, "Are your bowels regular?" He knows that 98 per cent. of illness is attended with inactive bowels and torpid liver, and that this condition must be removed gently and thoroughly before health can be restored.

Rexall Orderlies are a positive, pleasant and safe remedy for constipation and bowel disorders in general. We are so certain of their great curative value that we promise to return the purchaser's money in every case when they fail to produce entire satisfaction.

Rexall Orderlies are eaten like candy, they act quietly, and have a soothing, strengthening, healing influence on the entire intestinal tract. They do not purge, gripe, cause nausea, flatulence, excessive looseness, diarrhoea or other annoying effect. They are especially good for children, weak persons or old folks. Two sizes, 25c. and 10c. Sold only at our store —The Rexall Store. T. F. & T. J. Brown, Orangeville.

SAVING ELECTRICITY.

Tungsten lamps are coming to the front because they save electricity. In appearance, their only difference from the ordinary carbon filament incandescent lamp is that the filament is constructed of tungsten instead of carbon. But in actual use, it has been proved that they use only about one-third as much current as a carbon lamp to produce a light of the same illuminating power. True, their first cost is greater (approximately three times as much,) but this is counterbalanced by the saving in current effected. They have one weak point however. That is the ease with which the delicate tungsten filament is broken. On this account great care has to be exercised in installing them, and it is for this reason, too, that they cannot be economically used as portable lamps. Yet, when carefully handled, they have a long lease of life. In England, where they are used much more extensively than here, it is quite common for them to last 3,000 hours, and one instance is on record where a tungsten lamp burned continuously for over 15,000 hours. Even when allowance is made for more frequent breakage, the tungsten lamp shows a saving over the carbon of about fifty per cent. That is an economy not to be dispised and points to the much greater use for stationary lighting purposes.

The Grand Jury at the Sessions held in Toronto recently found "No Bill" in the case against Reginald Cooper and Frank Logan for criminal negligence in connection with the drowning of Mrs. Mabel Melrick and Miss Emma Carlaw, daughters of James Carlaw, of Morning's Mills, in the Bay last June.

A CREDITABLE RECORD.

There is not a single record of any conviction having been made in Guelph city or the County of Wellington, during the past quarter, for any such cases as indecency or criminal assault or seduction. There were 88 convictions made during the quarter, and of these 58 were city cases, tried by Police Magistrate Saunders, of Guelph. The other thirty were cases tried in Fergus, Elora, Harriston, Mt. Forest and smaller places, by the various Magistrates or Justices of the Peace. The total number of fines imposed amounted to $341.75, $314 The most frequent offences were being collected from city offenders. breaches of the liquor laws, and $250 of the total of $341.75 were liquor case fines. These figures show that during the time between the first of June and the thirty-first of August the County of Wellington has been a particularly well behaved County. Many of the thirty county cases were for such minor offences as letting cattle run at large or keeping unmuzzled dogs.

An interesting event took place on Wednesday, Sept. 21st, at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Foster, of Honeywood, when their daughter, Miss Louie, was united in marriage to Mr. Charles L. Tupling, son of Mr. and Mrs. Geo. Tupling, the same place. Miss Edna Foster, cousin of the bride, and Mr. Richard Tupling, brother of the groom, attended the bride and groom, while the silken knot was securely tied by Rev. W. J. Tribble, of Honeywood, Miss Florence Copeland playing the wedding march.

Which is Your Choice?

Sloppy, leaky wooden troughs, or clean, durable Concrete?

Wooden drinking troughs are about as reliable as the weather.

They are short-lived and require replacing every few years—not to mention continual patching to keep them in repair.

The best of wood cannot withstand, for long, constant dampness and soaking. Its tendency to rapid decay soon shows itself in leaks and stagnant pools of water around trough.

Contrast with this the durability, cleanliness and well-ordered appearance of Concrete.

SWALLOWING LAND

Capacity of swallow varies. Most of us have heard of the man who, after a visit tohisdoctor, told his companion that he had discovered his saw-mill down his throat, adding that he was going to get another, but the doctor had advised him this time to run it by water. Many a fine estate has gone down a man's throat in drink, and it is about time that working people took some notice of the value of what they are swallowing.

In these days the chief desire of most men is to get a little plot of ground for themselves on which to build a house which they can call their own.

Why not get this plot of ground? If you only drink a glass of beer a day, you swallow enough land in a year to build your house on and give you a respectable sized garden; you swallow 365 square yards of land—a good-sized field—for every time you drink five cents worth of beer or spirits you swallow a yard of good land

You think this nonsense? Well, listen for a moment. Take the value of an acre of land at $200.00 (and you ought to get land for that which would give you good crops and feed you good cattle year after year. In $200.00 there are 4000 times five cents so if a drink costs five cents you may put it downthat in $200.00 there are 4000 drinks. Now, in an acre of land there are 4,840 square yards; more than a yard a drink. Just keep this in mind, and next time you want a drink, say, "No, I'll keep the land," and put five cents in a savings box; and when you have done this twenty times, put the dollar in the savings bank. And when the dollars have accumulated you will have little difficulty in becoming a landed proprietor. And you continue the saving till, by means of your building society, you can build a comfortable little cottage. And then continue it, and lay by for old age, so that you can end your days in your own home amongst your own people, and not in a workhouse.—Hard Facts Leaflet.

Mrs. Catharine Anderson, mother of Rev. P. W. Anderson, of Ottawa, formerly pastor of Knox Church, Shelburne, died at her home, 161 Major street, Toronto, on Saturday morning, Sept. 17th.

Children Had Eczema

Treatment prescribed had no effect—DR. CHASE'S OINTMENT made thorough cure.

Mrs. Oscar Vancott, St. Antoine, Sask., writes:—"I have found Dr. Chase's Ointment to be a permanent cure for Eczema and other skin diseases. One son, while nursing, broke out with running watery sores all over his head and around the ears. Many salves were prescribed to no effect. The child's head became a mass of scabs and he suffered agony untold. He became weak and frail and would not eat and we thought we would lose him.

"Providentially we heard of Dr. Chase's Ointment and it soon thoroughly cured him. He is seven years old now and strong and well. An older boy was also cured of eczema by this Ointment and we hope more people will learn about it so that their little ones may be saved from suffering."

As a cure for eczema and itching skin disease there is no treatment to be compared to Dr. A. W. Chase's Ointment. 60 cents a box, at all dealers or Edmanson, Bates & Co., Toronto. Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills sent free.

Not Coughing Today?

Yet you may cough tomorrow! Better be prepared for it when it comes. Ask your doctor about keeping Ayer's Cherry Pectoral in the house. Then when the hard cold or cough first appears you have a doctor's medicine at hand. Your doctor's approval of its use will certainly set all doubt at rest. Do as he says. He knows. No alcohol in this cough medicine. J. C. Ayer Co., Lowell, Mass.

Robust health is a great safeguard against attacks of throat and lung trouble, but constipation will destroy the best of health. Ask your doctor about Ayer's Pills.

WHEN HEALTH IS RUN DOWN

A Tonic Such as Dr. Williams' Pink Pills is Promptly Needed.

When the health is run down from any cause whatever, a tonic is needed. A feeling of weakness, poor appetite, loss of breath after slight exertion, indicates that a complete breakdown is near. Sometimes these troubles are due to overwork or worry, or again they may be due to the after effects of fever or some wasting illness. But whatever the cause the trouble should not be neglected, and for the purpose of gaining new health and new strength there is absolutely no better medicine than Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, which fill the veins with new, rich blood, which tones and strengthens every nerve and every organ in the body. Mrs. Rose, A. Smith, Roblin, Man., says: "Some years ago I had a severe attack of typhoid fever. When I recovered sufficiently to be able to get about I found that I was not able to gather up my strength. I tried tonic wines and other medicines, but without avail. For months I could hardly go up stairs, and if I took a walk I was always obliged to take a friend with me to help me home again. A doctor had again been called in, but he said I would grow out of it in time and gave me more medicine, but instead of gaining I kept getting worse, and was at last obliged to take to my bed. One day while lying reading I chanced to come across a cure made by Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, and this decided me to try them. Before I had taken the pills long I began to feel a decided improvement and my friends also said I was beginning to look like my old self again. From this on the improvement was steady, but I continued to take the Pills for a couple of months, when I felt that the cure was complete. Several years have passed since then and as I have remained in the best of health I am warranted in saying that the cure is permanent, and I freely give this statement for the benefit it may bring to others."

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills are sold by all medicine dealers or may be had by mail at 50 cents a box or six boxes for $2.50 from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

THE BANNER

THURSDAY, OCTOBER 13, 1910

McCORMICK'S EMPLOYEES ARE HIGHLY PLEASED.

Reduction in Hours of Work is Very Popular.

A very enthusiastic meeting of the employees of the McCormick Manufacturing Company was held last evening at 5.30, Mr. Thomas Duff being in the chair.

The meeting was called to order to express to the firm in some way the appreciation of the employees of the recent reduction of hours in work and other changes that have been inaugurated of late for their comfort and benefit.

After a thorough discussion, in which it was pointed out that one firm in the city had already followed the example of the firm, the hope was expressed that other manufacturers would all fall in line.

A committee was appointed to draw up a suitable resolution and have it engrossed and framed and presented to the firm.

AT THE DOMINION EXHIBITION.

Quite a number of firms who are well known to readers of the "Maritime Merchant" had very attractive exhibits at the Dominion Exhibition, which closed recently in St. John.

One of the first to attract attention on entering the main building was that of T. H. Estabrooks, who had a very artistic booth with polite attendants, to serve Red Rose Tea and Coffee to all comers. Needless to say it was always filled.—"Maritime Merchant," Sept. 29.

AN AUTOMOBILE TRIP.

Dufferin County Councillors Inspect Government Aided Roads in Peel.

Six automobiles left the Queen's Hotel here shortly after noon yesterday carrying a number of the Peel and Dufferin County Councillors, County Treasurer C. R. Wheelock and several other prominent residents of the latter municipality. The party, which numbered over 20, was bound for a trip over the roads built in Peel County during the last three years under the Good Roads Act. After inspecting the roads, the party motored in to Toronto where they were dined by the Ontario Motor League at the National Club yesterday. Among those who made the trip were Mr. W. A. McLean, Provincial Commissioner of Hughways; Messrs. T. L. Kennedy, of Dixie, R. Leask, of Clarkson, and F. L. Jackson, of Meadowvale, members of Peel County Council, Reeve Arnott and Deputy-Reeve Campbell, of Orangeville, Deputy-Reeve Anderson, of Mono, Reeve Greer and Deputy-Reeve Lawrence, of Mulmur, Deputy-Reeve Dryden, of Melancthon, Dr. Babe, reeve of Shelburne; Warden Reith, of Grand Valley; Reeve Hosick and Deputy-Reeve Simpson, of Amaranth, and Reeve Cornelius, of East Garafraxa; Dr. E. C. Campbell, G. M. Vance, R. A. Riky, F. H. Silk and John A. Best, M.P., of Shelburne; C. R. Wheelock and Governor Bowles, of Orangeville. The trip may be regarded as the forerunner of a movement to introduce the County Good Roads system into Dufferin.

A $100 CORNET.

Members of Orangeville Band Make Handsome Presentation to Bandmaster Wilson.

The members of Orangeville Citizens' Band gave Bandmaster Wilson a pleasant surprise at practice in the band room Monday night, when they presented him with a fine cornet and case, valued at $100, and the following address:—

To Thomas A. Wilson, Esq.,
Bandmaster,
Orangeville Citizens' Band.

Dear Sir,—We have assembled this evening, as it marks the close of the fourth season of the Orangeville Citizens' Band under your leadership.

That the band has progressed in a marked degree during the period mentioned is largely due to the zeal, enthusiasm and high musical attainments which have characterized your worth as leader.

We cheerfully acknowledge your unfailing courtesy, and firm resolve to raise our musical standard to a high plane amongst the amateur organizations of the Province, which has, we trust, been met with a fair share of success. As a mark of our appreciation of your services as Bandmaster, and your unselfish efforts in our interests, we ask your acceptance of the cornet we have the honor to present you with this evening, with our very best wishes.

In conclusion we are pleased that our relations are likely to continue, and we trust that you may be long spared to preside over our destinies, and always retain pleasant memories of your fellow bandsmen who hold you in such high esteem.

Signed on behalf of the Citizens' Band.

GEO. McLEAN, Treasurer.
E. H. SMITH, Secretary.

Dated at Orangeville, Oct. 10th, 1910.

Mr. E. H. Smith, Secretary of the Band, read the address and Mr. G. H. McLean, the Treasurer, made the presentation. Mr. Wilson spoke briefly and very feelingly in reply. The cornet is a triple-plated instrument made by Bessom, of London, Eng., a firm, whose reputation as makers of band instruments, extends the world over. After the presentation the boys adjourned to the dining-room of the Dufferin House, where an enjoyable banquet was held.

A SUCCESSFUL FAIR.

Caledon Agricultural Society Holds Its Annual Exhibition.

Attendance Was Large and Exhibits Up to Average of Former Years.

The Caledon Agricultural Society held its annual Fall Exhibition in Charleston village last Thursday and Friday. The outlook on Thursday was very discouraging, the rain making it very disagreeable on the grounds, and doubtless preventing some of the members from bringing out the exhibits they had planned making in the hall. Dame Nature was however in gracious mood on Friday. The day was bright, sunny and although a trifle chilly was nevertheless warm enough to be pleasant. The attendance was all that could be desired, the crowd being fully as large as in any recent year. Special trains were run from Brampton and Orangeville. The latter, which left here at 1.15 p.m., carried a large number of townspeople and the Citizens' Band, which provided excellent music during the afternoon. Interest centred in the speeding events, which were keenly contested and furnished an excellent afternoon's sport. The results were:—

There was a splendid showing of horses, particularly in the roadster and carriage classes. The best single roadster in harness, was one of the specials that attracted a great deal of interest. The prize was a handsome silver cup generously donated by the Northern Crown Bank, Inglewood, through its manager, Mr. F. J. Hunter. Mr. D. A. Hogg, Orangeville, was the fortunate winner. There was a fine showing of cattle, sheep, pigs and poultry. The display of roots, vegetables and ladies' fancy work was also very creditable to the Society. McMillan & Torrie, gents' furnishers, J. W. Wild, boots & shoes, T. J. Brown, druggist, and A. Henderson, photographer, well-known Orangeville firms, made attractive special displays of their goods. HOLDING AN INQUEST.

Coroner's Jury Hears Evidence Concerning Death of Milton Sansom.

Dr. James Henry, Coroner for Dufferin County, is holding an inquest on Milton Sansom, the 17 year old boy, who died on Monday from the effects of injuries received while working in the cement plant a week ago Tuesday. The following jury was sworn in on Tuesday:—

T. Durkin, R. B. Henry, E. H. Arkell, Robert Welbourne, Wm. Hughes, Jas. A. Patterson, Thos. J. Bennett, J. M. Bennett, A. McPherson, Geo. Wilkins, John Kilpatrick, Robt. McBride, John McLean.

At one o'clock Tuesday afternoon the Coroner and jury met at the Sansom home where they viewed the remains. The inquest was then adjourned until 7.30 p.m., when it was resumed in the Council Chamber in the Public Library. Crown Attorney McKay was present and assisted in the examination of the witnesses.

Robert Hawkins, who was the first witness, did not see the accident and did not know how it occurred. Helped to pick the boy up and carry him home. Body was lying on the ground between kilns 3 and 4 about 12 feet front place at which slurry enters. Sansom was conscious and talked to witness. In answer to a juror, Hawkins said rope was wound around the shaft, but he did not know how many times.

Wm. Eizzard, a burner, said Bowes called to him to come around and when he did so he saw Sansom lying about 10 feet from the line shaft. The rope, which was used for turning the kiln, was around the shaft. Sansom's arm and part of his clothing were caught between the shaft and rope. Bowes and Sansom had been at work lining the rotary. Did not know who sent them there. Was not speaking to Sansom after he was injured.

Sanford Bowes, who was with Sansom when the fatal accident occurred, told the jury that Pat St. Croix, foreman at the cement plant, had instructed Sansom and himself to grout rotary kiln No. 4. They had turned the kiln before the accident, using a rope for that purpose. They had turned it by hand and also by placing the rope around the shaft. Just before the accident occurred witness saw Sansom place rope around the shaft and called to him to be careful. He didn't see the accident. Heard Sansom cry out and turning around saw him revolving about shaft. Ran to blow the whistle and at same instant Sansom was thrown clear of shaft. Didn't see rope from time he heard the cry. Sansom didn't tell witness how accident happened. Thought body had gone round shaft three times.

Pat St. Croix, foreman of the plant, was unable to tell very much about the accident. He did not know Sansom was in the plant that day until shortly before he was injured. He superintended grouting of kilns and had Bowes working on the job that day. Had examined grouting three times on day of accident, and had noticed Sansom carrying water at discharge end of kiln. Was in the stock house when Bowes told him what had happened. Had instructed Bowes that morning to tell him when he had finished grouting, and he would have the repair gang turn the kiln. Bowes and Sansom were not told to turn the kiln.

George King, who is employed in the repair department at the Works, had helped to turn the kiln with a rope on two or three occasions. Three men could turn it using a rope. St. Croix had given Hackett and witness instructions to turn the kiln whenever required. Witness did not know how accident happened.

Joseph Hackett, also employed in the repair dept., gave unimportant evidence.

Herbert Chisholm, engineer in the Works, said that the shaft made from 180 to 200 revolutions a minute. Did not examine rope and had no idea how Sansom got caught.

Drs. T. H. Henry and T. A. Carson, who were called to attend the injured lad, described his injuries. The latter, who visited the boy daily, attributed his death to septic poisoning. Sansom was conscious the greater part of the time. Had stated to witness that plan of winding rope about the shaft to turn rotary was devised by Bowes and himself.

The Coroner adjourned the inquest about 11.30 p.m. Yesterday morning the jury visited the cement works for the purpose of inspecting the kiln at which Bowes and Sansom were working and the shaft on which the latter was caught. In their presence Bowes placed the rope over the shaft and described as nearly as he could the manner in which the accident occurred. The inquest was resumed in the Public Library at 7.30 o'clock last night.

BOSTON MILLS DESTROYED.

About 11 o'clock Tuesday night fire broke out in the flour mills of Messrs. H. Bracken & Son, of Boston Mills, near Cheltenham. Although every effort was made to save the mills they were totally destroyed, together with their contents. The loss is very heavy, as it is estimated that the insurance of $5000 on the buildings and $4000 on the contents will not meet half their value. It is thought that a hot bearing caused the fire. Mr. Bracken, who is a brother of Mr. Hugh. Bracken, of Mono, has operated the mills for the past 25 years. Much sympathy is felt for him in his loss.

PALGRAVE.

Another successful market was held in our progressive and enterprising village last Wednesday. Enormous prices were paid for all kinds of farm produce. Eggs were sold from 25c. to 28c. per dozen, and were in great demand. Butter was easier and sold from 22 to 23 cents. There was also a great demand for all kinds of poultry, which brought high prices. We expect better prices this week, owing to the decrease in farm produce at this particular season of the year. As soon as there is a good demand for poultry in Toronto, it is expected that the T. Eaton Co. will put a buyer on our market, which will no doubt improve the buying. Our market is here to stay as it is the universal wish of the village and surrounding country that we have a good market at our doors instead of travelling miles to Tottenham or Bolton, where no better prices can be secured and in addition great loss of time. The buyers have been paying as good if not better prices than surrounding villages for farm produce, which is a splendid inducement to patronize our market. The farmers having produce to dispose of had better consider the advisability of attending our market before disposing of it in any other way as they will certainly receive for it all it is worth from our buyers in the market.

Dr. Reynar and Mr. H. Zimmerman met the Board of Railway Commissioners of Canada in Toronto on Thursday with a view to securing a subway under the G. T. R. in the village of Palgrave.

Geo. Dawson, of Grand Central, Pays Heavy Penalty for Illegal Liquor Selling.

Charge Against Landlord Morrison, of the Dufferin House, Dismissed.

The charge of illegal liquor selling preferred against Landlord J. E. Morrison, of the Dufferin House, was heard by Police Magistrate Pattullo in the Court House on Saturday afternoon. The only evidence against Morrison was given by Arthur B. Merrill, a private detective, who swore that Morrison had served a young man named W. J. Reid and witness with whiskey. Merrill also testified that Geo. Morrison, the landlord's son had supplied Reid and himself with three glasses of whiskey on the same afternoon. Later in the day he visited the House again in company with another detective named Cohen and asked for whiskey, but was told the supply had run out and there wouldn't be any more on hand until after Erin fair. Reid, who was employed as a tailor in H. E. Bond & Co's. shop on Broadway, left town shortly after the information was laid and has not been seen since. In his absence there was no evidence to corroborate Merrill's story. Geo. Morrison swore that he had served the two men with lagerine and cherry wine and his father corroborated his evidence. The Magistrate reserved his decision until Tuesday, when he dismissed the charge with costs.

The charges against George Dawson, of the Grand Central, were taken up Tuesday afternoon. Dawson pleaded guilty to two charges of selling and was fined $100 and costs in each instance. Two charges against Harry Durridge were dismissed, the information having been laid against the wrong party. The man the authorities were after is Harry Davidson, who attended bar in the Grand Central for a few weeks. Davidson has left town and his friends say he has gone to England.

The concert given in the Town Hall Fair night under the auspices of Knox Church Ladies' Aid Society drew a full house. A varied and popular programme was provided by Mr. W. Edwards, a Toronto humorist and character artist, assisted by leading local talent. Among the assisting artists were Miss Elliott, Misses Vogan and Glassford, Misses May, Carrie and Cardwell Stubbs, and the Messrs. Harrison and Norman Nelson. GOT TWO THIRDS.

Wendell Holmes, a young athlete of splendid promise, represented Orangeville High School in the interscholastic games in Toronto on Saturday. He captured third place in the broad jump and also in the half mile, was unplaced by a scant foot in the fastest of the trial heats in the hundred yards dash and was one of the four first competitors in the high jump. All four cleared 5 feet and the winner then made 5ft. 1 in. None of the others cleared the bar at this non could they do it again when set back to their old mark. Holmes has made 5 ft, 3 inches in trial jumps.

The "Hecla" Furnace

And The Steel Ribbed Firepots

The greater the radiating surface of the firepot, the greater the heat obtained from the fuel.

In most furnaces, the firepots are made with castiron flanges or points, to increase the radiating surface. Being castiron, these flanges take up so much space that only a few can be used.

In the "Hecla" Furnace we use steel ribs instead of castiron flanges. By applying our Patented Fused Joint Idea, we are able to fuse 97 steel ribs into the Firepot in the same space where before we were able to cast only 17 iron ones.

This gives the "Hecla" three times the radiating surface of any other firepot—and effects a saving of from ⅛ to ⅛ in fuel, as proved by a three year's test.

This is only one of the many features that are exclusive with "Hecla" Furnaces. They are all described in our new catalogue which we send free on request. Write for a copy.

True Household Economy

MOTHERS, we owe it as a duty to our husbands and families to take good care of them. We all want, of course, to have our loved ones cheerful and comfortable.

Our dominant part is to give them the very best that we can make or bake. But sometimes we are tempted to save a few pennies in food and think that in so doing we are economising. But is it so? Is this the kind of economy that is wise and profitable? Is it doing our full duty to our loved ones?

Royal Household Flour

We wouldn't think of buying the lowest priced eggs in the market just for the sake of economy. We would feel that because they were cheap they would be good eggs to avoid. The low price would give us a suspicion of their freshness and quality.

But when it comes to flour, for example, we may be tempted to buy the second best instead of the best because of the few pennies difference in price. We may think that economy in flour is different from economy in eggs. But it isn't. The principle is the same. The difference in cost between the best flour in the world and ordinary flour is so little that in justice to our responsibility as wives and mothers we can not afford to take chances.

From every point of view Royal Household Flour is more economical than any other. It produces more loaves to the barrel. It is richest in food value. It is more uniform. It is best for Pastry as well as Bread and yields more baked product in either bread or pastry than any other flour.

ROYAL HOUSEHOLD FLOUR furnishes more nourishment, more real food value per pound and per penny's worth than any other flour in the word.

Ogilvie's "Book for a Cook" will be sent free to the woman who asks for it and sends in the name of her dealer.

FARMING IN PALESTINE.

Contrast Between Native Implements and American Machinery.

"My impression of the primitive conditions of life in Palestine was somewhat spoiled by a bit of American enterprise during my trip through the Holy Land this summer," said Milton R. Wells.

"With about twenty other Americans I made the usual tourists' journey to all the points of interest. Almost everywhere we found the people living under practically the same conditions of 2,000 years ago. Of course, we got a little jolt when we walked into the telegraph office in Jerusalem and later sat down to a regular table d'hote dinner in the hotel, but we were informed that, as soon as we left the city and got into the country, we would find ourselves in a world of centuries ago.

"This was true for a while. But imagine my surprise when taking a drive through the country in the Lebanon region, about half-way between Bierut and Damascus to see a big steam plow tearing up the earth at a prodigious rate. We might just as well have been looking at a big farm in North Dakota. Naturally, I was somewhat curious, and I made an investigation. I learned that an agent of an American implement firm was making a demonstration for the benefit of the natives. He had been in the neighborhood for about a month. I was interested, of course, and he seemed to be willing to talk. As a result, I got a lot of information that usually doesn't go with a tour through the Holy Land.

"The plow used by the native Syrian is nothing but a forked stick. It is drawn by oxen. This primitive plow doesn't make much of a furrow, and it takes two men and a yoke of oxen an entire day to plow a half-acre. Plowing begins early in the Spring and continues until July. By that time the soil is hard, and the difficulty in turning it up increases. The American demonstrator said the natives were absolutely wonder struck by the rapidity and ease with which the ground was prepared for planting by modern machinery. With two men in one day, he said, the steam plow did as much work as could be accomplished by sixty men and sixty oxen with the native implements.

"There was a threshing machine in the outfit, and one of the more prosperous farmers engaged it. The machine finished the crop within two days. It would have taken the farm laborers months to thresh it. As a result the farmer got his grain to market in time to take advantage of the high prices. He received twice as much as he had received for last crop.

"The opposition among the people to the introduction of modern farming machinery is great, I found. The laborers and the managers of the larger farms seem to think their positions will be of less importance if the work can be done so rapidly and with so few men."—Washington Post.

WORLD'S DEBT TO CANADA

A Wonderful Achievement

Discovery of "Fruit-a-tives" has meant health for all

Canada's fame does not rest solely on her furs and wheat fields. Her rise in the esteem of the world is not due to her Cobalt mines. It is the work of her great men that has made her great. A graduate of McGill University has won lasting renown for his original researches in the realms of Physics.

Everyone knows that fruit is wholesome, when eaten judiciously. Physicians generally recognize the fact that fruit juices have a beneficial effect on the various organs of the body.

It remained for a Canadian physician to discover a process whereby the medicinal action of fruit could be so increased as to make the intensified juices a wonderful cure.

"Fruit-a-tives" is this combination of fruit juices and tonics. Since its introduction to the public, "Fruit-a-tives" has met with a success accorded to no other medicine in the world. The reason is plain. "Fruit-a-tives" is the one remedy that is actually made of fruit, and is the only remedy that naturally cures Constipation, Biliousness, Indigestion, Headaches, Rheumatism, Neuralgia, Backache, Kidney and Skin Troubles. At all dealers at 50c. a box, 6 for $2.50, or trial size, 25c., or from Fruit-a-tives Limited, Ottawa.

TUMOR OF YEARS GROWTH

Removed by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Winnipeg, Man.—"Eleven years ago I went to the Victoria Hospital, Montreal, suffering with a growth in the uterus. The doctors said it was a tumor, and could not be removed, as it would cause instant death. They found that other organs were affected and said I could not live more than six months in the condition I was in. After I came home I saw your advertisement in the paper and commenced taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. I took it constantly for two years, and still take it at times, and both my husband and myself claim that it was the means of saving my life. I highly recommend it to suffering women."—Mrs. ORILLA BRADLEY, 284 Johnson Ave., Winnipeg, Manitoba.

One of the greatest triumphs of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is the conquering of woman's dread enemy—tumor. If you have mysterious pains, inflammation, ulceration or displacement, don't wait for time to confirm your fears and go through the horrors of a hospital operation, but try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound at once.

For thirty years Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, made from roots and herbs, has been the standard remedy for female ills.

HALF OF THE TROUBLE.

Half of the trouble is over
When the spirit of love comes in.
Half of the care and the worry,
The bitter, the blight and the sin.
Captains have never so conquered,
Kings never wrought with the sword
Like the power of a little sweet loving
And the faith of a heart in the Lord.

Half of the trouble's forgotten
When there at the lilac gate
Lips meet with the touch of all-loving
The lips that their coming await.
Oh, princes and potentates, tremble,
For here is one mighty o'er all—
The love that can fill life and lift it
To the infinite height of its thrall.

Half of the gloom and the shadow,
The grief and the grey of the night,
Are over when love at the window
Shines in with a ray of love's light;
Oh, bearers and builders and bringers,
All, all are but children to this—
The love that can bear us new singers
And build us new dreams with its kiss.

PRETTY DRY TOWN.

Not Much Water Since King Solomon Built His Famous Pools.

Jerusalem, to-day, with its 80,000 inhabitants, depends almost entirely on rain for its water supply, the rainfall averaging about twenty-seven inches a year. Water thus collected and stored is good as long as roofs and cisterns are kept clean. In the houses of the wealthier classes these are large enough to store an ample amount of water. With the poorer people the reverse is the case. Most of the cisterns of their houses are small, and the houses are often so overcrowded that frequently, long before the summer is over, the water has given out and a supply has to be purchased at high prices from neighboring cisterns.

Among the poorer Jewish settlers on the outskirts of Jerusalem few are able to own their own cisterns, and large ones are built, generally by charity funds, for a common water supply. In many cases they are filled with surface water, and the insanitary elements with which the water thus collected is impregnated are held responsible for a large percentage of the fever and other diseases prevalent toward the end of the dry season. This same condition of the water supply appears to prevail among all the poorer classes of the city. When there is a shortage of rain a critical state of affairs ensues, and at such times most insanitary water is used.

At various times since the days of King Solomon efforts have been made to secure a water supply on which the city could depend. About seven and one-half miles to the south, by a little west, of Jerusalem, on the carriage road to Hebron, are three enormous reservoirs, known as Solomon's pools. These were constructed in the bed of a valley, across which heavy walls were thrown and cemented, and are large enough to contain 3,000,000 gallons of water. They were filled during the rainy season with water from the surrounding hills, and this was augmented by the inflow of a small spring a little higher in the valley, known as the "sealed fountain" and some other small springs. From these pools there was a masonry aqueduct, said to have been the work of Solomon, which, winding around the hillsides, carried the water to the temple in Jerusalem. At one point this conduit went through a mountain by a tunnel.—Harper's Weekly.

THE ROMANCE OF THE DESERT

Across the Grand Canon and the Utah line the desert still prevails. But it appears a harsher desert. There are a few water-holes, miles apart. Long escarpments of red rock enclose oval valleys. Some of these valleys have good grass part of the year. The mesas and plateaus support cedar and pine and luxuriant grass. Southern Utah is bold and barren, cut and ridged by sharp sawtooth mountain chains, between which are rolling levels of sage. It was an uninhabitable country, but the Mormons made it habitable. They made homes in places shunned by Indians. There are only a few settlements in southern Utah. These little villages are connected by trails, through the sage, under the towering red cliffs, over the ridges. They are cut off from the world. The fanatical Mormons who settled there deliberately sought the wildest, sternest, barest desert, so "to multiply" in peace. Their labors were heroic. Fifty years of toil, such as ordinary settlers never had, have made those villages green, luxuriant, bright spots in the dead gray of the desert. They were praying and working, not fighting men. The majority were foreign-born, of different nationalities, but their religion soon made them like one family. The lawlessness came long after they had made the oasis in the desert, and after their prosperity became known. Then four-fifths of the inhabitants were Mormons. At the present time the Mormons of southern Utah are perhaps not greatly different from what they were forty years ago. The women are comely, but serious. They speak low and they are never idle. The old men are patriarchal, white-bearded. They walk with a cane, make long pipes, dream, and talk of the exodus and their gigantic labors in making the desert bloom like a rose. The younger men are lean, bronzed, long-limbed, with eyes like eagles. They are silent; they seldom smile. They ride as hard as Navajos. They are expert with a rifle and wonderful with a lasso. Their physical endurance is marvelous.—Francisco Cocina, in Harper's Weekly.

When Sleep Fails You

DR. CHASE'S NERVE FOOD will bring rest, comfort and vitality by building up the nerves.

Mr. Jas. Wesley Weaver, a veteran of the Fenian Raid, Port Dalhousie, Ont., writes:—"For years I was afflicted with nervousness and dreaded insomnia, so that I never knew for three years what a full hour's sleep was, never more than dozing for a few minutes at a time. Heart pains and headaches almost drove me wild. I had spells of weakness and cramps in stomach and limbs.

"Though I tried several doctors, it was money uselessly spent. Finally Dr. Chase's Nerve Food was brought to me and eight boxes cured me. It is simply wonderful what benefit I have obtained from this treatment."

Sleeplessness and headaches are warnings of approaching nervous collapse. You can positively remove these symptoms and prevent prostration or paralysis by the use of Dr. Chase's Nerve Food. 50 cents a box, 6 for $2.50, at all dealers or Edmanson, Bates & Co., Toronto. Two Minute Talks About

for Coal or Wood

Its Long Life

THE Pandora Range is for those who desire to make a permanent investment. The high quality of the materials and the superior method of construction assure long life.

The Body of the Pandora is very heavy. The Rods and Bolts are on the outside where they cannot burn or rust out. The Expansion Rings of the cooking section provide ample allowance for extreme expansion and contraction and eliminate the possibility of the metal cracking.

The Cooking Top is Burnished which toughens the surface of the metal and increases its strength. McClary Oil Cement is used between the joints. Unlike cheap, ordinary cement, it will not dry out and need replacing. The Nickelling will not tarnish and is many times more durable than the single coat of nickel on ordinary ranges.

The Semi-Steel Fire Box Linings are twenty per cent. heavier than cast or gray iron linings. Sulphur fumes, so destructive to cast iron, cannot penetrate the hard, smooth as glass surface of Semi-Steel. The Grates have Three Faces, which allows the wear to be distributed on three sides, insuring triple durability.

If you want a range of guaranteed quality get the Pandora. It's built to give you lasting service.

"Royal Naval Club, Portsmouth.

To the Zam-Buk Co.,

Dear Sirs,—I have found Zam-Buk most reliable for healing cuts and abrasions; while for the relief of skin irritation it is invaluable. Yours faithfully, (Signed) RODNEY M. LLOYD, Admiral.

Praises Zam-Buk

How It Healed a Terrible Burn.

From top to bottom of the great, British naval ladder Zam-Buk is known and used. Admiral and stoker alike have proved its value, as the foregoing and the following show:

Stoker Kingsnorth, of H. M. First Class Cruiser "Cochrane," says:—"One day I slipped and fell with my arm on an exhaust steam pipe, which fairly frizzled the skin. At once the ship's surgeon dressed my arm, but from the first, the burns took the wrong way, owing to a lot of coal dust and dirt from the pipe having got embedded in the flesh and setting up blood-poison. A large scab appeared, and from underneath the festering flesh matter oozed out. I was in fearful pain and didn't know how to get ease

"For weeks I remained under treatment, but the ordinary ointments proved no good for my arm. Indeed, I got worse, and I became alarmed at the spreading of the poison. I therefore obtained a supply of Zam-Buk and almost as soon as this was applied I got ease. From the very first application, healing commenced; and a few boxes of Zam-Buk healed my wound completely."

No matter in what occupation or stage of life you may be, for skin injuries and diseases of all kinds you will find Zam-Buk is the latest and best in scientific healing. That is why it is so popular to-day. Mothers should see that it is always handy in the home.

It is a proved cure for eczema, ulcers, abscesses, ringworm, poisoned wounds, tetter, itch, bad leg, varicose ulcers, suppurating wounds, cold sores, chapped hands, babies' sores, inflamed patches, etc. Zam-Buk is also a specific for piles. All druggists and stores at 50c. box or post free from Zam-Buk Co., Toronto, for price. Refuse all substitutes and harmful imitations.

CURED OF CONSTIPATION

Mr. Andrews praises Dr. Morse's Indian Root Pills.

Mr. George Andrews of Halifax, N.S., writes:

"For many years I have been troubled with chronic Constipation. This ailment never comes single-handed, and I have been a victim to the many illnesses that constipation brings in its train. Medicine after medicine I have taken in order to find relief, but one and all left me in the same hopeless condition. It seemed that nothing would expel from me the one ailment that caused so much trouble, yet at last I read about these Indian Root Pills.

That was indeed a lucky day for me, for I was so impressed with the statements made that I determined to give them a fair trial.

They have regulated my stomach and bowels. I am cured of constipation, and I claim they have no equal as a medicine."

For over half a century Dr. Morse's Indian Root Pills have been curing constipation and clogged, inactive kidneys, with all the ailments which result from them. They cleanse the whole system and purify the blood. Sold everywhere at 25c. a box. 2

Regulate the Bowels

"I have been troubled with constipation for several years, and have tried a great many kinds of pills, as well as medicine from the doctor. Nothing seemed to help me until I began taking Dr. Miles' Nerve and Liver Pills. I found the little pills very effective, and I am thankful that at last I have a reliable remedy."

MRS. F. M. DUNKIN, LeRoy, Ills.

Dr. Miles' Nerve and Liver Pills

THE BOY WHO ARGUES.

What would you do with a boy who will argue about everything?" asked a mother the other day with every evidence of distress and discouragement. "If I ask him to do a piece of work, he wants to do it his own way, and will stand and argue longer about every point than it would take to do it, even if it is of no importance greater than the best way to chop the wood in the wood-box."

"Arguing is reasoning aloud with an antagonist, who also reasons aloud," said the counsellor. "Lacking the antagonist, the arguing will soon die out. It is sometimes a sign of ideas, sometimes of self-will, sometimes of a desire to hear one's self talk. The habit of arguing once formed cannot be corrected by counter-argument. No one can argue alone, so the first step in the process of cure is to let the child find out as soon as he begins to argue that he is ignored.

"If he is given a piece of work to do, he must be allowed to do it in his own way, unless time is taken to teach him your way so that he will comprehend it. You cannot teach him by words unless he has come to years of understanding, and perhaps not then by words alone. Your words will very often not mean to him just what they mean to you, so that even if you give him the most minute instructions, in so simple a thing as piling wood in a box, he will find ample opportunity for misunderstanding. Let him learn how to do things by helping you.

"If he wants to try new, strange and utterly childlike ways of doing things do not arbitrarily interfere by word or act, such as will bring replies and retorts, unless you are prepared to take time and the necessary patience to make him fully understand you and your methods. But let him experiment; accept his original efforts; and by easy, natural stages lead him on to the more perfect ways, even of laying sticks of wood.

"Do not despise his log-house plan, even if it cumbers the floor for a little while, nor object if he prefers to stand the sticks on end in the box instead of laying them cordwood fashion. Until you can lead him to see by actual demonstration that your way is the best, you would better leave him to discover that fact by observation."

There is reason on both sides of the question, but the mother who insists too strongly upon prompt and unquestioning obedience on the part of a boy, who is inclined to argue will probably find herself developing the decidedly unpleasant and unwise habit of nagging, which, by the way, is more to be deplored than the arguing habit.—American Motherhood.

ECZEMA FOR 20 YEARS.

What is so annoying and disfiguring as itching Eczema. Mr. Fred. W. Clark, Petworth, Addington Co., Ont., writes that his mother suffered from Eczema on both legs for 20 years unable to get relief or cure from doctors or medicines. She found that Dr. Chase's Ointment brought great relief and it soon made the cure complete. He states that no one could have the disease worse or suffer more.

A NATIONAL NEWSPAPER.

The Globe has tried during all its history not to lose sight of the fact that a newspaper can play an important part in nation and empire building. One way in which this has been effectively practised is by keeping trained members of its staff constantly "on the wing" in search of useful and interesting information. Wherever important national work or world events in which Canadians were concerned were taking place, or where pioneer development was in progress, there The Globe commissioners have been reporting with intelligent discernment for the benefit of this country.

This policy has rarely, if ever, been more generally practised than at present. To-day, the Managing Editor of The Globe, Dr. J. A. Macdonald, is in Mexico, where a three weeks' celebration of the centenary of republican government is being held, and upon his return he will contribute a series of sketches on that interesting country—a country whose relations to Canada are becoming very close.

Capt. Jaffray Eaton represented The Globe with the G. O. R. in England, the only exclusive press correspondent on the trip.

Mr. W. J. Jeffers, another member of the staff of The Globe, is at present on a pioneering trip in the Gowganda, Elk Lake, and the far north country. Mr. Jeffers is exceptionally equipped for such an expedition, having spent several years in the mining camps of America and South Africa.

Mr. M. O. Hammond, Editor of the Illustrated Magazine Section of The Globe, is contributing letters on the political situation in the United States. These will be continued during the next few weeks. Mr. Hammond's instructions being to travel wherever good "copy" from a Canadian viewpoint can be secured. It goes without saying that not in fifty years has so much interest been taken by Canadians in United States politics as is the case at the present time.

The Globe is trying to live up to its record in the matter of keeping its readers posted, aside altogether from the ordinary sources of local and telegraphic news.

NOTTAWA RIVER DRAIN IMPROVEMENT.

The Municipal Council of the Township of Mono.

Gentlemen,—In accordance with your instructions re. Nottawa River Drain, I have made a survey of the same, and herewith beg leave to submit plan, profile, specification, schedule of cost, assessment and maintenance of the same; the total cost estimated for the work and expenses being $2906.40, of which $875 is assessed against the Township of Amaranth and lands therein. For changing the bed of the river on the First Line, W. H. St. (Prince of Wales Road) the compensation to be made to Wm. McKim, owner of the west half lot 28, con. 1, W. H. All of which I respectfully submit.

Yours truly,

3. For paying the sum of five hundred and twenty-eight dollars for outlet liability, the sum of one hundred and ninety dollars the amount charged against the said lands and roads for injuring liability, apart from the lands and roads belonging to or controlled by the municipality, and for covering interest thereon for fifteen years, at the rate of 4 per cent. per annum, the following total special rates, over and above all other rates, shall be assessed, levied and collected (in the same manner and at the same time as other taxes are levied and collected) upon and from the undermentioned lots and parts of lots, and roads, and the amount of the said total special rate and interest, against each lot or part of lot respectively, shall be divided into fifteen equal parts and one such part shall be assessed, levied and collected as aforesaid in each year for fifteen years after the final passing of this By-Law, during which the said debentures have to run:—

By-Law No. 398

A By-Law to provide for drainage work in the Township of Amaranth, in the County of Dufferin, and for borrowing on the credit of the municipality the sum of $5369.32, of which a certain area of the Township of Melancthon pays $555.88 for completing the same.

Provisionally adopted the 24th day of September, 1910.

WHEREAS the majority in number of the resident and non-resident owners, (exclusive of farmer's sons not actual owners) as shown by the last revised assessment to be completed by drainage work, have petitioned the Council of the said Township of Amaranth praying that the hereinafter described lots, namely,— lot No. 29 con. 5, e ½ 28 con. 6, pt. e ½ 30 con. 5, s e ½ 30 con. 5, w ½ 27 con. 5, e ½ 27 con. 6, w ½ 28 con. 5, e ½ 26 con. 6, w pt. 32, con. 5, s e ½ 31 con. 5, and w ½ 31 con. 5, to be benefitted.

AND WHEREAS, thereupon, the said Council has procured an examination to be made by A. R. Leicester, Engineer, being a person competent for such purpose, of the said area proposed to be drained and the means suggested for the drainage thereof, and of other lands and roads liable to assessment under the Municipal Drainage Act, and has also procured plans, specifications and estimates of the drainage work to be made by the said A. R. Leicester and an assessment to be made by him of the lands and roads to be benefitted by such drainage work and of other lands and roads liable for contribution thereto, stating as nearly as he can the proportion of benefit, outlet liability and injuring liability, which in his opinion will be derived or incurred in consequence of such drainage work by every road and lot or portion of lot, the said assessment so made being the assessment hereinafter by this by-law enacted to be assessed and levied upon the roads and lots, or parts of lots, hereinafter in that behalf specially set forth and described, and the report of the said A. R. Leicester, Engineer, in respect thereof, and of the said drainage work being as follows:—

Dear Sirs,—In accordance with your instructions and acting on petition, signed by David Hicks and others, I have made the necessary survey, etc., to enable me to locate the above drain.

The drain is commenced at the township line between Amaranth and Melancthon and runs in a southerly direction to an outlet on the south line of w ½ lot 22, con. 6, a distance of 31570 feet, all of which is clearly indicated on the general plan provided. I would respectfully call your council's attention to the fact that as this drain and its extension to the Grand River gives an outlet for sixty per cent. of the land in Amaranth Township, and a large area in Melancthon Township, it is very essential, in order to obtain all the benefits from constructing this drain, that the improvements be continued to its outlet into the Grand River.

The plan, profile, specifications, list of depths and widths, schedule of costs and assessment and award of maintenance are herewith respectfully submitted. Yours truly,

A. R. LEICESTER, Engineer.

AND WHEREAS the said Council is of opinion that the drainage of the area described is desirable;

THEREFORE, the said Municipal Council of the said Township of Amaranth, pursuant to the provisions of the Municipal Drainage Act, enacts as follows:—

1. The said report, plans, specifications, assessments and estimates are hereby adopted and the drainage work, as therein indicated and set forth, shall be made and constructed in accordance therewith.

2. The Reeve of the said Township may borrow on the credit of the Corporation of the said Township of Amaranth the sum of $4813.44, being the Municipality's proportion of the funds necessary for the work, and may issue debentures of the corporation to that amount in sums of not less than $50.00 each and payable within fifteen years from the date of the said debentures, with interest at the rate of four per cent. per annum, that is to say, the said debentures shall be payable on the 28th day of December of each of the following years, namely:—1911, 1912, 1913, 1914, 1915, 1916, 1917, 1918, 1919, 1920, 1921, 1922, 1923, 1924, 1925; the said debentures shall be $320.90 each, such debentures shall be payable at the Bank of Hamilton, Toronto, and shall have attached to them coupons for the payment of interest.

3. For paying the sum of three thousand and seventy-six dollars and seventy cents, the amount charged against the said lands and roads for benefit, and the sum of eight hundred and thirty-six dollars and forty-five cents, the amount charged against the said lands and roads for outlet liability, and the sum of seven hundred and twenty-five dollars and twenty-nine cents, the amount charged against said lands and roads for injuring liability, apart from lands and roads belonging to or controlled by the Municipality, and for covering interest thereon for fifteen years at the rate of 4 per cent. per annum, the following total special rates, over and above all other rates, shall be assessed, levied and collected in the same manner and at the same time as other taxes are levied and collected upon and from the undermentioned lots and parts of lots and roads, and the amount of the said total special rates and interest against each lot or part of lot respectively shall be divided into fifteen equal parts, and one such part shall be assessed, levied and collected as aforesaid in each year for fifteen years, after the final passing of this by-law, during which the said debentures have to run:—

STRENUOUS WORK

Building Of Power Dam At Horning's Mills Not An Easy Undertaking.

Men Perform Hard Rough Labor, But Are Well Looked After.

Pete Edwards' Camp,
Horning's Mills, Oct. 11, 1910.

To the Editor of The Banner.

Dear Sir,—Standing upon the frost tipped summit of a miniature Mulmur mountain, overlooking the scene of operations of the Dufferin Power Company, on these bright October mornings the richly-tinted and broken landscape presents a scene of beauty unrivalled in the Adirondacks or down on the old Saguenay. Across the valley, which here winds easterly, and far to the northward, hill rises above hill until one might imagine that none but mountain goats could eke out an existence on the corrugated surface of this mid-section of Old Ontario; but close inspection reveals many a comfortable farmstead, with immense barns and outbuildings, the whole surrounded, in many cases, by well-laden orchards and by fields and gardens that equal anything to be found in the frontier counties. There are farms here as level almost as a billiard table, and there are others as hump-backed and lop-sided as a caravan of consumptive camels, but all are as rich and fertile as the banks of the Nile after the annual freshet. Crops and cattle thrive in Mulmur township, its farmers are prosperous and its Tory majority is considerable. Certainly, many and wonderful have been the changes in this district during the past fifty years.

But it has remained for Mr. Pete Edwards and his brigade of sappers and miners to inaugurate an improvement that is destined to bring this immediate section into public notice, to confer lasting benefits upon all within a radius of fifty miles, increase the value of farm lands hereabouts and, quite possibly, fill a long-felt want by giving an electric railway service to nearby market towns. To farmers for miles around this suggestion will be almost too glittering and brilliant to be real, but much stranger things have happened; and now that Pete Edwards, with his mound-builders and road contractors, has penetrated this promising part of the Province, there is no telling where his energy and the country's needs will land him. With the completion of the Dufferin Light & Power Co's huge dam, which may be said to be already in sight, there will be power enough to run electric roads for miles in all directions, and what more reasonable than that the men, horses and machinery now at work upon this big embankment should be utilized to give this section much needed railway connection.

Speaking of the progress of the work here, those acquainted with the facts are agreed that great headway has been made. The preliminary work was in itself something immense. In the first place, a substantial motor highway had to be constructed entirely around the site of the dam to replace that portion of the old government road blocked by the embankment; and in this deal the township taxpayers have certainly come out ahead. For weeks an army of men and horses were engaged in slashing down swale, draining and filling bog holes, putting in cement culverts, grading up and gravelling. A small portion of the new road is yet to be built, but that part already completed certainly reflects credit upon the builders and the man in charge. It is a sample of road construction that our township and county authorities would do well to follow. On Thursday of last week Reeve Greer and the township councillors officially inspected the road and expressed unqualified satisfaction with the completed work. Shelter for man and beast had to be provided, a telephone line erected, the rugged hill tops and sides shorn of timber and undergrowth and every stump and stick of timber carted outside the limits. This accomplished, the foundation of the dam was laid good and true, an iron pipe 200 feet in length was put in place, a solid stone retaining wall is being built and the whole is being speedily filled up with solid clay and clean gravel. The decks are now cleared for action, and from now on the work will proceed by leaps and bounds.

The work is strenuous and the labor not altogether one of love, but it has its compensations. Preceding and following the solid but sumptuous "banquet" provided for the township officials, visitors from as far east as Montreal and west as far as Cleveland were shown over the works and entertained in the rustic dining hall. Automobiles and carriages can now cross territory that a few weeks ago was a howling wilderness. Pete's pioneers have transformed the trackless wild into winding speedways, thrown mountains into valleys, and opened up a district that in the not distant future will attract tourists from all over the Province and from some of the border states. The health of man and beast throughout the camp continues excellent, and during off hours the boys shout: "On with the dance, let joy be unconfined." It is this spirit, not the liquid article, that makes life here pleasant and the work not over burdensome. With an eye to the moral as well as the physical welfare of his men, Mr. Edwards has, by personal persuasion, induced three clergymen of the vicinity to alternately visit the camp and minister to the spiritual needs of the boys in his bungalow. This provision for godliness, with hard water and soft soap for cleanliness, will make a combination, which cannot fail to benefit the men in many and various ways. This forethought on the part of the "boss" is fully appreciated by the workmen and doubtless will be a consolation to friends of the men on the firing line. Medical attendance is also provided for, and with such fine treatment it will be strange indeed if this bunch of dam builders do not, when the capstone is placed on the arch, leave here much improved in mind, body and pocket.

It is the intention of the management to this week purchase additional horses and machinery, and as good men are constantly coming in for the good pay and good board, the successful conclusion of this big undertaking is plainly in sight, though thousands of tons of earth and rock are yet to be placed upon the huge embankment.

FROM SIERRA LEONE TO CANADA WITHOUT ADDRESS.

National Drug Co. Receive Unusual and Amusing Letter.

The National Drug & Chemical Co., of Canada, Limited, have just received a letter from the West Coast of Africa which reached its proper destination although addressed in an extremely vague manner. The writer was evidently a native with an imperfect knowledge of English. The letter was written by a member of the 2nd. West India Regiment and is as follows:—

Sierra Leone, West Africa,
August 8th, 1910.

Dear Sir,—With congratulations, I address you these few lines. May it find you enjoying good time and health at present. Sir, I have received your letter. I notice the contents. Please send me one box of your Gin Pills, 2s 1d. I want to try it and if they do me good, I will send back very early. While I am your truly same.

A. O. GREEN,
B Company, 2 W. I. R.

The envelope bears only the following inscription:
National Drug & Co., of Canada Ltd.
27-29 Wellington St., West.

There is no town, city or country mentioned. Yet this letter was sent from the postoffice in Sierra Leone to England, as shown by the London postmark, and forwarded to Plymouth, thence to Montreal, reaching this city on August 31st, only twenty-one days after being written in West Africa. This is an excellent example of the wide-spread reputation of the National Drug & Chemical Co. of Canada, Limited, and of their excellent preparations which, it may be stated, are known in all parts of the world.

The home of Mr. and Mrs. Donaldson, of this village, was the scene of a happy event on Wednesday of last week, Oct. 5th, when their niece, Miss Letitia Watson was united in the holy bonds of matrimony to Mr. Russell Thurston of Bobcaygeon.

The ceremony which was witnessed by only a few of the relatives and friends of the contracting parties was performed by the Rev. Mr. Scott, pastor of the Presbyterian Church.

The bride who was given away by her uncle, wore a beautiful suit of ecru French net over silk of the same shade, with trimmings of liberty satin in two shades. The veil was of fine net to match dress, and was held up with bridal roses. She also carried a handsome shower bouquet of roses and carnations.

The wedding march was played by Miss Hazel Watson, of Orangeville, niece of the bride.

After the ceremony the party adjourned to the dining room, where the tables were tastefully decorated with smilax and chrysanthemums, partake of the luncheon.

The bride's going away costume was of striped ladies cloth, in a shade of taupe, with hat to match. The groom's gift to the bride was a set of Persian lamb furs.

THURSTON—WATSON.

The home of Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Donaldson, of this village, was the scene of a happy event on Wednesday of last week, Oct. 5th, when their niece, Miss Letitia Watson, was united in the holy bonds of matrimony to Mr. Russell Thurston, of Bobcaygeon.

The ceremony which was witnessed by only a few of the relatives and friends of the contracting parties, was performed by the Rev. R. S. Scott, pastor of the Presbyterian Church.

The bride who was given away by her uncle, wore a beautiful gown of cora French net over taffeta silk of the same shade, with trimmings of liberty satin in biscuit shades. The veil was of fine French net to match dress, and was caught up with bridal roses. The bride carried a handsome shower bouquet of roses and carnations.

The wedding march was played by Miss Hazel Watson, of Grand Valley, niece of the bride.

After the ceremony the guests adjourned to the dining room where the tables were tastefully decorated with smilax and chrysanthemums to partake of the luncheon.

The bride's going away costume was of striped ladies cloth, in castor and taupe, with hat to match. The groom's gift to the bride was a set of Persian lamb furs.

The wedding couple left on the evening train for Buffalo and other points. They will reside in Bobcaygeon.—Hillsburg Beaver.

CARNAHAN—SEMPLE.

The marriage of Miss Mabel Anna Semple, daughter of Mr. Andrew Semple, ex-M.P.P. for Centre Wellington, and Mrs. Semple, to Mr. Harold Carnahan, took place at two o'clock Saturday afternoon at the residence of the bride's parents, Major street, Toronto. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. James Murray, pastor of Erskine Church, in the presence of the immediate friends and relatives. The bride, who was given away by her father, wore a travelling suit of King's blue cloth, and black velvet hat with plumes, and carried pink roses. There were no attendants, and Mr. and Mrs. Carnahan left later in the afternoon for Chicago.

LAST YEAR'S APPLES.

One of our Mono subscribers dropped into the sanctum on Friday afternoon with some excellently preserved apples of the 1909 vintage. He explained that he had picked them up in Mr. John Bradley's cellar, where they had lain since they were harvested nearly a year ago. The apples have not shrunk or withered, and are just as fresh looking as fruit right off the trees. We have been unable to learn the name of the variety, but it seems to possess exceptional keeping qualities.

ROCKSIDE.

A number of the members of Melville Church met at the house of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Wells the other evening and showed their appreciation of Mr. Wells' interest and work in the Sabbath School by presenting him with a gold watch fob, a handsomely bound copy of that beautiful work "The Quest of Happiness" and the following appreciative address:—

To Mr. Charles Wells,
Rockside, Ontario.

Dear Fellow-Worker,—We regret that the time has come when in the wise ordering of Divine Providence you are to take your departure from our midst. During the period of your sojourn amongst us, yourself and your estimable partner in life have become very dear to us, and we take this opportunity of expressing in a humble way our best wishes for your combined welfare. As Secretary of our Sabbath School in Melville Church, we shall especially miss your genial help and kindly manner, but we pray that God will continue to make use of your talents in that portion of His Vineyard in which your lot may be cast, and service required. We beg of you to accept these tangible tokens of our interest in you and yours and to ask that as we continue to pursue in different spheres our own plans, the Master shall guide us all into His own great Home where there shall be no more partings.

Signed on behalf of your many friends.

Pastor.

M. E. SHEP,

DISTRICT MEETING.

The financial meeting of Orangeville District was held in the Methodist Church here last Thursday. Arrangements were completed for a general missionary campaign in connection with the Laymen's Movement in Missions. Considerable time was spent discussing connectional finances, more particularly the educational, missionary and superannuation funds. The action of the last General Conference, which increased the amount aged ministers are entitled to receive for their services, has placed the Superannuation Fund on a much better basis.

IMPORTANT TO LADIES.

It is not often an opportunity occurs at your door to see the latest Parisian and New York styles in Hair Goods, yet such is the case, as Prof. Depouvent, of Toronto, is visiting this town, and invites your inspection of these goods at his private apartments reserved at the Hotel.

These Hair Goods styles, when properly adapted, protect and ornament the head, soften and beautify the expression of the face, and consequently tone up an aged appearance. Be sure and see them at Queen's Hotel, on Saturday, Oct. 29th, 1910.

MISSIONARY CAMPAIGN.

The Methodist Churches of the Orangeville District are engaged in a missionary campaign under the auspices of the Laymen's Missionary Movement. The campaign was inaugurated on Sunday, when the ministers of the district dealt with the subject of mission giving, from their own pulpits. Arrangements have been made for a general interchange of pulpits next Sabbath. Rev. H. L. Partridge, of Rosemont, will speak in the Methodist Church here, Rev. Dr. Harper taking Mr. Partridge's services in the Rosemont circuit. On the following Sunday the pulpits will be manned as far as possible by prominent laymen.

GIVE BABY A CHANCE

Don't dose the baby with soothing mixtures and narcotics—they were never known to help any baby. You might just as well dose the grown up man or woman with opium or cocaine—the result would be the same—a permanent injury to mind and body. When baby is ill give him a medicine that will cure—a medicine free from injurious drugs. Such a medicine is Baby's Own Tablets. They are baby's greatest friend. They never do harm—always good. Concerning them Mrs. Richard Mulloy, Lavigan, Sask., writes: "Baby's Own Tablets should be in every home where there are small children. We gave them to our baby when he was teething and they kept him good natured and healthy." The Tablets are sold by medicine dealers or by mail at 25c. a box from The Dr. Williams Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

A SUDDEN DEATH.

Prominent East Garafraxa Farmer Expires While at Work in His Garden.

Death came with startling suddenness to one of the pioneer settlers of this section in the person of Mr. Andrew Hughson, at his home, "The Model Farm," east half lot 3, con. B., East Garafraxa, on Friday morning last. Deceased who was known throughout this section as having one of the finest farms and vegetable gardens in the township, was working in his garden, when the unexpected summons came. His sons, who were at work close by, when they saw their father fall, rushed to his assistance, but the vital spark had already fled and although a physician was soon on the scene his efforts at resuscitation were of no avail.

The late Mr. Hughson was born in the township of Amaranth 73 years ago, and was a son of Mr. Nelson Hughson, one of the first settlers of the township. About the year 1865, he was married to Miss Margaret Gillespie, second youngest daughter of the late Charles Gillespie, and shortly afterwards moved to the farm on which he died. The deceased was a staunch Reformer, but did not allow public affairs to interfere with his duties on the farm, and as a result he leaves behind him a splendid property, which is aptly named "The Model Farm." In religion he was a Presbyterian and in earlier days was a faithful attendant at church services, but on account of advancing years and their attendant infirmities, together with the considerable distance he lived from church, his attendance has necessarily not been so regular of late years. A family of four sons and three daughters survive, his wife having predeceased him by almost two years. The sons and daughters are:—Chas. G., who resides on the Dunning farm west of the town; Nelson, Andrew and Stewart, on the homestead; Mrs. W. J. Hunter, Orangeville; Miss Susie, Toronto, and Miss Amelia at home.

The funeral, which was largely attended, was held from his late residence to Greenwood cemetery at 3 o'clock on Sunday afternoon. The services at the house and grave were conducted by Rev. Dr. Harper. The pallbearers were four brothers, Johnston, of Whitby, James, of Caledon, George, of Hamilton, and Isaac N., of Springbrook, and Messrs. James Montgomery and Ed. Rennick, of East Garafraxa.

JAS. A. CUNNINGHAM.

Mr. Jas. A. Cunningham, who lived in Orangeville many years and was well-known to most of our citizens, died quite suddenly at his home, 295 Evelyn Ave., Toronto, on Wednesday evening of last week. Mr. Cunningham, who had not been in very good health since the death of his son, who was killed in the C. P. R. yards in West Toronto about two months ago, had a paralytic seizure early Wednesday afternoon. His wife, who was with him at the time, summoned the neighbors and a doctor, but the stricken man did not rally and passed away a few hours later. The deceased had been almost helpless for many years, having completely lost the use of his lower limbs. He worked at knitting in his home and in this way was able to help his wife and family to maintain the household. Last spring Mr. and Mrs. Cunningham moved to West Toronto at the solicitation of their son, William, a fine young man about 22 yearsof age, who was anxious to have them reside with him. A few months afterwards he met his death as already related. The bereavement preyed heavily on the father and he had been failing rapidly. The remains were brought to Orangeville for burial, the funeral taking place from the home of his sister-in-law, Mrs. Denny, John St., to Greenwood cemetery on Friday afternoon. Rev. Dr. Harper conducted the services. Much sympathy is felt for Mrs. Cunningham, who has passed through the harrowing experience of losing her husband and only son within a few weeks of each other.

FRANCIS H. SANDERS.

At an early hour Saturday morning Francis H. Sanders, an old resident of Orangeville, passed away at his residence after an illness of a year's duration. The late Mr. Sanders was born in the township of Bertie, Welland county, but came to Mono with the family when he was a year old and resided in that township and Mono Mills until about 25 years ago, when he removed to Orangeville and has resided here ever since. About 36 years ago he married Miss Annie Jones, who, with a family of four sons and three daughters, are left to mourn his loss. The family are Ashal F. and William H., of Buffalo; Herbert S., of New York and John J., of Flint, Mich.; Mrs. J. M. Zeller, of Brooks, Ore.; Misses Annie, of Welland, and Eva of the Sun staff. The late Mr. Sanders was a quiet, inoffensive man and was highly esteemed by all who knew him. He was a staunch member of the Anglican church, and for a number of years sang in the choir. In politics he was a consistent Conservative and he was also a member of the Chosen Friends. Among the floral tributes were a wreath from that Society, a spray of chrysanthemums from the choir of St. Mark's and a spray from Mr. and Mrs. Jos. H. Hughes. The funeral took place to the Forest Lawn cemetery on Monday afternoon. Rev. Mr. Rix conducted service at the house and grave, and the pallbearers were Messrs. M. H. Shaw, Wm. McConnell, B. McGuire, H. A. Duke, Jas. Darraugh and Wm. Martin. The family have the sympathy of the community in their bereavement.

SANSOM SUCCUMBED.

Blood Poisoning Ended Life of Victim of Cement Works Accident.

Milton Sansom, who sustained terrible injuries while working in the cement plant a week ago Tuesday, succumbed about noon on Monday after a brave but unavailing struggle to save his life by his physicians and those who were nursing him. Death was caused by blood poisoning, which the doctors had feared from the outset. The injured boy, who was conscious the greater part of the time, suffered a good deal, but bore the pain manfully and without murmuring. The funeral, which was largely attended, was held from his parents' home to the Forest Lawn cemetery at 2.30 o'clock yesterday afternoon. The services, which were of an impressive character, were conducted by Rev. Dr. Harper, pastor of the Methodist Church. The casket was almost hidden by a mass of beautiful floral tributes. These included wreaths from the Superior Cement Company, the Liebander Bible Class and the Methodist Church Choir, a pillow from the cement works employees, a harp from the boy friends of the deceased, an anchor from his parents, a wreath from Mr. and Mrs. Parrette, Toronto, an anchor, Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Sansom, West Toronto, a wreath, Mr. and Mrs. Ford, Toronto, and sprays, Mr. and Mrs. Harkney and Thos. and Willie White, Toronto, Miss Margaret Flesher, Misses Irene and Jean McDonald and Mr. Vaughan. The pallbearers were Messrs. Fred Wright, W. Vanwyck, Earl Densmore, A. T. Howard, E. H. Besley and Fred Wright.

10,000 ACRES.

Of the Pine Plains to be Turned Into a Walnut Plantation.

(Alliston Herald.)

The problem as to what use the pine plains in the townships of Tossorontio and Essa could be put to has been solved by a New York millionaire, who will turn a large proportion of this tract of land and sand into an immense walnut plantation.

The New Yorker has, it is said, acquired about 10,000 acres of land, the prices ranging from $1.50 to $6 per acre. Agents have been quietly purchasing the lands for some weeks and it is alleged that they have their plans made for reforesting the property next summer.

The Herald is informed that within ten years the walnut trees will yield at least $1.50 each in nuts per year and that the revenue from this source will increase to $5 per tree as the trees mature. At the end of twenty-five years, it is estimatd the trees will measure 700 to 1000 feet of lumber each. This in itself is a pretty large return on the investment, as walnut lumber is worth in the neighborhood of $200 per thousand.

The purchaser of the lands has a force of men ready to start removing the pine stumps and preparing the ground for the planting.

At one time it was thought the Dominion Government would establish a military training ground on the plains, but they finally located at Petawawa. It was later reported that the Ontario Government would reforest the lands, but this appears to have fallen through also. Now an enterprising Yankee has put money into what nobody else would touch.

WANT ANOTHER VOTE.

Brampton Anti-Optionists Want Another Chance at By-Law.

May Present a Petition to the Town Council.

Will there be another vote on Local Option at the January elections? The wets say there will be and that a petition will soon be presented to the Town Council demanding such a vote.

As our readers all know, the by-law passed at the last elections was quashed at Osgoode Hall on a technicality. The result has been that Brampton is a non-license town and will remain such to the end of the three years which the by-law would have covered had it stood the court test. We understand that the drys are content to stand pat, to leave matters as they are, and it is also declared that the Town Council, which could bring on another vote if it so minded, is likewise content with present arrangements.

However, if the wets can produce a properly signed petition in the required time, another vote will have to be granted by the Council. The wets claim that they will have no difficulty in getting up such a petition. They have all the names of last year's petitioners and these, of course, they argue will want another by-law voted on for they want Local Option and nothing else. Then there are those who don't want Local Option, and these want another chance to defeat it, and, although many of them declared they would never sign a Local Option petition, on this occasion they are prepared to waive their prejudice in favor of fair play for the men who lost their licenses and would have them back again. If it goes as the wets have it, the petition should be a hummer.

The Local Option people are preparing to contest Toronto Gore, the little township of Peel which has one lone tavern, that at Clairville. Barley used to rule the temperance opinions of the Gore in years gone by but it won't have much effect in any contest that may be brought on and the township will very likely go as most rural communities go these days and carry Local Option.

In Toronto Township, where Local Option was defeated a few years ago the vote will be more favorable for the temperance party and they are confident of success. About Meadowvale they say the voters are strongly in favor of Local Option. The tavern there has been doing a land office business since last May with the thirsty Bramptonians and the doings of some of these people in and around the village has disgusted the ruralites. Particularly is this feeling evinced along the third line, the highway favored by the bibulous young men of Brampton in making noisy pilgrimages to the shrine of Bacchus. The third liners vow they will stop the processions of livery rigs with their hilarious passengers tauntingly tipping bottles to their lips to the great annoyance of the toiling husbandmen in the fields alongside the highway. Besides the bunches of conversation that these bacchanalians distribute along the line are also irritating to quiet, peaceful citizens. Things like this have quite an effect in making certain farmers naturally anti, favor the measure.—Peel Banner.

Two and a Half Hours on Operating Table

Specialist Could Not Remove Stone In The Bladder

GIN PILLS PASSED IT

JOLIETTE, P.Q.

"During August last, I went to Montreal to consult a specialist as I had been suffering terribly with Stone in the Bladder.

He decided to operate but said the stone was too large to remove and too hard to crush. I returned home and was recommended by a friend to try GIN PILLS.

They relieved the pain. I took two boxes and went back to the specialist. He said the stone was smaller but he could not remove it although he tried for two hours and a half. I returned home and continued to take GIN PILLS, and to my great surprise and joy, I passed the stone.

GIN PILLS are the best medicine in the world and because they did me so much good, I will recommend them all the rest of my life". 46

CRIME.

The crimes of murder and outrage may not have been of late much more frequent than usual—at all times too appallingly common—but the instances recently reported, show that bestial and murderous passions are not on the decrease. We would not create any false alarm, but it is abundantly clear that the law for the protection of the person must be enforced without any mitigation of its severity. The brutal temptation to gratify lust, and to kill, must be kept in check and put down at all hazards.

It is not a pleasant subject to write about, but life, and the integrity of the person of woman are sacred, and no false delicacy should prevent the plainest word of warning to evil doers, and of appeal to all officers of justice to do their duty to the full in discovering the criminal, and, on conviction, awarding the punishment decreed by law. The world over our people are held in high repute for the security of the person among them, and the fair and fearless administration of justice. Murder is murder, and lust is lust, whether the act is deliberately planned, and the opportunity watched for, or is the spasmodic outcome of one of those mysterious epidemic outbreaks of crime which occur now and then in all communities, the puzzle and the despair of the criminologist, and there can be no temporizing with such frightful evils. At the hands of the brutal and passionate both crimes are so easy, and so far removed from all others, that society, in its own defence, must uphold their enormity, and never permit the calculating, or imitative (imbecile) law-breaker to lose sight for a moment of the dreaded punishment that lies at the end of his path. Whatever the trouble, and whatever the cost, he must be tracked down to his ultimate lair. And after sentence, the pardoning power must be used with great discretion. Crime and criminals must be made to feel utterly insecure in this country. And on this point we are sure every true moralist and patriot will join us and speak with no uncertain sound.—The Presbyterian.

A band has been organized in Beeton.

Mr. T. C. Townrow, of Toronto, formerly of Albion, will remember his visit to Bolton fair for many a long day. In the course of business Mr. Townrow received the sum of $448 in bills, chiefly 20's, which he stowed away in his trousers' pocket, spent the afternoon on the fair grounds and took the evening train for Toronto. But he did not have the money when he got on a street car in the city, and how it disappeared he cannot figure out. He offers a liberal reward for its recovery.

You Blame the Stomach

But chronic indigestion will disappear when the liver, kidneys and bowels are set right by DR. A. W. CHASE'S KIDNEY AND LIVER PILLS

You are skeptical.

For you have tried many medicines and still suffer from indigestion with all its annoying symptoms.

Take a new line.

Leave the stomach alone, for the source of trouble is in the intestines, and healthful digestion can be restored by the use of Dr. A. W. Chase's Kidney and Liver Pills.

Mr. C. D. Bennett, Maple Grove, Megantic Co., Que., writes:—"I had dyspepsia very bad. The food would sour, my stomach would swell up. I suffered a great deal and could not sleep. As the result of using Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills I am now entirely cured and can eat any kind of food. They have made a new man and a younger man of me and I cannot say too much in their praise."

COON—HUGHES.

A very pretty autumn wedding was that which took place Thursday afternoon in St. Paul's Methodist church, Toronto, at half-past two, when Inez Olive, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Stewart Hughes, Roxborough avenue, became the bride of Mr. Harry James Coon, M.A., son of Mr. and Mrs. John Coon, of Belleville. Golden 'mums with autumn foliage and palms decorated the church for the ceremony, at which Rev. C. O. Johnston officiated. Mr. G. T. Atkinson was at the organ, and Mrs. Lawrence Lugsdin sang "Because," while the register was being signed. The bride, whose father gave her away, wore a handsome gown of white duchess satin and bebe Irish lace, with pearl embroidery in true lovers' knots. A bandeaux of pearls with rosettes of orange blossoms at the sides, secured her tulle veil, and she carried a shower of lillies and roses. She also wore her gift from the groom, a pendant of pearls and cairngorms. Mrs. Bredin Galbraith, who was matron of honor for her niece, wore pale blue silk crepe de chine with large black velvet hat with yellow 'mums and wore pearl and was her sister's bridesmaid. She wore pale yellow embroidered mull with black velvet hat with two huge yellow roses. Both carried clusters of yelow 'mums and wore pearl and amethyst brooches, gifts from the groom. To the best man, Mr. Grant McClatchie, and ushers, Mr. Lester Greene, Mr. Joseph Hughes and Mr. Bredin Galbraith, he gave monogram scarf pins. After the ceremony, Mrs. Hughes, in rose satin with black hat with willow plumes, held a reception. Mrs. John Coon was wearing Cobalt blue silk with black plumed hat. When leaving later for New York for their honeymoon, the bride wore a tan basket cloth costume with Charlotte Corday hat of wedgwood blue velvet. On their return they will reside in Eglinton.

REBURN—ALLEN

A quiet wedding took place on Wednesday afternoon, at the residence of Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Reburn, Joseph Street, Shelburne, when their eldest son, Herbert J. Reburn, was married to Miss Laura Mabel Allen, daughter of Robt. Allen, of Owen Sound. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. W. A. Potter, B. A., B.D. pastor of the Shelburne Methodist church, in the presence of only the immediate relatives of the contracting parties. Little Irene Gallaugher, niece of the groom, was flower girl. Mr. and Mrs. Reburn left for Toronto on the evening train. On their return the happy couple will reside on Joseph St., Shelburne. Their many friends wish them success.— Free Press.

AGED STOCK RAISER.

Mr. A. Frank, of The Grange, has a mare colt, dark brown in color, which was foaled on Aug. 20th, 1910, sired by Wirey Jim, a standard-bred stallion; dam a registered thoroughbred blood mare. When foaled Mr. Frank says that it was the smallest and smartest colt he ever saw. Weighed, when a month and four days old, it turned the scales at 128 lbs.

Mr. Frank is 80 years of age and is still able to drive a good road horse over the Caledon Mountains and Valleys, having driven to Erin from his home Cedar Grove Farm, lot 3, con. 4, West Caledon, a distance of 7 miles, on Wednesday last.

Though that age, he is, according to his own statement, enjoying the best of natural and spiritual health. He leaves it open to beat his record. —Erin Advocate.

THE BANNER

THURSDAY, OCTOBER 20, 1910

We have just received a copy of a modest little newspaper called the Rocky Mountain House Echo, further described as the official organ of the "Canadian Uncle Sam Club." The paper is printed on a single sheet, 14 by 11, and is issued the first Saturday of every month. Whatever it lacks in size is made up for by the breeziness and spicy character of its news columns. The editor of the interesting publication is Mr. Geo. T. Thomson, of Prairie Grange, Alta. Mr. Thomson, our readers will be interested to learn, is a former Caledon boy. He was born and brought up in the neighborhood of Alton and went west about fifteen years ago.

THE LIQUOR DETECTIVE.

In last week's issue the Post devotes a column of its space to an attempt to cast discredit on the methods the Ontario Government has seen fit to employ for the purpose of suppressing the illegal traffic in strong drink. Our cotem is apparently strongly inclined to find fault with the employment of detectives or "spotters" as they are contemptuously called. It may not be amiss to point out that the use of detectives is recognized in all civilized nations as necessary for the detection and punishment of crime. Their methods may not always commend themselves to the judgment of right-thinking citizens, but they are nevertheless a necessary part of the machinery for protecting society from the lawless and criminally inclined element that exists in every community. If the state is justified in employing detectives to solve a murder mystery, ferret out a robbery, or run a gang of counterfeiters to earth, it is surely warranted in employing the same means to convict the man who sets the law at defiance by selling strong drink. The "spotter," as he is frequently designated, probably adopts means that the average citizen would scorn to stoop to. At the same time there is the incontrovertible fact that if the hotelkeeper, for whom our cotem seems to be attempting to enlist sympathy, observes the law he will have no occasion to worry over the "spotter" or his methods. Merrill, the detective who gave evidence in the Morrison charge and who was prepared to give evidence in the Grand Central charges, may deserve all the hard things the Post says about him. We know nothing whatever about the man. There is, however, the fact, that Mr. Dawson, landlord of the Grand Central, pleaded guilty to two charges of illegal selling and submitted to two fines of $100 and costs without even the semblance of a defence. With respect to the Dufferin House charge, the Post's readers are informed that Merrill told "a most improbable, incredible story, which placed him in a painful and shameless position." Perhaps so, but why did the defence not make sure of his discomfiture by putting young Reid in the witness box? Reid was the man with whom Merrill swore he had been drinking in the Dufferin House. Under the circumstances it is surprising that the defence did not call him to refute Merrill's "most improbable, incredible story." It would be interesting also to learn just why Reid should leave town so soon after it became known that an information had been laid against the Dufferin House. He may have had the best of reasons for going away, but his evidence might have gone a long way towards convincing the public that Merrill was telling an "improbable, incredible story." There is of course the possibility that his evidence might have borne out the detective's version of what occurred.

DISCOUNT WORKED WELL.

Two-Thirds of Orangeville Taxes Paid In Time to Get 2 Per Cent. Off.

It has been the custom in Orangeville for a number of years to allow a discount of one per cent. on all taxes paid on or before the middle of October. This year's Council decided to increase the discount to two per cent. and fixed Monday, October 17th, as the final day on which the discount would be allowed. The roll this year amounts to $27,771.13, and of this amount $18,271.57— almost two-thirds of the whole roll—had been paid in when the Sterling Bank closed its doors Monday afternoon. The balance remaining unpaid, $9,499.56, is much smaller than usual at this time of the year. Last year $12,380.75 was the amount paid in time to take advantage of the discount offer.

EVIDENCE OF NEGLIGENCE.

Finding of Coroner's Jury in Sansom Inquest.

The inquest concerning the death of Milton Sansom, who was fatally injured in the Superior Portland Cement Co's. works, was concluded late on Wednesday. When the jury returned, after deliberating on the evidence, the foreman, Mr. R. B. Henry, announced the following verdict :—

"That Milton Sansom, youth of 17, met death on 10th of October, 1910, as the result of an accident in the plant of the Superior Portland Cement Company at Orangeville while endeavoring to pass a rope around a shaft in motion, the other end of the rope being wound around a pulley, which turned a rotary kiln, the idea being to get power to turn such kiln, which was being lined. While so engaged the fingers of deceased and left arm caught under a rope, winding tight between shaft and rope, thus whirling him around the main shaft which makes 200 revolutions a minute. We find the mode used by the Company was improper and that no person should have been allowed to engage in such a dangerous occupation with such appliances. We consider the Company was negligent in permitting this practice and recommend it be discontinued at once."

J. C. ROCKWELL'S NEW SUNNY SOUTH CO.

The Sunny South Company, which is well and favorably known in this town, is announced to appear in the Town Hall, Orangeville, Saturday evening, October 22nd. It is about two years since it was last here and during that time it has been enlarged and strengthened in every way and to-day it is conceded to be one of the strongest and most capable colored organizations of the day. The fun which will be handed over the foot lights is all new and needs no arrow to point the way to the laughs. It is bristling with new, novel and entertaining features and is brim full of laughable situations, charming musical numbers and excellent specialities. The Olio is composed of eight high-class vaudeville features, they are the kind that not alone please, but have merit as well. Comedy is all that is aimed at and nothing else is reached, bar some very clever singing, dancing and thrilling specialities, that will make the audience sit up and take notice. There is plenty of fun in the performance, in fact it was built for laughing purposes only and it is generally conceded to be one of the funniest shows since time began. It is a musical performance, wedded to the most tuneful music one would care to listen, to, full of ginger and life, with not a dull moment from start to finish. Something is going on all the time the curtain is up. If you want to have a good laugh, enjoy the evening and go home whistling, happy and contented, this is the performance where you will get full value for your money. Mr. Rockwell does not believe in putting the greater part of his salary allotment into one or two acts and allowing the balance of the performance to suffer through the employment of cheaper ones, which always disgust the experienced patron, but, he has found that the expenditure of money for the purpose of making each act and detail complete pays twice over in the box office receipts. This explains why the Sunny South always gives unbounded satisfaction.

The organization is accompanied by a high-class solo concert band and a superb orchestra. The band will head the Koontown parade, which will take place at noon.

The prices of admission have been placed at 25 and 50 cents.

Reserved seats are now selling at Gillespie's Pharmacy.

A WEEKLY MARKET.

Council Takes Steps to Establish One in Orangeville.

Coun. Curry's By-Law Causes a Deadlock.

Councillor Curry's by-law to prohibit drunkenness and disorderly conduct was shelved by the Town Council, when it came up for consideration on Monday night. The Council was evenly divided for and against the measure. Couns. Gillespie, Hill, Curry and Hepton supported the by-law. Mayor Riddell, Reeve Arnott, Deputy-Reeve Campbell and Coun. Fairburn lined up on the other side. Coun. Gordon, who was supposed to be strongly in favor of the by-law, was for some reason absent and may therefore be fairly held responsible for its defeat. The first division occurred in Committee of the Whole, upon Mayor Riddell's motion to change the words "drunk or disorderly" to "drunk and disorderly." The amendment was lost on a tie vote. Coun. Hill's motion to adopt the clause as originally drafted met with the same fate. After considerable discussion, the Committee eventually rose and reported progress.

The Clerk was authorized to issue orders for the payment of the following accounts :—Geo. King, $8.57, $5.25, $2.88; John Gough, $1.35, $3, $4.50; Joseph Corneilius, $3.

A communication from Jos. Hiley asking for the remission of his taxes was referred to the Court of Revision. A letter from Rev. G. A. Rix regarding Mrs. Ann Booth's taxes was also referred to the Court. A similar fate befel a complaint from Mr. H. D. Stuckey respecting his business tax. James Gough was another complainant respecting business tax. In his case also the Court of Revision was asked to make an adjustment.

On motion of Reeve Arnott, seconded by Coun. Curry, Council decided to take steps to establish a weekly cash market. The first market will be held on Thursday, Oct. 27th.

The Fire & Water Committee was instructed to attend to the matter of letting the water out of the elevated tank during the winter months.

The following is the text of Coun. Curry's by-law :—

A By-Law relating to drunken or disorderly persons :—

The Corporation of the Town of Orangeville, by the Municipal Council thereof, enacts as follows :—

1. No person drunk or disorderly shall be, or be found in any street, highway or public place.

2. Provided, however, when any person is brought to a Police Station on a charge of being drunk without being disorderly the Chief Constable of the Town of Orangeville or other members of the police force in charge of such Police Station may release such person without bringing him before a Justice of the Peace or Police Magistrate.

3. All By-Laws or parts of By-Laws inconsistent with this By-Law are hereby repealed.

4. Any person convicted of an infraction of this By-Law shall forfeit and pay at the discretion of the convicting magistrate a penalty not exceeding (exclusive of costs) the sum of ..... dollars for each offence and in default of payment of said penalty and costs forthwith the said penalty and costs, or costs only, may be levied by distress and sale of the goods and chattels of the offender, and in case of there being no distress found out of which such penalty can be levied the convicting magistrate may commit the offender to the Common Gaol of the County of Dufferin, with or without hard labor, for any period not exceeding ..... days, unless the said penalty and costs (if any) including the costs of said distress and of the committal and conveyance of the said offender to the said Gaol are sooner paid.

CAUSE AND CURE OF RHEUMATISM.

Due To Impurities In The Blood—Cured by Dr. Williams' Pink Pills.

The most noticeable and immediate result of rheumatism is a marked thinning of the blood, and in no disease does it develop more rapidly. Not only does the blood become weak but it is soon filled with impurities, which the different organs of the body have been unable to throw off. One of the most harmful of these impurities is uric acid, which is formed from the waste products of the body. In health it is readily passed off by the kidneys with the help of oxygen from the red corpuscles of the blood. Without oxygen the kidneys are unable to rid the system of this acid and it is retained in the blood and distributed to all parts of the body. The weak back, pains across the kidneys and thin scanty, highly colored secretions, which follow, show that the acid is already in the blood and often leads the sufferer to think he has kidney trouble. If the disease is not driven out of the blood, rheumatism can never be cured, and the sufferer will always be subject to attacks, whenever exposed to damp or cold. With each returning attack the pain becomes more severe and complications often arise making necessary the use of habit forming drugs to relieve pain.

It is readily seen that the only way to cure rheumatism is through the blood. Dr. Williams' Pink Pills afford such a treatment as they contain all the elements necessary to build up and purify the blood. They increase its oxygen carrying capacity enabling the kidneys to pass the uric acid from the body and the other organs to do their work. Thus rheumatism is reached at its root and permanently cured. Dr. Williams' Pink Pills are absolutely free from all habit-forming drugs, and are not an experiment as the following case will show :—Mr. W. Studley Lewis, Pilot Mound, Man., says :—"I am a firm believer in Dr. Williams' Pink Pills and always keep some by me in case of need. A few years ago while teaching school I suffered so much with rheumatism in my arms and shoulders that I had the greatest difficulty in writing on the blackboard, and after trying a number of remedies without benefit, I was almost in despair, and felt inclined to abandon teaching. But one day I happened to pick up one of Dr. Williams' almanacs, and read of the cure of a number of severe cases of rheumatism through the use of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. This decided me to give the Pills a trial, and I had only taken them a few weeks when I felt much better. In the course of a few weeks more the pains and stiffness had all left me, and I had no more difficulty in doing my work. I cannot say enough in praise of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for they and they alone cured me of my rheumatism."

Sold by all medicine dealers or by mail at 50 cents a box, or six boxes for $2.50 from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

Mrs. Switzer, wife of Mr. George Switzer, died at her home near Norval on Monday morning. She had been ill for some time with rheumatism and was greatly weakened. She lived for a time at Meadowvale, but since her marriage had lived in the Township of Esquesing. A husband and seven children survive her, three sons, Messrs. ALTON.

(Intended for last week)

Mrs. W. J. Shoemaker, of Buffalo, is visiting at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Dorrington.

On Friday, Oct. the 7th, a daughter was born to Mr. and Mrs. W. Coulter.

Mr. McLaughlin, of Louis City,, S. D.. who has been renewing acquaintances for the past month, returned home last Wednesday.

Mr. Albert Martin and wife, of Mount Vernon, Wash., U.S.A., are visiting at the home of Mr. Martin's mother and father here.

Mr. R. W. Henry, of the Sterling Bank, spent over Sunday in Toronto.

Mrs. A. C. Wilson, of Brampton, who has been spending the last two weeks with friends here, returned home last Friday.

GRANGER.

Potato digging is the order of the day, and our farmers are well suited with the weather.

Mr. Herb. Fines says Markdale Fair was the best of the season.

Most of our citizens took in Erin fair last week to get porter, but we hear Geo. McKenzie took his with him.

We hear Geo. Lindsay is going to return home this fall from the West. Then, what about the southern boy?

Every night and even in the day,we hear Bob Dermott singing, "Nelly Gray."

We are living in hopes that Mr. Fred. Buchanan will have a housewarming in the near future.

Although the hunting season is now here, Kenneth says he is going to spend his spare minutes picking hazel nuts.

MONO EAST.

Anniversary services were held in the First Presbyterian Church of this place on Sunday and were among the most successful in the history of the congregation. The edifice, which has a seating capacity of four hundred, was crowded to the doors afternoon and evening. Nearly one hundred people were turned away at the night service. Rev. W. D. Turner, of Norval, a former pastor of the church, delighted his hearers with two earnest and well-reasoned sermons. Mr. Turner spoke with his wonted vigor and his discourses were admirable both in thought and delivery. The people of Mono East, it is unnecessary to add, were delighted with the visit from their former pastor and hope this will not be the last occasion on which they will have the pleasure of listening to him. The collections for the day surpassed all former givings on occasions of this kind.

Visitors from Tottenham and Caledon East were noticed in the congregation, which attended the anniversary services Sunday night.

MELANCTHON.

Rev. Jeffrey Hill, of Shelburne, was visiting in this neighborhood last week.

Mr. and Mrs. Wm. McClelland, of the Old Survey, spent Sunday at Albert Chipchase's.

Mr. Fred. Barrett has purchased the Robt. Stewart farm on the 4th line for $2700, and is preparing to move there.

Two threshing machines are working in the neighborhood now. Hamilton Young's is at Thos. Sanderson's, and the company machine, operated by Messrs. Slye and Branter, is at William Barrett's to'day (Tuesday).

Mr. James Sloan disposed of his saw mill last week to a gentleman up north who will move the machinery in the near future.

A car or two of potatoes were loaded and shipped from this station last week.

ROSEMONT.

At time of writing we are enjoying lovely fall weather.

Mrs. Archy Moffitt is visiting her sister, Mrs. Fleming, of Kilsyth.

Miss Bertha McDowell is spending a couple of weeks at Whitfield.

Mr. Percy Armstrong and sister, Miss Maggie, Mr. Norman and the Misses Bertha and Ethel Little,spent Sunday with West Essa friends.

The marriage of Mr. Herb. Morrison, of Rosemont, and Miss Elsie Ewing, of Alliston, took place on Wednesday at the home of the bride's mother in Alliston, Mr. Partridge, of Rosemont, officiating. After the wedding breakfast the young couple took the evening train for Collingwood. On their return they were brought to the home of the groom's aunt, Mrs. Dickey, where they were presented with an address and a leather seated chair by the members of the Methodist League, of which both were members. We all join in wishing Mr. and Mrs. Morrison bon-voyage.

MONO CENTRE.

Wedding bells are ringing in our burg.

Messrs. Geo. and Percy Ladd have the carpenter work of their father's house almost completed.

Mr. Garfield Lawson, who had the misfortune to have his arm broken about three weeks ago, while helping to turn a tank wagon, is doing nicely.

Mr. Thos. Gamble is doing a rushing business with his potatoe digger this fall.

Mr. Harry Baker is making good progress in the threshing line, having finished nine barns in one week recently.

Mr. J. A. McFadden, our general merchant, is doing a rushing trade in fowl this fall.

Thanksgiving is near at hand and our local sports are looking forward to a day's enjoyment.

There is a man close by our town,
Who holds this township's record down.
He owns six hundred in real estate,
And grows potatoes that propagate.
He is heavy in weight and heavily assessed,
A man of muscle and heavy chest,
With heavy beard and lots of chin,
He always wears a pleasant grin.
For clergymen he has no use,
And all of such he does abuse;
But Father Vaughan he does declare
Just knows it all and some to spare.
Now who is this man so heavily assessed,
And by this earth so richly blessed?

—See Ritchie's special setts of Furs at $15.00.

ALTON.

A social event of unusual importance took place in our village on Wednesday evening of last week. The ladies of the Methodist Church here invited the members and adult adherents of the Congregational and Methodist Churches to meet together for a social evening. An excellent tea was provided, to which from 150 to 200 persons sat down. An enjoyable programme of music, song and short addresses was given. Among the invited guests were Rev. Dr. and Mrs. Harper, of Orangeville.

Rev. T. R. White, of Laurel, occupied the pulpit in the Methodist Church here last Sunday. We understand the pastor, Mr. Langford, will be assisted by a representative layman next Sunday.

Mrs. Stevens returned home last week after spending a few weeks with her sister, Mrs. James Grahame, of Black's Corners.

Shiloh's Cure quickly stops coughs, cures colds, heals the throat and lungs. 25 cents.

THE GROWING WEST.

A Land of Optimism and Gigantic Enterprises.

Rev. Dr. Harper Tells Epworth Leaguers About His Trip to the Coast.

A very pleasant evening was spent in the Methodist Church on Monday evening under the auspices of the Epworth League. The pastor, Rev. Dr. Harper, gave an entertaining description of his recent trip to the Coast. He was one of a party of forty, who chartered a private car and made the trip together. This added greatly to the enjoyment of all and also lessened the expense of the trip. Dr. Harper gave a brief description of the places and scenery along the C. P. R. between Toronto and Port Arthur at the head of Lake Superior. It was impossible in words to convey any adequate idea of the grandeur of the scenery in the Rocky Mountains. The snow-capped summits, rising in majestic grandeur, some to the height of 13,000 feet, the rushing rivers close to which the railway kept as it threaded its way among the mountains, the foaming waterfalls, which dashed down the mountain sides, and the dark green masses of fir, pine and poplar made a picture which must be seen to be appreciated. The rev. gentleman spoke interestingly of the foreign element in the mixed population of British Columbia and described the Chinese quarters in Vancouver and Victoria as seen at midnight under the guidance of a police officer. Some of the big things of the West were noticed, among them the great Douglas firs and the methods the lumbermen have adopted for handling these giants of the forest and converting them into lumber. The West, Dr. Harper described as a place of gigantic enterprises in lumbering, mining, agriculture and irrigation works. His description of the C. P. R. irrigation works near Calgary was instructive. It was also a land of high prices. A hair cut cost 35c., a shave 25c. butter and eggs from 40c. to 60c., and hotel accommodation from $3 a day upwards. In Burns' abattoir at Calgary, 300 beeves are slaughtered daily. Burns is the Armour of the West. The spirit of the west, Dr. Harper described as being optimistic and very progressive. It is emphatically a young man's country. A comparison was made between the observance of law and order and the keeping of the Sabbath as seen in Seattle, Portland, Ore., and other American cities, and some of the Canadian western cities, much to the advantage of the latter. The attitude of leading Canadians on these great questions was aptly illustrated by the well-known story of Premier Laurier on the occasion of his recent visit to Prince Rupert. The entertainment provided for the Premier included a Sunday excursion for himself and party. A boat had been chartered, luncheon provided and all other arrangements made, but when the committee acquainted the Premier with its plans, he said, "Gentlemen, we have a Sabbath law in this country and as first Minister of the Crown I wish to observe it. I must decline your invitation and shall attend Church."

A musical programme, consisting of solos by Percy Harding and Fred. Faulkner, and a duett by Miss Bell and Mrs. (Dr.) Bowles, added to the pleasure of the programme.

LAUREL.

We are glad to welcome Rev. J. R. Bell home again after an absence of four weeks on special evangelistic work on the Manitoulin Island and in Algoma. We are pleased to learn that he met with gratifying success in his mission.

Rev. T. R. White was absent on Sunday delivering missionary addresses in the Methodist Churches at Alton and Charleston. Rev. Chas. Langford, of Alton, spoke on missions here and in the other churches of the circuit.

We understand that Mr. James Trimble has bought the Robert Trimble farm on 5 sideroad, southeast of here. The price paid was in the neighborhood of $4000.

Municipal matters have been decidedly quiet up to the present time. In view of Reeve Hosick's retirement and the removal of Deputy-Reeve Simpson to Grand Valley there is naturally considerable speculation as to who will fill their shoes next year. It is whispered that Councillor Hamilton, who is the oldest member at the Council Board, has designs on the Reeve's chair. Rumor also has it that Coun. Menary is casting wistful glances in the direction of Deputy-Reeve Simpson's seat. We also learn that some of the old municipal heads think they could "come back" again. Some of the men, who graced the reeveship, when the system of direct election of county councillors was in vogue, are credited with cherishing the belief that the present is a favorable opportunity to get a term at the county council board. If any of these men should decide to get in the game again, there will likely be doings of more than ordinary interest in Amaranth this year.

Two new bridges are being built in the vicinity of Stayner. One on the 12th of Sunnidale, known as McIntyre's bridge, the other on townline of Nottawasaga and Sunnidale near the sand hill. Mr. J. J. Dumond, of Brentwood, has the contract for the cement work of both bridges. The bridge on the 12th will be a steel structure on cement abutments and will be about 40 ft. long, and cost about $2,000, which the county will pay for. The bridge on the township line will be all cement, the expense of which will be met by both townships.—Sun.

"I HONESTLY BELIEVE 'FRUIT-A-TIVES'

The Greatest Cure For Rheumatism In The World"

KNOWLTON, QUE., Oct. 12th. 1909.

"For many years, I suffered from severe Rheumatism, and the attacks were very distressing and prevented me from doing my ordinary work. I tried many remedies and physicians' treatments, but nothing seemed to do me much good and I was becoming very anxious for fear I would become a permanent cripple from the disease.

I tried "Fruit-a-tives" and this medicine has entirely cured me and I honestly believe it is the greatest Rheumatism cure in the world."

E. E. MILLS.

Such a statement could not be bought from a man like Mr. Mills. He thinks too much of his good name, to sell it or sign it to an untruth. Mr. Mills tried "Fruit-a-tives" after all other treatment failed—and "Fruit-a-tives" cured him of Rheumatism. In the goodness of his heart, he wrote the above letter in order that sufferers in all parts of Canada would know that there is one remedy that actually does cure Rheumatism. This testimonial was entirely unsolicited on our part. We did not know that Mr Mills was taking "Fruit-a-tives" until we received the above letter.

It is a case like Mr. Mills' that proves the marvellous powers of "Fruit-a-tives" in arresting and curing disease. It may be stated, without fear of contradiction, that "Fruit-a-tives" will positively cure Rheumatism when properly used.

"Fruit-a-tives" is the only medicine in the world made of fruit juices and is the greatest Rheumatism cure known to modern science.

50c. a box, 6 for $2.50, or trial box, 25c. Sold by all dealers or sent, postpaid, on receipt of price by Fruit-a-tives Limited, Ottawa.

The

"Hecla" Furnace

These Grate Bars Mean a Clean Fire and no Coal Wasted.

There are four grate bars in the "Hecla." Each can be shaken separately. When the center of the fire is bright, and the outside dead, simply shake the outside bars. If any part of the fire needs cleaning, that one part may be cleaned without disturbing the live coals or unburnt fuel in any other part of the fire-pot.

"Hecla" Grate Bars are easy to shake, clean the fire without a poker, save coal and make sifting ashes unnecessary.

The "Hecla" also has the famous Fused Joints—that make this furnace absolutely and permanently gas, smoke and dust proof.

Have you our latest catalogue? You should, if you are going to put a new furnace in your house this season. Write for free copy. 92

For Health and Economy Eat more Bread

TEN cents will feed an ordinary family a day on first class bread. This does not mean ordinary bread. For there is an important difference between ordinary bread and first class bread.

It isn't a difference of looks or methods of making or baking. It is a difference of nutrition, food value, healthfulness. And this food value depends on the flour used. For there is a wide difference between flours.

If all flour were the best flour, then all bread, properly made, would be good bread. But all flour is not first class because all wheat is not first class. Wheat, you know, varies in quality almost as much as apples or potatoes; there are as many different grades of wheat as there are grades of butter—or wool.

And every difference in grade represents an actual difference in nourishing value, food elements, wholesomeness. Flour made from a low grade of wheat is by no means so healthful as flour made from high grade wheat. Now the wheat that goes into is of the very highest grade. It contains the highest possible percentage of nutritive value. The makers of "ROYAL HOUSEHOLD" maintain expensive laboratories and baking departments where skilled men scientifically analyse each day's milling. None but the very best Red Fyfe wheat—rich in nutrition and healthfulness—can pass. For this reason bread made from ROYAL HOUSEHOLD FLOUR contains the maximum of food value and furnishes the maximum of energy and strength. And for the same reason "ROYAL HOUSEHOLD" makes the finest pies, cakes, biscuits, muffins, rolls, and pastry of all kinds. It is the one flour that a housewife should use in order to have her household baking strictly first class.

"Ogilvie's Book for a Cook" with 125 pages of Recipes that have been tried and tested will be sent free to your address if you mention the name of your dealer. 36

WHEN MR. SMITH MISSED THE TRAIN.

Mr. Smith missed the train by just one-half minute, and he was in a furious temper over the matter. He lived in a pretty, countrylike suburban village, about forty-five minutes' ride from the large city in which he had his place of business, and he was accustomed to take this particular train every morning. Not once in three months did such a thing happen as his being late for the train; but on this occasion he felt like declaring that half the time he had to rush himself clear out of breath to reach it, or else miss it. He was in that exasperated state of mind where he wanted to blame somebody; a state of mind which, in a condition of development a little nearer the savage, would impel to acts of cruelty toward anything or any person on whom anger could be wrecked. The person on whom, in this instance, he could most quickly and with the least impunity cast blame was his wife. It was all her fault. Why could she not manage household affairs so that he could get his breakfast earlier? He worked like a slave at his business ten hours a day; he gave her full control of the house and furnished money to run it; she had a servant, and it was pure and utter shiftlessness in her that breakfast could not be ready in proper time. Thus, with flashing eyes, soliloquized Mr. Smith as, with anger-flushed face, he watched the train disappearing in the distance.

It was a full hour and a half till the next train; it was nearly a half mile back to Mr. Smith's house. He paced back and forth nervously for a few minutes on the station platform, debating in his mind whether he should wait there for the next train or go back home. As he mused, his anger grew. He would go back home and give his wife such a piece of his mind as she would remember for months. She would be made to feel that it was no light matter to have breakfast five minutes late. He turned his face homeward and stamped heavily along, with the air of a man determined to do a desperate deed. His face was flushed with anger and his eyes gleamed fiercely.

But, as he hastened along, somehow or other his attention was diverted by the song of a bird among the trees that lined the path. He looked up involuntarily. How brightly the sun was shining! how blue the sky was; how balmy and fragrant the air; how peaceful everything appeared and he looked off through the green specks on either side of the village street. The trees were putting forth their tenderest green; so was the grass. He noticed the fragrance of the crab-apple and wild plum blossoms; he distinguished the peculiar strain of a bird he used to hear in boyhood. It was the wood thrush. He had listened to that bird when, years ago, he walked in the meadows and lanes with the pretty, shy young girl whom his heart was then bent on winning for his wife. She was his wife now. She was the mother of three rosy, active children; they were his and hers. She was not as pretty now as she was then; she was thin and careworn. The plump rosiness and merry smile were, for the most part, gone. But what a good, true wife she had been to him! How had her economy and faithfulness helped him in getting the start he now had in the world! How little she saw of the outside world, or of diverting pleasures! How self-denying and uncomplaining she had been, and what a devoted mother to their children! And on that bright, sunshiny morning, he had been thinking hard thoughts of her and meditating what sharp, cutting words he would say to her—and all for a trivial loss of an hour from business. Mr. Smith's pace was slackened; his countenance relaxed; his heart melted. On such a morning he could not, would not, by harsh words mar the harmony and beauty of the sunshine the birds and the green things growing. No; if he could not speak kindly, he would hold his peace.

As Mr. Smith neared his home he felt a certain shrinking from meeting his wife directly. He almost feared he might betray on his countenance some of the harsh thoughts he had been thinking. So he went around the side of the house and entered the kitchen door. Bridget was standing with a perplexed and exasperated expression on her face, looking into the kitchen stove, in which smouldered a dark, dying fire.

"What is the matter, Bridget?"

"Faith, sur, it's the stove that breaks me heart intirely. The grate is broken, and the stove pipe smokes, and whin I sthrive to make a quick fire, here's the way it serves me."

"Well Bridget, I believe it is all my fault. Your mistress has asked me many times to bring a new grate from the city, and also to send a man to clean out the chimney. I will put this down in my note book and bring the new grate this evening, and the tinner shall be sent right up this morning to clean and fix the pipe."

"Oh, thank ye 'sur," said Bridget, "And could Pat fix the cistern too? The pump has been broken a long toime and keeps me back in my work and breaks meback drawing water wid a rope."

And again Mr. Smith's conscience smote him. How often had his wife asked him to send a man to fix the cistern!

"Yes, Bridget, the cistern shall be fixed this very day."

"Well, sur, then I think I'll stay. I was just telling the mistress that I wouldn't work any longer wid such inconvaniences, but if the stove and cistern are fixed a poor girl can get along."

Mr. Smith made another memorandum in his book and passed on through the dining room toward his wife's room. He noticed that her plate indicated an unsteady breakfast. Softly he opened the door of the room. His wife started up hastily with an expression of alarmed inquiry on her face. Her eyes were wet with tears. The baby still in its night clothes was fretting in the cradle, while a little two-year-old, partly dressed, tugged at her skirts.

"And so you missed the train—breakfast was late—well, I can't help it—Bridget is going to leave to," and the poor little woman covered her face with her hands and burst into sobs and tears. She fully expected angry complaints from her husband, and in some vague way, she felt she was to blame. She could not compass everything and the babies were so troublesome. Oh, did every young mother have such a hard time as she did?

"Why, darling, what is the matter?" said Mr. Smith, putting his arms around his wife and drawing her to him. "Come, don't mind. I think it is really mostly my own fault. I have come through the kitchen and I find Bridget has so much trouble with the stove being broken and the chimney smoking, that I wonder that she can get brekfast at all."

"I ought to get up in time to see that you have breakfast early," sobbed the poor little woman; "but Bridget is so cross this morning and I—I am so tired."

"No wonder darling that you are tired, with the care of these babies wearing on you all thetime. You have no business to have any care of breakfast at all, and you shall not have after this. You need your good morning nap, and you shall have it. Bridget is all right. I'm going to get that broken stove and cistern fixed to-day, and then if Bridget can't get brekfast in time, we'll find some other way to do. Come now, cheer up, and I'll help you dress these rogues; I have plenty of time before the next train."

How wonderful is the effect upon the physical nature of a spiritual impulse! How quickly can an uplifted and strengthened spirit energize and strengthen the body! Everything seemed instantly changed for poor dejected little Mrs. Smith. She laid her cheek on her husband's breast, feeling what a haven of strength and peace it was. How dear and precious was his love andprotection! Her eyes brightened and her cheeks glowed. Her weariness and depression, which had been utter misery, gave way to a delightful feeling of repose and loving happiness. In the midst of the most prosaic surroundings, her heart was full of the finest and most inspiring motion.

"Dear love, how good you are," she said. "How you have changed the aspect of everything for me this morning. Had you reproached me as many husbands would have done, I would have sunk in the deepest anguish. Now I feel strong—strong and happy."

Releasing his wife with a tender kiss Mr. Smith took the baby from the cradle and merrily drew its stockings and shoes on its little, plump, kicking, rosy feet. Then he brushed out the other little fellow's curls and buttoned his shoes. Willie, the oldest, had slipped out of the house, and Mr. Smith went to look for him and found that he had taken advantage of an insecure lock on the him back, Mr. Smith got the hatchgate to run off up street. Bringing him back, Mr. Smith got the hatchet and in a few minutes had the gate fixed so that Master Willie could not open it. His wife smilingly opened the front door and seeing what he had done, exclaimed: "Oh, I am so relieved to find that Willie can not get out of the yard. It has been such a trouble that he could open the gate."

And now it was time to start for the next train, if he stopped to order the stove and pump man to do the promised work. So gaily kissing his wife and children, once more Mr. Smith started for the station. As he walked along with a light and cheerful heart he mused:

"How cheap a thing is happiness, after all, and yet how easy to turn it into misery! If I had given away to my temper this morning, I would have gratified a momentary impulse of unreasonable anger and left behind me aching and discouraged hearts. Thank heaven for the influence of the song of bird and scent of flower; and thank heaven, too, for all the gentle influences and sweet affections that can make the most uneventful life a blessing. Dear, good wife! and dear, precious little children! Thank God, I have left them happy this morning, if I did miss the train."—Ex.

ARE KNOWN AS THE FARMER'S FRIEND.

Dodd's Kidney Pills Doing Great Work in The Prairies.

Pine Valley, Man., Oct. 17 (Special).—Michael Anderson, a well-known farmer living near here, is added to the number of those who have sent the cry echoing over the Prairies, "Dodd's Kidney Pills are the farmer's friend." And truly Mr. Anderson has reason to praise the great Canadian Kidney remedy. Listen to his experience:

"A strain and a bad cold started my troubles," says Mr. Anderson, "and for twelve long years I was a victim of Kidney trouble, Rheumatism and Gravel. Doctors attended me and I tried many medicines, but they did not cure me. Dodd's Kidney Pills cured me in less than one month."

It is easy to do anything when you know how. Mr. Anderson went right to the root of his trouble. He cured his Kidneys by using Dodd's Kidney Pills and with the root gone the other diseases disappeared. Dodd's Kidney Pills always make healthy kidneys and with healthy kidneys, you can't have Rheumatism or Gravel.

Worst Case Of Eczema

Cure only came when doctors gave up and DR. CHASE'S OINTMENT was used.

Mrs. Wm. Miller, St. Catherines, Ont., writes:—"My daughter Mary, when six months old, contracted eczema and for three years the disease baffled all treatment. Her case was one of the worst that had ever come under my notice, and she apparently suffered what no pen could ever describe. I had three different doctors attend her all to no purpose. Finally I decided to try Dr. Chase's Ointment and to my surprise she immediately began to improve and was completely cured of that long standing disease. That was four years ago when we lived at Cornwall, Ont., and as not a symptom has shown itself since, the cure must be permanent."

The record of cures which Dr. Chase's Ointment has to its credit have placed it alone as the standard cure for eczema and all forms of itching skin disease. Do not be satisfied with imitations or substitutes, 60 cents a box at all dealers or Edmanson, Bates & Co., Toronto.

Severe attacks of rheumatism are often responsible for cases of organic heart trouble. At-any-rate it is foolish to "grin and bear it."

This Feeding Floor Could Be Built in The Fall

and it would help greatly to preserve the condition of your live stock in the Spring.

Every farmer knows that in the Spring of the year his barnyard is almost bottomless. The live stock mire down into the mud and almost float around—greatly to the detriment of their physical condition.

By building a Concrete feeding floor in the yard, this trouble is done away with.

A Feeding Floor of comparatively small area and built this Fall, would pay for itself next year. Concrete is the only material that can be used in this way at a moderate cost.

Will you ask for your copy of the book which we have prepared for you—"What the Farmer Can Do With Concrete"? It's free—and, take our word for it, you'll find it one of the most interesting pieces of such literature you ever read. And profitable, too—because it will save you money.

OCTOBER DAYS.

The glory of these October days! Cool nights, crisp mornings, golden, mellow afternoons. The thickening carpet of the fall-wheat fields; the soft velvet of the new clover seeding, brightened in early morn with dewy frost; sentinel rows of corn shocks in the field behind the barn; the sere stubble of the hay and grain fields, threaded with blackened streaks where the plowman's furrow turns up the fresh soil, fragrant with a "concentrated essence of the four seasons"; the crimson flush upon the apple's cheek; the flaming color of the forest leaves; the rich-tinted, fragrant, mellow season of the harvest home!

There is something charmingly pensive about the subdued yet busy activity of these autumn weeks. Every living thing, from squirrel to beaver, seems to realize the approach of a dormant season, and those which may wisely lay up a store of Nature's bounty. No exception to this rule is Man, who, with his family, has been busy gathering the harvest of the fields, and turns now to the garden and orchard.

What a wealth of good things there are to garner on a well-ordered homestead! Not counting the field crops already in the barn, or on their way to market, here we have fruits of all kinds following the luscious strawberry (welcome harbinger of the fresh-fruit season), concluding with plums, peaches, pears, quinces, and that excellent old stand-by, the apple, in all its choice variety, from Fameuse to Greening, and that prince of winter apples, the Northern Spy. Then, the rich, spicy nuts the children gather from the woods—walnut, chestnut, hickory and butternut— to furnish, with apples, many a delicious repast before the winter fire; or, alas, too often now, over the hot-air register!

Then the pumpkins and squash and watermelons—yes, and that game-flavored vegetable, the mushroom, from the pasture field, not to mention the musk melons—"antelopes," one grocer calls them—cauliflower, cabbage, salsify, onions, celery, and what-not. "Oh, yes," the cynic smiles, "but very few farmers have all these things." No, more's the pity, but it's largely their own fault. There are few sections over the greater part of Eastern Canada where most of these things could not be enjoyed, with a little foresight, in spring. These same melons, which cost a farmer's family only a little manure and care, city folk gladly buy at 10 cents to 25 cents or 50 cents apiece, and half the other things they cannot or do not buy at their best, no matter how badly desired.

But, enough of argument. If you hadn't a garden this year, you will have next; and, an orchard, let us hope, may soon be an anticipative delight. Anyhow, whatever one has or has not, there is a spice in the very atmosphere of these mellow days, an inspiration in the gloaming, and a picture of health, happy brightness and content in the faces of children tripping home from school, and of the barefoot lad tracking through the dewy meadows, which gladdens the heart with the milk of human kindness, even though the cow's mess is settling daily in the pail. As the high lights of midsummer revolve from us in the eternal circuit of the seasons, let us glory in the hum, the halo and the harvest of these busy, golden days.—Farmers' Advocate.

POST NUPTIAL RECEPTION.

Notwithstanding the inclemency of the weather yesterday afternoon the joint post-nuptial reception of Mrs. R. C. Black and her sister-in-law Mrs. J. J. Hewitt, at the home of the former, was attended by a very large number of guests and was one of the most delightful functions of the season. Over sixty ladies were received in the handsome reception room of Mrs. Black's prettily situated home, 701 Toronto street, by Mrs. Black, Mrs. Hewitt and Miss Cruikshank, of Vancouver. Two dainty little girls, Miss Marjorie Agnew and Miss Grace Wilson, in white muslin frocks, with butterfly bows of white ribbon, attended at the door and led the guests to the hostesses in the flower decorated parlors. Mrs. Black wore her wedding gown of ivory satin, entraine, with trimmings of seed pearls and embroidered net, and an exquisite bit of jewelry, a family heirloom,—a hammered gold pendent set with emeralds; and in her hair a coronet of lilies of the valley. Mrs. Hewitt also wore her wedding gown of cream silk mull with satin and lace garniture, and roses in her coiffure. Miss Cruikshank was simply gowned in white mull and pointe d'esprit with a pendant of amethysts and pearls set in platinum, the gift of the groom at her sister's wedding. The color scheme of green in the reception and drawing rooms was emphasized by the contrasting decorations of white—bowls and vases of pure white roses and carnations and pinkish white sweet peas being placed in every angle. The always pretty house bloomed in unusual beauty for the occasion and made an unusually attractive background for the host of charming assistants. Mrs. W. B. Marshall, beautifully attired in pink silk with pink net trimmings and a large white hat, conducted the ladies from the reception room to the drawing room, where a bevy of matrons served wine and cake. The group included Mrs. A. R. Perry, wearing a smart suit of navy blue rajah with Persian trimmings and a hat of garnet beaver; Mrs. G. W. Elliott, a rose rajah gown, elaborately braided and a black picture hat, Mrs. Herbert Doan, a creation of sheer cream mattrial with gold trimmings and a rose trimmed hat. The pretty dining room was picturesquely decorated with streamers of white ribbon from the chandelier to the corners of the table and with huge bouquets of cut flowers. The wedding cake was placed on a beautiful centre piece of French and eyelet embroidery and surrounded with festoons of smilax and sweet peas and bows of white ribbon. Mrs. J. H. Spencer presided and poured the tea, in a gown of exquisitely shaded lavender voile embroidered in an original design, trimmed with applique of a deeper shade, and a plicated turban with deep mauve chrysanthemums and a graceful willow plume. Assisting her were four young friends of the hostesses, Miss Etta Porter, Miss Dickenson, Miss Lyons, and Miss Hay, wearing pretty dresses of delicately contrasting colors. Miss Porter looked extremely pretty in pink duchess satin with lace, and a flowered hat. Miss Dickenson wore a smart pongee and net frock with a blue hat, and Miss Lyons a pastil blue inset with handsome Irish crochet lace and a white and black hat. Miss Hay's daintiness was characteristically suggested by a white lingerie frock in sharp contrast with a beautiful black picture hat.—Medicine Hat Daily News.

ECZEMA FOR 20 YEARS.

What is so annoying and disfiguring as itching Eczema. Mr. Fred. W. Clark, Petworth, Addington Co., Ont., writes that his mother suffered from Eczema on both legs for 20 years unable to get relief or cure from doctors or medicines. She found that Dr. Chase's Ointment brought great relief and it soon made the cure complete. He states that no one could have the disease worse or suffer more.

THE PASSING OF THE SKUNK.

The stars shone coldly and everything was still excepting the continual stream of people coming home from the churches. The multitudinous electric bulbs threw a subdued light over everything casting deep black shadows and patches of comparatively strong light. Over all hung the gentle hush of a quiet, unstirring Sabbath evening. A small dark form, disengaged itself from the denser shadows of the city hall, glided noiselessly about the semi-darkness of the market side of the building, hesitated, then reluctantly trudged forth into the mild light of the incandescents ... resolved itself into an ornery white striped skunk of much potence. The inevitable small boy happened along, sighted his skunk ship and raised the halloo. A crowd quickly gathered and a pursuit of stones, pieces of wood and sundry missiles was instantly begun to the accompaniment of much unhallowed shouting and laughter and unbearable odor rising harshly on the quietness of a few moments previous. Over the market to the sidewalk near John Mundle's livery fled the sore harassed but disreputable smelling little quadruped. Failing to find refuge here it started down the sidewalk when a rock the size of a man's head brought it down, a shot was fired into it and immediately it became the target for sticks and stones innumerable. Such was the passing of the skunk, but the neighborhood bears mute but conclusive evidence of its late presence. —Owen Sound Times.

REXALL MEN IN CONVENTION.

More Than 1,200 Stockholders of the United Drug Co. Attend Eighth Annual Convention.

Boston, Mass., Sept. 30.—The most important convention of its kind ever held in the East, if not in this country, ended here last night when more than 1,800 stock-holders of the United Drug Company, and some 600 ladies, members of their families, stood in the immense enclosure of the Boston Arena and united their voices in the chorus of "Auld Lang Syne" as a finale to the annual banquet. It made an impressive sight. The magnitude of everything connected with the banquet cannot be adequately described, for the plans were carried out on a scale commensurate with what the convention represented, a gathering of leading druggists from every section of the North American continent.

For three days business and pleasure were combined. While the programme was confined to that length of time, yet the early arrival in Boston of several hundred stockholders allowed these men to fraternize and exchange ideas extemporaneously, and as many are to remain here a few days longer it means an entire week practically devoted to the interests of the company. This was the eighth convention of those who stand sponsor for the Rexall remedies, and it surpassed its predecessors in every way. Plans which had been perfected after months of work were in such complete shape that there was no possibility of disarrangement, and to-day President Louis K. Liggett was complimented freely on the success achieved by him and his subordinates. Men of prominence in attendance who have taken part in many national affairs were amazed at the admirable features introduced here and they were not stinting in their praise.

The convention opened last Tuesday morning at 9.30 a.m. In order to house the large gathering the Boston Arena was secured. This is the largest building in Boston, and while it is arranged to accommodate thousands, it proved none too large for the United Drug Company convention. As the stockholders wandered into the building they were surprised at its beauty. The interior had been transformed into a Roman amphitheatre, surrounded by Italian gardens, large white columns rearing their tops into the air, which, with scenic paintings around the walls, gave the necessary perspective to present the illusion that it was outdoors. Naturally the American colors were in evidence, accompanied by the flags of England and Canada, and they blended perfectly with the masses of white and green that abounded there. The Roman scheme was carried out further by an esplanade which took the place of the regular entrances and exits, and this accentuated the beauty of the arena because it was viewed from its best point the moment one stepped within. There were a score of booths erected where were displayed all the Rexall remedies. These spaces were prettily decorated with flowers which were entwined about the lattice work so that they added to the general beauty of the scene. This was especially true at night, when myriads of tiny electric bulbs of different colors glowed from every conceivable crevice and from the centres of beautiful flowers.

The keynote of the business sessions was the advancement of the sale of pure drugs and the prevention of the sale of noxious preparations, so that purchasers might be certain that they were getting the best drugs obtainable at the lowest possible price, allowing a fair margin of profit to the dealer. The newer stockholders learned from their talks with the older ones how valuable the co-operative idea had been because it eliminated the middleman; how during the past eight years business had increased largely because the purchasers had confidence in Rexall remedies, and this allowed the company—the largest organization of its kind in the world—to buy its drugs in such wholesale quantities as to permit a great saving, with the natural result that the quality was always bound to be excellent. A large number of the stockholders, having been in business for many years, were able to speak words of wisdom from experience, and their words were listened to carefully, while on the other hand these older men were glad to hear the younger men give their opinions, realizing that this is an age of progressive ideas and young, fresh minds contain many kernels of value. Naturally every stockholder derived much benefit from the business sessions, all of which were attended by practically every one.

The banquet Thursday evening was a fitting climax to the three days' convention. While the party was visiting the laboratories a big force of workmen was busily engaged removing the booths in the Boston Arena building and replacing them with tables, so that when evening arrived and the gentlemen escorting the ladies arrived at the place the transformation was astonishingly complete. Here again everything was on the same mammoth scale that marked the preceding events. The head table alone was 80 feet long. With thousands of lights shining, the perfume from hundreds of prettily arranged floral decorations pervading the air, delightful music stealing across from a hidden bower, ladies in beautiful evening gowns, gentlemen arrayed in spotless black and white, tables heaped with banquet fixtures, it made a beautiful composite picture. Yet there was nothing savoring of affectation or primness about the gathering. It was like a big, happy family. The small dealer in the little town rubbed elbows and chatted amicably with the proprietor of the largest store in a metropolis, for this is the spirit that prevails all through the organization and insures its success. The music for the banquet was furnished by the famous Bostonia orchestra, Belle Benton Fenlon conductor, who also supplied the music at the clambake outing.

President George W. Coleman, of the Pilgrim Publicity Association, of Boston, an organization comprising the leading advertising men of New England, was toastmaster. He proved a brilliant one, too. He had the happy faculty of introducing each speaker in an entirely different manner from the preceding one. The first one he called upon after all the good things had been put away and the ladies were admiring their handsome lace fan souvenirs and the gentlemen were attaching the silver and silk watch fobs presented to them as reminders of the occasion, was Rev. A. A. Berle, one best known clergymen in the East. He responded to the toast, "To the Ladies." He made a capital address punctuated with witticisms that kept everyone interested, and he was applauded heartily when he ended. Hon. P. H. Sullivan, of Manchester, N.H., was next introduced. His talk was more along business lines, and it made an admirable contrast with the Rev. Mr. Berle's talk. Mr. Creswell McLaughlin, of Cornwall-on-the-Hudson was then called. His topic was "Adam and His Rib." As the subject denotes, it was amusing. Mr. McLaughlin, comprising such novelties as aeroplanes, automobiles, etc., in which Adam and his co-relation could soar through space, made an exceptionally bright speech all the more entertaining. Mr. Robert Frothingham of Everybody's Magazine was the next speaker. Here again variety was introduced, for he spoke on "Advertising as an Asset." It was a splendid address, full of wise suggestions that made a deep impression upon his hearers. Mr. Walter E. Anderton, known as Boston's contra-tenor, was then asked to sing. The remarkable range of his voice and the rapidity with which he changed from one key to another added much to the evening's programme. Mr. Mart King, of Newark, N.J., was the final speaker. His subject was "Stories to Remember." It proved a delightful ending to the speaking. The menus were handsomely gotten up and they will prove valuable souvenirs also. So will the checkbooks that contained the tickets to everything. The banquet then ended as stated in the opening paragraph, leaving a train of pleasant recollections in the minds of those who participated in the convention.

HE FEARED BLOOD POISON

But Zam-Buk Saved His Thumb

Once again a case is reported in which the popular balm Zam-Buk has saved a worker from the terrible effects of blood-poisoning. Mr. Alfred Hy. Orth, of Shipley, Ont., says: "While at work I had the misfortune to run a rusty nail under my thumb nail, to the depth of about one and a half inches. The pain was terrible and what I feared was that the nail, being so dirty and rusty, would set up festering and blood-poison. I knew from previous experience how good Zam-Buk was, so I cleaned the thumb, melted a little Zam-Buk, and ran it into the wound. The result was wonderful! It soothed the pain and the thumb actually did not swell. Zam-Buk kept away all inflammation. I was able to go on with my work all the time, and in a few days the thumb was as good as ever. A balm which can do this should be in every working man's home.

Zam-Buk is the finest form of "insurance" for all workers. Its antiseptic power is so great that no disease germ can live in it; and if immediately applied to a sore or injury, or diseased patch, all danger of blood-poisoning is averted.

Being composed of pure vegetable essences, Zam-Buk is an ideal balm for babies and young children, and mothers will find it far superior to the ordinary salves, some of which contain harmful mineral poisons, rancid animal fats, etc.

Zam-Buk is a sure cure for ulcers, abscesses, eczema, ringworm, blood-poison, scalp sores, chapped hands, cold sores, inflamed patches, bad leg, varicose veins and ulcers, piles, cuts, burns, bruises, and all skin diseases, and injuries. Sold by all druggists and storekeepers at 50c. a box, 3 for $1.25. Post free from Zam-Buk Co., Toronto, for price. Avoid harmful imitations and substitutes.

Sinking Spells Every Few Days

"At the time I began taking Dr. Miles' Heart Remedy I was having sinking spells every few days. My hands and feet would get cold; I could scarcely breathe, and could feel myself gradually sinking away until I would be unconscious. Those about me could not tell there was life in me. After these spells I would be very weak and nervous, sleepless and without appetite; had neuralgia in my head and heart. After taking the remedy a short time all this disappeared and in a few weeks all the heart trouble was gone."

By-Law No. 398

A By-Law to provide for drainage work in the Township of Amaranth, in the County of Dufferin, and for borrowing on the credit of the municipality the sum of $5369.32, of which a certain area of the Township of Melancthon pays $555.86 for completing the same.

Provisionally adopted the 24th day of September, 1910.

WHEREAS the majority in number of the resident and non-resident owners, (exclusive of farmer's sons not actual owners) as shown by the last revised assessment to be completed by drainage work, have petitioned the Council of the said Township of Amaranth praying that the hereinafter described lots, namely,— lot No. 29 con. 5, e ½ 28 con. 6, pt. e ½ 30 con. 5, s e ½ 30 con. 5, w ½ 27 con. 5, e ½ 27 con. 6, w ½ 28 con. 5, e ½ 26 con. 6, w pt. 32, con. 5, s e ½ 31, con. 5, and w ½ 31 con. 5, to be benefitted.

AND WHEREAS, thereupon, the said Council has procured an examination to be made by A. R. Leicester, Engineer, being a person competent for such purpose, of the said area proposed to be drained and the means suggested for the drainage thereof, and of other lands and roads liable to assessment under the Municipal Drainage Act, and has also procured plans, specifications and estimates of the drainage work to be made by the said A. R. Leicester and an assessment to be made by him of the lands and roads to be benefitted by such drainage work and of other lands and roads liable for contribution thereto, stating as nearly as he can the proportion of benefit, outlet liability and injuring liability, which in his opinion will be derived or incurred in consequence of such drainage work by every road and lot or portion of lot, the said assessment so made being the assessment hereinafter by this by-law enacted to be assessed and levied upon the roads and lots, or parts of lots, hereinafter in that behalf specially set forth and described, and the report of the said A. R. Leicester, Engineer, in respect thereof, and of the said drainage work being as follows :—

Dear Sirs,—In accordance with your instructions and acting on petition, signed by David Hicks and others, I have made the necessary survey, etc., to enable me to locate the above drain.

The drain is commenced at the township line between Amaranth and Melancthon and runs in a southerly direction to an outlet on the south line of w ½ lot 22, con. 6, a distance of 3150 feet, all of which is clearly indicated on the general plan provided. I would respectfully call your council's attention to the fact that as this drain and its extension to the Grand River gives an outlet for sixty per cent. of the land in Amaranth Township, and a large area in Melancthon Township, it is very essential, in order to obtain all the benefits from constructing this drain, that the improvements be continued to its outlet into the Grand River.

The plan, profile, specifications, list of depths and widths, schedule of costs and assessment and award of maintenance are herewith respectfully submitted. Yours truly,

A. R. LEICESTER, Engineer.

AND WHEREAS the said Council is of opinion that the drainage of the area described is desirable;

THEREFORE, the said Municipal Council of the said Township of Amaranth, pursuant to the provisions of the Municipal Drainage Act, enacts as follows :—

1. The said report, plans, specifications, assessments and estimates are hereby adopted and the drainage work, as therein indicated and set forth, shall be made and constructed in accordance therewith.

2. The Reeve of the said Township may borrow on the credit of the Corporation of the said Township of Amaranth the sum of $4813.44, being the Municipality's proportion of the funds necessary for the work, and may issue debentures of the corporation to that amount in sums of not less than $50.00 each and payable within fifteen years from the date of the said debentures, with interest at the rate of four per cent. per annum, that is to say, the said debentures shall be payable on the 28th day of December of each of the following years, namely :—1911, 1912, 1913, 1914, 1915, 1916, 1917, 1918, 1919, 1920, 1921, 1922, 1923, 1924, 1925; the said debentures shall be $320.90 each, such debentures shall be payable at the Bank of Hamilton, Toronto, and shall have attached to them coupons for the payment of interest.

3. For paying the sum of three thousand and seventy-six dollars and seventy cents, the amount charged against the said lands and roads for benefit, and the sum of eight hundred and thirty-six dollars and forty-five cents, the amount charged against the said lands and roads for outlet liability, and the sum of seven hundred and twenty-five dollars and twenty-nine cents, the amount charged against said lands and roads for injuring liability, apart from lands and roads belonging to or controlled by the Municipality, and for covering interest thereon for fifteen years at the rate of 4 per cent. per annum, the following total special rates, over and above all other rates, shall be assessed, levied and collected in the same manner and at the same time as other taxes are levied and collected upon and from the undermentioned lots and parts of lots and roads, and the amount of the said total special rates and interest against each lot or part of lot respectively shall be divided into fifteen equal parts, and one such part shall be assessed, levied and collected as aforesaid in each year for fifteen years, after the final passing of this by-law, during which the said debentures have to run :—

ERIN FALL FAIR.

Fine Day and a Splendid Crowd.

Erin Fall Fair last Thursday and Friday was a splendid success. The Society was again favored with excellent weather, although Friday forenoon was cloudy and threatened rain. The sky, however, cleared about noon and the afternoon was almost perfect for an out-of-door gathering. There was almost a record attendance. The exhibits in the different departments were a credit to the sturdy yeomanry of the fine township of Erin. The display of horses, cattle and other farm stock has seldom been surpassed in this section of the Province. The ladies of the township did themselves proud in the hall exhibits. The showing of ladies' work, domestic and dairy products and fine arts was surprisingly good and came in for well-deserved praise. Some of the schools of the township made attractive displays of grain, roots, vegetables and other products of the farm. Noticeable among these was a really fine display by the Brisbane School. The Barber Carriage Co., of Alton, made an attractive exhibit of their famous buggies. A. Dick & Son, of Alton, had an exhibit of wagons, sleighs and other farm implements and Ritchie & Ramesbottom, general merchants, of Erin, made a particularly fine exhibit of their goods. The lines shown included furs, ladies and children's jackets and men's and boys' clothing. The firm has given special attention to these lines for fall and winter trade and is able to give the buyers of Erin and vicinity special values. The exhibit was in charge of Mr. W. A. Ramesbottom, one of the members of the firm. The day passed off nicely except for one unfortunate mishap just as the crowd was leaving the grounds. One of the bell ringing machines collapsed in some manner and fell on a boy, breaking one of his legs and cutting his head. The winners in horses and the special events were :—

JIMMIE WAS STAR.

At Quebec on Saturday the Eaton lacrosse team, champions of the intermediate series of the C. L. A. won the Interprovincial title by defeating the Nationals of the Q.L.A. in a strenuous game by the score of 7 to 2. Charlie Querrie, of the Tecumsehs, acted as an official along with Eddie St. Pere, of the Montreal Nationals. Querrie says that the Toronto boys deserved the victory as they played great lacrosse. Jimmy Collins, on the home, was the best player on the field, according to Charlie's judgment. Collins was game, taking a lot of punishment. He was top scorer for his team.

IT GROWS HAIR.

Here Are Facts We Want You to Prove at Our Risk.

Marvelous as it may seem, Rexall "93" Hair Tonic has grown hair on heads that were once bald. Of course, in none of these cases were the hair roots dead, nor had the scalp taken on a glazed, shiny appearance.

Rexall "93" Hair Tonic acts scientifically, destroying the germs which are usually responsible for baldness. It penetrates to the roots of the hair, stimulating and nourishing them. It is a most pleasant toil

ORANGEVILLE,

McMILLAN & TORRIE

Supplement to The Orangeville Banner, October 20th, 1910.

HEROES OF 1812-14.

The Canadian Military Institute and other bodies are petitioning the Ontario Government to erect a memorial to the heroes and victories of the war of 1812-14. The centenary of the battle of Queenston Heights comes on October 13th, 1912, and will of course be celebrated in a manner befitting so important an occasion. It is proposed to erect a memorial of stone and bronze in Queen's Park near the Parliament Buildings and to have inscribed thereon the names of the victories won by the Canadian armies and the names of such leaders as Brock, Tecumseth and Macdonell. The petitioners suggest that the Queenston Heights Centenary would be an appropriate time for the unveiling of the memorial.

TECHNICAL EDUCATION

The appreciation of technical education for business pursuits as provided for by private enterprise in our country is well illustrated by the success of the Central Business College, of Toronto, and its several branches. These schools are reported as more largely and widely patronized this term than ever before, which in itself is very good proof of the demand for very good proof of the demand for this sort of technical education. Our readers are referred to the notice found in our advertising column, which extends an invitation to all who are interested to write for the new catalogue of this well-known school.

The big hill at Wilcox's school, near Beeton, is being cut down. The work will cost about $800; the County Council made a grant of $400 towards the work.

J. C. ROCKWELL'S NEW SUNNY SOUTH CO.

One of the biggest, strongest and most complete colored organizations in America is announced to appear in the Town Hall, Orangeville, Saturday evening, October 22nd., when J. C. Rockwell's New Sunny South Company, an organization composed of twenty-five colored people, will make its appearance. This attraction is conceded to be one of the leading of its class and as being the largest and most expensive ever organized to present this line of entertainment. It contains more new music, new fun, new ideas and novelties than any similar organization. It is bristling with new, novel and entertaining features and is brim full of laughable situations, charming numbers and excellent specialties. It will be found to be lovely in action and from the rise to the fall of the curtain, there is not a dull moment. Something is going on all the time. The Olio is composed of eight high-grade vaudeville stunts, they are the kind that not alone please but have merit as well, being above the average seen outside the larger cities. The performance is the kind that the average person enjoys. If you are suffering from the blues or business cares, you will find immediate relief and it will send you home whistling, happy and contented.

The organization is accompanied by a high-class solo concert band and a superb orchestra. The band will head the Koontown parade, which will take place at noon.

CASH PRODUCE MARKET.

At its meeting on Monday night, the Town Council decided to re-open the Orangeville weekly cash produce market. The market will be opened in the old Council Chamber in the Town Hall on Thursday next, October 27th. Arrangements are being made to secure the attendance of a number of outside buyers, who will pay highest cash prices for butter, eggs, poultry and other farm produce. Farmers should make it a point to bring in their produce next Thursday and get the market going properly. A well patronized weekly cash market will, we are satisfied, prove a boon to the producers of this neighborhood.

HIGH SCHOOL GAMES.

Orangeville High School students will hold their annual Field Day on the Exhibition Grounds on Friday afternoon, beginning at 2 o'clock. A change has been made in the programme this year. A championship, however, has been added for Public School boys, who will therefore take a much more important part in the games than heretofore. The championship events are 100 yds. dash, high jump, 220 yards, putting the shot, quarter and half mile races and pole vault. The programme consists of no less than 30 events, so that an excellent afternoon's sport is assured. The Games are open to the public. In addition to the events referred to, several championship events, including the standing broad jump, running broad jump and running hop, step and jump, will be run off on the High School grounds at 2 o'clock Thursday afternoon.

Mr. J. J. Marshall, 1st St., arrived home from the West on Monday morning. Mr. Marshall reports excellent crops in some sections of the country and almost a complete failure in other places. Mr. Percy Hadcock spent a few days at his home here this and last week before leaving for Toronto to resume his studies at the School of Practical Science. Mr. Hadcock went West shortly after he wrote on his examinations last spring. He left Winnipeg on May 20th, with a party of surveyors to locate the line of the proposed Hudson Bay Railway. The party travelled by boat as far as Grand Falls, where they commenced their work in the direction of Hudson Bay, travelling by canoe wherever practicable. When Mr. Hadcock came out he journeyed a distance of 200 miles by canoe before reaching Grand Falls. Some of the party expect to spend the coming winter at Fort Nelson on the Hudson Bay, whence they will run a line to Fort Churchill and also make a record of temperatures, ice-flow, snow falls, tides, etc.

IMPALED ON STAKE.

Mr. Fletcher Ryall, a Mono farmer, residing three miles north of Hockley, lost a valuable horse in an unusual manner one day last week. Mr. Ryall had driven a mower to a neighbor's place, and was on the way home again with his team when he met an automobile driven by Wesley Gallaugher, of Shelburne. He turned the horses to the side of the road to let the machine pass. The team was rather restive and one of them stepped on the end of a stake lying near the fence. The other end turned up and in some manner impaled the horse, penetrating into its bowels. The animal died in agony about half an hour afterwards.

The engagment is announced of Miss Evelyn Maud, youngest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. R. J. Graham, of Havelock, to Arthur A. Gabriel, of Toronto, son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Gabriel, of Shelburne. The wedding will take place in the Presbyterian church, Havelock, on October 19th.

A YEAR'S PROGRESS IN THE CEMENT INDUSTRY.

The current issue of "Construction" contains an editorial review of the operations of the Canadian cement interests for the past year, expressing gratification that the formation of the merger has not led to any undue advance in cement prices.

"As long," concludes "Construction," as the cement interests continue to develop the industry along these lines, as long as their policy continues to be constructive, they are deserving of the good will and support of the Canadian building public. Constructional development and improvement is, and will continue to be, in Canada for some years hence, one of the greatest factors in our growth. Cement has become as indispensable in structural work of every character and type, as are the hands of the laborer who does the work, and an ambitious country will never tolerate a monopoly in a material so universally used in both public work and private enterprise."

AN ARCHBISHOP'S DILEMMA.

The death the other day of Dr. Maclagan, late Archbishop of York, removes an interesting figure in church life. He was known in the Old Land as "The Episcopal Martinet," but was highly valued as an organizer. Though he was eighty-four years of age, it is not quite two years ago since he resigned the See of York, in which he was succeeded by Dr. Cosmo Gordon Lang, Bishop of Stepney, a man thirty-eight years his junior. Dr. Maclagan was one of the most capable organizers of the English Church. It was, indeed, due to his singular gift of organization that high preferment came to him, for he was neither distinguished as a scholar nor pre-eminent as a preacher.

Dr. Maclagan was born in Edinburgh on June 18, 1826. The day of his birth was not only the anniversary of Waterloo, but it also happened to be a Sunday. The soldier servant of his father (an Army surgeon) declared that as he was born on such a great day a soldier he ought to be; but his Scottish nurse contended that as it was the Lord's Sabbath, it was a "meenister" that he should become.

The infant eventually became both. He entered the Army at the age of twenty-one and served in the Presidency of Madras for two years, when a serious illness drove him home and ultimately led him to resign his lieutenant's commission and study for the Church. In 1856 he became curate of St. Saviour's, Paddington. He was appointed rector of Newington in 1869, vicar of Kensington in 1875, and Bishop of Lichfield in 1878.

At Lichfield he succeeded the great Bishop Selwyn, and at once made his mark. He laid down a rule while at Lichfield that the deacons of his diocese were not to preach a sermon of their own composition more often than once in each month. It was this ruling which earned him the name of the "episcopal martinet." After thirteen years of able and successful administration in the Midland diocese he was appointed to the Archbishopric of York on the death of Archbishop Magee.

Dr. Maclagan was fond of telling a story of an adventure he once met with. "Travelling one day in a third-class compartment I found myself in company with two drunken men. One of them complained that he had been robbed of a £5 note and was determined to search the pockets of his fellow-passengers. I began to feel very uncomfortable, as I had a £5 note in my pocket. However, I determined to sit quietly and feign sleep.

"Presently came the challenge, "I say neighbor!" but I made no answer. Then the man grabbed me by the arm and shook me violently, but I did not wake up. He kept on shaking me, but still I remained impassive. Then his friend interposed with 'I say Bill, leave him alone, can't yer? He's drunker'n you are!' "

Dr. Maclagan successfully claimed at the last Coronation the right of the Archbishops of York to crown the Queen Consort.

Let us buy a 50-cent bottle of Psychine (pronounced Si-keen) from your druggist and give it to you (free) to prove its great value.

Psychine is the greatest vitality builder of the age.

For thirty years Psychine has been curing almost every disease that is due to run-down vitality.

Hundreds of thousands have used Psychine with wonderful beneficial results.

We have received thousands of unsolicited testimonials from people whom Psychine has cured, of in many cases, hopeless ailments.

There are still thousands of people suffering from disease, however, whom Psychine can benefit.

There are still thousands who are trying to cure themselves by wrong methods, who are using dangerous and hurtful medicines.

There are still thousands who are gradually losing their vitality—from whose body the necessary resisting power to disease is slowly but surely slipping away.

There are still those who soon will hear the dread "call in the night" if they do not take prompt action.

To these we have the above message, viz.:

"Let us buy a 50-cent bottle of Psychine from your druggist and give it to you, free, to prove its great value."

That 50-cent bottle of Psychine will tell you more powerfully than mere words can how tremendously beneficial Psychine will be for you.

It will give you an unmistakable indication of its wonderful power to renew the bodily vitality, to strengthen the phagocytes (the white corpuscles), the policemen or scavengers of the body.

The Surgical Department of the Japanese Army, in the Japo-Russian war, first drew the attention of the scientific world to the function of the white corpuscles of the blood or phagocytes.

Foreign medical men were astounded to see Japanese soldiers with wounds that had not been cleansed or dressed for days, that were apparently dirty, ill-kept, and altogether unsanitary.

Yet these dirty wounds healed marvellously; no army the world had ever known had such a wonderful record for the recovery of their wounded as the Japanese army.

And all because the Japanese knew how to let the white corpuscles cure.

There are two kinds of corpuscles in your blood, you know, red and white.

The red carry nutrition, the white are the policemen or scavengers of the body.

Whenever a disease germ enters the body, these white corpuscles attack and literally eat it.

A wound that attracts disease germs from the air is cleansed and healed by billions of phagocytes, or white corpuscles, devouring these unwelcome disease germs.

Any disease can be cured by these white corpuscles if they be in sufficient number or strong enough to attack and devour the germs that cause the disease.

If they are not in sufficient numbers or strength, then the disease germs eat them and disease claims the body.

That's the cause of every disease to which humanity is heir.

For centuries the cure of disease has been by means of herbs—nature's remedies.

It is only within recent times that we have come to know how these herbs act.

Now scientists tell us they increase the strength and numbers of the white corpuscles or phagocytes.

In Psychine we have some of the most healing and beneficial herbs in the world, herbs that increase and strengthen the white corpuscles.

From Arabia comes one herb, from South America another, China and Japan produce a third, while the jungle of India yields a fourth.

All these herbs are recognised by the medical profession as being the most beneficial to health that they know.

That's why Psychine, in the third of a century it has been made, has cured hundreds of thousands of people who suffered from the following diseases:

La Grippe	Bronchial Coughs
Bronchitis	Weak Lungs
Hemorrhages	Weak Voice
Sore Throat	Spring Weakness
Anaemia	Early Decline
Female Weakness	Catarrhal Affections
Indigestion	Catarrh of Stomach
Poor Appetite	Night Sweats
Chills and Fevers	Obstinate Coughs
Sleeplessness and	Laryngitis and
Nervous Troubles	Dyspepsia
After-effects of Pleurisy, Pneumonia and La Grippe.

That's why we believe it will be beneficial to you.

Now we don't ask you to take our word for the tremendously beneficial effect of Psychine. Fill out the coupon below, mail it to us, and we'll give you an order on your druggist (for which we pay him the regular retail price) for a 50-cent bottle of Psychine to be given you free of cost.

We will undoubtedly buy and distribute in this manner, hundreds of thousands of these 50-cent bottles of Psychine.

And we do that to show our entire confidence in this wonderful preparation.

A confidence that has been based on our 30 years' experience with this splendid preparation with a full knowledge of the hundreds of thousands of cures it has made.

BOLTING OUR FOOD.

Dr. Henry C. Ferris, recording secretary of the New York State Dental Society, recently presented an illuminating report showing the effects of the bolting of food. Dr. Ferris addressed a letter to one hundred and fifty of the prominent medical men of this country in which he asked them if they considered imperfect chewing and salivating of food an aetiological factor in diseases of the stomach and intestines, and, if so, what pathological conditions resulted from such neglect? Out of the hundred and fifty replies that Dr. Ferris received 98 per cent. of these physicians said that chewing of food was an important factor toward good health and that the bolting of food frequently caused cancer, catarrh of the stomach and gastric ulcers. If food is not thoroughly chewed and is permitted to reach the stomach in large lumps or masses, there is no question that it must injure the soft lining of that organ, producing many of the cases of ulcers and catarrh that need careful and consistent medical attention. Some further comments on this question are to be found in the course of a review in October Busy Man's.

Teachers ought not to be scarce next year, judging from the number attending the Normal Schools. At Stratford Normal, there are 54 from Huron county alone, and at London Normal, eight from Huron. Sixty-two from one county is a fair number.

Backache Suffering

Mr. Fred. Gummer, Lillies, Ont., writes: "I can honestly say that Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills are a wonderful medicine. For six weeks last fall I could scarcely walk around for pains in the bank and legs, and was almost completely unfit for work. Though I tried several medicines I got no better. I saw Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills advertised and bought five boxes. After I had used three boxes, I was greatly improved and by the time I had them all taken felt as well as I ever did. I would advise anyone suffering from kidney disease to use Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills.

"We have also used Dr. Chase's Syrup of Linseed and Turpentine for bad colds and sore throat and would not be without these medicines for anything."

THE COUNTY ROADS SYSTEM.

Cost of Last Year's Work in Caledon Township.

The Provincial Annual Report on Highway Improvement, which came to hand a few days ago, contains an instructive summary of the work done in the County of Peel last year under the Good Roads Act. The Peel County Roads system was established in 1906 and includes 102 miles of highway. At the end of 1909 there had been expended for construction $77,783.62, for machinery $7,109.36, and for bridges $28,583.25. "The better class of work," the Report states, "is on Hurontario street, the Lake Shore Road easterly from Port Credit, and on Dundas street easterly four miles from Cooksville. Stone is used largely from Hagersville quarries while a less extent of road has been built with stone from Shaw. In Caledon township pit gravel has been used. Near Brampton, crushed gravel from local pits has been used to some extent with fair results. Road construction is necessarily expensive in certain parts of the county, more especially Toronto and Chinguacousy Townships, owing to the absence of local gravel or stone, road material being brought in by rail and teamed from the stations (as far as five miles in Toronto township). In general, these roads show good grading, with a decided camber. The county owns two rollers, and the rolling, while not complete, has been carried to a point that traffic has immediate use of the stone roads. The gravel roads of Caledon have not been rolled. In Albion township little road construction has as yet been undertaken other than bridges. The bridges in the County are concrete arches, concrete with flat tops, and concrete abutments with steel superstructure."

Engineer C. R. Wheelock gives the following summary of expenditures during 1909:—

Roads (including culverts)	$34,377.30
Bridges	6,313.75
New Machinery	63.50
Engineering	691.45
	$41,446.00

The Engineer also furnishes a detailed statement of the work done from the 21st of December 1906, to the 20th of December, 1909. The portion of this statement, which relates to Caledon township, reads as follows:—

Opposite lots Nos. 7, 8 and 9 three-quarters of a mile was graded and 120 rods of the same metalled with gravel. Opposite lots Nos. 14 and 15, 120 rods running south from the village of Caledon were metalled with gravel. One tile culvert was put in on this piece and a cement concrete arch built at Harris Creek, opposite lot No. 14. The arch is 36 feet span over all and is reinforced with two rows of longitudinal rods and two rows of cross rods, one inch in diameter. The railing is 2 inch gas pipe. Opposite lots Nos. 17 to 24, running north from the village of Caledon three miles of road, which were graded last year, were metalled with gravel. This is a continuation of the piece of road, which was completed last year. The gravel cost about 71 cents a yard delivered on the road. The average length of the haul was about one mile.

Local Option will be voted on in Guelph at the next municipal elections. A petition signed by 1,169 persons was presented to the council a week ago Monday night, though only 900 names were required. PLOWING MATCHES AND COLT SHOWS.

Plowing matches are an excellent institution. They bring farmers together for the study and encouragement of one of the primary and most important operations of agriculture. The only trouble with them is that they are too few. There is a tendency to think that artistic, accurate plowing is associated only with the old walking plow, and to regard the disappearance of these as marking the death of plowing matches. But good plowing can never be dispensed with, and the man is just as important a factor with a two-furrow sulky plow as he is with the old Scotch type. Remembering this, there are many reasons why matches should be on the increase. A match in each community every autumn would be a splendid impetus to the care of plows, of team, of harness, and an inspiration to do good work.

With the plowing match should be combined a colt show. The township fair tries, but often fails, to a large xtent, to stimulate more than a very few in each community. What is needed is a stimulus to the affairs of every farmer. A colt show and a plowing match will not require more than one day's time, and can be held later in the fall, when the work is less pressing, so that every man can attend the affair. Giving a half day to the one feature of colts is much more likely to do good than trying to see a hundred different things at the county fair in one or even two days. To the colt show, a first-class man may be brought from the Agricultural College or Government offices, to give the benefit of his expert ability. Give the plowing match and the colt show a fair trial, and see if they are not worth a permanent place in the affairs of your community.—Farmers' Advocate.

THE HORSELESS VEHICLE.

There is food for thought, in the statement of the Secretary of the recently created British Road Board, that whereas ten years ago 95 per cent. of the road traffic of England consisted of horse-drawn vehicles, the percentage has already been reduced to between 30 and 40 and the decline is likely to continue. This serves to give an idea of the growing part the automobile is taking in the vehicular traffic of the United Kingdom. The transition, which these figures indicate has taken place in England in the last decade, will be witnessed in Ontario during the next twenty years. The change may not be as rapid or as complete here, for our long Canadian winters and drifted winter roads constitute an obstacle that is practically unknown in England. The motor vehicle that can successfully travel Ontario roads during the winter season has not been invented. Man's genius may find a means of surmounting the difficulty, but there is as yet little to indicate ultimate success in this direction. Notwithstanding this apparently insuperable obstacle, the motor vehicle is in Ontario to stay. Motor trucks, express and delivery wagons are displacing horse-drawn vehicles in Toronto, Montreal and other large centres. Market gardeners living several miles out of Toronto are beginning to talk about buying motor trucks to carry their produce to market in the city. It is only a question of a few years until the bulk of the milk, dairy and garden produce going into the large Canadian cities will be carried either by trolley car or motor truck. The general adoption of the motor vehicle will be accelerated by the construction of good roads. At the present time the Ontario Motor League is actively engaged in promoting a movement for the improvement of the main highways out of Toronto. There is undoubtedly a strong prejudice against the automobile throughout rural Ontario. The prejudice is well-founded, for there are very few farmers who have not had at some time or another an unpleasant and perhaps dangerous experience with one of these machines. At the same time the motor car is far from being an unmixed evil. The pleasure car may be a source of annoyance and danger, but the use of the motor truck will enable farmers to market their produce more quickly and more easily than they possibly can under present conditions. It may be that in the years to come regular motor truck services will be established, whereby farmers can, after arranging for the sale of their produce by telephone from their own homes, have it conveyed to the market for a trifling sum. This would mean an important economy in time and energy. So far the Ontario farmer has seen the worst side of automobile traffic. The probability is that in time he will benefit largely from the use of the motor driven vehicle.

THE BASIS OF REPRESENTATION

It is probable that an interprovincial conference will be held at an early date at which the basis of representation in the House of Commons will be discussed. The present system is not popular in the Maritime Provinces, where the population is not increasing as rapidly as in Quebec. Because of their slower growth the three eastern Provinces find themselves entitled to a smaller number of representatives after each decennial census. Prince Edward Island, for instance, was given six members, when it entered Confederation in 1873. As a result of the 1901 census its representation was reduced to three. What the representatives of the maritime provinces are likely to ask is that each of the three provinces be given a minimum representation fixed at the number they were allowed when they entered Confederation. The number of their members would then not be in danger of falling below this point, no matter how great the relative decrease in their population. The question will require careful consideration. Because of their position the maritime provinces occupy an important place in the Canadian confederation. Because of their comparatively limited territory, they are precluded from the expansion and the rapid growth of population that have been witnessed in Ontario, Quebec and the Western Provinces during recent years. With the development and peopling of Quebec's vast hinterland, and the growth of the great commercial metropolis of Montreal, it is probable that in two or three decades, if the present system of fixing the representation is continued without change, the representatives from the seaboard provinces will become so weak numerially as to command a very inconsiderable influence in the House of Commons. Such a condition is not desirable for the reason that the important interests of the maritime provinces would be in danger of suffering from neglect, and for the further reason that it would be resented by the people of these provinces and might eventually prejudice their attitude toward the Confederation. It is quite possible that the whole question of the basis of representation will require serious consideration in the not very distant future. Under the British North America Act, Quebec was made the standard for fixing the representation of the different provinces. The province was given a fixed membership of sixty-five. With this as the standard, the other provinces are entitled to a membership proportionate to their population. The rapid growth of population west of Lake Superior is giving the four Western provinces a much larger representation after each census. There is every reason to believe that this increase in the number of representatives from the West will continue for several decades. This will mean a steady increase in the influence of the West in shaping Canada's destiny. It will also mean a large increase in the membership of the House of Commons. As this increase goes on, there will arise the danger of the elective chamber becoming cumbersome and unwieldy. To illustrate, suppose the prediction that the West will have a population of twenty million people at the end of the next twenty five years has been fulfilled. Grant Quebec three million people. The western provinces would then have the right to send four hundred and 34 members to Ottawa and instead of slightly over two hundred members as at present the House of Commons would consist of about six hundred representatives. A legislative chamber of this size would probably prove unwieldy and judging from the length of the Ottawa sessions at the present time would in all likelihood have to sit continuously in order to transact the business of the country. It seems likely that the growth of population in the West will eventually make it necessary to devise some means of reducing the representation in the Canadian parliament.

DENTISTS CONVENE.

Form an Association and Decide to Meet Twice a Year.

An important meeting of the dentists of this section of the Province was held in the Public Library Auditorium in this town on Friday evening. The gathering included representatives from this town, Durham, Markdale, Flesherton, Dundalk, Shelburne, Mount Forest, Arthur, Grand Valley, Erin, Fergus, Elora, Alliston and Bolton. The meeting resulted in a decision to form a society to be known as the Northwestern Ontario Dental Association. The following officers were elected:—President, Dr. R. Meek, Orangeville; Vice-President, Dr. Allen, Mount Forest; Treasurer, Dr. J. R. McGregor, Elora; Secretary, Dr. J. A. McArthur, Markdale. Matters of interest to the profession were discussed and steps were taken to draw up a uniform tariff of fees. After the meeting the visitors and local members of the profession were tendered a banquet by Mr. J. Z. Henry, representative of the Temple, Patterson Co., of Toronto, at his residence on Zina St. Mrs. Henry made a charming hostess and was assisted by Mesdames Meek, Bowles and Campbell. Covers were laid for twenty-two and after justice had been done to the excellent menu, a number of toasts were proposed and responded to in a felicitous manner. Among those present were Drs. Meek, Frank, Campbell and Bowles, Orangeville; Drs. Allen and Brownlee, Mt. Forest; Dr. Kennedy, Arthur; Dr. Perkins, Grand Valley; Drs. Grant and Pickering, Durham; Dr. McGregor, Elora; Dr. Muir, Fergus; Dr. Abbott, Erin; Drs. Campbell and Frank, Shelburne; Dr. Peterson, Dundalk; Dr. Murray, Flesherton; Drs. Campbell and McArthur, Markdale; Dr. Hall, Bolton, and Dr. Hill, Alliston.

It is proposed to hold meetings of the Association twice a year. Membership is open to any member of the dental profession in the district.

IMPOVERISHED BLOOD

A Common and a Dangerous Trouble — You Must Enrich The Blood To Escape Danger.

Anaemia is simply a lack of blood. It is one of the most common and at the same time most dangerous diseases with which growing girls suffer. It is common because the blood so often becomes impoverished during development, when girls are too frequently allowed to over-study, overwork and suffer from a lack of exercise. It is dangerous because of the stealthiness of its approach, often being well developed before its presence is recognized, and because of its tendency to grow so steadily worse, if not promptly checked, that it may run into consumption.

The value of the tonic treatment with Dr. Williams' Pink Pills should be known to every mother in the land. These Pills make new, rich blood, tone the organs and nerves, bring a glow of health to pale, sallow cheeks, and drive away the weakness, headaches, faintness, heart palpitation and loss of energy so noticeable in young girls who are suffering from anaemia. To all such Dr. Williams' Pink Pills are an actual life saver. Miss Mabel McTavish, Prince Albert, Sask., says: "In my case I can only say that life had lost its magic; all work was a trial, and even pleasure only a task. When I went up a flight of stairs I was ready to drop from sheer weakness, and I had begun to think life would be a continued burden. But all this is now changed, thanks to Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. These were recommended to me, and after taking them for about a month I found my health renewed. I could sleep better, my appetite returned, and I was so strong and well that housework was no longer a burden to me. My sister seemed to be going the same way last summer and Dr. Williams' Pink Pills were at once sent for and two boxes made her as well as ever. Dr. Williams' Pink Pills are now the prized medicine in our home, and doctor bills have been fewer since we discovered the virtues of this great medicine."

Sold by all medicine dealers or sent by mail at 50 cents a box or six boxes for $2.50 from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

THOMAS HEWITT DEAD.

Mr. Thomas Hewitt, formerly a well-known resident of Amaranth and afterwards of Orangeville, passed away at his home near Streetsville on Sunday. Deceased, who was 82 years of age, had been enjoying excellent health until about four months ago. He is survived by a widow, one son, Mr. Russell Hewitt, and three daughters, Miss Annie Hewitt, Big Rapids, Mich.; Mrs. H. W. McCulloch, Souris, Man., and Mrs. D. E. Fraser, Winnipeg. The late Mr. Hewitt farmed in Amaranth for many years, afterwards removing to Orangeville where he resided for seven years. He moved from here to Streetsville in 1895. He was a member of the Presbyterian Church and served on the Managing Board of St. Andrew's Church for several years. The remains were brought to Orangeville for burial, the funeral taking place from the C.P.R. depot to Greenwood cemetery yesterday morning. A number of oldtime friends and acquaintances were at the station to meet the body. The service at the grave was conducted by Rev. W. M. Morris.

JAMES CAMERON, JR.

Mr. James Cameron, Jr., a well-known citizen of this town, passed away at his home on West Broadway, late on Saturday. His death followed closely on that of his mother, Mrs. James Cameron, of Cataract, whose demise on Friday is recorded elsewhere in this issue. The late Mr. Cameron had suffered from diabetes for a number of years. Ill-health led him to leave his farm in Caledon about three years ago, and he took up his residence in Orangeville two years ago last winter, purchasing the fine residence on West Broadway, formerly occupied by the late Postmaster Bradley. Mr. Cameron was 51 years of age and is survived by a widow and one son, Allen. These and the other relatives have the sympathy of our citizens in their time of bereavement. The funeral was held to the Forest Lawn cemetery on Tuesday afternoon, Rev. W. M. Morris, pastor of St. Andrew's Church, and Rev. C. Langford, of Alton, conducting the services. The pallbearers were three of Mrs. Cameron's brothers, George and Allen Maxwell, of Caledon, and Dr. Leslie Maxwell, Toronto; John and George Cameron, brothers, and Dr. George Bell, of Chicago, a brother-in-law of the deceased.

MRS. JAMES CAMERON.

Mrs. James Cameron, an old and greatly respected resident of Caledon township, passed away at her home near Cataract on Friday at the ripe age of 83 years and 4 months. The deceased lady, while bright mentally and usually able to be about, had been in rather delicate health for about a year. A week ago Sunday she had a paralytic seizure from which she failed to recover. The late Mrs. Cameron was born in Perthshire, Scotland, on June 10th, 1827. Her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Peter McGill, came to Canada in 1831, settling in Erin township shortly afterwards. She was married to Mr. Cameron on March 24th, 1852, a little over 58 years ago. Frugality, foresight and prudent management brought the young couple a rich reward and in time they acquired a home and property that is equalled by very few in this part of Ontario. By those who knew her intimately Mrs. Cameron will be held in affectionate remembrance for her kindliness and generous sympathies. She was devotedly attached to her home and family and especially to her husband, to whom her removal is an irreparable loss. Besides Mr. Cameron, she is survived by a family of three sons and three daughters. These are Peter Cameron, Saskatoon; John, Orangeville; George, on the homestead; Mrs. R. Beatty, Toronto; Mrs. Robt. Dodds, Detroit, and Mrs. (Dr.) Geo. Bell, Chicago. James, another son, passed away at his home in Orangeville the day following his mother's death. There are also twelve grandchildren living, the oldest of whom, Mr. Geo. Cameron, is a member of Caledon Council. There was a large attendance at the funeral, which was held to Alton cemetery on Sunday afternoon. The services at the house and grave were conducted by Rev. Mr. McCormick, of Erin, assisted by Rev. Chas. Langford, Alton, and Rev. Mr. Yule, Bellfountain. The pallbearers were three brothers, Arch., Dougal and Peter McGill, of Erin, two sons, George and John Cameron, and a son-in-law, Dr. Bell, of Chicago.

MRS. JAMES HAYES.

Mrs. Clara Hayes, wife of Mr. James Hayes, passed away at her home on West Broadway on Friday after an illness of only two days' duration. The deceased lady, who was 50 years of age, was the only daughter of Mr. Sepha Donner, one of Orangeville's first merchants. She leaves a husband and a family of four sons and four daughters. The latter are Mrs. A. W. Williamson, Toronto; Mrs. W. Marshall, Dundalk; Miss Evelyn, Toronto; Gordon, of the Orangeville Post Office staff, and Miss Gertrude, Harold, Oscar and Alexander at home. The funeral, which was largely attended, took place to the Forest Lawn Cemetery on Sunday afternoon. The floral tributes, mute but expressive tokens of the love and esteem of her friends, included a beautiful pillow from the Liebander Bible Class and a floral bell from the local staff of the Bell Telephone Co. In the absence of her pastor, Rev. G. A. Rix, the services were conducted by Rev. O. Nurse, of Tottenham. The pallbearers were Postmaster Park, Wm. Powers, Wm. Cowie, M. H. Shaw, Chas. and W. King. Mr. Hayes and family have the sympathy of many friends in their sad loss.

MRS. B. G. HARRIS.

It is with deep personal sorrow that we record the death of Mrs. B. G. Harris, of Woodbridge, who passed away at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. David Watson, at six o'clock yesterday evening. On Tuesday of last week a little daughter was ushered into this vale of tears and twenty-four hours later the young mother showed symptoms of illness, which the attending physicians at once recognized would prove critical and probably fatal. Two trained nurses were procured and with the doctors did everything possible to save the life of the stricken woman. Unfortunately their efforts availed not. Mrs. Harris was exceedingly popular here and at her home in Woodbridge and the news of her untimely death has caused profound sorrow. The deepest sympathy is entertained for the bereaved husband, parents and family. The blow is particularly severe on the aged father and mother, who saw the remains of another daughter borne from her home to their last resting place only nine months ago. The funeral will be held to the Forest Lawn cemetery at 2.30 o'clock Friday afternoon. Service at the house at 2 o'clock.

FAREWELL PRESENTATION.

Citizens of Orangeville Do Honor to Mr. and Mrs. J. R. Gillespie.

A large number of the citizens of Orangeville met at the home of Mr. and Mrs. D. A. Hogg, James St. on Thursday night for the purpose of saying farewell to Mr. and Mrs. J. R. Gillespie on the eve of their departure for their new home in Fort William. After a few introductory remarks, Mayor Riddell, who was called to the chair, read the following address:—

To Mr. and Mrs. J. R. Gillespie.

Dear Friends,—Your many friends in this town have heard with very deep regret of your intention to remove from the scene of your activities and to break the ties that you have made during the many years that you have been residents of Orangeville. We are sure that your places in our civic and social life will be hard to fill. As citizens of our town both of you, in your different spheres, have always taken an active interest in any and everything that would tend to make Orangeville a better and happier place in which to reside, and it is only when you are absent that we will miss you most. However, during the course of our lives, even the dearest bonds must sometimes be severed and in losing such esteemed citizens as yourselves, still it is our earnest wish and desire that peace, prosperity and happiness will be yours in your new home.

Before we say good-bye, we would ask you to accept these little gifts as a souvenir from the hearts of your Orangeville friends. Signed on behalf of your friends, W. H. Riddell, D. B. Brown, Dr. A. J. Hunter, Jos. J. Kelly, D. A. Hogg, D. J. Hunter, Rev. Dr. Harper, Thos. Arnott, Walter Fairburn.

During the reading of the address Mr. Hogg presented Mr. Gillespie with a suitably engraved solid gold chain and locket and Mrs. Hogg presented Mrs. Gillespie with a beautiful sunburst of pearls. Mr. Gillespie, who was visibly affected, replied briefly, referring with evident feeling to the sundering of the business and social ties that bound him so closely to the town and county of his birth. Short addresses were afterwards delivered by Councillor A. Hill, County Clerk J. C. Reid, Mr. D. B. Brown, ex-Mayor McKitrick, C. R. McKeown, M.P.P., Rev. G. A. Rix and Rev. Dr. Harper, who spoke appreciatively of Mr. and Mrs. Gillespie's qualities and usefulness as citizens and gave expression to the sense of loss to the town through their departure. The programme was happily varied by a couple of excellent songs by Mr. E. A. Warren. Before the gathering dispersed all joined heartily in the singing of "Auld Lang Syne."

Mr. Gillespie left for Fort William on Friday evening, and Mrs. Gillespie will follow on Friday. In the former Orangeville has lost a successful business man and an energetic and public-spirited citizen, and in the latter a gracious and estimable lady. That happiness and a generous measure of success may be their lot in their new home is the wish of their many Orangeville friends.

DR. MASON INJURED.

Member for East Victoria Has Three Ribs Broken in Runaway Accident.

Dr. R. M. Mason, M.P.P. for East Victoria, was seriously injured in a runaway accident about ten miles from Minden on Monday. A dog frightened the horse and Dr. Mason and his driver were both thrown out. The doctor's foot caught in one of the wheels of the vehicle and he was dragged a considerable distance. He was unconscious when picked up. An examination revealed that he had sustained three broken ribs, slight injuries to his lungs and a number of severe cuts and bruises on the left arm and left side of his face and head. The injuries are painful, but are not likely to prove fatal. Dr. Mason is a former Mono Mills boy, and is a brother of Mr. Stuart Mason, of Albion, and a cousin of Mrs. T. J. Robinson of this town.

A SUDDEN DEATH.

Mr. George Goulding, a well-known Torontonian, died very suddenly on Tuesday morning at his home 34a Triller Avenue. Death was due to a stroke of apoplexy. Deceased had reached the age of 68 years and was in splendid health up to a few hours before his death.

Mr. Goulding was widely known as a commercial traveller. He had spent 48 years on the road, and was for 35 years associated with the Turnbull Woollen Mills Company, of Galt. For the last three years he had been conducting a manufacturers' agency with offices in Wellington street east. He was also prominent as a breeder of high-class fowls, and devoted considerable time to that pursuit.

In temperament he was jovial and entertaining, and had hosts of friends in Toronto and throughout the Dominion, who will deeply deplore his death. Great sympathy is expressed for the family, whose grief is accentuated by the recent death of the youngest son, the late Fred. Goulding, who also died suddenly a couple of months ago. The remaining members of the family are the widow, who is a sister of Mr. Chas. King, Zina St., and Walton King, The Maples; one son, and one daughter, Mr. Harry Goulding, merchant, Port Carling, and Mrs. D. McLean, of 34 Triller avenue. The funeral takes place on Thursday at 2.30 to Mount Pleasant Cemetery.

THE HORSELESS VEHICLE.

There is food for thought in the statement of the Secretary of the recently created British Road Board, that whereas ten years ago 95 per cent. of the road traffic of England consisted of horse-drawn vehicles, the percentage has already been reduced to between 30 and 40 and the decline is likely to continue. This serves to give an idea of the growing part the automobile is taking in the vehicular traffic of the United Kingdom. The transition, which these figures indicate has taken place in England in the last decade, will be witnessed in Ontario during the next twenty years. The change may not be as rapid or as complete here, for our long Canadian winters and drifted winter roads constitute an obstacle that is practically unknown in England. The motor vehicle that can successfully travel Ontario roads during the winter season has not been invented. Man's genius may find a means of surmounting the difficulty, but there is as yet little to indicate ultimate success in this direction. Notwithstanding this apparently insuperable obstacle, the motor vehicle is in Ontario to stay. Motor trucks, express and delivery wagons are displacing horse-drawn vehicles in Toronto, Montreal and other large centres. Market gardeners living several miles out of Toronto are beginning to talk about buying motor trucks to carry their produce to market in the city. It is only a question of a few years until the bulk of the milk, dairy and garden produce going into the large Canadian cities will be carried either by trolley car or motor truck. The general adoption of the motor vehicle will be accelerated by the construction of good roads. At the present time the Ontario Motor League is actively engaged in promoting a movement for the improvement of the main highways out of Toronto. There is undoubtedly a strong prejudice against the automobile throughout rural Ontario. The prejudice is well-founded, for there are very few farmers who have not had at some time or another an unpleasant and perhaps dangerous experience with one of these machines. At the same time the motor car is far from being an unmixed evil. The pleasure car may be a source of annoyance and danger, but the use of the motor truck will enable farmers to market their produce more quickly and more easily than they possibly can under present conditions. It may be that in the years to come regular motor truck services will be established, whereby farmers can, after arranging for the sale of their produce by telephone from their own homes, have it conveyed to the market for a trifling sum. This would mean an important economy in time and energy. So far the Ontario farmer has seen the worst side of automobile traffic. The probability is that in time he will benefit largely from the use of the motor driven vehicle.

THE BASIS OF REPRESENTATION

It is probable that an interprovincial conference will be held at an early date at which the basis of representation in the House of Commons will be discussed. The present system is not popular in the Maritime Provinces, where the population is not increasing as rapidly as in Quebec. Because of their slower growth the three eastern Provinces find themselves entitled to a smaller number of representatives after each decennial census. Prince Edward Island, for instance, was given six members, when it entered Confederation in 1873. As a result of the 1901 census its representation was reduced to three. What the representatives of the maritime provinces are likely to ask is that each of the three provinces be given a minimum representation fixed at the number they were allowed when they entered Confederation. The number of their members would then not be in danger of falling below this point, no matter how great the relative decrease in their population. The question will require careful consideration. Because of their position the maritime provinces occupy an important place in the Canadian confederation. Because of their comparatively limited territory, they are precluded from the expansion and the rapid growth of population that have been witnessed in Ontario, Quebec and the Western Provinces during recent years. With the development and peopling of Quebec's vast hinterland, and the growth of the great commercial metropolis of Montreal, it is probable that in two or three decades, if the present system of fixing the representation is continued without change, the representatives from the seaboard provinces will become so weak numerically as to command a very inconsiderable influence in the House of Commons. Such a condition is not desirable for the reason that the important interests of the maritime provinces would be in danger of suffering from neglect, and for the further reason that it would be resented by the people of these provinces and might eventually prejudice their attitude toward the Confederation. It is quite possible that the whole question of the basis of representation will require serious consideration in the not very distant future. Under the British North America Act, Quebec was made the standard for fixing the representation of the different provinces. The province was given a fixed membership of sixty-five. With this as the standard, the other provinces are entitled to a membership proportionate to their population. The rapid growth of population west of Lake Superior is giving the four Western provinces a much larger representation after each census. There is every reason to believe that this increase in the number of representatives from the West will continue for several decades. This will mean a steady increase in the influence of the West in shaping Canada's destiny. It will also mean a large increase in the membership of the House of Commons. As this increase goes on, there will arise the danger of the elective chamber becoming cumbersome and unwieldy. To illustrate, suppose the prediction that the West will have a population of twenty million people at the end of the next twenty five years has been fulfilled. Grant Quebec three million people. The western provinces would then have the right to send four hundred and 34 members to Ottawa and instead of slightly over two hundred members as at present the House of Commons would consist of about six hundred representatives. A legislative chamber of this size would probably prove unwieldy and judging from the length of the Ottawa sessions at the present time would in all likelihood have to sit continuously in order to transact the business of the country. It seems likely that the growth of population in the West will eventually make it necessary to devise some means of reducing the representation in the Canadian parliament.

DENTISTS CONVENE.

Form an Association and Decide to Meet Twice a Year.

An important meeting of the dentists of this section of the Province was held in the Public Library Auditorium in this town on Friday evening. The gathering included representatives from this town, Durham, Markdale, Flesherton, Dundalk, Shelburne, Mount Forest, Arthur, Grand Valley, Erin, Fergus, Elora, Alliston and Bolton. The meeting resulted in a decision to form a society to be known as the Northwestern Ontario Dental Association. The following officers were elected:—President, Dr. R. Meek, Orangeville; Vice-President, Dr. Allen, Mount Forest; Treasurer, Dr. J. R. McGregor, Elora; Secretary, Dr. J. A. McArthur, Markdale. Matters of interest to the profession were discussed and steps were taken to draw up a uniform tariff of fees. After the meeting the visitors and local members of the profession were tendered a banquet by Mr. J. Z. Henry, representative of the Temple, Patterson Co., of Toronto, at his residence on Zina St. Mrs. Henry made a charming hostess and was assisted by Mesdames Meek, Bowles and Campbell. Covers were laid for twenty-two and after justice had been done to the excellent menu, a number of toasts were proposed and responded to in a felicitous manner. Among those present were Drs. Meek, Frank, Campbell and Bowles, Orangeville; Drs. Allen and Brownlee, Mt. Forest; Dr. Kennedy, Arthur; Dr. Perkins, Grand Valley; Drs. Grant and Pickering, Durham; Dr. McGregor, Elora; Dr. Muir, Fergus; Dr. Abbott, Erin; Drs. Campbell and Frank, Shelburne; Dr. Peterson, Dundalk; Dr. Murray, Flesherton; Drs. Campbell and McArthur, Markdale; Dr. Hall, Bolton, and Dr. Hill, Alliston.

It is proposed to hold meetings of the Association twice a year. Membership is open to any member of the dental profession in the district.

IMPOVERISHED BLOOD

Anaemia is simply a lack of blood, it is one of the most common and at the same time most dangerous diseases with which growing girls suffer. It is common because the blood so often becomes impoverished during development, when girls are too frequently allowed to over-study, overwork and suffer from a lack of exercise. It is dangerous because of the stealthiness of its approach, often being well developed before its presence is recognized, and because of its tendency to grow so steadily worse, if not promptly checked, that it may run into consumption.

The value of the tonic treatment with Dr. Williams' Pink Pills should be known to every mother in the land. These Pills make new, rich blood, tone the organs and nerves, bring a glow of health to pale, sallow cheeks, and drive away the weakness, headaches, faintness, heart palpitation and loss of energy so noticeable in young girls who are suffering from anaemia. To all such Dr. Williams' Pink Pills are an actual life saver. Miss Mabel McTavish, Prince Albert, Sask., says: "In my case I can only say that life had lost its magic; all work was a trial, and even pleasure only a task. When I went up a flight of stairs I was ready to drop from sheer weakness, and I had begun to think life would be a continued burden. But all this is now changed, thanks to Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. These were recommended to me, and after taking them for about a month I found my health renewed. I could sleep better, my appetite returned, and I was so strong and well that housework was no longer a burden to me. My sister seemed to be going the same way last summer and Dr. Williams' Pink Pills were at once sent for and two boxes made her as well as ever. Dr. Williams' Pink Pills are now the prized medicine in our home, and doctor bills have been fewer since we discovered the virtues of this great medicine."

Sold by all medicine dealers or sent by mail at 50 cents a box or six boxes for $2.50 from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

—Smith Bros., North Erin, have sold a team of fillies, 2 and 3 year old, to Mr. David Allen, of Rainey River for $700.

THOMAS HEWITT DEAD.

Mr. Thomas Hewitt, formerly a well-known resident of Amaranth and afterwards of Orangeville, passed away at his home near Streetsville on Sunday. Deceased, who was 82 years of age, had been enjoying excellent health until about four months ago. He is survived by a widow, one son, Mr. Russell Hewitt, and three daughters, Miss Annie Hewitt, Big Rapids, Mich.; Mrs. H. W. McCulloch, Souris, Man., and Mrs. D. E. Fraser, Winnipeg. The late Mr. Hewitt farmed in Amaranth for many years, afterwards removing to Orangeville where he resided for seven years. He moved from here to Streetsville in 1895. He was a member of the Presbyterian Church and served on the Managing Board of St. Andrew's Church for several years. The remains were brought to Orangeville for burial, the funeral taking place from the C.P.R. depot to Greenwood cemetery yesterday morning. A number of oldtime friends and acquaintances were at the station to meet the body. The service at the grave was conducted by Rev. W. M. Morris.

JAMES CAMERON, JR.

Mr. James Cameron, Jr., a well-known citizen of this town, passed away at his home on West Broadway, late on Saturday. His death followed closely on that of his mother, Mrs. James Cameron, of Cataract, whose demise on Friday is recorded elsewhere in this issue. The late Mr. Cameron had suffered from diabetes for a number of years. Ill-health led him to leave his farm in Caledon about three years ago, and he took up his residence in Orangeville two years ago last winter, purchasing the fine residence on West Broadway, formerly occupied by the late Postmaster Bradley. Mr. Cameron was 51 years of age and is survived by a widow and one son, Allen. These and the other relatives have the sympathy of our citizens in their time of bereavement. The funeral was held to the Forest Lawn cemetery on Tuesday afternoon, Rev. W. M. Morris, pastor of St. Andrew's Church, and Rev. C. Langford, of Alton, conducting the services. The pallbearers were three of Mrs. Cameron's brothers, George and Allen Maxwell, of Caledon, and Dr. Leslie Maxwell, Toronto; John and George Cameron, brothers, and Dr. George Bell, of Chicago, a brother-in-law of the deceased.

MRS. JAMES CAMERON.

Mrs. James Cameron, an old and greatly respected resident of Caledon township, passed away at her home near Cataract on Friday at the ripe age of 83 years and 4 months. The deceased lady, while bright mentally and usually able to be about, had been in rather delicate health for about a year. A week ago Sunday she had a paralytic seizure from which she failed to recover. The late Mrs. Cameron was born in Perthshire, Scotland, on June 10th, 1827. Her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Peter McGill, came to Canada in 1831, settling in Erin township shortly afterwards. She was married to Mr. Cameron on March 24th, 1852, a little over 58 years ago. Frugality, foresight and prudent management brought the young couple a rich reward and in time they acquired a home and property that is equalled by very few in this part of Ontario. By those who knew her intimately Mrs. Cameron will be held in affectionate remembrance for her kindliness and generous sympathies. She was devotedly attached to her home and family and especially to her husband, to whom her removal is an irreparable loss. Besides Mr. Cameron, she is survived by a family of three sons and three daughters. These are Peter Cameron, Saskatoon; John, Orangeville; George, on the homestead; Mrs. R. Beatty, Toronto; Mrs. Robt. Dodds, Detroit, and Mrs. (Dr.) Geo. Bell, Chicago. James, another son, passed away at his home in Orangeville the day following his mother's death. There are also twelve grandchildren living, the oldest of whom, Mr. Geo. Cameron, is a member of Caledon Council. There was a large attendance at the funeral, which was held to Alton cemetery on Sunday afternoon. The services at the house and grave were conducted by Rev. Mr. McCormick, of Erin, assisted by Rev. Chas. Langford, Alton, and Rev. Mr. Yule, Bellountain. The pallbearers were three brothers, Arch., Dougal and Peter McGill, of Erin, two sons, George and John Cameron, and a son-in-law, Dr. Bell, of Chicago.

MRS. JAMES HAYES.

Mrs. Clara Hayes, wife of Mr. James Hayes, passed away at her home on West Broadway on Friday after an illness of only two days' duration. The deceased lady, who was 50 years of age, was the only daughter of Mr. Sepha Donner, one of Orangeville's first merchants. She leaves a husband and a family of four sons and four daughters. The latter are Mrs. A. W. Williamson, Toronto; Mrs. W. Marshall, Dundalk; Miss Evelyn, Toronto; Gordon, of the Orangeville Post Office staff, and Miss Gertrude, Harold, Oscar and Alexander at home. The funeral, which was largely attended, took place to the Forest Lawn Cemetery on Sunday afternoon. The floral tributes, mute but expressive tokens of the love and esteem of her friends, included a beautiful pillow from the Liebander Bible Class and a floral bell from the local staff of the Bell Telephone Co. In the absence of her pastor, Rev. G. A. Rix, the services were conducted by Rev. O. Nurse, of Tottenham. The pallbearers were Postmaster Park, Wm. Powers, Wm. Cowie, M. H. Shaw, Chas. and W. King. Mr. Hayes and family have the sympathy of many friends in their sad loss.

MRS. B. G. HARRIS.

It is with deep personal sorrow that we record the death of Mrs. B. G. Harris, of Woodbridge, who passed away at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. David Watson, at six o'clock yesterday evening. On Tuesday of last week a little daughter was ushered into this vale of tears and twenty-four hours later the young mother showed symptoms of illness, which the attending physicians at once recognized would prove critical and probably fatal. Two trained nurses were procured and with the doctors did everything possible to save the life of the stricken woman. Unfortunately their efforts availed not. Mrs. Harris was exceedingly popular here and at her home in Woodbridge and the news of her untimely death has caused profound sorrow. The deepest sympathy is entertained for the bereaved husband, parents and family. The blow is particularly severe on the aged father and mother, who saw the remains of another daughter borne from her home to their last resting place only nine months ago. The funeral will be held to the Forest Lawn cemetery at 2.30 o'clock Friday afternoon. Service at the house at 2 o'clock.

FAREWELL PRESENTATION.

Citizens of Orangeville Do Honor to Mr. and Mrs. J. R. Gillespie.

A large number of the citizens of Orangeville met at the home of Mr. and Mrs. D. A. Hogg, James St. on Thursday night for the purpose of saying farewell to Mr. and Mrs. J. R. Gillespie on the eve of their departure for their new home in Fort William. After a few introductory remarks, Mayor Riddell, who was called to the chair, read the following address:—

To Mr. and Mrs. J. R. Gillespie.

Dear Friends,—Your many friends in this town have heard with very deep regret of your intention to remove from the scene of your activities and to break the ties that you have made during the many years that you have been residents of Orangeville. We are sure that your places in our civic and social life will be hard to fill. As citizens of our town both of you, in your different spheres, have always taken an active interest in any and everything that would tend to make Orangeville a better and happier place in which to reside, and it is only when you are absent that we will miss you most. However, during the course of our lives, even the dearest bonds must sometimes be severed and in losing such esteemed citizens as yourselves, still it is our earnest wish and desire that peace, prosperity and happiness will be yours in your new home.

Before we say good-bye, we would ask you to accept these little gifts as a souvenir from the hearts of your Orangeville friends. Signed on behalf of your friends, W. H. Riddell, D. B. Brown, Dr. A. J. Hunter, Jos. J. Kelly, D. A. Hogg, D. J. Hunter, Rev. Dr. Harper, Thos. Arnott, Walter Fairburn.

During the reading of the address Mr. Hogg presented Mr. Gillespie with a suitably engraved solid gold chain and locket and Mrs. Hogg presented Mrs. Gillespie with a beautiful sunburst of pearls. Mr. Gillespie, who was visibly affected, replied briefly, referring with evident feeling to the sundering of the business and social ties that bound him so closely to the town and county of his birth. Short addresses were afterwards delivered by Councillor A. Hill, County Clerk J. C. Reid, Mr. D. B. Brown, ex-Mayor McKitrick, C. R. McKeown, M.P.P., Rev. G. A. Rix and Rev. Dr. Harper, who spoke appreciatively of Mr. and Mrs. Gillespie's qualities and usefulness as citizens and gave expression to the sense of loss to the town through their departure. The programme was happily varied by a couple of excellent songs by Mr. E. A. Warren. Before the gathering dispersed all joined heartily in the singing of "Auld Lang Syne."

Mr. Gillespie left for Fort William on Friday evening, and Mrs. Gillespie will follow on Friday. In the former Orangeville has lost a successful business man and an energetic and public-spirited citizen, and in the latter a gracious and estimable lady. That happiness and a generous measure of success may be their lot in their new home is the wish of their many Orangeville friends.

DR. MASON INJURED.

Member for East Victoria Has Three Ribs Broken in Runaway Accident.

Dr. R. M. Mason, M.P.P. for East Victoria, was seriously injured in a runaway accident about ten miles from Minden on Monday. A dog frightened the horse and Dr. Mason and his driver were both thrown out. The doctor's foot caught in one of the wheels of the vehicle and he was dragged a considerable distance. He was unconscious when picked up. An examination revealed that he had sustained three broken ribs, slight injuries to his lungs and a number of severe cuts and bruises on the left arm and left side of his face and head. The injuries are painful, but are not likely to prove fatal. Dr. Mason is a former Mono Mills boy, and is a brother of Mr. Stuart Mason, of Albion, and a cousin of Mrs. T. J. Robinson of this town.

A SUDDEN DEATH.

Mr. George Goulding, a well-known Torontonian, died very suddenly on Tuesday morning at his home 34a Triller Avenue. Death was due to a stroke of apoplexy. Deceased had reached the age of 68 years and was in splendid health up to a few hours before his death.

Mr. Goulding was widely known as a commercial traveller. He had spent 48 years on the road, and was for 35 years associated with the Turnbull Woollen Mills Company, of Galt. For the last three years he had been conducting a manufacturers' agency with offices in Wellington street east. He was also prominent as a breeder of high-class fowls, and devoted considerable time to that pursuit.

In temperament he was jovial and entertaining, and had hosts of friends in Toronto and throughout the Dominion, who will deeply deplore his death. Great sympathy is expressed for the family, whose grief is accentuated by the recent death of the youngest son, the late Fred. Goulding, who also died suddenly a couple of months ago. The remaining members of the family are the widow, who is a sister of Mr. Chas. King, Zina St., and Walton King, The Maples.; one son, and one daughter, Mr. Harry Goulding, merchant, Port Carling, and Mrs. D. McLean, of 34 Triller avenue. The funeral takes place on Thursday at 2.30 to Mount Pleasant Cemetery.

BUY WITH LITTLE TROUBLE! IS THERE NOT LOTS IN THAT? THE MAIN TROUBLE YOU HAVE, IS IT NOT, IS IN KNOWING YOU ARE GOING TO GET THE GOODS YOU BUY AT A REASONABLE PRICE? NO MERCHANT CAN KEEP ON SELLING GOODS FOR LESS THAN THEY COST HIM AND KEEP IT UP. WHEN GOODS ARE SOLD FOR LESS THAN COST DEPEND UPON IT THEY ARE WORTH TO THE MERCHANT ONLY WHAT HE ASKS FOR THEM. IF THEY WERE WORTH MORE HE WOULD ASK MORE. SOMETIMES, OF COURSE, YOU WILL FIND BARGAINS IN THINGS WORTH LITTLE TO THE MERCHANT, BUT MUCH TO YOU, BUT NEW GOODS ARE NEARLY GIVEN AWAY, THERE IS A REASON FOR IT--THEY ARE EITHER OUT OF DATE, POOR IN QUALITY, SOILED, OR THERE ARE ONLY A FEW ODD SIZES LEFT. There will be no doubt a very lively market next Wednesday as there will be a keen demand for all kinds of farm produce to supply Thanksgiving Day. Owing to the presence of T. Eaton Co's. buyer, we have changed the time for holding the market from 9 o'clock a.m. to 4 o'clock p.m., instead of the afternoon as formerly held. We hope the farming community will realize and appreciate the efforts of those who have secured so excellent a market at their very door, where really Toronto prices are paid, instead of trucking off to Bolton or Tottenham for a quarter of a cent, just temporarly paid by fanatical buyers who have no intention to pay it continually, and show a loyalty to the village and an appreciation for what is done for them. The business men of the place have spent both time and money to make the market a success and we can assure the community of its stability and usefulness.

MELANCTHON.

Threshing is done in this locality and the two machines have moved further north.

Fred. Barrett has moved to his farm on the 4th line, and left another vacant house in the village.

Mrs. Thomas is seriously ill with an attack of pleurisy and heart disease. Her daughter, Mrs. Robert Armstrong, of Toronto, has come to see her.

Mr. R. J. Woods occupied the Gravel Road pulpit last Sabbath.

ALTON.

A Thanksgiving Concert will be given in the Congregational Church on Monday evening next, October 31st. Mr. Rechab Tandy, one of Canada's famous tenor singers, will contribute several solos and a number of selections will be given by the Church Choir and leading home talent. The concert promises to give the people of Alton an unusual musical treat and we hope it will be generously patronized. The admission has been fixed at 25c. and 15c.

CAMILLA.

Mr. Cunningham, of Hamilton, is the guest of Miss Maggie McNaughton.

Miss Bertha Doherty, of Orangeville, visited friends here last week.

Miss Annie Anderson, of Orangeville, visited her sister, Mrs. W. A. Henry, over Sunday.

Mr. Alex. Scott, of Toronto, was home for a few days last week.

At the congregational meeting held Monday evening, an unanimous call was signed and will be presented at next meeting of Presbytery to Rev. Alfred Fowlie, of Waubaushene, who preached an eloquent sermon here last Sunday.

The members of St. Andrew's Church are working strenuously to make a success of their fowl supper and entertainment to be held Thanksgiving night and their efforts will surely be crowned with success and the varied programme of music, recitations and speeches will be an interesting one. Two services will be held here on Sunday. The one in the afternoon will be taken by Rev. Mr. Morris, of Orangeville, and the evening service at 7.30 by a Toronto minister.

Mr. Herbert Christian has bought Mr. James McDonald's farm.

STRUCK BY FREIGHT.

A cattle buyer named David J. Allen, who said he hailed from Emo in Northern Ontario, had a lucky escape from a violent death last Thursday night. Allen, who is said to have imbibed not wisely but too well, bought a C.P.R. ticket from Harriston to Erin. He got off the train at Alton instead of Cataract and when he discovered his mistake started out to walk down the track to Cataract. Some distance below Alton he collided with a double-headed freight running about 30 miles an hour. Allen was pitched clear of the rails. The engineer saw him and stopped the train. The crew went back expecting to pick up a dead and perhaps badly mangled man. To their surprise they found Allen very much alive and apparently intact. The crew brought him through to Orangeville and he was taken to the Dufferin House where his injuries, which appeared to consist mainly of bruises about the back and shoulders, were attended to by Dr. T. H. Henry. His escape was remarkable.

BARN DESTROYED.

About five o'clock last Thursday morning the barns on Mr. William Allen's farm, 5th line, east, Mono, with the season's crop, some implements and other contents, was completely destroyed by fire. The origin of the fire is unknown. There is some insurance, but Mr. Allen will lose heavily. The building was owned by Mr. Allen's uncle, Mr. Rich. Allen, ex-Reeve of Mono.

THANKSGIVING SERVICES.

Thanksgiving services will be held in St. Matthew's Church, Mono, on Sunday next, October 30th. Rev. Prof. Cotton, of Wycliffe College, Toronto, will preach at 2.30 and 7 p.m.

A LUMBERMAN'S BACKACHE.

"The pains in my back were dreadful and the kidneys failed to do their work," writes Mr. L. J. McKinnon, Orillia, Ont. "Dr. Chase's Kidney and Liver Pills proved to be exactly what I needed, brought relief promptly and cured me. Sorry I wasted time with other medicines."

HIGH SCHOOL GAMES.

Annual Field Day Was a Success in Spite of Unfavorable Weather.

Wendell Holmes Carries Off Senior Championship a Second Time.

The students of the High and Public Schools held their annual Field Day on the Exhibition Grounds last Friday afternoon. The day was cold and disagreeably windy, making it unpleasant and uncomfortable for the spectators, who were present in goodly numbers. WHY TAX RATE IS HIGHER.

Shelburne's tax rate is this year 24 mills, which is just four mills higher than last year, and some there are who point to the figures in thirsty horror and say, "There's Local Option for you—it's raised our tax rate four mills!" But go not alarmed; Local Option hasn't done any such thing. Local Option is responsible for an increase of about 1 3-10 mills in the tax rate—and is cheap at the price. Increased school expenditures are responsible for 1 4-10 mills of the increase, and the remaining 1 3-10 mills are attributable to the addition to the new steel tank which was not provided for in the original by-law, to the new gasoline engine at the waterworks, to the digging of the new well on Main street east, and to the fact that this is also the first year in which payment is made on waterworks extension debentures. The fact seems to be that had it not been for these other in a measure uncontrollable expenditures the adoption of Local Option would not of itself have meant any increase over last year's rate.—Economist.

Reduce the Cost of Living

LET us look into the problem of high cost of living. Let us see if we can whittle it down a bit and extract some of its fangs.

We all agree that the cost of living has gone up. Eggs have gone up, butter has gone up, meat and poultry and vegetables have gone up. Everything we put on our tables has advanced in price from 30 to 50%. Except one item—Flour. Most of us have known this in a way sometime but have we ever for a moment realized that 10 cents spent in good Bread buys more real value than fifteen times that amount spent in Eggs, Beef or Mutton. Just glance at the tables above showing the comparison made by the U. S. Government bulletin. From a food point of view — bread is the most important in our whole bill of fare. Test after test by various Governments has proved that first class bread is in itself almost a complete food and provides most nourishment to the body.

It is a fact that the best bread made from OGILVIE'S ROYAL HOUSEHOLD FLOUR is richer in real food value than anything you may eat. It furnishes more all round food in the shape of carbohydrates than either beef, veal, lamb, pork, fish or vegetables. The only element of sustenance that it lacks is fat and that you provide for by using butter. Bread is the one item of food that has not advanced in price, and has advanced in quality. Modern first-class bread made from ROYAL HOUSEHOLD FLOUR is vastly superior to the crude bread of our olden times. It is not only better in taste but vastly richer in food elements. It is the result of scientific study and scientific methods of milling. "ROYAL HOUSEHOLD" is the highest perfection of flour. No ordinary flour is comparable with Royal Household for quality and uniformity. One way to reduce household expenses is to eat more bread and pastry made from Royal Household Flour.

Ogilvie's Royal Household Flour

Let us make good, clean fresh, home-made products from ROYAL HOUSEHOLD FLOUR — bread and pastry and cookies and muffins and rolls for the youngsters and in that way we will all get better food and be heathier and wealthier in the long run.

If you send in your address and the name of your dealer you will receive a copy of "Ogilvie's Book for a Cook" containing 125 tried and tested recipes.

THE FIRST COUNCIL.

Matters That Were to the Fore When Dufferin Became a County.

The following extract is from an article that appeared in the Orangeville Advertiser, of September 30th, 1875—a little over 35 years ago :—

"In our last issue we gave a short report of the meeting of the Provisional Council of the County of Dufferin, but had not time to publish full particulars. We return to the subject to-day. After the election of Mr. Stewart as Provisional Warden and Mr. P. M. Barker as Clerk, the Warden addressed the Council, placing before them a clear statement of the position of affairs. First he gave a comparative statement of the assessment and taxation of the different counties in this neighborhood. The County of Simcoe has a total acreage of 1,192,963—25 townships, equalized at $11,905,359; 5 towns and villages, equalized at $1,350,000; total value of county, $13,255,359; equalized rate per acre, $9.50; tax for current expenses, $33,138; rate on the dollar, 2½ mills. County of Peel, 302,904 acres; 4 townships assessed at $6,714,610, making $22.10 per acre; 3 towns and villages, assessed at $582,241; income and personal property, $642,448; total assessment, $8,039,100; collected for current expenses, $8,039; rate, 1 mill in the dollar. County of Grey, 17 townships and 3 towns and villages, assessed for $13,676,876; amount raised, $45,589; rate, 3½ mills in the dollar. Wellington, 14 townships and 10 towns and villages, total assessment, $13,874,302; amount raised, $59,960; rate, 4½ mills. County of Halton, 4 townships and 5 villages, total assessment, $6,676,966 ; amount raised, $6,676; rate, 1 mill. County of Dufferin—Amaranth township, equalized assessment, $493,754; East Garafraxa, $582,155; Mono, $653,732. Mulmur, $603,137; Melanothon, $654,718; Orangeville, $225,000; total equalized assessment, adding $75,000 additional for Orangeville, $3,287,493, averaging $9.25 per acre. The debt of the different municipalities entering the new County would be as follows :—Wellington debt, $85,250—share of Amaranth, $3,060 ; Garafraxa, $3,550; Orangeville, $1,392; total, 47,922. Simcoe debt, $42,239—share of Mono, $2,091; Mulmur, $1,930; total, $4,021. Grey debt, $178,871—share of Melanethon, $8,576. Total amount of the share of debt of the County of Dufferin, $20,519. Following are the amounts raised for county purposes by the municipalities in the County of Dufferin : Melanethon, $2,182.31; Mono, $1,634.33; Mulmur, $1,507.84; Amaranth, $2,098.41; Garafraxa, $2,47 4,15; Orangeville, $965.25; say addition for Orangeville, $319; total for County, $11,172.69. The probable income and expenditure of Dufferin, when incorporated, would be : Rate, 3 mills, $9,062.48; Government portion of cost of criminal justice, $1,000; licenses and fines, $200; total income, $11,062.48. Expenditure : Treasurer, $500; Clerk, $300; Councillors, $200; Warden, $100; Messenger, $20; administration of justice, $350; printing, $150; schools, $700; sundries, $600; interest, $1,800; principal, $1,000; total expenditure, $8,790; balance of income over expenditure, $2,272,48. The following counties have a less amount of assessable property than Dufferin : Carleton, assessment, $3,479,453; Lanark, $3,558,169; Frontenac, $2,668,841; Peterborough, $2,340,558; Prescott and Russell, $2,153,706; Renfrew $1,497,588; Victoria, $2,978,166. Counties with less acreage : Brant, 217,989; Haldimand, 281,049; Halton, 229,222; Lincoln, 204,643; Peel, 293,818; Welland, 223,382; Wentworth, 271,906.

The Warden also stated to the Council that the Act setting apart the County of Dufferin provided that the County would get its proportion of the assets of each county of which it now forms a part, which he thought would make up for the debt for which the County of Dufferin would be liable.

The statement submitted by the Warden was then referred to a committee consisting of Messrs. Hand, Wilson, Airth, Golden and Henderson. At the evening session the above committee reported that they had examined the statement submitted by the Warden and found it to be correct, and that they recommended a by-law to be submitted in January for separation in accordance with the Act.

The Council adjourned, to meet again on the 1st of December, when the by-law will be introduced and submitted to the ratepayers at an early date.

Mr. A. D. McKenzie, proprietor of the Lucknow Sentinel and the Teeswater News has disposed of the News to Mr. Adam McKay, who has been on its staff for fifteen years.

Nerves at High Tension

Slight extra strain means collapse—Restoration obtained by using DR. A.W. CHASE'S NERVE FOOD

The successful men and women are often of the high-strung nervous type—keen and active—but with too little reserve force.

A little extra worry and anxiety and snap goes the nervous system. Weeks and months are often required before energy and vigor are regained.

Rest helps, so does fresh air and exercise, but the blood must also be made rich and red by use of Dr. A. W. Chase's Nerve Food.

Mr. Wm. Branton, Victoria St., Strathroy, Ont., writes:—My nervous system seemed all unstrung. I could not sleep, had no appetite, my digestion was poor and I had jerking of the limbs. Dr. Chase's Nerve Food helped me and I continued until I had taken twenty-four boxes. This treatment has made a radical change in my condition, building up the system and strengthening the nerves." ALCOHOL AND THE HUMAN BRAIN.

1. Scars in the flesh do not wash out nor grow out, but, in spite of the change of all the particles of the body, are accurately reproduced without alteration by the flux of its particles.

2. It is as true of scars on the brain and nervous system, as of those on any less important parts of the body, that they will not wash out nor grow out.

3. Scars on the brain or nervous system may be made by physical or mental habits, and are the bases of the self-propagative power of habits.

4. When the scars or grooves in which a habit runs are made deep, the habit becomes automatic or self-acting, and perhaps involuntary.

5. The grooves worn, or scars made, by good and bad habits, may be inherited.

6. While self-control lasts, a bad habit is a vice; when self-control is lost, a bad habit is a disease.

7. While a bad habit is a vice, the treatment of it belongs to the Christian and the philanthropist. When it becomes a disease the treatment of it belongs to physicians.

8. In probably nine cases out of ten among the physical difficulties produced by the use of alcohol, and not inherited, the trouble is a vice, and not a disease.

9. Alcohol, by its affinity for water, hardens all the albuminous or gluelike substances in the body.

10. It thus paralyzes the small nerves, produces arterial relaxation, and deranges the circulation of the blood.

11. It produces thus an increased quickness in the beating of the heart, and a ruddiness of countenance which are not signs of health, but of disease.

12. Alcohol injures the blood by changing the color and chemical composition of its corpuscles.

13. The deteriorations produced in the blood by alcohol are peculiarly injurious to the brain on account of the great quantity of blood sent to that organ.

14. All science is agreed that the local affinity of alcohol, like that of opium, prussic acid, hasheesh, belladonna, etc., is for the brain.

15. The brain is the organ of the mind, and the temple and instrument of conduct and character.

16. Intemperance and cerebral injury are so related that even moderate indulgence is inseparably connected with intellectual and moral disintonement.

17. In this circumstance, and in the inerasibility and frequent hereditary transmission of the scars produced by the local affinity of alcohol for the brain, advanced thinkers find the principle of total abstinence fully justified.

18. Whatever disorganizes brain disorganizes mind and character, and whatever disorganizes mind and character disorganizes society.

19. The local affinity of alcohol for the brain, therefore, exempts it, in its relations to government, from the list of articles which have no such affinity, and gives to government the right in self-defence to interfere by the prohibitory restriction of its sale as a beverage.—Rev. Jos. Cook, D.D. Boston.

HOW NEWCASTLE UTILIZES WASTE.

A striking example of the utilization of waste is furnished by the City of Newcastle. The big ocean liners are built and from which great quantities of coal are shipped. It is pointed out by L. Lamprey in the Technical World Magazine, that the power used by the firm, which built the great Trans-Atlantic liner, Mauretania, was all derived from what would otherwise have been waste matter.

One of this company's generating stations is at an iron works on the river Tees, where a tremendous amount of live steam is used in blast furnaces. For years this steam was allowed to blow off as exhaust, even though it contained an incalculable amount of energy. In devising methods for conserving resources of the district, the power company set about to utilize the waste steam for these blast furnaces by transforming it into electrical energy. So now, when the steam has done its work in the blast furnace, it is not turned loose to shower the passer-by, but is piped across the yard into a steam turbine, where it becomes electric power, to be used perhaps fifty or sixty miles away in some Tyneside yard.

This new utilization is of no inconvenience to the iron works. In fact, it is a help, for now the steam is condensed by the power company, and returned to the iron works as water, where formerly it exhausted into air and was not recoverable in any form. The iron works, therefore, not only make a profit on the steam sold, but has its water bill reduced as well, and the power company, of course, makes a profit on its own use of the waste steam. Thus, this live steam used in making the plates and ribs for the Maurentania, has become as valuable as those still passes on to do other work and achieve other results quite as profitable, though perhaps less spectacular than the construction of a mammoth steamship.

In other cases—at collieries, for example—the waste gases in the manufacture of coke are captured and burned under boilers, creating steam which is turned into electricity. The utilization of these gases affects in no way the value of the coke, but it extracts enough energy, which for merly went into waste, to produce hundreds of thousands of horse power to be used in the industries of the northeast counties. There is not a single shipyard on the river Tyne to-day, which is not operated by electric power generated from waste heat. Every bit of mechanical power used in the construction of the Maurentia, was created by forces which, ten years ago, were permitted to escape without any effort at utilization; every rivet was hammered by a forge of intangible and elusive under old conditions as the fanciful Afrites and Genii of the Arabian

The result on social and industrial conditions in Newcastle has been remarkable.

Newcastle has become the most cosmopolitan industrial city in the world. Instead of being simply a coal town, it has chemical works, shipyards, blast furnaces, rolling mills, machine shops, a dozen minor industries and the use of power is the displacing of the dollar-a-day man by the skilled mechanic. A town in which electricity is the motive power does not develop nor use the human being of the type of the "man with the hoe." In short, the utilization of waste power prevents the waste of human blood and bones and muscle in the old-time brutal fashion. Further than this, it tends to prevent the rolling up of a debt for the next generation to pay, in the shape of a crop of degenerates whose fathers and mothers were so overworked and underpaid as to raise children fit only to fill workhouses, hospitals and jails.

Thus it has come about that Newcastle has become a great industrial centre, and in becoming so, is using less coal in proportion to the power produced than is used anywhere else in the world, except perhaps under some of the great waterpowers. Newcastle's industrial supremacy to-day is due to its utilization of waste. Millions of tons of coke are being shipped, just as before, but before that coke is shipped it gives up great quantities of energy to turn the busy wheels of factories, shipyards, railways, and the city's thousand industries.

All this advancement has gone on without affecting the district's chief exports—coal and coke. The toll taken by Newcastle's industries does not lessen the value of the exports — it merely increases the usefulness of England's too few natural resources.

The "Hecla" Furnace

And The Steel Ribbed Firepots

The greater the radiating surface of the firepot, the greater the heat obtained from the fuel.

In most furnaces, the firepots are made with castiron flanges or points, to increase the radiating surface. Being castiron, these flanges take up so much space that only a few can be used.

In the "Hecla" Furnace we use steel ribs instead of castiron flanges. By applying our Patented Fused Joint Idea, we are able to fuse 97 steel ribs into the Firepot in the same space where before we were able to cast only 17 iron ones.

This gives the "Hecla" three times the radiating surface of any other firepot—and effects a saving of from ⅛ to ⅓ in fuel, as proved by a three year's test.

This is only one of the many features that are exclusive with "Hecla" Furnaces. They are all described in our new catalogue which we send free on request. Write for a copy.

GRAND VALLEY FAIR.

Attendance on Friday Broke All Former Records.

Fair and Concert Receipts Exceeded $1000.

The annual Fall Fair of the East Luther Agricultural Society in Grand Valley last Thursday and Friday surpassed all former records in point of attendance. It was the last of the fall fairs in this section, and this fact, with the warm, bright day, brought together a record crowd. Practically the entire countryside took a holiday. Hundreds were also present from a distance. The morning trains east and west were crowded. The afternoon special from Orangeville, was also well patronized. It is estimated that there were about 6000 people on the grounds during the afternoon. The gate receipts amounted to $800 and were considerably in excess of any former year. The Show itself was a credit to the Society. There was a fine exhibit of live stock, particularly of horses. An excellent showing was also made in the hall, where there were a number of special displays in addition to the regular exhibits. The speeding events were rather uneventful. At night the Shelburne Dramatic Club played the melodrama "Down on the Farm" to a crowded house. The performance was given in the hall on the agricultural grounds, which furnished seating accommodation for over 1000 people. The proceeds were about $250, making the total receipts for the day over $1050. The officers of the Society have every reason to feel gratified over the day's results.

The one regrettable feature in connection with the Fair was the amount of drunkenness. In this respect the Fair was in marked contrast with the Orangeville and Shelburne Fall Fairs, where the crowds were both orderly and well-behaved. Dozens of drunken men and boys were to be seen on the streets and about the Grand Valley hotels Friday afternoon. There were several fights, some of them of a serious nature. A Mono farmer was struck with a beer bottle and injured so severely that he was confined to the house for several days afterwards. His assailant, a Grand Valley hotel man, was subsequently arrested, and will be tried as soon as the injured man is fit to testify. The day's events have strengthened the hands of the local option advocates, and will do much to give edge to the campaign which is just commencing.

George Swain, of Grand Valley, was called to North Bay on Friday evening by the death of his daughter-in-law, Mrs. W. W. Swain, who passed away at the Gravenhurst Sanatarium that morning. She had been poorly all year and about six weeks ago went to Gravenhurst hoping for benefit, but the disease had taken too strong a hold.

NEARLY DIED OF STONE IN THE BLADDER

GIN PILLS SAVED HIM

515 JAMES ST., HAMILTON, ONT.

"Five years ago, I was taken down with what the doctors called Inflammation of The Bladder—intense pains in back and loins, and difficulty in urinating, and the attacks, which became more frequent, amounted to unbearable agony. I became so weak that I could not walk across the floor.

My wife read in the papers about GIN PILLS and sent for a box. From the very first, I felt that GIN PILLS were doing me good. The pain was relieved at once and the attacks were less frequent.

In six weeks, the Stone in the Bladder came away. When I recall how I suffered and how now I am healthy and able to work, I cannot express myself strongly enough when I speak of what GIN PILLS have done for me." JOHN HERMAN, 48

GIN PILLS are sold at 50c a box—6 for $2.50. Sent on receipt of price if your dealer does not handle them. Sample box free if you write us, mentioning this paper. Money back, if GIN PILLS do not give full satisfaction. National Drug and Chemical Co., Dept. A. Toronto.

Shiloh's Cure

Hercules Lennox, formerly of Mulmur, who had his foot taken off by the cars while employed at the Union station, Toronto, last winter, has been granted $1,500 damages against the railways.

Every mother should realize that the skin of her baby is so tender that the secretions of the body often lead to rashes, eruptions, etc., all of which may be removed by Zam-Buk. Scores of restless, crying babies, upon examination, are found to be suffering from some form of skin irritation or "heat." Don't let the little one suffer when Zam-Buk will cure!

Mrs. L. Hood, of 475 Alexander Avenue, Winnipeg, says: "I have proved the value of Zam-Buk when applied to children's sores. Some nasty sores broke out around my baby's mouth, and despite all the preparations used, they refused to heal. I took him to St. Boniface hospital and he remained there for two weeks. At the end of that time he was no better, and we again took him home. I was then advised to try Zam-Buk and obtained a supply. The effect of the first few applications was very gratifying, and I continued with the use of the balm. A little perseverance resulted in a complete cure."

Mrs. E. Cocker, of Yorkton, Sask., says: "My little baby girl had a bad running sore all over her little chin. A few applications of Zam-Buk healed the sore in such a perfect manner that no scar was left behind."

Scores of similar cases could be quoted. Zam-Buk is absolutely pure—contains no rancid animal fats, no mineral coloring matter, no astringent poisons. It is the ideal balm for baby.

Zam-Buk cures eczema, rashes, ringworm, chapped hands, scurvy, heat rashes, cuts, burns, ulcers, discharging sores, and all skin injuries and diseases. 50c. box, all druggists and stores, or Zam-Buk Co., Toronto, for price. Don't take the risk of using harmful imitations!

A BARN BURNED.

John Tupling, of Horning's Mills, Meets With Severe Loss.

On Tuesday, Oct. 18, while the threshing machine was being set in the barn of J. Tupling, con. 3, Melancthon, the building was in some manner set afire and burned together with the season's crop. All that remains of a good barn and a summer's labor is a stone wall, partly filled with charred and smoking embers. The machine had hardly been placed in the barn and the belt was being adjusted when a tongue of fire was discovered at the back of the barn behind the separator. Strenuous attempts were made to extinguish the fire but of no avail for with lightning like rapidity the flames spread up the side of the mow and soon the barn was a mass of flames. So rapid was the spread of the fire that it was with some difficulty that the grain mill was saved. Fortunately there was only a light breeze blowing at the time and away from the house. However with such a gentle wind pieces of burning and burnt material were carried for considerable distances eastward and several fires were started in the nearby woods of Richard Hall, but were extinguished by the neighbors before any harm was done. Mr. Tupling loses the entire crop and part of his implements. No animals were burned save two pigs which returned into the fire and perished. The barn and contents are partly insured, but the loss, especially coming at the time it has, will be very great. Much sympathy is expressed by the entire community for Mr. Tupling in this his time of adversity.

FAREWELL PRESENTATION.

Mr. Jos. M. Snell Honored by His Railway Friends.

On Friday evening last, about 125 friends and associates of Mr. D. H. Forde, roadmaster of the Parry Sound division of the C.P.R., and Mr. J. M. Snell, bridge and building foreman of the same railway, assembled together in Hagan's hall to do them honor as they were about to sever their connection with local railway circles in Parry Sound.

After a sumptuous repast had been served, which reflected great credit on the genial local caterer, Mr. H. F. McQuire, and the desires of the inner man had been amply satisfied, the chairman, Mr. J. M. Elliott, called the gathering to order, and after a few well chosen remarks, suitable to the occasion, Mr. T. J. Baker came forward, and read the following address to the departing friends :—

We, your friends and fellow employees, have heard with genuine regret of your intended removal from our midst and we cannot let the occasion pass without expressing that regret. During the two years you have been among us you have proved yourselves worthy of our confidence and esteem, and you have proved to us in your dealings with men of all ranks, that to quote from Bobby Burns' [illegible], whether a man is high or low in [illegible]sition, "A man's a man for a' that." To Mr. Forde in particular, we must say that we have always found you both fair-minded and impartial. The grievance committee of the T[illegible]men's Union have to report th[illegible] during your tenure of office they [illegible] had one single grievance. [illegible] conclusion ask you, Mr. Forde, [illegible]cept this silver tea service, [illegible]ou, Mr. Snell, to accept this [illegible] chain and locket as a memo[illegible] and remembrance to you of the [illegible]tion you have so worthily earned and will always hold in our esteem. Trusting that your new positions and future pathway through life may be as pleasant as you both so well deserve.

(Signed) G. M. Elliott, G. Christopher, D. Lee, J. W. Stewart.

Mr. J. Darling, on behalf of those present, then presented Mr. Forde with a handsome silver tea service, and Mr. Snell with a solid gold chain and locket with diamond setting, as a slight token of the esteem in which they have been held during their sojourn here.

Messrs. Forde and Snell both made fitting replies, after which speeches were made by Messrs. W. H. Pomeroy and W. Munro, of Muskoka, and Dr. W. H. Mason, and Mr. T. J. Baker, of town, all expressing regret at the brethren's departure from their midst, and expressing the wish that future prosperity might attend them in their new fields of labor.

The floor was afterwards cleared for dancing, and this was kept up until the "wee sma' hours," when train time was announced.

Mr. Forde goes to Schrieber to take up his new duties, and Mr. Snell will be stationed at Orangeville, where their many friends will wish them a continuance of the prosperity that has marked their stay here. — Parry Sound Star, October 6th, 1910.

AT EDWARD'S CAMP.

President Wilson and His Associates Inspect Horning's Mills Camp.

Men are Preparing for Suitable Observance of Thanksgiving and Hallowe'en.

Pete Edwards' Camp,
Horning's Mills, Oct. 20, 1910.

To the Editor of The Banner.

Dear Sir,—The most interesting event of recent date around these diggings was the official visit of the Inspector-General and his staff,—President Wilson and Mr. Eby, of Toronto, and Messrs. McIntyre and Hyland, of Orangeville. These gentlemen, after spending a strenuous hour around the festive planks testing the capabilities of the camp cook, circled the entire 170 acres which comprise the site of the dam, the power house and the 1600 foot (32 inch) tube, which leads to the wheel-pit, and, after carefully sizing up the situation, expressed satisfaction with the progress being made with the force at command, and increased faith in the commercial success of the Dufferin Light and Power Company's big undertaking.

Next in interest, from a social and a practical point of view, was the visit of a quintette of Orangeville business men, composed of Mayor Riddell, Messrs. Harkies, Murray and Robinson, and the editor of the Sun. These gentlemen, being apparently more interested in the welfare of their town than are some of its merchants, took occasion to thoroughly post themselves on the details of the power people's plans, which are certainly destined to greatly benefit Orangeville and other towns not in touch with the government's hydro-electric line; and I venture to say that their belief in the feasibility of the Dufferin Company's scheme was vastly increased by their trip to the scene of operations. None but a born pessimist could question the ultimate success of their proposition, and that at a comparatively early date.

In parenthesis it may be here stated that the idea of utilizing Horning's Mills water power for light and power purposes was not born in a moment. It is ten long years since the scheme took shape in the fertile brain of Mr. Thos. R. Huxtable. It was the intention in the first instance to supply power to Shelburne only, but closer study of the possibilities resulted in a determination to supply the country for thirty miles around with light and power—and this will be done. It must be highly gratifying to Mr. Huxtable to find his dream of years ago now on the eve of accomplishment.

"Faith," it is said, "will remove mountains," but in these latter days, without a liberal supply of horny handed and broad-shouldered laborers, but little headway could be made in the work of tearing down Mulmur hills, and filling up 500-foot ravines. Heretofore, while good progress has been made in the construction of the big embankment, the lack of labor has interfered to some extent with the desire of the management to rush the work to a successful conclusion with cyclonic speed. But, like the preliminary difficulties which were met and overcome when the invading army first entered this Land of Promise, with its bogs and quagmires, its rocks, fallen timber and sheer hillsides, the labor difficulty, a serious one, was met and overcome with characteristic vigor by "Pete," the whirlwind worker, who represents the D. L. & P. Co. in its operations on the site of the big power dam. On Tuesday morning of last week, Mr. Edwards left here for Toronto, and on the following evening he returned with a gang of forty husky laborers, sound in wind and limb, and this despite the fact that lumber, railway and construction companies all over the Dominion are crying aloud, but in vain, for laborers of any and every description. Pete is a hustler himself and knows how to assemble and choose good men. With this reinforcement, clay, sand and gravel, which were whirling at 90 miles an hour, are now moving at a 100-mile clip, and the big bank visibly enlarges every sixty minutes. Incidentally, it may be said that the man here who does not hustle and "get up on top" is liable to become a permanent part of the works. The man or horse unfit for work can speedily be accommodated with a bed in the bank. The surrounding woods are assuming a sombre hue and winter comes on apace, but at the pace things are moving here there will be few paces to be taken by man or beast by the time Jack Frost paces this beat with the theremometer at 20 below. A few more horses and scrapers and a few more weeks, and 52 feet of water can be turned into a skating rink 80 acres in extent.

At present writing it is lovely weather, and the health of the men continues excellent. Very appropriately preparations are well under way in camp for a suitable observance of Thanksgiving Day, and a grand celebration of All Hallowe'en. You, sir, and as many of your readers as can make the grade are cordially invited to be present. During next week turkeys will be roasting, chestnuts smoking, and all the boys gloating in anticipation of Thanksgiving and its pumpkin pies. The bronze birds are said to be scarce, but they will be roosting high if Pete's Pirates do not see a few brace. Geese there are in plenty, ducks in fair supply, and chickens plentiful. Then there will be potatoes boiled, fried and roasted, brown bread and white bread and some of it toasted. Try and come up. In the evening there will be reels, polkas and quadrilles, clogs, jigs and hornpipes, and the beauty and chivalry of Melancthon and Mulmur will be represented. The music alone will be worth the trip. Better come up.

WALKER—DOWNEY.

Mr. Alex. S. Walker, proprietor of the Orangeville Bottling Works, was quietly married in Barrie on Wednesday of last week to Miss Ethel Downey, of Brandon, Man. The interesting event took place at the home of the bride's grandfather, Mr. Robert Culbert, Rev. Mr. Bowles, pastor of Barrie Methodist Church, officiating. The marriage of Miss Olive Carter, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Carter, to Dr. John Graham, of Mono Road, took place at eight o'clock Wednesday night, October 19th, at the residence of the bride's father in Macpherson avenue, Toronto. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. Dr. Stewart, pastor of the Yonge Street Methodist Church, in the presence of the immediate relatives. The bride, who was given away by her father, wore a travelling suit of Oxford grey cheviot and black velvet hat with plumes faced with pink and she carried pink roses. There were no attendants. Later in the evening Dr. and Mrs. Graham left for the east before going to their home in Mono Road.

THOMSON—McLACHLAN

On Wednesday afternoon, October 12th, John MsLaenlan's residence, 9th line, Erin, was the scene of a happy event when his second daughter, Flora, was united in marriage to Mr. Archibald Thomson, 5th line, Erin, in the presence of the immediate relatives of the contracting parties.

The ceremony was performed by Rev. R. S. Scott, pastor of St. Andrew's Church, Hillsburg, of which choir the bride was leading soprano.

The bride who was unattended was attired in a beautiful costume of cream voile, trimmed with overlace and liberty satin, over taffeta silk of the same shade and carried a bouquet of carnations and maiden hair fern.

The bride's going away costume was of brown trimmed with brown velvet, and old rose hat.

GABRIEL—GRAHAME.

On Wednesday afternoon last, in the Presbyterian church at Havelock, Miss Maud Graham, youngest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. R. J. Graham, was married to Mr. Arthur Gabriel, of Toronto. Rev. James Skene, Presbyterian clergyman, officiated. The bride, wearing a gown of ivory satin, with wedding veil arranged with lillies of the valley, was given away by her father. Miss Lena Warren, of Deseronto, was bridesmaid, and Mr. R. R. Graham, Peterboro', brother of the bride, was best man. Miss Edna Graeb, of Toronto, played the wedding march, and Miss Effie McGill, Havelock, cousin of the bride, sang "Because" during the signing of the register. The ushers were Mr. Gracey of the Bank of Toronto staff, and Mr. W. Brown, of Toronto. A reception was held at the home of the bride's parents. Among the out-of-town guests were Mrs. Gabriel, of Shelburne, mother of the groom; Messrs. [illegible] Brown, J. Buchanan, Mr. and Mrs. James Webb, Miss Graeb, and Mr. W. E. Graham, of Toronto. Previous to the marriage the bride was made the recipient of a silver tea set and tray by members of the Presbyterian church, of which she was organist. Mr. Thompson, M. P. P., made the presentation, and Rev. A. E. Camp, of Sault Ste. Marie, replied for Miss Graham.

PERSONAL PURITY.

Mr. Arthur W. Beall Addressed High and Public School Boys.

Mr. Arthur W. Beall, M. A., of Whitby, the Ontario W. C. T. U. representative of the White Cross, has been spending the past week in Orangeville in the interests of the work in which he is specially engaged. Last Friday morning he addressed the senior boys of the Public School on the subject of intelligent personal purity and on Monday spoke to the male students of the High School on the same theme. The writer unfortunately was unable to avail himself of the kind invitation to hear the addresses, but the following note from Rev. G. A. Rix, rector of St. Mark's Church, will serve to convey to our readers an idea of the important work Mr. Beall is doing, and the capable manner in which he is doing it. Mr. Rix says :—

"It was my privilege to listen last week to an address to the senior boys in the public school by Arthur W. Beall, M.A., the Ontario W.C. T. U. representative of the "White Cross." My great regret is that every boy of twelve years and over, and indeed every adult male, especially the fathers of the town, did not hear it. He treated those most delicate questions of which every boy should be informed in a manner that never approached to the coarse and yet revealed clearly to his boy audience the facts which are so necessary for them to know if they are to avoid certain of the terrible pitfalls in their path. Most men appreciate the work of the W.C.T.U., but in this branch of their work at least we must certainly all wish them God speed. This is written because it is not generally known the W. C. T. U. undertakes this branch of work and they certainly should get the credit for it. They ought to be congratulated in having secured the services of one who can deal with the matter in such a masterly way as Mr. Beall is able to do.

RADIANT HAIR.

New York Society Women's Hair Matched by Parisians.

While much attention is given to choicest gowns by New York society women, the turbulent fad just now is the care of the hair.

For many years the eleven women of Paris have been famed for the magnificent beauty of their hair.

"Glorious hair," a Virginian calls it; "so radiant and luxuriant that it not only attracts but fascinates and compels unstinted admiration."

But now that the elite of New York, ever anxious to improve their beauty, have learned that Parisian Sage, a remarkable and almost marvelous hair nourisher and beautifier, is almost entirely responsible for the charming hair of the ladies of France, the demand for it has become enormous.

Parisian Sage is now sold all over Canada and in Orangeville by T. Stevenson, who is glad to guarantee it to eradicate dandruff, stop falling hair and itching scalp in two weeks or money back. Large bottle 50 cents.

HOTELKEEPER WAS ARRESTED

George Swain, a Grand Valley hotelkeeper, was arrested by High Constable Hughes last Friday on a charge of assaulting and wounding Samuel Still, of Glencross. Swain struck Still on the side of the head with a beer bottle during a barroom brawl on Grand Valley Fair Day. The blow sent Still to the floor, from which he was picked up in an unconscious condition. Dr. James Henry, who has been attending him at his home, says his injuries are quite serious. It was throught at first that his cheek bone had been fractured, but we understand this is not the case. Swain was brought before P. M. Pattullo and remanded until Saturday afternoon next. He was allowed bail, himself in $1000 and two bondsmen, Robt. Boyle and J. E. Morrison, $400 apiece. The charge will be ventilated in Grand Valley.

CADETS' INSPECTION.

The High School Cadets were inspected on Thursday of last week by Lieut.-Col. Galloway, D.A.A.G. of Western Ontario. The corps was drawn up on the campus in line, under Cadet Captain J. F. Preston, and received the inspecting officer with a general salute, the bugle band playing a march. Lieut.-Col. Galloway, who arrived promptly at 2.30 o'clock, was accompanied by Lieut.-Col. J. A. V. Preston, and was received by Principal Steele and Lieut. J. H. Adams, C.S.C.I. After the general salute, arms were ordered, bayonets unfixed and a minute inspection made of the line, while the band relieved the monotory by another stirring air. The whole corps then marched past, the Inspecting Officer receiving the salute on the south side of the campus. This movement was executed with a precision and steadiness which would have done credit to much older soldiers. After the march past the band put away their instruments and joined their comrades in the ranks. Some company movements were performed under the captain, and the subalterns put the boys through the manual and firing exercises, all of which were very well done. Each section commander then gave his section a few movements which showed that the non-commissioned officers were quite as well up in their work as their superiors. When this was through the corps was again drawn up in company, and Col. Galloway addressed them briefly, complimenting them on the excellent showing which they had made, and pointing out other directions in which good work might be done. They had a great privilege in having, during their school days, a training so well calculated to develop sound bodies, keen minds and wholesome discipline. He was particularly pleased with the fine bugle band, which quite surpassed anything of the kind in connection with any similar corps of his acquaintance. Afterwards a brief visit was paid to the armoury and the new gymnasium now nearing completion, and the day was over.

The corps mustered 50 strong, and in their neat khaki uniforms presented a smart and attractive appearance. The inspection on the whole was a most satisfactory one and Principal Steele and Lieut. Adams, the drill instructor, are entitled to much credit for the good work which has been done. The band also owes its proficiency chiefly to Bandmaster T. A. Wilson, of the Citizens' Band, who has had the musical part of the work in hand. The Officers and N.C.O.'s are:—Cadet Captain, J. F. Preston; Cadet Lieutenants, W. A. Spence and W. T. Holmes; Colour Sergt., R. J. Spence; Sergeants, J. M. Aiken, H. S. Lewis, J. R. McPherson and D. S. McPherson; Corporals, R. B. McGuire, Jas. Dawson, Reggie King and Bert Wheelock; Lance-Corporals, M. Gulley, W. Groskurth, Allan Cameron and H. F. Tuck.

THE SOLICITUDE OF THE SPIRIT.

Henry Graham.

It is only reasonable that the God who made us should know us through and through. He who can create a spirit can look into the deepest depths of spirit. There is no secret place in the human soul to which God has nof admission. His eye surveys all the motions of our spiritual natures. The operations of the inner life, which include thought, purpose, desire, motive, hope, are carried on with the distinct understanding that, however much they are concealed from our fellow men, God sees and knows them altogether. The human soul is not a desert waste which the beasts of the field may trample under foot and feed upon at their leisure, but, rather, a walled garden open only heavenward, where its owner is concealed from the gaze of all but God; so that in our deepest solitude, in our most utter loneliness, there is always One present. And in trying to get away from our solitariness—in trying to get away from ourselves—we are trying to get away from God at the same time. That is why bad men dislike to be alone and to think about themselves. As soon as they turn their gaze on the depths of their souls they find God there, and they want to get away from God more than they want to get away from themselves. But if we are not afraid of ourselves, and not afraid of God, we may find the highest and most blessed companionship in the solitude of our own spirits. Human life would indeed be a lonely thing if God could not penetrate to this "Holy of holies" within us. But this secret, sacred place is His peculiar dwelling in man; and we may rejoice that, if we cannot, God can bridge the chasm between spirit and spirit, so that we are no longer solitary, no longer lonely, but have the noblest, sweetest fellowship, if we only like our company.—Methodist Review.

To those who suffer sickness, to those who want to be well, we say let us buy a 50-cent bottle of Psychine from your druggist and give it to you free to prove.

The white corpuscles of the blood—the Phagocytes, as they are known scientifically—are the policemen or the scavengers of the body.

Not a germ of disease can invade the body anywhere but these white corpuscles get after it. And, if they are strong enough or in sufficient numbers, they devour it.

If they're not strong enough or in sufficient numbers, then the invading army of disease germs triumphs and disease holds the body.

Any preparation that strengthens these white corpuscles or that increases their number, will not only preserve health, but will build up its defences so strongly that contagion or infection are impossible.

They have been styled nature's own remedies.

Certain herbs more than others are noted for their curative powers.

And it has been found that those herbs that are most effective in maintaining or restoring health, do so by building up the white corpuscles or Phagocytes.

These herbs are incorporated in Psychine.

And it is the tremendous curative power of these herbs that is responsible for the unequalled record of this splendid preparation.

Think of it. In Psychine we have a preparation that has been in use a third of a century. That has cured hundreds of thousands of many kinds of diseases.

For which we have received hundreds of thousands of unsolicited testimonials.

Here are the diseases for the treatment of which Psychine is indicated:

La Grippe	Bronchial Coughs
Bronchitis	Weak Lungs
Hemorrhages	Weak Voice

Poor Appetite	Night Sweats
Chills and Fevers	Obstinate Coughs
Sleeplessness and	Laryngitis and
Nervous Troubles	Dyspepsia

After-effects of Pleurisy, Pneumonia and La-Grippe.

Now we don't ask you to take our word for the tremendously beneficial effect of Psychine. Fill out the coupon below, mail it to us and we'll give your druggist an order (for which we pay him the regular retail price) for a 50-cent bottle of Psychine to be given you free of cost.

We will undoubtedly buy and distribute in this manner hundreds of thousands of these 50-cent bottles of Psychine.

And we do that to show our entire confidence in this wonderful preparation.

"I was affected with Rheumatism, Neuralgia and Lumbago. My limbs would swell; my muscles would cramp; I was nervous and had a heavy dragging sensation across the loins.

"I could not even walk across the room. Then I started to take Dodd's Kidney Pills and after taking six boxes found myself in the best of health—as well as ever I was in my life."

Mrs. Hutchins' troubles were all caused by Kidney Disease. That's why Dodd's Kidney Pills cured her so completely and quickly. Dodd's Kidney Pills cure only Kidney Disease, but they are a sure cure for any form of it from Backache to Bright's Disease.

COMPENSATIONS OF STORMS.

This is not a sermon. We leave that for the men of the pulpit. It is rather, just a plain talk about getting good from things that seem ill. Disasters are never as hopeless or irretrievable as they may appear. For the most part, the past season has been one of great abundance on the farms of Eastern Canada, and, under the stimulus of prevailing good prices, there is, as a general rule, continued prosperity. But, in a few restricted districts crops and fruit plantations were devastated by storms which have had no parallel in half a century. The shock of such an event is hard to bear, for it is a sorry interruption to the even tenor of our plans, which we like to see go smoothly along, or even with a rushing and unbroken material gain. But, in the loss and disturbance, may we not find some substantial compensations ?

The fields bereft of grain, once the straw was removed, were soon covered with a dense mass of verdure that made autumn feed for the cattle and smothered out the usual after-crop of weeds; and, upon being fall-plowed, the soil is found filled with a mass of greatly-needed vegetable matter that will surely tell favorably in the luxuriance of future crops. There are three compensating considerations to begin with.

In the next place, it compels us to cultivate resourcefulness, to adopt new plans, perhaps to call out our live stock to correspond with the depleted contents of the bins and mows. In this way we may be rid of some unprofitable animals. There is abundance of fodder, of a kind, so the concentrated feedstuffs must be more carefully husbanded and fed with discretion, but not parsimoniously. Feed fewer cows and beeves if need be, but feed them well, though purchases must be made to do so. In some cases men were able, by prompt action, to provide themselves with extra crops of Hungarian or millet to replace in measure what had been destroyed. A half crop of corn, but of superior quality, is not to be despised, and garden stuff and potatoes that seemed a total wreck when the blow was over, turned out to be just about as good as usual, and in some cases better. If we do without certain fruits for once, we shall appreciate them better hereafter, and have some sympathy for those who never enjoy them at all. On the material side of the case, we believe that five years hence some will be better off than they would have been had the hail and wind never wrought their havoc, just because of the hard, practical lessons taught.

It is worse than useless to brood over what is "lost," as we call it, forgetful of unnumbered benefits and blessings yet enjoyed. Far better turn with hopeful courage to the future, and plan for a new day and better things. Every ounce of mental energy spent deploring losses is just so much taken from what might well be devoted to fresh effort.

It is right that we grow the cleanest and very finest crops of which the land is capable, and take a pride in the work and life of the farm, but it is right to remember that crops and money, highly as we prize them, are only a means to an end, and if we stake wholly upon them, we run the risk of losing all in the game of life. Manhood, character, virtue, intelligence, culture, service of others, love of home, and good friends—these are the things that really count.

We need not assume that the disaster was a "punishment" for misdoing or worldliness, but it will prove one of the greatest of blessings if it but lifts us clear of the grip of those things, and causes us to keep first things first. It has taught us patience that most of us have to learn; it has shown us how powerless we really are amid the forces of Nature, and that, even in the disturbance of Her laws, there is an overruling Power that makes for our greatest good. Thus, in our seeming misfortune are found good reasons for expressions of gratitude on the approaching Thanksgiving Day.—Farmers' Advocate.

Itching Piles For 27 Yrs.

Despaired of ever getting relief until cure came 3 years ago with use of DR. CHASE'S OINTMENT.

Mr. John Johnson, Cawley, Alta., writes: "Three years ago I was cured of blind, itching piles of twenty-seven years' standing by using Dr. Chase's Ointment. I used to think that death would be the only relief I could ever get from the terrible misery of piles.

"Dr. Chase's Ointment is worth sixty dollars a box instead of sixty cents. I am a different man since using it. I am farming all the time now and never miss a day. Words fail to express my gratitude for the cure this Ointment made for me. I cannot tell half as much about it as it deserves. Any one doubting this can write direct to me."

Do not accept an imitation or substitute in place of Dr. Chase's Ointment, for there has yet to be discovered a treatment which so promptly gives relief from itching and so thoroughly cures every form of piles. 60 cents a box, at all dealers, or Edmanson, Bates & Co., Toronto. Write for a free copy of Dr. Chase's Recipes.

AWAKENING OF SCIENCE

TO THE VALUE OF FRUIT

What is "FRUIT-A-TIVES"?

Medical men are just beginning to realize the possibilities of fruit in curing disease. Its action on the liver, kidneys and skin is wonderful. Yet fruit in its raw state is impracticable in treating disease because of the minute quantity of the active or curative principle contained in fruit juice.

A physician in Ottawa, after years of patient work, discovered a process whereby the medicinal or active principle of fruit juice is increased in quantity and thus a more active and more valuable substance is obtained.

"Fruit-a-tives" is the only medicine in the world made of fruit.

Hundreds of prominent people in every section of the Dominion owe their good health to "Fruit-a-tives." Hundreds more are daily becoming stronger and better by taking them. "Fruit-a-tives" is daily proving its inestimable value as a natural cure in all cases of Constipation, Biliousness, Torpid Liver, Backache and Headache, Neuralgia, Rheumatism, Kidney and Skin Troubles.

50c. a box, 6 for $2.50, or trial box, 25c. Sold by all dealers, or sent, postpaid, on receipt of price by Fruit-a-tives Limited, Ottawa.

DANIEL McMICHAEL DEAD.

It is with regret that we are this week called upon to record the death of Daniel McMichael, an esteemed resident of Shelburne, who passed away at the Royal Alexandra Hospital at Fergus, on Monday, October 17th, 1910, at the age of 74 years. He had gone to the hospital at Fergus, on Friday, Oct. 3rd, to have an operation performed for some trouble with which he had been long afflicted, in the hope that he would thereby obtain relief. The operation took place on the following Tuesday, and was apparently successful, but it was evidently too much for him to bear at his advanced age, and he gradually became weaker until he died. The remains were brought to Shelburne from Fergus on Monday night by James McClunie, of Guelph, a brother-in-law of the deceased, and taken to his late residence on Second avenue, and the funeral took place on Wednesday afternoon to Shelburne cemetery. Mr. McMichael came to Canada from Scotland about 35 years ago and shortly after his arrival settled on the east half of lot 21, con. 4, in the township of Amaranth, where he lived until he moved to Shelburne in 1902. About two years after coming here his wife died, since then he had been living alone. He was a member of the Presbyterian church and for a number of years acted as superintendent of Knox Church Sunday School here. He was of an amiable and kindly disposition and had many friends who will all deeply regret his death. He left no family, but he is survived by a brother and sister, who are now in New Zealand.—Free Press.

JOHN CARBERRY.

John Carberry died at his home in Albion a week ago Saturday after an illness of some weeks. He was 78 years of age. Mr. Carberry was born in the township of Toronto Gore, where he spent nearly sixty years of his life, moving to the place where he died twenty years ago. He was known to everyone in the neighborhood where he had lived so long, and was what is popularly called a good neighbor, ready at all times to render service to those in need and consequently had the love of the people. He was a successful farmer and in every way was a good citizen. He was a member of the Methodist church and in politics a Conservative. A widow, three sons and three daughters survive him. The sons are Messrs. James H., William G., and Robert Carberry and the daughters are Mrs. J. McClure, Mrs. T. Elliott and Mrs. Wilson. The funeral was held on Monday to Salem cemetery and was largely attended. The service was conducted by the Rev. Philip Jones, of Mono Road.

MRS. DUDGEON'S DEATH.

Mrs. Dudgeon, wife of Thos. Dudgeon, died at her home, lot 6, con. 1, E.H.S. Mulmur, on Sunday afternoon last at the age of 78 years. The cause of death was inflammation of the bowels. Deceased had not been well since last spring when she fell and received a severe scalp wound, never altogether recovering from the accident. Deceased was born in the County of Monaghan, Ireland, and came to Canada in 1850. In the year 1859 she was married to her late bereaved husband, and they came to Mulmur township and settled on the farm where she died. She is survived by her husband, two sons and three daughters. The sons are :—T. H. Dudgeon, publisher of "Once a Week," Toronto, and Henry at home. The daughters are Mrs. McColl, of Flesherton, and Miss Ida M. Dudgeon, A.T.C.M., at home. All the family were present at the funeral except Mrs. McColl, of Englehart. The funeral was held on Tuesday afternoon last to Mulmur cemetery and was largely attended. The family have the sympathy of all in their sad bereavement.—Free Press.

PROSPERITY BEGETS INDIFFERENCE.

The following editorial from a recent issue of the Toronto World will be found well worth reading :—

Paradoxical yet true it is that the more and greater blessings an individual or a nation enjoys the less acute is the sense and the less fervent the acknowledgment of their conference. To the pioneers and early settlers on this continent, living as they did in the loom of perils known and unknown and earning their bread by daily conflict with stubborn and inhospitable nature, Thanksgiving Day appealed in very different fashion from what it does to their modern successors. Their religion, too, was at once more immediately personal and more given to vocal expression than suits the temper of the average twentieth century citizen. Yet none would wish to see an end to the appointment of national thanksgivings for the abundant privileges open to the dwellers of this highly favored land.

Never before in her history has Canada bulked so largely in the world's eye. Her wealth of resources and opportunities is known of all countries. Scarcely a day passes without its tribute; old and mighty nations seek her markets and invite her trade. In the flood of material prosperity, in the assurance of future greatness, the call to remember the Great Giver of All is apt to be but a still,small voice heard only by the attuned ear. Heavy is the task laid on the churches, the institutions, the individuals that are engaged in preserving and quickening the spirit of genuine Christianity among the people and keeping steadily before them noble ideals of faith and duty. But if the burden is great so will be the reward of their invaluable service. If our national Thanksgivings do not altogether fail of their purpose it is because of their influence exerted as it is for the building of the Canadian people into a nation instinct with the finest qualities of manhood and womanhood.

AS THE ECONOMIST SEES IT.

A "spotter" or detective, in the employ of the Provincial License Department figured prominently in the recent liquor cases in Orangeville,and was subsequently the recipient of some very severe comment from the Post. "Sneak" was one of the mildest epithets the Post could find to fling at the Department's servant, and heartrending indeed was the appeal made for sympathy for the poor hotelkeeper who had been led to err (so the Post put it) by the spotter's importunings. We think the Post, and others who talk in similar strain, make the very serious mistake in this matter of looking at the subject from the wrong perspective, for the blame should be placed not on the shoulders of the spotters but upon the shoulders of the people who make spotters necessary. If the Post man or any other man abhors the idea of "spotters," he has the remedy in his own hands. If each and every citizen implicitly obeys the law, there will be no work for the spotter to do, the spotter will of necessity then cease to exist as such, and all will be well. If the word "sneak" has any real right to a place in the discussion it should be tacked onto the proper party— the man who evades or attempts to evade the law, and thus makes the spotter necessary. It is all balderdash to talk of any spotter "tempting" a hotelkeeper to break the law. If the hotelkeeper wished to keep the law, he wouldn't have the liquor on hand ready to be tempted. If he stocks the liquor and breaks the Local Option law he is a "blind-pigger" and deserving of treatment as such. If he "will do it," he should be prepared to meet the "blind-pigger's" fate—fines, then jail—and should be prepared to take his medicine like a man without jaining the Whiners' Club. After all there is something very ludicrous in law-breakers and their sympathizers preaching virtue, with the men who caught them at their game as a text. Will the worshippers at the shrine of The Traffic never acquire a sense of humor?—Shelburne Economist.

ROAD IMPROVEMENT.

A great improvement has been made to that portion of West Broadway lying between the "Skew" crossing and Greenwood cemetery. Last June the County Council voted a grant of $100 for the purpose of improving this particular piece of road, provided Mono, Amaranth and East Garafraxa townships supplemented with grants of $100 each and the town of Orangeville with an appropriation of $200. The money was to be expended under the supervision of Reeves Arnott, of Orangeville, Corneilius, East Garafraxa, Anderson, Mono and Hosick, of Amaranth. Unfortunately the Council of the last named municipality refused to vote the $100 asked, or to have anything to do with the work. This action appears strange and short-sighted as well, because the road is used more by the people of Amaranth, than any of the other contributing municipalities. The Mono, East Garafraxa and Orangeville Councils voted the amounts designated by the County Council, so that altogether $500 has been expended on the highway. The road was both wide and flat and the grading necessary to give it a sufficient fall from the centre to the ditches entailed a heavy expenditure. The remainder of the money was then spent in gravelling. Unfortunately the appropriation was not sufficient to complete the gravelling and a further sum will have to be expended for this purpose next season. The greater part of the road—a little more than half a mile—has been gravelled and is in first-class shape for the heavy fall traffic. The work was done under the personal supervision of Reeve Arnott. It is perhaps unwise to offer any criticism of a work which will be of so much benefit to the travelling public, but one cannot help wishing that a little more attention had been paid to the matter of drainage. Most of the road runs through flat, low-lying land, and adequate drainage is therefore of the first importance. The gravel, to our way of thinking, is rather fine to make first-class road material. It is said to bond well and may wear better than one would expect. It was, however, the best available in the locality, and the only alternative would have been crushed stone which would have been altogether too expensive considering the amount of money available.

AN IMPORTANT AGREEMENT.

Free Interchange Between Caledon and Chinguacousy Telephone Systems.

A contract of considerable importance to the people of the County of Peel, especially of the Townships of Caledon and Chinguacousy,was signed yesterday by the officers of the Consolidated Telephone Company and the Reeve and Clerk of Chinguacousy. Under this agreement a free interchange between the systems in the two townships is effected. The Consolidated Company have two hundred and seventy-five telephones in the Townships of Caledon and Erin. Already more than two hundred and fifty phones have been installed by the municipal system in Chinguacousy. There will thus be free interchange between five hundred subscribers, nearly all of whom are farmers. Before the end of the year it is quite probable that another one hundred and fifty will be installed. Contracts are already signed and the services will be completed as speedily as the work can be done. Already there are many evidences of the beneficial character of the legislation introduced by Mr. Charters at the last session. Under this Act rural companies are required to prevent duplication of lines and to furnish intercommunication. The rural telephone system was not designed as a money making investment, but to make it possible for farmers and others widely separated to enjoy the advantages at a reasonable cost which are within the reach of people in towns and cities. The Independent Telephone movement has already accomplished very much in giving telephones to farmers and also in reducing the cost in the rural districts The splendid success of the Chinguacousy Municipal system will no doubt influence other townships to solve the telephone problem in the same way.—Brampton Conservator.

GOING TO THE SOO.

Mr. J. M. McHardy, Orangeville manager of the Bell Telephone Co., has been appointed manager of the Company's exchange in Sault Ste. Marie and will leave for his new sphere of duty early next week. During the short time he has been here—about nineteen months—Mr. McHardy has become quite popular among our business men and citizens and his departure will be generally regretted. The transfer means an important promotion and aside from the advancement, which is always a source of gratification, the larger field, which a town the size of Sault Ste. Marie offers, gives greater opportunity for the profitable exercise of the energy and ability which Mr. McHardy has so unmistakeably shown in his management of the exchange here. Something like sixty new telephones have been added since Mr. McHardy came here and the Orangeville exchange has at the present time a list of 200 subscribers. Mr. McHardy has also constructed a number of rural lines and by his energy in this direction has done much to popularize the Bell among the farmers of this community. His successor in Orangeville will be Mr. A. A. Smith, of St. Mary's, who is well spoken of as a successful telephone man and a useful, public-spirited citizen.

COMING AGAIN TO ORANGEVILLE.

Mr. S. W. Hughson, the specialist, with the largest optical experience in Canada, will be at A. T. Howard's drug store on Thursday, November 10th, when all those who are in any way troubled with poor vision will be given an opportunity to have their eyes tested (free of charge) by the only reliable method of eye testing known to optical science. Difficult cases, which have heretofore baffled the skill of others lacking our remarkable training and experience in the successful fitting of some thousands of eyes, (many having been abandoned as hopeless), are especially solicited. Long experience has taught us how to properly prescribe the correct lenses for different sights in old and young. Satisfaction guaranteed. S. W. Hughson, eyesight specialist.

DIVISION COURT.

Division Court was held on Tuesday, His Honor, Judge McCarthy, presiding. There were only two cases that were contested. Wm. Montgomery sued Thos. Gamble, a farmer living near Mono Centre, for $72.68 for wages and other items. The defendant pleaded a set-off. After the evidence was in, plaintiff asked and was granted a non-suit. A. A. Hughson for plff.; C. R. McKeown for deft.

Donaldson vs. Connop — The plaintiff, Robert Donaldson, now living in Orangeville, sued Chas. Connop for $200 back rent on a farm near Reading. Connop put in a set-off for fall plowing. This the Court would not allow and plaintiff was given judgment for the full amount of his claim. A. A. Hughson for plff.; C. R. McKeown for deft.

DUFFERIN FALL ASSIZES

Will Open Before Judge Latchford Next Monday.

King vs. Stoddart Will Be The Only Criminal Case.

The Fall Assizes for the County of Dufferin will open in the Court House here at one o'clock on Monday afternoon, with Mr. Justice Latchford acting as presiding judge. There will not be any white gloves for His Lordship, nor have the services of the Grand Jury been dispensed with, as is usually the case in this County for there will be at least one criminal case to occupy the attention of the court. W. G. Stoddart, who formerly conducted an undertaking and furniture business in Grand Valley, will be indicted on a charge of burglarizing Robert H. Boyle's store on October 1st, 1909. Stoddart's arrest and the subsequent Police Court proceedings a few months ago created a big sensation in Grand Valley. The outcome of the present proceedings will be watched for with the keenest interest. Mr. J. J. Drew, K.C., of Guelph, has been appointed Crown Prosecutor and upon him will devolve the duty of framing the indictment against Stoddart.

Up to the time of going to press four jury and one non-jury suits have been entered for trial. The particulars of the actions are as follows :—

Jury List.

Marshall vs. Gowan—The plaintiff, Mrs. John Marshall, is seeking as administratrix, for the benefit of herself and children, to recover $10,000 damages for the death of her husband. Marshall, a Melanethon farmer, was killed on June 17th last as a result of his team taking fright at an automobile driven by the defendant, Dr. Gowan, of Horning's Mills. Marshall, who was drawing gravel on the highway, was standing between his horses and the wagon unloading when the automobile came along. Dr. Gowan, it is alleged, neglected to give the customary warning of his approach. In behalf of the defendant, there is an allegation of contributory negligence on the part of Marshall, who it is charged frightened the horses himself and was moreover negligent of his own safety in standing between the wagon and doubletree as he did. Lucas, Raney & Wallace, Markdale, for plff.; G. M. Vance, Shelburne, for deft.

Boyd vs. C.P.R.—The plaintiff, Wm. J. Boyd, is a merchant and cattle dealer in Flesherton. He was injured in the collision between two passenger trains near Melville Cross on Oct. 20th, 1909,and says he has suffered greatly from shock and injury. He is asking for $10,000 damages. W. H. Wright, Owen Sound, for plff.; Angus McMurchy, K.C., for defts.

Brandenberger vs. C. P. R.— The plaintiff, Alfred W. Brandenberger, an Arthur hotelkeeper, sustained a cut over the left eye and internal injuries in a run-off on the C. P. R. below Alton on July 12th, 1909. He is asking for $5000 damages as compensation for his injuries, loss of time and business, etc. Plaintiff's statement of claim sets forth the following disbursements, resulting from his accident :—3 weeks' hotel bill, $31.50; nurse's hotel bill, $21; nurse's bill, 18 weeks, $54; paid man to manage hotel 2 months, $100; Dr. Morrow, attendance, $40; incidentals,$20. Harding & Owens, Stratford, for plff; McMurchy & Dennison, Toronto, for defts.

Adams vs. Hurndall—The plaintiff, Mr. J. M. Adams, had two of his fingers cut off while running a shaper in the Hurndall Novelty Furniture Co's. factory in Orangeville on March 14th last. He wants $2000 as compensation for his injuries and alleges that the defendants were negligent in not having the shaper properly guarded and protected and in not maintaining a proper blower system in their factory. The defendants deny that they were negligent in these respects, and say that Adams, who was their foreman, was in charge of the machinery himself and responsible for the manner in which it was operated. Lucas, Raney & Wallace for plff.; McMurchy & Dennison for defts.

Non-Jury List.

Symons vs. Leighton—The plaintiff Mrs. Mabel Symons, of Rochester, N.Y., is suing her brother, Mr. John A. Leighton, of Dawson City, under the terms of the will of their father, the late Joseph Leighton, of Mono. The will provided that the plaintiff "shall have a home upon said farm as long as she remains unmarried and be entitled to maintenance and support." Mrs. Symons alleges that her brother rented the farm and excluded her from the home, thereby depriving her of the maintenance and support, which her father had intended she should receive. A. A. Hughson for plff.; C. R. McKeown for deft.

FOUR MEN INJURED

Head-On Collision Between Freight Trains Near Orangeville on Friday.

Accident The Result of a Mistake In Orders.

A head-on collision between two freight trains occurred about a mile below the Orangeville station yard shortly after one o'clock last Friday afternoon. Four members of the train and engine crews were injured, some of them quite seriously. The injured men are :—Daniel Foy, brakeman, West Toronto, dislocated shoulder and concussion of the brain; Roy Stone, brakeman, Barrie, face severely cut; S. Anderson, engineer, Toronto, badly shaken and bruised; James Simpson, brakeman, West Toronto, arm broken and cut.

The northbound train was a way freight, consisting of about a dozen cars, drawn by engine 1255 in charge of Engineer Frank Anderson and Conductor Fred. Linfoot. The southbound consisted only of an engine and a van, used for hauling freight from Toronto to Fraxa Junction. The way freight was rounding the sharp curve at the east end of the big hill this side of Melville Jct., when the southbound engine was sighted only a few rods away. The trains were travelling about twenty-five miles an hour and the engineers had only time to reverse the levers and set the air brakes before jumping. The engines were badly wrecked and some of the freight cars were demolished by the force of the impact. Word was sent to Orangeville, whence the news of the pitch-in was despatched to headquarters. The West Toronto auxiliary reached the scene of the accident about three o'clock and succeeded in clearing the line shortly after six o'clock. The evening passenger trains were both over an hour late, but this was partly attributable to the heavy Thanksgiving traffic.

Daniel Foy, a brakeman on the northbound train, in jumping, had his left hand run over by one of the trucks and his hand was subsequently amputated. He also sustained a dislocated shoulder and several bad cuts about the head and face. He was delirious from a severe concussion of the brain and the doctors regarded his condition as critical. In his delirious condition, Foy, who is large, powerful man, of 200 pounds or over, proved a difficult patient to handle.

Roy Stone, a brakeman on the southbound train, was badly cut about the head and face. His lip was severed and his nose was badly abraded. Stone was eating dinner in the van when the crash came. He was hurled the length of the car, striking Conductor Sinclair, who had just entered by the office door.

Frank Anderson, engineer on the way freight, jumped and alighted in time to get buried beneath an avalanche of flour sacks from one of the demolished cars. He was not found for sometime, but escaped with some contusions and a severe shaking up. He was able to leave for Toronto on the evening train.

A. Simpson, a brakeman on the way freight, had his left arm broken above the wrist and was cut about the face.

The injured men were conveyed to the Commercial Hotel, where their injuries were attended to by Drs. James and T. H. Henry. Stone had recovered sufficiently yesterday morning to be able to leave for his home in Barrie. Foy was quite delirious until yesterday, when he became rational. He is in a serious condition, but stands a fair chance to recover.

Superintendent Thompson, of the C.P.R., attributed the accident to a mistake by the train despatcher. The official, he added, had been with the Company for twenty years and was considered a careful and thoroughly dependable man.

Thursday night a ballast train ran off the rails near the point where Friday's collision occurred and delayed passenger traffic for several hours. The northbound passenger trains, due here about seven o'clock, did not get in until nearly ten.

The Counties Council of Stormont, Dundas and Glengary has accepted the very generous offer of W. A. Craig, who has tendered his 140-acre farm, just north of the Grand Trunk Station in Cornwall, for a counties house of refuge on rather remarkable terms. The farm he values at $13,000, and he gives practically gratis his farming equipment, valued at $2000, also $700 in cash in consideration of an annuity of $1200, or six per cent. on $20,000 during the lifetime of himself and Mrs. Craig, the annual payments not to exceed twenty years. The by-law to ratify this agreement will be passed at the January session.

PALGRAVE.

One of the finest markets ever held in Palgrave was held this week. The following buyers were present :— T. Eaton Co., White & Co., McDonnell & Dingwell, Mr. Elliott and others. The following enormous prices were paid :—Turkeys 20c.; geese 11c.; chickens 14½c.; ducks 14c.; butter 23c. and eggs 32c. Judging from the many smiling faces these prices were no doubt very satisfactory. Enormous quantities of all kinds of poultry was marketed and brought the highest prices. The demand for eggs was brisk and as high as 32c. were paid per dozen. Butter was easier selling at 23c. That the farmers have confidence in the permanence and stability of our market was well demonstrated by the large numbers who frequented it, many of whom drove miles to take advantage of the high prices paid. It is the intention of the business men of the place to make it even a greater success than ever in the future, and those patronizing our market will get the highest price for their produce and will have every courtesy shown them on the market. Farmers attending our market every Wednesday would do well to arrive early in the day with their produce and avoid the rush that must necessarily exist during the closing hours of the market. The hours of the Palgrave market should be particularly suitable to farmers, who should bear in mind that the market will be held from 9 a.m. and continue to train time in the evening. Such change was deemed necessary owing to the presence of the T. Eaton Co. buyer, and also to conform to the banking hours of the Imperial Bank, where patrons of the market can do their business. There will no doubt be a very brisk demand every Wednesday from now until New Years for all kinds of farm produce, especially poultry, butter and eggs, so that the farmers having such for sale will make no mistake in bringing them to the Palgrave market when they will secure the highest prices paid anywhere in the Province. We expect a very large market next Wednesday and good prices. Come along and take advantage of it.

The Bishop of Toronto will be present at St. Alban's Church at the 3 o'clock p.m. service usually held there at that hour.

Messrs. Calvin Sloan and T. Moffatt, both of Toronto, spent Thanksgiving at Palgrave.

Mr. Rich. Blain, M.P. for Peel, will hold a public meeting in the town hall on November 9th, 1910, to discuss current topics.

Thanksgiving was quietly spent in our burg.

We regret to chronicle the death of Rena Lillian McLean, the infant daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Albert McLean, of this village. The babe was only two months and eighteen days old, and had not been doing very well for some time, but on the 30th inst. it crossed the dark waters to a brighter and happier shore. The little remains were interred in the Palgrave cemetery, the Rev. Westney, of Bolton, conducting the services. We all sympathize with the family in their bereavement.

TO CONQUER DEATH.

Former Orangeville Lady at Head of New Movement.

"There is no reason why anyone should die; there is no reason, even, why anyone should grow old."

So believes Mrs. Marjorie Golden Eastman, a former Orangeville lady, who is the recognized leader of a movement started in Toronto last June under the name of "Practical Christianity." "Christianity," Mrs. Eastman states, "is practical. It is a thing of the present, with hopes and aspirations that can be realized here and now. But the Churches have made the promises of the Bible largely a thing of the sweet by-and-by.

"And so, possessing a Christianity that is practical, we are bent upon the conquest of death, of which sin is the primary cause. We are out for the conquest of old age and death.

"People have had an idea that God is a Man in the clouds. He is not. God is a Principle, working through His entire universe.

"Discordant belief is what brings sickness and death. God has said: "My people perish for want of knowledge."

"God does not force life, and man should not take it away. It is an appalling thing for a judge to pronounce sentence of death on a man. It ought not to be. A man's crime is merely one degree of ignorance. All of us have been participants in every crime that has been committed.

"Man does not live to himself alone. Crime is merely the result of distorted mentality."

Mrs. Eastman asserts that, eight years ago she was a confirmed invalid, given up to die. She had taken so much medicine that her stomach refused to assimilate any more nostrums. And then, through the instrumentality of a friend, her mind commenced to act in proper channels, she came to recognize the working factors of this new belief and gradually health and strength came in the train.

An Interesting Calculation

HERE is an interesting calculation for young housewives or old ones for that matter. A pound of the best bread in the world made from ROYAL HOUSEHOLD FLOUR costs less than four cents. A pound of the best beef steak costs 25 to 30 cents. Yet a pound of bread made from ROYAL HOUSEHOLD FLOUR contains more working energy than a pound and a half of beef steak. Or three pounds of pork, or two pounds of veal.

Whether figured by the pound or by actual units of health and strength, bread made from

is the most economical food in the world. Especially is bread made from ROYAL HOUSEHOLD FLOUR good for growing children. They can't eat too much of it. For their general healthy growth and development it furnishes an almost complete food. As a matter of household economy children ought to be given all the bread they can eat at all times.

Statistics also prove that ROYAL HOUSEHOLD FLOUR will sustain life longer than animal food. It is extremely rich in high quality gluten which comes from the best Red Fyfe Wheat—the finest in the world. This large percentage of high quality gluten is what makes ROYAL HOUSEHOLD FLOUR so much better than ordinary flour. Red Fyfe Wheat is known the world over for its richness in high quality gluten.

The beautiful white color of ROYAL HOUSEHOLD FLOUR is natural. It indicates the richness of the wheat from which it is made.

The one safe rule in buying flour is to get ROYAL HOUSEHOLD and in that way you will make sure of getting the largest percentage of nourishment and the cleanest, purest and most uniform flour. Best for pastry as well as for bread. Rich, nutritive, natural, most uniform and most satisfactory for all household baking. Insist on ROYAL HOUSEHOLD—your grocer will be glad to furnish it if you tell him that substitutes will not do.

WALKERTON HARD HIT.

Citizens Had Entrusted $75,000 With Sheldon, the Montreal Financier.

Since the departure of Sheldon, Montreal's wizard financier, the town of Walkerton, looks as if a cyclone had struck it. Every class of the community has been involved — professional men, mechanics, widows, and mere boys, who were earning their first wages. The reason why this town got struck to such an extent was that this is the home of young Isaac, Sheldon's confidential friend. He has been periodically visiting the town on business for some time, and the "smart men," who always know a good thing of "let me give you a tip," style, were actually falling over each other to give their money to invest. It is a meagre estimate to say that Sheldon received from fifty to seventy-five thousand dollars from this town. A great many cases of hardship will result if Sheldon doesn't make good. Some have borrowed money to invest. Others mortgaged their homes. There were several who went into the deal early and have withdrawn sufficient to cover first investments, and it is reported that some few have an interest in advising others, to the extent that they have received 10 per cent. on all investments made on their recommendation. The amounts run from $50 to $3,000 and $5,000. One of our very wise professional men is reported to have had in over $3,000. One laboring man, who has worked hard all his life and had accumulated a saving, had $500 invested.

In another case four sisters had $1,000 of their hard savings invested.

The strange feature is that so many of the investors belong to that class of pious people who would hardly let their boys go to a ball game in the park. They now are very innocent and try to convey the idea they were not in it at all. Great sympathy is felt for a few of the women and younger children.

GUARDING THE EYESIGHT.

1. When the eyes have to be rubbed frequently while reading it is time to consult an oculist.

2. Don't read with the light in front. This ruins the eyesight quicker than anything else. The light should fall obliquely from behind over the left shoulder. Never read with the sun shining directly on your book.

3. Don't go to sleep or even take a nap in such a position that your eyes will open directly on the light when awakening.

4. When a book or magazine has to be held at arm's length in reading it is a sign that glasses are needed. Don't delay in having your eyes tested.

5. Always hold your head erect when you read and hold your book 14 inches from your face.

6. Use a shade over every light, even a candle. Shades are cheap or they can be easily made.

To these specific rules should be added the following:

Be sure when reading that the light is clear and good, neither too yellow nor too white.

Avoid books or papers indistinctly printed or in small type.

Rest your eyes every little while when reading a book by looking away from the book.

Wash the eyes night and morning in pure water.

Educators and school officials are coming to realize the importance of safeguarding the eyesight. "Proper care of the eyes," says Ella Flagg Young, Chicago's superintendent of schools, "is one of the essentials of education." She therefore recommends that concise directions, embodying the ideals here stated, be printed on the front flyleaf of every schoolbook.

TREE GROWING.

Forestry Branch will give Advice and Seed.

Why not grow your own maple and ash trees for yourself, if you want to make forest plantations, or even to plant shade trees? Anyone who has had any experience in gardening can do this without difficulty and the trees, when they come to be planted, will not have to meet the risk of a long journey by railway and possible delays which may injure, or even kill them. The Forestry Branch of the Department of the Interior will gladly give advice in the matter, and even send the seed free, as long as their supply holds out.

This recommendation is made in the annual report of the Superintendent of Forestry, which forms part of of the Interior, lately issued.

One caution must, however, be given. The seed used should always, if possible, be that taken from trees grown in the Canadian Northwest. Seed obtained from the eastern provinces of the Dominion, or even from the prairie states, cannot be depended on to produce good, hardy trees.

A recent experience of the Forestry Branch gives good evidence of this. In 1906 the crop of Manitoba maple seed was a failure throughout the Canadian prairie provinces. The supply of seed for sowing the following spring had to be obtained from Dakota, and this was duly down in the spring of 1907.

Trees which sprang from this seed were sent out in the spring of 1908, and many reports have been subsequently received of those having been badly "winter-killed." In some cases the entire tree, roots and top, was killed during the severe weather; sometimes only the tops were killed.

Usually the Manitoba maple has been found a hardy tree in almost every part of the West; that so many have died in this case is doubtless due to the fact that the seed from which they originated was obtained from regions farther south. Some years ago the Branch had a similar, though not so disastrous, experience with elm seed obtained in the East. Sometimes, of course, when the supply of Western seed fails, seed from the East must be used even with the accompanying risk of failure.

The work of the Branch in the free distribution of trees continues to develope. The number of trees sent out from the Indian Head nursery has for several years remained practically stationary at about two and a half million annually. The capacity of the nursery has been almost, if not quite reached, and if trees are to be distributed in greater numbers either the present nursery must be enlarged or new ones will have to be established.

The number of applicants for trees has considerably increased, namelt, from 2,010 in 1909 to 3,173 in 1910 (nearly 60 per cent.) At the same time the average number of trees to each applicant has had to be cut down; in 1908 the average number of trees sent to each was 1,400, but in 1910 only 800 could be sent to each applicant. In 1909 the number of new applications received was 2,235; in 1910 the number of these was 3,832.

Many other interesting facts regarding this and other aspects of the forestry work of the Dominion Forest Service are given in the report mentioned. Copies may be had free of charge on application to R. H. Campbell, Superintendent of Forestry, Ottawa.

RUED BARGAIN.

Mr. Fred. McMillan, of Hillsburg, has entered an action against Wm. Nevils and John Lang, Erin farmers, to recover the prospective profit on a bunch of cattle which McMillan alleges he bought from them on the Saturday following Erin Show and which were to have been delivered at Hillsburg station last Wednesday.

Nevills and Lang brought a load of cattle from the west early in the fall as a speculation, and as they were now ready to make a sale McMillan looked the bunch over and picked out eleven head, for which he was to pay $600, giving Nevills $10 on the purchase price, and offering, as the deal was a good sized one, to make the deposit of $100 if one of the men would go to the bank with him, but they thought this unnecessary and closed the deal.

By the following Monday, it is said, Lang and Nevills had rued the bargain and notified McMillan that as they had sold too cheaply they would not deliver the cattle, and offered the deposit back, which McMillan would not accept, and as he had arranged for the balance of a car load and had ordered a car, which under the circumstances he could not load, he is suing for expenses incurred and loss of profit owing to non-delivery of the cattle.

SUCCESS.

The general practice of parents, wherever their homes may be located, is to inspire in the hearts of their boys, strongly, the ambition of "Success." We want our children to succeed in school; we want them to stand highest on their examinations, to lead the classes in High School and to win the prizes in the college or university; we hold up before them how this man, starting with nothing and as a nobody, made his millions, owns railroads, or controls a business, and whose name is known throughout the nation. A good many of us can remember how, as boys, our fathers worked hard and stinted much, that their boys might be something, not mere farmers; and a good many whose parents were doctors, lawyers, tradesmen, or of other calling, remember full well how they, too, wanted their boys to be something—something else—and had placed before them similar ideals. And now, a little older grown, are we any wiser than our parents? Are we not holding up the same will-o'-the-wisp to our children under a different name, but yet the same? Success, what is it? Fame? Sounding brass and a tinkling cymbal. Riches? The root of all evil. Power? With it does much grief come. Pleasure? It tastes bitter in the very drinking, and in excess revulses. Estates? "And he went away sorrowful, for he had great possessions."

What, then? Let us not hold up to the boys fast growing into men the chimera that in any of these ways lies the path to a ripe old age of content. Fame may come, but it must be for doing good; the riches that make a man worth while are those of mind and spirit that come from a love of God, of little children, of the blue sky, pure air, and of God's out-of-doors, and of mind from companionship with the verities of the ages learned first-hand and from the master writers of the centuries; the power that is worth wielding is that which comes from the merited confidence placed in an honest man of ability; and estates are hard to justify under any doctrine.

Such is success; ask the old men who have run the race, and some of whom have tried each of the illusive paths. Where better, where else so well, can a man be a man, earn his own bread and that of his family; study, become rich of heart, strong of mind and pure of spirit, as on the farm? Let us inspire our sons and our sons' sons to live upon the land, this land where they were born, to live well, to grow broad and strong, and to achieve truly.—Farmers' Advocate.

Preston Beattie, a young lad, son of Mr. Andrew Beattie, of the Orange Valley, was out shooting one day recently. He allowed the muzzle of his gun to rest on the toe of his foot, and while it rested there he in some manner discharged the piece. The second toe was shot completely off, and the large toe injured. Dr. Carter dressed the wounded foot. The injury was a painful one.

Twitching of the Nerves

It is only by watching the symptoms of nervous exhaustion and applying restorative treatment that you can ever hope to ward off locomotor ataxia and paralysis.

Mrs. E. J. Vandelburgh, of Eastern Welland Ave., St. Catherines, Ont. states:—"For twenty-one years I was badly afflicted with heart trouble, nervousness and cramps in the limbs, also twitching of the nerves and nervous headaches. I became weak, debilitated and emaciated. My condition was distressing and I was made worse through worry and loss of sleep.

"I tried a hundred remedies in vain. After having used half a dozen boxes of Dr. Chase's Nerve Food my old trouble had entirely vanished, and I was enjoying better health than I had since girlhood."

Such cases as this prove the wonderful efficiency of Dr. A. W. Chase' Nerve Food. It cures in Nature's way by enriching the blood and for this reason by enriching the blood and its benefits are lasting. 50 cts. a box, all dealers, or Edmanson, Bates & Co., Toronto.

The

"Hecla" Furnace

These Grate Bars Mean a Clean Fire and no Coal Wasted.

There are four grate bars in the "Hecla." Each can be shaken separately. When the center of the fire is bright, and the outside dead, simply shake the outside bars. If any part of the fire needs cleaning, that one part may be cleaned without disturbing the live coals or unburnt fuel in any other part of the fire-pot.

"Hecla" Grate Bars are easy to shake, clean the fire without a poker, save coal and make sifting ashes unnecessary.

The "Hecla" also has the famous Fused Joints—that make this furnace absolutely and permanently gas, smoke and dust proof.

PANDORA RANGE

for Coal or Wood

How It Will Save Fuel For You

OF course the Pandora Range is a few dollars more than an ordinary range. But it will soon pay for itself in the fuel it will save for you.

The Pandora Flue System and Wide Fire Box, designed by our brainy stove experts, save about half a ton of coal per year, because they supply more air than the flue systems and fire boxes of ordinary ranges, causing better combustion of fuel.

The Steel Oven saves some more fuel, because it heats up more rapidly than a cast iron oven. The heavy Fire Clay Coating on the main bottom of range prevents any heat wasting towards the floor. It drives the heat back into the oven, and thus saves still more fuel.

But the big economizing feature is this: The draft for cooking on top of the range is also the draft for baking in the oven. The heat does double duty and your fuel bill is largely reduced.

Get the Pandora---the range that pays for itself. No other range is high-class enough for you.

ABSOLUTELY THE EMPEROR.

The Kaiser Makes a New Triumvirate of "I, My Great Grandmother and God."

By Prof. O. D. Skelton.

The political forces that are grappled in conflict in Germany were brought into dramatic juxtaposition last month. On one day the red flood which is sweeping the Fatherland reached its highest mark; the Socialists scored their eighth unbroken victory of the year by carrying the by-election in Zschopsau-Marienberg, turning a minority of 3,000 into a smashing majority of 10,000. On the next, the Kaiser, breaking the restless silence of two years, was inspired by his return to the old town of Konigsberg, where his Prussian ancestors were crowned, to proclaim to the sceptical twentieth century the divine right of kings. Frederick William I., he insisted, was king by the grace of God alone, and not by Parliaments or meetings of the people. His great-grandmother, Queen Louise, was held up as a model of domestic virtues for the too ambitious women of these degenerate days. Finally the Kaiser proclaimed himself an instrument of the Lord, who would go his own way without heeding the views and opinions of the day. The speech was only of a piece with former utterances, "There is only one master in this country and I am he; I shall suffer none beside me," or, "We Hohenzollerns accept our crown only from Heaven, and are responsible only to Heaven for the performance of its duties." And not only was it consistent with his own opinions of other days; it was a sufficiently true account of historical fact and of the letter of the constitution. What it does not match is the new temper of a majority.

The dominant issue in Germany today, the issue in which all minor questions are merging, is the old one of responsible versus personal government. The Kaiser's utterance is important not merely as an expression of his individual opinion but as voicing the determination of the monarchial and semi-feudal powers in Germany and their bureaucratic instruments and allies, to resist all attempts at democratic control of the state. From the western point of view German political development has halted at an anomalous stage. The Kaiser not merely reigns but governs. The Chancellor, head of both the German and the Prussian administrations, is responsible to his imperial and royal master alone. The Bundesrath or upper house, representing the federated states, has the lion's share of power, particularly in initiating legislation, and wields it under the influence of the Chancellor, backed by the solid delegation of the predominant partner in the Empire, Prussia. The Reichstag or lower house, elected on a basis of universal suffrage, has in the main only a negative influence in government; it may criticise the administration or amend the legislative projects laid before it, or even reject that portion of the supplies not provided for by permanent laws, but the Chancellor owes it no responsibility and may at any time meet its opposition by inducing the Bundesrath to exercise its constitutional power of dissolving it. The present Chancellor, Herr Bethman-Hollweg, was entirely on constitutional ground when in defending the Kaiser's speech he sneered at "the fiction, unknown to the constitution of Parliamentary government, depending on a fluctuating vote or on the absolutism of the masses."

Such a system of government, with the Chancellor responsible only to the Kaiser and the Kaiser responsible only to the Lord, could of course not have endured unless it had solid foundation in the interests and sentiments of important sections of the German people. It rests on the traditional monarchical sentiment which is rooted in a recollection of the national achievements of the Hohenzollern line from the Great Elector to the present Kaiser's grandfather. It is buttressed by the feeling that in international affairs it gives Germany an advantage in quick unfettered action over countries whose ministers are controlled by Parliamentary majorities. It fosters and is fostered by a powerful, well-trained and highly educated bureaucracy. It has the unflinching support of the Conservative and Agrarian parties, content to trust rather to the identity of sympathies between King and Chancellor and themselves, than to a legalized control which would inure equally to the advantage of their opponents. And not least does it find excuse in the multiplicity of political groups which take the place of the two or three great parties traditional in the Anglo-Saxon world and make a stable parliamentary majority difficult to maintain. Nowhere so nakedly as in Germany do party lines follow class-divisions: the Conservative and Agrarian parties draw their support from the great landowning classes, the National Liberals from the manufacturing and commercial class, the various Radical groups from the small shopkeepers and artisans, and the Socialists in the main from the organized workingmen. Poles, Danes and Guelphs are responsible for small factions, and the powerful Centre or Catholic party, the largest in the Reichstag, supported by the peasants of the south and the bulk of the Catholic workingmen, plays a frankly opportunist game with great adroitness.

In opposition to these forces a strong revolt is spreading directed against the Kaiser's autocracy, the non-parliamentary system of government and the parties which for the nonce provide the ministerial majority. The Kaiser's assumption of universal authority, his endeavor to regulate every sphere and every detail of national life from the shape of the buttons on his soldiers' uniforms to the type of music, drama, painting, poetry, religion, or aeroplane which should be adopted, and his recent indiscreet speeches, have strained even German patience and German admiration of the undeniable brilliance and versatility of William the Second to None. The growing sentiment in favour of a halt in naval armament, evidenced by the favourable reception accorded by middle and working class papers to Mr. Asquith's suggestion of a future understanding on shipbuilding programmes, makes in favour of those political parties least jingoistic.

The Liberal and Radical parties have attacked the present franchise vigorously, the Centre has given them a fluctuating support, while the Socialists have organized protest meetings attended by hundreds of thousands of workingmen. Yet the only result so far has been the introduction by the Prussian government of a tinkering measure which left unredressed the most serious anomalies, and the rejection by the Conservative majority of even this concession. Accordingly the democratic forces are roused to white heat.

Even more widespread has been the popular reaction against the Imperial budget of last year. Germany, like Britain, faced a huge deficit, amounting to $125,000,000. In Germany as in Britain the party most eager for imperial expansion was the party least anxious to pay its share of the Dreadnought bills. But in Germany, unlike in Britain, the Conservative party, backed by the Centre, had its way, rejected the modest inheritance taxes the Chancellor suggested as the privilege of wealth, and to increased taxes on beer, spirits and tobacco, added taxes on tea, coffee, railway tickets, matches and other articles of daily use by the masses. This crass misuse of political power, the burdens of the new taxes, the pressure of the old food taxes imposed for the benefit of the same landlord class, the rise of prices, popularly attributed entirely to the budget and tariff impositions, has roused popular discontent to a height unprecedented in Germany. The Radical and Liberal forces stand to gain from this agitation, but it is the Socialists, as the most uncompromising opponents of the powers that be, who are reaping the chief benefit; friend and foe alike are forecasting an increase in Socialist members in the 1911 Reichstag from the present fifty to one hundred or even one hundred and fifty. With a Liberal-Radical-Socialist majority in the Reichstag, responsible government will be a long step nearer realization. The movement will meet with hardfought opposition from without, but perhaps the chief obstacle in the way of the success of such a coalition will come rather from the difficulty of getting the Socialists to work in harmony with the other more or less democratic parties. Every day, however, the German Social-Democracy is moulting its revolutionarism, becoming more and more willing to work for reforms here and now instead of waiting to enter the Promised Land the day after the overthrow root and branch of Capitalism. Growing experience of parliamentary life on the part of its leaders, middle-class accessions, working-class eagerness for immediate betterment, are driving the party along the path of opportunist reform. In any event the politics of Germany promise for the next few years to be of unusual interest. And in that struggle the peace of the world is at stake.

FOREST FIRES.

Dominion Forest Service Keeping Up Persistent Fight.

The annual report of the Superintendent of Forestry, which forms part of the annual report of the Department of the Interior, lately issued, shows that the Dominion Forest service is year by year enlarging its staff of fire-fighters and steadily getting into better shape its means of protecting the public forests within its jurisdiction.

During the year 1909 the number of fire rangers employed was 96, as against 47 during the previous year. Nearly half of these (45, to wit) were employed in patrolling the Rocky Mountain country from the International boundary up to the Peace, Athabaska and Lesser Slave regions. The Railway Belt in British Columbia was guarded by 37 rangers, while in Saskatchewan 14 were employed. As in most previous years the largest number of fires—those, at least, whose causes were known—arose from the building and operation of railways. Next to these settlers clearing land and burning brush were most culpable, while campers and travellers were also to blame for a very large proportion of the fires.

Constant patrolling of all places where danger exists is the chief means taken for the prevention of fires. As opportunity offers, this is supplemented, especially on the forest reserves, the comparatively limited areas of which give better opportunities for careful fire protection. On Shuswap Lake, B.C., for instance, a gasoline launch is used, which serves not only to enable the ranger to cover his beat more quickly but in case of serious fire would prove invaluable in getting men and supplies to the scene of the fire expeditiously. On the forest reserves fire-guards are made along the boundaries and along the lines of railway passing through the reserves. Some of these guards are made by burning the grass and other herbage in the season when the snow has disappeared from the surrounding cultivated districts and before it has gone from the forest, so that there is no danger to the latter. Ploughed guards are also made. Roads are being constructed in the reserves, which not only make it possible to get men to a fire more quickly in order to fight it, but also serve to stop small fires and in case of larger fires give a base from which to "backfire."

Special attention has also been given to the problem presented by fires arising from the construction and operation of railways. The patrol along the route of the G.T.P. during its construction west of Edmonton has been very successful. During the two years of construction work not one serious fire has occurred along the right-of-way. The prevention of fires along the railway due to sparks from engines is another very serious matter. In some places in the forest reserves the railways have been compelled to make fire-guards along their right-of-way. Efforts are also being made to get the railways to clear up the brush from their lines. One western railway this spring had a fire arising from their neglect to follow the instructions of the branch in this regard and lost several miles of valuable timber through the fire which started from brush along their track having been ignited by fire from an engine.

During the year reported on a complaint was laid against the Great Northern Railway before the Railway Commission for starting fires along its lines in British Columbia. The Railway Commission has also been requested to give authority to officers of the fire ranging staff to examine locomotives at divisional points in order to see that they have the equipment required by law in the shape of spark-arresters, etc.

Copies of the report may be obtained on application to R. H. Campbell, Superintendent of Forestry, Ottawa.

AN UNHAPPY PREDICAMENT

There is a story going the rounds of old London about the adventure of Lloyd-George, the Chancellor of the Exchequer, last week. He was coming to London from a little station in South Wales. He sat on the embankment on the side of the platform for ten minutes, waiting for his train, and then boarded it and took a reserved compartment. He soon found himself alive with ants, on whose nest he had been sitting. He first shook his coat out of the window of the car, and then, becoming desperate, removed his nether garments and shook them in the same way. Along came an express on the adjoining track, and the garments were whisked out of his hands. The Cabinet Minister was appalled. He drew all the blinds, and when the train reached the next station he shouted to the baggagemaster and begged him to supply him with trousers at any cost. The garments he desired could not be supplied at such short notice, but the official telegraphed ahead, and when London was reached he was handed a pair of corduroys through the window. The Minister soon emerged in these plebian bags, jumped into a cab, and rode home.

A LARGE FUNERAL.

There was a large attendance at the funeral of the late Mrs. B. G. Harris, which was held from the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. David Watson, Second Ave., to the Forest Lawn Cemetery on Friday afternoon. Citizens of Orangeville, neighbors of the family from their old home in Caledon and friends of Mr. and Mrs. Harris in Woodbridge met to pay their last tribute of respect to the mortal remains of the loved one who had been so suddenly called to her long home. The casket, which stood in the drawing room, was almost hidden beneath a mass of floral tributes. The brief, but impressive, service was conducted by Rev. W. M. Morris, pastor of St. Andrew's Church, assisted by Rev. G. A. Rix, rector of St. Mark's and Rev. M. McKinnon, of Woodbridge. The last named in the course of a brief address, told of the sorrow of the people of Woodbridge, in whose affections the departed woman had gained a sure and abiding place. During the service, two of the young ladies of St. Andrew's Church choir—the Misses Hinston and Harshaw sang the beautiful hymn, "Enter through the Gates of Gold." Among the floral offerings were a pillow from the family; a wreath Mr. and Mrs. G. Gilmour, Toronto; an anchor, Mr. and Mrs. John E. Harris, Woodbridge; sprays, Mrs. E. B. Harris, Woodbridge; Dr. Carson, Orangeville, Mr. and Mrs. Jas. A. Arnott, Orangeville; Miss Lou Crawford, Toronto, and Mr. Norman Harshaw, Toronto, and a wreath from the husband. The pallbearers were the five brothers, Messrs. James Watson, Havelock; David, Creemore; Joseph, Kilmanagh; John T. and W. C., of Caledon, and Mr. Norman Harshaw, of Toronto. Among the friends from a distance present were Capt. Tom. Wallace, M.P. for Centre York; Misses Mara and Bessie Wallace, Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Harris, Mrs. E. B. Harris, Mr. and Mrs. John E. Harris and Mrs. Thos. Harris, all of Woodbridge, Mrs. John Gilmour and Mrs. E. Stevenson, of Toronto.

THOMAS J. WHEELER.

An illness that began a year ago resulted in the death on Friday evening of Thomas J. Wheeler, one of the old and respected residents of Georgetown. About a month ago, Mr. Wheeler went to the home of his son, Charles, in Toronto, thinking that a change might be conducive to an improvement in his condition, but the fact was that he was gradually growing weaker, and in spite of the best of nursing, he sank until claimed by death. The deceased was born at Marlboro,' Wiltshire, England, in the year 1838, and he was therefore in his 73rd year. He sailed with his parents to Canada in 1843. He came to Georgetown first in 1860 and except for two or three years' absence at Brampton and Richmond Hill, has been a resident ever since. He was married in 1869, and his widow and two sons, Thomas and Charles, of Toronto, survive. One daughter died in infancy. Mr. Wheeler was always interested in municipal affairs. He was Secretary of the Public School Board for twenty years; and of the High School Board for twenty-three years. He was also prominent in the Masonic Lodge, Oddfellows, A.O.U.W. and Home Circle. He was a devoted member of St. George's Church, being secretary for thirty-seven years. A sister, Mrs. Davidson, resides in Toronto. He leaves also the following half-brothers and sisters:—Alex. Wheeler, Mrs. F. Smith, Mrs. C. Pearson, Mrs. Geo. Etwell, Miss Louie Wheeler, Toronto, and Mrs. J. White, St. Mary's. In politics deceased was a Conservative and an active supporter of that party. He was for many years a faithful member of St. George's church, in all departments of which he took a deep, practical interest. In his family, he was a man of kindly disposition, and in the community he had many sincere friends, who will miss him very much indeed. The funeral on Monday was conducted by Rev. Mr. Higginson, rector of St. George's church, and Rev. Joseph Fennell, and by the Masonic Order. The beautiful casket was carried by his two sons, Thomas and Charles, Toronto; his three stepsons, R. G. Galbraith, Toronto, A. V. Galbraith and Robt. Galbraith, Shelburne, and a nephew, W. McGuire, Tilsonburg. The funeral was very largely attended. After a service in St. George's Church, the remains were conveyed to Greenwood cemetery. Among the floral tributes were beautiful designs from Credit Lodge A. F. & A. M., the employees of the United Typewriter Co., Toronto, and from the family and friends.

MRS. ROBERT GRAY.

Mrs. Gray, widow of the late Robert Gray, one of the early residents of Amaranth township, passed away at her home near Laurel on Friday, October 21st. Deceased lady had been in poor health for sometime and her death was therefore not unexpected. Mrs. Gray, whose maiden name was Elizabeth Authodism, was born in England 85 years ago. Shortly after her marriage to the late Mr. Gray, whose death thirteen years ago will be remembered by many of our readers, the young couple came to Canada, settling first in Guelph township, where they resided for two years. They then moved to Amaranth township, settling on lot 14, con. 5, where the subject of our sketch continued to make her home up to the time of her death. Mr. and Mrs. Gray were among the first settlers in their locality and experienced their share of the hardships and privations that were the common lot of the early settlers. She was a woman who possessed fine traits of character, with which was united a kind and sympathetic nature. She was an excellent neighbor and was always ready to extend a helping hand to those in need or distress. The late Mrs. Gray was the mother of thirteen children, ten of whom are still living. Her daughters are Mrs. James Maharg and Mrs. Dobson, living in Michigan; Mrs. Hiram Stinson, Orangeville; Mrs. Newstead, who is in the Northwest, and Mrs. John Lanktree, Camilla. The sons are David Gray, in Michigan; Rich. Gray, London; Frank Gray, Orangeville; William Gray, on the homestead, and Robert Gray on lot 11, con. 1, Amaranth. Deceased lady was a member of the Methodist Church and was a sincere Christian woman, who truly loved and revered her Maker. Much sympathy is felt for the family and other relatives in the loss of one who was so greatly beloved. The funeral was held from her late residence to Laurel cemetery, the funeral service being conducted by Rev. T. R. White, assisted by Rev. J. R. Bell. The pallbearers—six nephews of the departed woman—were Messrs. John Banks, A. Banks, William Sickling, Frank Gray, Charles Gray and Matthew Bennington.

The Racking Pains of Rheumatism

Rheumatism will rack you just as long as there is acid in the blood to cause rheumatism. That's the whole trouble—acid in the blood. Cold, damp weather may start the pains going but it is not the cause. That is rooted in the blood and can only be cured through the blood. Years ago when medical science did not know as much about the complaint as to-day, rheumatic sufferers were given something to rub on the swollen tender joints. Some people who do not know any better still adhere to the old fashioned way, but it does not cure their rheumatism—and never will.

When the acid is driven from the blood the rheumatism is gone—it's cured. The thing is to get the right medicine to drive the acid out. Dr. Williams' Pink Pills have cured more cases of rheumatism than any other disease except anaemia. They do this because they enrich the blood supply, thus toning up the system to a point where the rheumatic acid is expelled through the natural channels and the trouble disappears. They were intended to do this and they do it thoroughly. Mr. Henry O'Donoghue, Viscount, Sask., says: "About four years ago I came here from Scotland for the purpose of taking up land. Even at so recent a date as this the country was quite different from what it is to-day. Then the nearest shack to me was ten miles distant, and the nearest town much further away. In those days homesteading was not all sunshine, and in the spring of 1907 I contracted a severe cold. I had never been sick in my life before, and paid no attention to the cold, and almost before I realized it I was down with an attack of pleurisy and as the pains of this trouble began to leave me those of rheumatism set in, and my sufferings were something terrible. Help was sent for, but it did me no good, nor did the medicine given me have any effect, and for five months I was confined to the house. Then one day I had an unexpected visit from my brother who came from Australia, and whom I had not seen for nine years. When he saw my condition he at once urged me to get Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, as he knew of a number of cases in which they had made marvellous cures in Australia. The result was he went to town and purchased six boxes, and before I had used the last box I was out working with my oxen and am now as healthy as any man in the province. For this I must thank the Pills and my brother's advice, and I strongly recommend the Pills to other rheumatic sufferers."

Sold by all medicine dealers or by mail at 50 cent a box or six boxes for $2.50 from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

OUTERBRIDGE—BAKER.

A pretty autumn wedding was celebrated in Euclid Avenue Methodist Church, Toronto, on Wednesday afternoon, October 26th, at two o'clock, when its pastor's daughter, Miss Edna Baker, was married to Rev. Howard W. Outerbridge, of Kentville, N.S. The ceremony, for which the church was decorated with ferns and yellow chrysanthemums, was performed by the bride's father, Rev. Dr. E. N. Baker, assisted by the father of the groom, Rev. W. A. Outerbridge, of Kentville, Dr. Herbert W. Baker gave his sister away, and she wore and applique with tulle veil and orange blossoms, and carried a shower of roses. Her pearl sunburst was the gift of the groom. Miss Grace Vokes, as bridesmaid, was attired in pale yellow silk with black picture hat and sheaf of yellow 'mums. To her the groom gave a gold cross, to the best man, Mr. George Patterson, of Moncton, N.B., a silver mounted cane, and the ushers, Mr. Charles Baker, Mr. Robert Steele and Mr. Allen Bravender, received gold cuff links. Miss Weeks played the wedding march and Mr. Arthur Baxter sang "O Fair, O Sweet and Holy." Mrs. Baker, who held a reception afterwards, wore grey moire with black velvet hat, and the groom's mother was in black silk and lace. Later the happy pair left for a short honeymoon before leaving for their new home in Tokio, Japan. The bride's boing away dress was of gendarme blue with toque to match.

E. L. CONVENTION

An Interesting Programme—Officers Elected for Ensuing Year.

The Annual Convention of the Epworth League of Orangeville Methodist District was held in Horning's Mills Methodist Church on Wednesday, October 19th, the first session commencing at two p.m. There was a large attendance, especially at the evening session and delegates from quite a number of leagues in the district were present.

After a number of interesting reports of Epworth Leagues in the District had been read and discussed, Rev. J. R. Wilkinson, of Holland Centre, addressed the Convention on "Business Methods in the Epworth League" in the afternoon, and in the evening on "what does the Epworth League Mean to Me." Both addresses proved very practical and instructive. Miss Cora Sifton, of Toronto, was very much appreciated, conducting "The Round Table Conference" in the afternoon and in the evening giving an address on "Missions and Missionaries." Miss Annie Morrison, of Orangeville, impressed the audience very much with the necessity of greater interest being taken in Junior League Work throughout the District, and Rev. W. A. Potter, of Shelburne, gave a very interesting address on "The Vital Principles of the Epworth League." Miss Lathwell, substitute for Miss Lottie Bell, of Orangeville, read a paper on "The Pledge." Rev. T. R. White, of Laurel, was called on at the evening session for an address, but owing to the hour being late, Mr. White replied in as few words as possible, expressing himself much pleased with the Convention. The District President, Mr. Louis S. Johnston, of Laurel, occupied the chair both afternoon and evening and the Horning's Mills choir gave several musical selections. Also a solo "The Hymns of the Old Church Choir" was rendered very acceptably by Mrs. Yokom and a chorus by the younger members of the League. Between the sessions, the visiting delegates were kindly entertained to supper in the various homes of the Horning's Mills League members and at the close of the evening session, lunch was served in the basement of the church to those who came from a distance. "God Save the King" brought to a close a very successful Convention, those present feeling that they had been richly blessed and inspired to continue more enthusiastically in the work. The following members were elected to be the Executive Officers for the coming year:—Hon.-President, Rev. H. Harper, M.A., Orangeville; President, Mr. L. S. Johnston, Laurel; 1st Vice President, Mr. Wm. Kearns, Orangeville; 2nd Vice-President, Mr. R. Dynes, Redickville; 3rd Vice-President, Miss A. Large, Shelburne; 4th Vice-President, Miss Ethel Leitch, Horning's Mills; 5th Vice-President, Miss Annie Morrison, Orangeville; Secretary, Miss Margaret Patterson, Laurel; Treasurer, Miss Alma Martin, Alton; District Representative to Toronto Conference, Miss Bertha Hamilton, Laurel.

WON SECOND PRIZE.

Mr. J. H. Adams, Classical Master in the High School, and Mr. Wendell Holmes, winner of the senior championship at the High School games here a couple of weeks ago, were contestants in the 12 mile cross country run in Guelph on Thanksgiving Day. There were 23 starters and the winner, H. Bennion, of Toronto, covered the course in 1 hour 15⅔ minutes. Mr. Adams finished second and was fresh and full of ginger when he crossed the line. He gained rapidly was right in the last half mile and Yas right at his heels when the finish came. Had he extended himself a little earlier in the race he could have won handily. Bennion fainted after he crossed the line, but Mr. Adams was able to assist to carry him off the course and bring him around again. There were 23 entries and no less than 7 prizes. Mr. Adams won a fine sterling silver fish dish. Holmes ran a plucky race for two miles, when cramps in his legs compelled him to drop out.

TEMPERANCE SERMONS.

Representatives of the Ontario Branch of the Dominion Alliance manned most of the church pulpits in Dufferin County last Sunday. Sunday morning Rev. R. M. Hamilton, of Toronto, delivered a masterly address in St. Andrew's Church. Rev. John Bailey, of Toronto, spoke in the Baptist Church at night. One of the central thoughts of Mr. Hamilton's discourses was that one of the greatest mistakes the human family made was to endeavor to make man serve the institution instead of having the institution serve the man. Man was not made for the Sabbath, but the Sabbath for man. Similarly man was not made for the church, but the church was designed for his uplift and moral and spiritual betterment. Canada's annual drink bill was placed at the enormous sum of $76,000,000. The speaker made the statement that one man out of every ten in the city of Toronto is a drunkard and pointed out that this was indicative of conditions in every other large city on the continent.

THANKSGIVING SUPPER.

The Thanksgiving Supper and Entertainment on Monday night under the auspices of the Ladies' Aid Society of the Methodist Church was the usual success. Over 450 people partook of the bountiful repast provided by the ladies in the Sunday School rooms. Tables were spread capable of accommodating 150 persons and these were set three times during the evening. Meanwhile those waiting upstairs in the auditorium were pleasantly entertained with selections by the orchestra and some clever song and whistling duets by Masters Stewart and Willie Porter. Rev. Dr. Harper, pastor of the Church, presided while the after programme was being given. This consisted of a few appropriate remarks by the chairman, music by the orchestra, a couple of excellently rendered selections by the church choir, a duet by Mrs. (Dr.) W. H. Bowles and Miss Bell, a selection by the Ladies' Quartette, recitations by Miss Annie Morrison and Mrs. P. W. Sutherland, solos by E. A. Warren and Mr. Percy Harding and some capital character songs by Master Jimmie Peacock, of Alton. Miss Wright acted as accompanist. Rev. B. Davies opened the programme with a short prayer. The evening's proceeds amounted to $114.

R. Shaver, a Brantford teamster, had a close call when his outfit was struck by a train. One of the horses, worth $150, was killed.

Five hundred tons of peat which have been manufactured by the Department of Mines at Alfred was sold within a few days at $3.25 per ton. There is a deluge of orders for more. The peat making industry is regarded as a success and further efforts will be made to develop it. The peat from the Government plant is said to be equal to coal.

TEACHER'S NERVES.

Teachers often have the reputation of being cross when the trouble is with the nerves rather than the disposition. Mr. A. Sutherland, Principal South Bar School, Sydney, N. S., writes: "I was nervous and worried, had indigestion and headache. Doctors failed me. You can depend on me to recommend Dr. A. W. Chase's Nerve Food for I believe it has entirely cured me." Tired brains and feeble nerves are soon restored by this celebrated food cure.

WHAT MAKES A GOOD COMPLEXION?

You are just about to commence the season's programme of evening parties, social events, etc. Why not look your best? Why let your complexion suffer by contrast with other ladies'? Why not ensure a good complexion? You can do this on sound natural lines by using Zam-Buk, nature's herbal balm.

Zam-Buk is a skin food; and complexion is purely a matter of skin health. Zam-Buk smeared lightly over the face, each night, acts as a skin tonic. It stimulates the cells beneath the cuticle to healthy action, makes the capillaries and blood vessels work, and the vigorous circulation, thus started, carries away secreted impurities. Waxy, sallow deposits are thus removed. Hard pimply growths are softened and disappear.

That yellow tinge gives place to the pink of health, and the white velvety "look" and "feel" which healthy skin should have.

Isn't this wiser than relying upon talcum powder and cosmetics? These only put on a "complexion" from the outside. It doesn't last. Zam-Buk helps nature to build up a complexion from blood and tissue. It lasts! It won't rub off!

Be wise as well as womanly! Let Zam-Buk help you to look your real best!

Zam-Buk cures skin diseases, pimples, ulcers, abscesses, blood-poison, eruptions, cuts, burns, scalds, chapped places, scalp sores, piles, etc. 50c box, all druggists and stores, or Zam-Buk Co., Toronto.

Could we afford to buy and give away hundreds of thousands of 50-cent bottles of Psychine (pronounced Si-keen) if we did not know from a third of a century's experience that it was the greatest vitality-builder of the age?

You know what it would mean to us were Psychine a preparation without a definite, beneficial action.

After the first bottle which we would buy, no more would be purchased.

And we would go out of business. But we're not going out of business, and our confidence that we're not is based upon our third of a century's experience with Psychine.

Ten years after Confederation we commenced compounding Psychine.

Since that time, we have sold many millions of bottles.

We have cured many hundreds of thousands of virulent and oftentimes fatal cases of diseases.

We have in our files many hundreds of thousands of unsolicited testimonials.

And we have grown from a small beginning to be one of the largest proprietary manufacturers in this country.

Here then is proof that we have in Psychine a preparation with abundant and demonstrated effectiveness, more so than any other preparation we, or anyone else, ever heard of.

Here then is the reason of our unalterable confidence in Psychine, that it is in fact the greatest preparation of its kind in the world.

Here then is why we have inaugurated a policy of actually buying hundreds of thousands of bottles of Psychine to give to those who should use.

To those who are blindly groping in the dark for relief from their misery, who may perhaps be using wrong methods to recover their health and their strength.

The greatest and most effective agents for the bodily health are the white corpuscles, phagocytes.

These white corpuscles eat any germ of disease that gains an entrance to the body, when they're in large enough numbers and sufficiently strong.

When they're not sufficiently strong, the disease germs devour them and disease holds the body.

For centuries almost, herbs, nature's own remedies, have been the most efficient foe to disease.

We have not known very definitely just how.

But now science tells us that certain of these herbs increase the number of the white corpuscles and their strength.

These certain herbs are incorporated in Psychine.

We go to the ends of the earth for these herbs—to Arabia, to South America, to China and to Japan.

They are compounded in the most costly chemical appliances in this country.

And the result is Psychine—for a third of a century the most effective vitality-builder the world has known.

The one preparation that has cured many thousands of the following diseases:

La Grippe	Bronchial Coughs
Bronchitis	Weak Lungs
Hemorrhages	Weak Voice
Sore Throat	Spring Weakness
Anaemia	Early Decline
Female Weakness	Catarrhal Affections
Indigestion	Catarrh of Stomach
Poor Appetite	Night Sweats
Chills and Fevers	Obstinate Coughs
Sleeplessness and Nervous Troubles	Laryngitis and Dyspepsia

After-effects of Pleurisy, Pneumonia and La Grippe

Now we don't ask you to take our word for the tremendously beneficial effect of Psychine. Fill out the coupon below, mail it to us and we'll give your druggist an order (for which we pay him the regular retail price) for a 50-cent bottle of Psychine to be given you free of cost.

We will undoubtedly buy and distribute in this manner hundreds of thousands of these 50-cent bottles of Psychine.

And we do that to show our entire confidence in this wonderful preparation.

A confidence that has been based on our 30 years' experience with this splendid preparation, with a full knowledge of the hundreds of thousands of cures it has made.

THE WIDOW PEPPER'S TACTICS.

They Brought Quick Results In Two Love Affairs.

By HARRIET WHITNEY.

It was 7 o'clock Monday morning, and the smoke of Louizy Cottonwood's wash fire in the back yard was threading its blue haze into the fresh, early air.

Louizy's father, Lyman Cottonwood, striking out cross lots, lagged a little while he started his after breakfast cob pipe. His gaze dwelt ruminatively upon the big ash hopper a few moments, then traveled back to the form of his daughter just appearing from the smokehouse with a tub in her arms.

"Louizy!"

The young woman turned her head around, set her tub upon a backless chair and came forward, her low, flat shoes patting softly over the short "goose grass." Her figure looked skimp in its blue calico washing gown; her locks were hempy in color and not too plentiful; she had gathered them up high and twisted them so tightly that the outer corners of her eyes were drawn upward like those of a Chinese woman.

"Louizy," said her father, leaning an elbow on a corner of the hopper, "I was goin' to tell you an' furgot; the Widder Pepper's a-comin' up today fer a basket of windfall Spy apples to make dumplin's, an' I gotter be at Harris' all day helpin' thrash. You show 'er where the good ones is at, an' don't you sass 'er none. You understand?"

"I ain't carin' how many Spy apples she gathers. Reckon apples wasn't the only thing you an' her was settlin' about yes'day evenin'."

"Wull"—Lyman looked off slantwise across the hopper—"I got 'er penned up es close es you ever kin pen a woman. The darned contrary birds won't never give you a square out 'yes' tell after the preacher's sent fer. But you kin count on havin' a stepma before pumpkins is ripe."

"I wouldn't think, then, paw"—Louizy's voice became mildly reproachful—"seein' how happy you're a-goin' to be, you'd begrutch me—an'—an'—Sam"—

Her father came up from his lounging attitude with a jerk.

"Louizy Jane Cottonwood, how many times I gotter tell you that's diffrunt? Now, listen yere"—he ticked off his points with the forefinger of his right hand in the spread palm of the left—"I told you the whut fors an' why sos yes'day, an' that's nuff said. An' now listen at this: Ef I don't find Sam Dorkins at Harris' thrashin' today it's a sign he's over yere, an' ef he is you'll see me back, an' you'll see me bounce Sam over the fence into the bresh quick enough to jolt his ears crooked. Now, mind whut I've told you."

Louizy shed so many tears over her wash that morning that when the fat little Widow Pepper came with her basket she cast many sharply inquisitive glances at the red rings of the forlorn maiden's eyes.

"Looky here, Louizy Cottonwood," said she at length as the two trudged up to the orchard, "you ain't been actin' the baby 'cause your paw wants to marry ag'in, hev you?"

Louizy shook her head.

"I wouldn't care a speck if he married tomorrow if he'd have the manners to leave me an' Sam Dorkins alone."

"Humph!" said the widow. "Whut's he layin' up against Sam?"

"Nothin' partickler, but he 'lows there's no sense of me a-marryin' fer half a dozen years er so. He's countin' on makin' a lot of city folks to board of summers after you an' him air married, an' he says two women 'll be needed to cook fer 'em."

"Well, I say!" Mrs. Phebe Pepper brought the exclamation out with a chop. Then she stopped in the path and laughed with a heartiness that threatened to break her apron strings. Mrs. Pepper was short and wide, and her little round, dark face expressed a mixture of good nature, shrewdness and obstinacy.

"He's a curious old plant, your paw is," said she, "but I've jist got this to say: Ef any man o' mine ever takes any summer boarders he'll do the cookin' er else he'll hire it done."

Louizy shook her head dissentingly.

"You'll think different when paw gets you."

"He ain't got me yit," said the widow cheerfully. "Looky here, Louizy, how old air you?"

"Thirty-three," confessed Louizy, with a slight blush.

"The law me! An' you're scared to marry without your paw says you kin?"

The blush widened, taking in Louizy's ears.

"You don't know paw," said she dismally.

"Couldn't more than kill you, could he?"

"Some folks' tongues is worse than killin'."

The widow trudged forward in silent self communion, which lasted until they reached the Northern Spy apple tree. Louizy began to fill the basket with the bright streaked windfalls, but Mrs. Pepper plumped herself down comfortably into the clover.

"Sam Dorkins is goin' on forty," said she meditatively. "He's a sight nigher to my age than yours."

"Oh, I was just a thinkin'," the latter observed carelessly, biting jauntily into a big apple. "Me an' Sam was allers good friends. Better stop now, Louizy. That's many as I kin pack."

* * * * * * *

Lyman Cottonwood was in the narrow lane between his turnip field and his tobacco patch stopping a gap in the fence when a thudding of feet on the mellow earth drew his attention. A broad shouldered fellow was swinging briskly along with an ax on his shoulder.

"Hello, Unc' Lyme!" he hailed cheerfully.

"Here, you, Sam Dorkins!" Lyman barred his way with belligerent elbows. "This yere lane's a private one, ef you want to know it, an' you's gotter keep 'way from Louizy Cottonwood whether you want to know it er not."

"I ain't a-goin' to tote the lane off with me, ner Louizy either. I wasn't almin' to stop yere. Didn't know es I'd aptie the lane goin' through it to the Widder Pepper's."

"Widder Pepper's!" bawled Lyman frantically. "Whut business you goin' anywhere nigh the Widder Pepper?"

"Come, now, Uncle Lyme," grinned Sam; "don't hev a fit. Reckon I kin go chop a little stove wood fer a good lib-kin' widder without you floppin' up like a skyrocket. I've knowed the widder a-many a year."

"I don't care a cou taked turnip seed whut you've knowed," foemed Lyman. "The widder kin git stove wood without you a-cuttin' it. You take an' let 'em widder alone er you shuck off yer coat an' watch out fer me."

"Sure now," returned Sam, "you know I'm a younger man 'n you, Uncle Lyme. Better not be too biggoty. You may think you're the only speckled beun in the hill, but widders is notionated an' kin fly about mother way es easy es a flapjack. An' the country's free, es I've heard say. There's no statute that says two men shan't spark one widder, an' I reckon my chances is good es yourn ef I choose to stake 'em right hearty. You kin fence me off from Louizy, but you can't fence me off from the widder."

"I kin send you flyin' over them rails," declared Lyman wrathfully.

"Well, now, I ain't right shore it 'd be good policy to tackle the job," said Sam argumentatively. "You got right smart of rheumatiz, ye know, Uncle Yyme. Ye might pitch me over an' ye might'n't. Now, I'll tell you what. The widder's in need of stove wood. I shall go there an' cut it fer her an' stay to supper 'r else I'll loan you my ax an' leave you go cut the wood fer her, an' I'll go in an' talk to Louizy a spell. Which'll it be?"

Lyman leaned against the rail fence, his brain whizzing with new battery ideas. The desirability of the widow had increased tenfold since this bold rival had proclaimed himself so determinedly. What was Louizy in comparison? The ideas came to a focus. He stepped forward resolutely.

"Han' over the ax," he said briefly, "an' go 'long in. Louizy's ironin'. You an' her kin be es big fools es you want."

When Mrs. Phebe Pepper, looking from her doorway, saw Mr. Lyman Cottonwood coming up the walk with Sam's ax on his shoulder her black eyes sparkled with fun.

"I 'lowed that would fetch Lyme ef Sam worked it all right," she said to herself, with a smothered chuckle, "an' mighty lucky thing fer Louizy Cottonwood her future stepmaw's got a leetle grain o' gumption, seein' Louizy don't know no more 'n a goslin' how to tend to her own love affairs."

WAS UP AGAINST A HARD COMBINATION.

But Dodd's Kidney Pills Vanished Them All.

Sundridge, Ont., Oct. 31. (Special).—Gravel, Diabetes and Dropsy are a terrible combination for one man to have. It means that his life is in the gravest danger, unless like George Vanhooser, a well-known resident of this place he finds the simple and natural cure. Here is the story Mr. Vanhooser tells, and all his neighbors know every word of it to be true:

"I had pains in my back and across the loins. My stomach would swell, I was constipated and I had sharp cutting pains in my bladder, which made me sure that I was suffering from the terrible Gravel. The doctor attended me, but I kept getting worse every day.

"Others had told me of the great good Dodd's Kidney Pills had done them and I determined to try them. Six boxes made a new man of me."

Gravel, Dropsy and Diabetes are all either Kidney Diseases, or are caused by diseased Kidneys. The easy and natural way to cure them is to use Dodd's Kidney Pills. They never fail to cure any form of Kidney Disease.

While driving home from Flesherton last week, Miss Lizzie Mathers, the 18 year old daughter of the late Mr. John Mathers, Proton townline, met with a terrible accident at the railway crossing near Priceville when her horse became unmanageable and collided with a passing freight train. A fracture of the shoulder was sustained and a limb so injured that amputation above the ankle was necessary. The patient, for whom much sympathy is felt, is, we learn, in a critical condition. The horse escaped, but the buggy was smashed to pieces.

SAVED FROM THE KNIFE

Appendicitis Cured By "Fruit-a-tives"

NEWBURGH, ONT., Feb. 12th, 1910.

"Just about a year ago, our daughter Ella, (fourteen years), was taken with terrible pains in the right side. The pain was so severe that we had to carry her to bed. We at once put her under the care of a first-class doctor, who pronounced it a case of Appendicitis and advised an operation.

We took her to a hospital in Kingston where she was again examined by an eminent specialist. He said she had Appendicitis and must be operated on at once if we wanted to save her life. As we had taken her to Kingston to have this done, we were ready, but our daughter was afraid and cried and begged so pitifully, that we postponed it for that day. Luckily for us and for her an uncle came in with some 'Fruit-a-tives' and insisted on Ella taking them. Good results were apparent almost from the first dose, and the continued treatment cured her.

'Fruit-a-tives' saved our daughter from the surgeon's knife and to-day she is enjoying the best of health."

J. W. FOX, (Father).
LILLIAN FOX, (Mother).

Words cannot express the gratitude of Mr. and Mrs. Fox. And Miss Ella will always remember "Fruit-a-tives"—the discovery of an eminent physician, and the only medicine in the world made of fruit. 50c. a box, 6 for $2.50, or trial box, 25c. At dealers, or sent, postpaid, on receipt of price by Fruit-a-tives Limited, Ottawa.

ONE LANGUAGE FOR ONTARIO.

The publication of this Hanna letter, and what is behind publication, form merely one incident in a movement that must sooner or later receive attention at the hands of the people of this Province, and the sooner the better. This movement, originating among certain Quebec extremists, has for its object the extension of the French language, and the Quebec system in general, beyond the confines of that Province. A regularly organized effort is being made to push French settlements across the Ottawa river into Prescott, Glengarry, and other Ottawa Valley counties and to carry with this settlement a school system in which French shall be the language of instruction. A similar effort is being made, by the same general form of procedure, to solidify the French settlements in the county of Essex. A proposal is under consideration, it is reported, to colonize three townships in Northern Ontario with French Canadians. The avowed object behind all this is to create a situation under which blocks of solid French Canadians, located in different parts of the Province will hold the balance of power in Ontario as the same race has long held the balance in the Dominion.

It may as well be understood from the beginning that this proposal will meet firm opposition on the part of the English-speaking people of this Province. There is no desire to interfere in the slightest degree with the peculiar institutions and privileges of Quebec. But the people of Ontario are firmly resolved that here one language shall prevail. They will insist on this in the interests of the state as a whole and of the French-speaking minority as well. There cannot be a really united citizenship where there is division in speech; French children will be seriously handicapped in the battle of life who are not able to speak freely the tongue which prevails over practically all North America. A hearty welcome will be given to those coming from Quebec who come here to assist in developing the agricultural and industrial resources of Ontario, just as a like welcome is offered people coming from Great Britain or from Germany for like purpose. But those who come must be prepared to accept English as the language of the school and the state. There is nothing more disagreeable, nothing is more disturbing than a race or creed conflict, the slow progress made by Canada for many years was largely due to the fact that we have had so many such conflicts in the past. But it is better to have an immediate conflict, if it must be, than the permanent disturbance inseparable from a condition which would exist with numerous blocks of non-assimilable colonies located in various parts of Ontario. Better meet the difficulty half way by abolishing the bi-lingual schools now in existence and insisting on English as the sole tongue for use in school work in every part of the Province.—The Weekly Sun.

Mr. A. E. Connors, of Mt. Forest, who with his basket of "Dad's own make" of taffy, is a well known figure at all the local shows of the district, was overcome by a fainting spell at the Moorefield show. He fell on the cement sidewalk severely cutting and bruising his face.

Do You Know Your Ailment

Or is it a complication which can be reached only by DR. CHASE'S KIDNEY-LIVER PILLS.

There is only one medicine that can prove thoroughly satisfactory in complicated ailments of the liver and kidneys, and that is Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills.

They begin by regulating the bowels and awakening the action of the liver, thereby effecting a thorough cleansing of the excretory system. By thus removing the poisons from the system they lighten the work of the kidneys and gradually restore them to health.

Nobody who once learns of the definite and certain action of Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills in regulating and invigorating the kidneys, liver and bowels, is willing to take chances by experimenting with other medicines.

Such ailments as biliousness, constipation, chronic indigestion, liver complaint and kidney disease yield readily to this treatment.

One Doctor—Only One

No sense in running from one doctor to another! Select the best one, then stand by him. No sense either in trying this thing, that thing, for your cough. Carefully, deliberately select the best cough medicine, then take it. Stick to it. Ask your doctor about Ayer's Cherry Pectoral for throat and lung troubles. Sold for nearly seventy years. No alcohol in this cough medicine. J. C. Ayer Co., Lowell, Mass.

Why try this thing, that thing, for your constipation? Why not stick to the good old reliable family laxative—Ayer's Pills? Ask your doctor if he approves this advice.

MOTHER'S LITTLE TREASURE.

What mother does not look upon her baby as a little treasure. What mother would not rather suffer herself than see her precious little one suffer. The well child brings joy to the home—the sick child brings misery, despair and care. But, mothers, there is no need for your baby to be cross and ailing, even during the much dreaded teething time. What baby needs to keep him well is an occasional dose of Baby's Own Tablets. These Tablets cure all stomach and bowel troubles; destroy worms and make teething easy. Mrs. Pierre M. Cormier, New Richmond Centre, Que., writes:—"Baby's Own Tablets have been of great benefit to my little one and now he sleeps well and eats well and is happy all the time." The Tablets are sold by all medicine dealers at 25 cents a box or direct from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

MRS. JOHN TEBBUTT.

Mrs. John Tebbutt died at her home in Grand Valley a week ago Saturday afternoon last, after an illness of several months. When but a small child she came to Canada with her parents, who settled in the 12th concession Garafraxa in 1884, and there lived until her marriage almost 50 years ago. After that she and her husband lived in East Garafraxa, Marsville, Waldemar, and about 17 years ago came to Grand Valley. Four of a family survive, James at Innisfree, Alta.; Mrs. Risdale at Invermay, Sask.; John T., and Sarah at home. The deceased was a loyal member of the Methodist Church, a devoted mother, and set a good Christian example to her home. The funeral took place on Tuesday to Price's Corners' cemetery, the family burying ground.

THANKSGIVING SHOOTING ACCIDENT.

R. T. Forgrave lost two toes of the right foot in a shooting accident on Thanksgiving Day, by an accidental discharge of his own gun. He was one of a party from town who had spent the day shooting in the swamps near Bates' school, Amaranth. About 4 o'clock they came out to try another swamp, and while standing on the road discussing the matter Dick rested his gun, muzzle down, on his foot. In some way it discharged, the shot taking the toe next the large one off completely, badly shattering the one next it, and tearing a hole through his boot. He was at once rushed home where a doctor attended the injury. Mr. Forgrave is one of the most cautious and carefully observant of men in the bush and it seems strange that he should meet with such an accident.—Star & Vidette.

BLAIN AND CHARTERS.

Members for Peel Address an Alton Audience on Questions of the Day

75 or 80 of the residents of Alton and vicinity, including about fifteen ladies, gathered in Science Hall on Monday night to hear their representatives, Messrs. R. Blain, M.P. and S. Charters, M.P.P., discuss some of the public questions that are prominently before the people of Canada at the present time. The two members were in excellent form and received an attentive and sympathetic hearing from their audience, which was naturally largely Conservative in its leanings. Mr. Everton Barber, of the Barber Carriage Co., occupied the chair and prefaced the addresses with a few neatly put introductory remarks.

Mr. Charters, who spoke first, confined himself almost entirely to the legislation that was before the House at its last session. He emphasized the attention the Whitney Government is giving to agriculture and pointed out that last year's estimates —$778,101—for agricultural purposes were the largest in the history of the Province and larger than those of any other Province in the Dominion. Provision had also been made by the present Government for establishing Agricultural Departments and appointing agricultural instructors in connection with High Schools. 14 of these instructors had been appointed already. Mr. Charters also spoke of the stimulating effect of field crop competitions, of the effort to ensure a supply of pure milk through the appointment of the Milk Commission and the legislation following its report to the House, of Mr. Downey's bill to reduce the death rate from tuberculosis, of automobile legislation, technical education and the license law. He justified the three-fifths clause by saying that the position the Government took was that public sentiment must be strong in order to make local option effective. The present Government was making an honest effort to enforce the law. If ever there was an alliance between a Government and the liquor trade, then such an alliance existed between the late Ross government and the liquor trade of this province. Mr. Charters was modest in his reference to the Ontario Telephone Act, a measure which he introduced into the Legislature last session and which is generally regarded as an exceedingly useful piece of legislation. Independent telephone companies, he pointed out, were serving over 40,000 people in Ontario. The speaker maintained that from one end of the province to the other there was no serious complaint against the Whitney government. Mr. Whitney and his party had legislated in the interests of the people and would continue to do so as long as they held the reins of government.

Mr. Blain paid a compliment to his audience by styling Alton an intellectual part of the County of Peel. He reviewed the immigration policy of the Ottawa government, approved of the Act for the Conservation of Natural Resources and explained certain amendments to the criminal code respecting automobilists. He rejoiced in the growing prosperity of Canada and the Canadian people. Canada's foreign trade last year aggregated $693,000,000, the highest in its history, and $123,000,000 in excess of the aggregate for 1908. Mr. Blain took issue with the Government on its naval policy, which he held would have the effect of committing the people of Canada to an enormous annual expenditure. Moreover the electorate should have been consulted first. He had voted against the Government bill, but in favor of Canada furnishing $20,000,000 as a contribution toward the naval defence of the Empire. In fifty years Great Britain had expended the enormous sum of $95,000,000 on the military defence of Canada. It was worth a great deal to belong to Great Britain and Canadians should be prepared to take up their muskets and fight if need be for the defence of the Empire. Coming to the question of reciprocity Mr. Blain pointed out that the United States tariff is 25 per cent. higher than our Canadian tariff. For instance the U. S. duty on barley was 30 cents a bushel whereas the Canadian duty was only 12 cents. The duty per pound on pork was 5 cents and 2 cents respectively. This condition also applied to many other farm products and manufactured goods. He thought the policy the Canadian government should pursue was to tell President Taft and his Administration that when they had brought their tariff wall down to the level of the Canadian tariff wall, Canada would be willing to talk to them about reciprocity. Until this was done, the speaker was opposed to any movement by Canada in the direction of reciprocity.

The usual thanks were tendered the speakers and chairman before the meeting closed.

UNCERTAINTY OF LITIGATION.

If reports are correct the uncertainty of litigation was strikingly illustrated at the Fall Assizes here this week. Dr. Gowan, The Banner is informed, could have settled with Mrs. Marshall for $500. He preferred to fight and the Jury put him in for four times that amount, to say nothing of the costs. The C. P. R. offered Boyd, the Flesherton business man, $1500, before he had even consulted a lawyer. Before the trial the Company increased its offer to $2500. Boyd wanted $3500 and would not consider taking anything less. The case went on and he got judgment for $1000, just $1500 less than the Company offered him.

A TRUE BILL.

W. G. Stoddart Will Have to Stand Trial at Spring Assizes.

Mrs. Marshall, whose Husband was Killed Last June, Awarded $2,000 Damages.

Dufferin Fall Assizes Were Held This Week.

The Fall Assizes for the County of Dufferin opened in the Court House here at one o'clock on Monday afternoon, with His Lordship, Mr. Justice Latchford, presiding. Court opened with an imposing array of local and outside legal talent in attendance. Among the barristers present were Sydney Smith, K.C., of Stratford, Crown Prosecutor; E. F. B. Johnston, K. C., Toronto; I. B. Lucas, K. C., M.P.P., Markdale; W. H. Wright, K.C., Owen Sound; Angus McMurchy, K. C., Toronto; J. W. G. Wallace, Markdale, G. M. Vance, K.C., Shelburne, and the members of the local bar. The docket consisted of one criminal and five civil cases, four of the latter being jury and one a non-jury suit.

The criminal case was against W. G. Stoddart, formerly an undertaker and furniture dealer in Grand Valley, who was charged with entering the premises of Robert Boyle on or about October 1st, 1909, and stealing therefrom a fur-lined coat, two imitation fur-lined coats, one coon fur coat, five knee rugs, a quantity of whips and robes, bridles, harness and brushes to the value of $200. There are three counts in the indictment, the others charging Stoddart with entering Boyle's place with the intention to commit an indictable offence and with unlawfully receiving and having in his possession goods knowing that they had been stolen.

In his address to the Grand Jury, His Lordship pointed out that the case was somewhat peculiar in that the charge had been preferred against Stoddart by the Attorney-General with the trial judge's consent. The Judge also asked the jury to remember that they were not trying the prisoner, but were simply to ascertain if he should be placed upon trial. The trial itself came within the province of the petit jury, and the Grand Jury was only required to determine if the evidence was sufficient to justify sending the accused up for trial. In the course of his address the Judge congratulated the Jury and the people of Dufferin upon the evident absence of serious crime within the county. It was a matter for congratulation that there was only a single person in the county gaol on a criminal charge. It was the duty of the jury to inspect the County and other public buildings to which the Government grants aid. They should ascertain, said His Lordship, if the Court House was in proper condition for the administration of justice, satisfy themselves that the gaol is properly lighted, heated and ventilated and enquire from the prisoners regarding their food, treatment and general condition.

The Grand Jurors were James Armstrong, Daniel Broderick, Peter Bell, John Dowkes, John Davidson, Joseph Dyer, C. W. Hurndall (foreman), J. C. Jones, Robert Lee, Geo. Lindsay, Samuel Lawrence and F. Marshall.

About three o'clock in the afternoon the Jury, after deliberating a short time on the evidence, returned a true bill against Stoddart. The witnesses examined were High Constable Smith, of Cornwall, High Constable Hughes, of Orangeville; Robert Boyle and James Fuller. Mr. A. A. Hughson, who acted for Stoddart in the Police Court proceedings last summer, suggested that the trial could take place before the County Judge at the December sessions. His Lordship intimated, however, that the case should be tried by a High Court Judge and traversed the matter until the Spring Assizes. The Crown Prosecutor then made application for a bench warrant for the apprehension of Stoddart. This the Court granted.

Marshall vs. Gowan.

The first civil case taken up was that of Mrs. Cohn Marshall, widow of the late John Marshall, of Melancthon, against Dr. Gowan, of Horning's Mills. Marshall was killed on June 17th last by his team taking fright at an automobile driven by the defendant. I. B. Lucas, K. C., and Mr. J. W. Wallace, of Markdale, appeared for the plaintiff and E. F. B. Johnston, K. C., of Toronto, instructed by G.M. Vance, K.C., of Shelburne, for the defendant. Considerable time was spent selecting a jury, nearly a dozen of the men called being challenged or asked to stand aside. The following jury was at last sworn in :—

Geo. Davis, W. S. Golden, Matthew Bennington, Thos. J. Hamilton, Amaranth; Stewart Hughson, Jas. H. Hall, East Garafraxa; Wm. Hudd, Melanethon; Arch. Irwin, Orangeville; James Irwin, James Colwell, Geo. Moffitt, Mono; James Taylor, East Luther.

Presenting the case to the Jury, Mr. Lucas stated that the broad question for the court to determine was whether or not there had been any negligence for which Dr. Gowan was responsible. Automobiles had certain rights on the highway, but these were subject to well-defined restrictions. It was not necessary in the present case to prove that Dr. Gowan had been negligent. All the law required the plaintiff to do was to show that her husband's team took fright from the automobile and to prove that he had been killed. The onus of proving that he had taken all precautions was upon the defendant. The broad question for the jury was, did the defendant take all precautions that he could reasonably be expected to take?"

Mrs. Marshall, the plaintiff, who was the first witness called, said that her husband had lived on the farm occupied when killed for a period of ten years. They bought the place at $3800. The present value she placed at $7000 with stock and implements worth about $2200. There were five children—a son in the West, another serving as a drug apprentice in Shelburne and a son and two daughters at home, the youngest child being 13 years of age. The accident happened a quarter of a mile from the house.

Adam McKibben, who was with Marshall, unloading gravel at the time of the fatal runaway, was the chief witness for the plaintiff. McKibben, who was very voluble, told a graphic story of the affair. He was standing at the rear of the wagon, Mr. Marshall being at the front, taking off the load. They had placed the seat, end board and one side-board on the ground and laid the first bottom board on the wheels of the wagon, or more correctly, truck. The other boards they stood on edge against the stakes as they were dumped. They had dumped all except the last board, when witness saw Marshall look up, then raise his hand in a startled manner and cry "The Lord help us," and apparently make a grab for the lines, which had been thrown across the back of the nigh horse. At the same instant the nigh horse raised its head, looked about and like a flash the team started off, dragging Marshall in front of the wagon. When he saw Marshall raise his hand, witness glanced over his shoulder and saw an automobile on the grade behind him. Whether it was moving or not he could not swear. The auto, he swore, had passed the first telegraph pole from the place where the wagon stood and was not more than 25 yards away when he saw it. The horses were a span of four year olds, were well-broken and witness had never known them to run away before.

Mr. Johnston, in the course of a searching cross-examination, tried hard to get McKibben to admit that the automobile was standing still when he looked around. Some of the passages between the skilful questioner and the talkative witness were decidedly amusing. McKibben who repeatedly addressed the eminent K.C. as "my dear friend," stoutly maintained that he couldn't tell whether the machine had stopped or not and the cross-examiner was obliged in the end to let it go at that. "I suppose if you couldn't tell whether the auto was standing or not the horse couldn't," was one of Mr. Johnston's sallies. Witness was asked what he had said to a couple of Shelburne men, who interviewed him respecting the accident, but the cross-examiner got something he wasn't looking for, when McKibben depicted one of the Shelburneites as saying to him, "It depends all on you how Dr. Gowan comes out."

Henry Marshall, a brother of the deceased, gave particulars of certain measurements that he had made after the fatality. From a stump opposite the wagon to the first telegraph pole the distance was 76 feet. It was over 400 feet from wagon to the top of the grade. The view was unobstructed from this point and horses and wagon could be seen from a point 200 feet or farther back of top of grade.

Foy Marshall, a son of the deceased, said that Dr. Gowan and Mr. Huxtable called at his father's home a short time before the accident looking for horses to buy. He told them his father was down the road with a team of colts unloading gravel and that the horses would frighten at an auto.

James Jelly, a young farmer, who was working in the gravel pit on the day of the accident, described Marshall's horses as a young Shire team. He had never known them to shy or run away and was sure they were well broke and tractable. Witness told about finding the endboards, seat and one side-board of the gravel box on the road where Marshall was unloading and described the manner in which the other boards were scattered along the highway.

This closed the case for the plaintiff.

Dr. Gowan, the defendant, was the first witness called for the defence. The Dr. who is a stalwart six footer, with iron-grey hair, and apparently about 50 or 55 years of age, gave his evidence in a cool and collected manner. He said he had approached the grade very carefully because he got the impression from Foy Marshall that his father's team would frighten at an automobile. He was running six or seven miles an hour on the level, but had lessened the speed on account of meeting a wagon and democrat. When he neared the crest of the hill and saw Mr. Marshall's team he shut off the feed and ignition spark so that his machine would not make any noise and coasted down the hill. The auto was not making any more noise then than an ordinary buggy. He did not sound the horn, because experience had taught him this was the surest way to frighten a horse. When he was on the crest he saw Mr. Marshall look up and assumed for the moment that he had seen the auto coming. When some distance down the hill he noticed that Marshall was cleaning gravel off the bolster and reach of the wagon and, realizing that the unfortunate man had not noticed him, stopped the auto and called to him. He was 50 or 55 yards from the wagon when he brought his machine to a standstill. When he called Marshall looked up hurriedly and then made a quick movement to the left, apparently attempting to seize the lines. As he did so he laid his hand on the board that was lying on the wheels. The board flew up and at the sound behind it the nigh horse raised its head, looked about and before Marshall could recover himself from what witness described as "a false start" the team started to run. Dr. Gowan appeared quite positive that he saw the board fly up and fall again. The auto, he swore, was on the left side of the road and at a standstill before the horses started to run. The nigh horse turned its head to the right, away from the automobile.

Mr. Lucas subjected the witness to a lengthy cross-examination. Many of the questions related to his failure to blow the auto horn, when he first noticed Marshall's team. Witness maintained that he had learned from his own experience that the horn was liable to frighten a horse. Mr. Lucas wanted to know if it wasn't the auto itself that gave the fright but the witness thought it was the tooting that did it.

The evidence of Robert Huxtable, who was riding with Dr. Gowan, agreed substantially with the statement of the defendant.

Counsel addressed the Jury at considerable length and were followed by the Judge, whose charge was somewhat in favor of the plaintiff. His Lordship explained the law very clearly, pointing out that in accidents of this class the Legislature had placed on the automobilist the duty of proving that he had not been guilty of negligence. In conclusion he submitted seven questions to the Jury, which he asked them to answer.

The Jury retired about 6.30 Monday evening and at 10 o'clock returned a sealed verdict, which was read by His Lordship when Court resumed at 9.30 Tuesday morning. The verdict awarded Mrs. Marshall $2000 damages, apportioned, $1000 to herself, $100 to her second son and $300 each to the three youngest children. Mr. G. M. Vance, counsel for the defendant, asked for a stay of proceedings for the purpose of considering an appeal. The Judge granted a stay of ten days.

The questions submitted to the Jury and their answers were as follows :—

Q. Was it reasonably necessary that the horn of defendant's automobile should have been sounded as the automobile approached Marshall?

A. Yes; when defendant first saw Marshall.

Q. Did the defendant when approaching Marshall's horses manage his automobile in such a manner as to exercise every reasonable precaution to prevent the frightening of such horses?

A. No. Seeing Marshall's position defendant should have sounded horn.

Q. Did the accident to Marshall arise through the negligence of the defendant?

A. Yes.

Q. If you find the accident arose through the negligence of the defendant, in what did that negligence consist?

A. In not sounding horn or stopping automobile sooner.

Q. Could Marshall by the exercise of reasonable care and diligence have avoided the accident?

A. No; not under the custom of unloading gravel.

Q. If you find that Marshall could have avoided the accident, in what did his want of reasonable care and diligence consist?

A. None.

Q. What damages if any have been sustained by the plaintiff?

A. $2000 divided as follows :—Mrs. Marshall, $1000; second son, $100; three youngest children, $300 each.

Boyd vs. C. P. R.

The case of Wm. Boyd, a Flesherton merchant and grain and cattle dealer, against the C. P. R. was proceeded with Wednesday morning. W. H. Wright, K. C., of Owen Sound, appeared for the plaintiff and Angus McMurchy, K.C., Toronto, for the defendant Company. Boyd was injured in a head-on collision between two passenger trains near Melville Cross on October 20th, 1909. Boyd was in the lavatory when the crash occurred and was thrown violently into the corner of the compartment. He was badly dazed and sustained injuries about the lower part of the body that afterwards developed a double rupture. The Railway Company admitted liability through the negligence of their officials, and the Court, therefore, was only asked to hear evidence relating to Boyd's injuries and to determine the amount of damages he should receive.

The following jury was selected to try the case :—

John Mowatt, Jas. A. Clarke, Elijah Dynes, Wm. Geffs, J. H. McKee, John Hewitt, Wm. McGhee, James Arnott, Arch. Ramsay, Isaac May, Arch. McKitrick and Robert Lewis.

At the outset Mr. McMurchy, for the defendant Corporation, asked the Judge to dismiss the Jury and try the case himself on the ground that much of the evidence was likely to be technical and difficult to understand. His Lordship, however, decided to retain the jury, reserving the right to dispense with their services at any time. The witnesses for the plaintiff were Boyd himself, Dr. T. S. Sproule, Markdale; Dr. Martin, Dundalk, and Dr. T. A. Carson, Orangeville. The defence called Dr. Middleboro, of Owen Sound, and Dr. Beatty, of Toronto. The latter maintained that an operation would cure Boyd of his trouble. Much of the evidence was technical and the Judge eventually dismissed the Jury. His Lordship awarded plaintiff judgment for $1000 and costs.

The case was concluded about 12.30 and as it was the last on the list the Court was brought to a close.

Brandenberger vs. C. P. R.

The plaintiff, an Arthur hotelkeeper, was injured in a run-off on the C. P. R., a short distance south of Alton on July 12th, 1909. Suit was brought to recover damages for personal injuries. The case was withdrawn, the parties having reached an amicable settlement, the Company agreeing to pay Brandenberger $1500.

Adams vs. Hurndall Novelty Co.

Particulars of this suit were given in last week's issue. The parties arrived at a settlement out of Court, the defendant Company paying $650 and costs.

Symonds vs. Leighton.

This was the only non-jury case down for trial. Adjourned to be heard by the trial judge later in Toronto.

GRAND JURY'S PRESENTMENT.

13 Inmates in County Gaol, of Whom Only One is Held on a Criminal Charge.

The Grand Jury at the Fall Assizes here this week made its presentment to Mr. Justice Latchford on Tuesday morning. The Jury reported the Court House and Gaol in a generally satisfactory condition, but found fault with the ventilation of the former building and recommended improvements in this and other respects. The text of the presentment is as follows :—

Orangeville, November 8th, 1910.

May it please your Lordship,—

We, the Grand Jury, beg to make final presentment as follows :—

We find the court house, gaol and outbuildings in general good condition, the gaol being in a particularly clean condition. The inmates are as follows :—10 vagrants, 1 insane, 1 criminal, 1 inmate in women's ward.

We beg, however, to make the following recommendations :—

Some improvement should be made in the general ventilation of the Court Room, which can be done by making the ventilators workable in the skylights. The windows should also be improved.

Keys should be provided for the Jury rooms as there are a number missing.

In connection with the Court House improvement is necessary in the lavatories. The outdoor accommodation should be put in good condition and a urinal provided inside.

In view of the increased expense connected with attendance of jurors at this Court, we strongly recommend an increase in the allowance to at least $3 a day.

Those representing our burg at Orangeville High School this term are Misses Victoria and Florence Parks, Muriel Howard, Robena Thompson, Mabel Rayfield and Masters Charlie Scott and Ralph Bremner.

The services on Sunday were of an unusually interesting character. In the afternoon the Rev. Mr. Oswald, of Winnipeg, preached a very eloquent and powerful sermon to a large congregation and in the evening the Rev. Mr. Hamilton, of Toronto, preached in the interests of the Dominion Alliance to a well-filled church.

At the fowl supper and entertainment held on Monday evening all went merry as a marriage bell, and when the evening was over expressions of well-pleased satisfaction with all that had taken place were heard on every side. (We were looking for news and stopped to listen). The dinner tables were abundantly supplied with all that everyone could desire and our ladies who excel in the culinary art should take credit to themselves that they outshone all previous efforts and there was plenty and to spare of goody-good things to eat both before and after entertainment. The programme was of a very high standard. The chair was occupied by the Rev. W. M. Morris, of Orangeville, in his own inimitable style. The flashes of wit and good humor kept the crowd in a jovial mood and he certainly hits the high spots in the estimation of the Camilla people in whatever he does or wants them to do. Misses Huston and Harshaw, of Orangeville, were in splendid voice in solo and duet. They and their accompanist, Miss Wallace, of Orangeville, are always favorites with us not only because of their sterling qualities as entertainers, but because when they make engagements they can be depended upon to come even though darkness curtains the hills and the tempest is abroad in its anger, when the plough stands still in the field of promise and briers lie crushed in the garden of beauty. Miss Edna Campbell was the elocutionist of the evening and delighted the audience, and after this when we want to bring out the lovers of that style of entertainment we will revise the old song "The Campbells are Coming," and sing instead, "Miss Campbell is Coming." Mr. Cunningham, organist in one of the Hamilton churches, and Mrs. Cunningham gave a well rendered piano duet, as also did Misses Wallace and Huston. Misses Mildred and Florence Patterson, of Shelburne, both possessors of superb voices, caught the fancy of the crowd with their solos and duets. Miss Mason was their accompanist. Revs. Bell, White and Whittle, of Laurel, were the orators of the evening and ably upheld their reputation as pleasing and interesting speakers. Miss Lucilla Marshall gave a violin solo, playing with good tone and feeling. Miss Olive McLaine and Harold Marshall displayed their histrionic temperament in a one act dialogue, entitled, "Going Somewhere." Every number on the programme elicited hearty applause from the audience and those in charge have every reason to feel gratified over the success that crowned their efforts.

MELANCTHON.

Almost enough snow fell here on Sunday night for sleighing, but some still have to take up their turnips.

Mr. R. T. Sloane, of Shelburne, but formerly general merchant here, spent Sunday as the guest of Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Mills of this burg.

Rev. W. J. Tribble, of Honeywood, a former pastor on this circuit, preached in the Gravel Road Church last Sunday.

The members of L. O. L. No. 909, Melancthon, held a reunion and partook of supper in the Orange Hall here on Saturday night.

Mrs. Chipchase, Sr., left last week for Toronto, where she will spend the winter.

WHITTINGTON.

We have organized our League for the season. Hope it will be successful.

Threshing is the order of the day.

Miss Maggie White has been on the sick list.

Miss Marie McBride spent Thanksgiving with friends at Whittington.

A number of the boys around Whittington caused considerable annoyance on Hallowe'en night. They took the wheels off the Postmaster's buggy and he would have been late getting the mail next day only he happened to discover the mischief sometime before leaving. Such mischief workers ought to be looked after and will be if they are not more careful in future.

ALTON.

A most enjoyable and successful song recital was given by Mr. Rechab Tandy, the famous Toronto tenor, in the Congregational Church on Thanksgiving night. Mr. Tandy's selections included sacred, national and patriotic songs and ballads. His singing was characterized by great refinement and splendid expression. His voice is of the pure robust order, full and mellow throughout its extended range, while in the dramatic passages his high notes stirred the audience to great enthusiasm. Many declared they had never heard Mr. Tandy sing with such uniform excellence and power. Most efficient service was given in readings by Mrs. W. A. Dorrington and in recitations by Miss McKenzie, Mr. James Algie contributed two cornet solos in his usual finished and pleasing manner. Miss Lizzie Hill played Mr. Tandy's accompaniments with rare judgment and musical ability. The audience was a large one and most enthusiastic.

Mr. S. P. Thompson and Miss Leila Thompson, of Woodstock, spent over Sunday with Mrs. J. H. Motheral.

The Rev. G. W. Rose, who has been the efficient pastor of the Presbyterian church here for the past three years, has resigned. We wish him success in his new field.

Mr. and Mrs. John Clark left on Tuesday for an extended visit to Powassan.

The Dixie House which has been closed since May 1st., is now occupied by Mr. Storey.

Mr. John Davis, who has been very sick for the past three weeks, we are glad to hear, is improving.

Don't forget to attend the concert to be held in the Presbyterian church on Wednesday evening, Nov. 16th. The programme will consist of readings, soprano and tenor singing and piano solos, given by the famous Sherlock Concert Company, of Toronto. Admission 25 and 15 cents.

Try Motheral, Alton, for school supplies and stationery.

MONO MILLS.

The remains of the late Samuel Lewis, whose death was noted in last week's issue of The Banner, were interred in Mono East burying ground on Thursday, the 3rd inst., on the arrival of the morning train from Owen Sound. Deceased had reached the advanced age of 94 years, and came to Canada from Armagh County, Ireland, when a young man of 25. Until recently he had been a resident of the village living on the old Lewis homestead, now owned and occupied by Mr. James Haffey. Needless to say he had witnessed many changes in his long life here. He was engaged for many years driving the stage coach to and from Toronto with tandem teams before there was any railroad built, and could tell many interesting and varied experiences of those days. He was of a [illegible] and unassuming disposition, a member of the Presbyterian Church, and a [illegible] Conservative in politics. He never married. Rev. W. M. Morris, of Orangeville, conducted the burial services at Mr. Wallace's Undertaking Rooms and at the grave. The pallbearers were Messrs. R. B. Emery and James A. Patterson, of Orangeville, and W. J. Mills, J. A. Wallace, James Haffey and Robt. Arlow, [illegible] chosen by the deceased.

Messrs. Ira Stork, Wellington Darraugh, R. J. Potter and John E. Jackson are away on their annual deer hunt in Muskoka.

Mrs. Ira Stork and children and Miss Jennie Hillock attended the marriage of Miss Gertie Dredge to Mr. Bert Oliver, at Campbellford, on Thanksgiving Day.

Mr. R. H. Duke, of Vancouver, B. C., is home for a short visit. Harry looks fine and is certainly making good in the West.

Mrs. James Ewart and Mrs. Geo. Campbell, of Toronto, are visiting at their former home here.

Mr. Wm. Allen, whose recent loss by fire was noted in The Banner, has purchased the whole property, and will rebuild the barn again next summer.

Mr. Wm. T. Rawn has purchased a new Sawyer and Massey engine.

Mr. Wm. Jackson has been making extensive improvements on his new road to the mill and has now got it in good shape for the fall and winter trade.

The box social held in the English Church hall on Monday night under the auspices of Mono Mills L. O. L. 192 drew a crowded house. The sale of boxes and the selection of partners thereafter created no end of amusement. Mr. Jas. G. Ward, County Master of Dufferin, occupied the chair during the after programme. Interesting addresses were given by the chairman, Mr. Alex. Ferguson, M. P. for South Simcoe, Rev. R. J. W. Perry, our new rector, Mr. R. H. Duke, of Vancouver, B.C., and Mr. Wilson Duke, W.M., of L. O. L. 192. Instrumental music was provided by the Carey family, some capital songs by Mr. E. Moat and a number of recitations by Miss Dunn and Miss Beatrice Duke. The proceeds were about $30.

Large congregations were present at the Harvest Thanksgiving services in St. John's Church on Sunday. At night the edifice was crowded to the doors. Rev. J. E. Gray, late incumbent, conducted the morning service and Rev. R. J. W. Perry occupied the pulpit at night. The new lighting system, which was described somewhat fully in a recent issue of The Banner, gave perfect satisfaction and every person connected with the church has reason to be well pleased with the innovation.

SAVED LIFE OF BROTHER.

By Giving Quart of His Blood—Remarkable Operation at Toronto General Hospital.

How the Amputation of the Leg of Norman Allen Was Avoided.

This afternoon at the General Hospital a number of doctors had presented to them a "recovered patient" who stands unique in the record of medical science in Toronto. Most people have read of the rare and somewhat dangerous operation known as the "transfusion of blood," by which the blood of one person is pumped into the veins of another, but never until the last week has the operation been performed in Toronto. The operation is rare, first because it is not often that there are patients with the peculiar conditions that require such drastic treatment, and second, because it can only be performed when the patient has a friend who is willing to risk his life for him. In this case this sacrifice was offered by the patient's brother, who, knowing the risks and counting the full cost, displayed by his act a fraternal affection as beautiful as any told in story or legend.

The patient was a young man from Sutton, Ont., near Lake Simcoe, named Norman Allen, who while working in an ice house with a chisel bar, the sharp instrument used in chiselling ice, had the misfortune to gash his leg below the knee, severing the main artery and losing a tremendous amount of blood. The wound was treated at the hospital, and for a while the patient seemed to be doing well, but the hemorrhages recurred and his system was so depleted of the vital fluid that his life was despaired of. It looked as if it would be impossible to get the wound in the leg to heal and the surgeons knew that the patient could not afford to lose any more blood on its account. Even the drastic treatment of amputation was precluded because the young man had already had his resistance so lowered that he was not a fit subject for the operation.

So the men of science were in a dilemma, and the patient appeared to have a very slim chance of recovery, indeed. And then, as a last, desperate resource, it was decided to attempt to restore to the devitalized system by the transfusion of enough blood to help him fight his way back to life and health, and that unhampered by the loss of his limb.

A transfusion, as stated, is a very rare and dangerous operation. Its success depends on the most rigid precautions and the finest technique. Briefly, it is carried out by opening the artery of a healthy person, generally the brachial artery of the arm, and leading therefrom a slim pipe to the corresponding artery of the sick man, and, of course, a flow of blood takes place towards the latter. But this simple statement of fact gives no idea of the great difficulties that have to be surmounted. In the first place the opening of a large artery subjects both the healthy and the sick man to grave perils. Infection may take place, and a species of fatal blood poisoning result. Or, in sewing up the wound in the vessel, a stitch may protrude the inner surface of the wall, and then the blood infallibly clots round it, and eventually shuts off the blood supply to the forearm and hand, which, in that case, becomes gangrenous. Furthermore, it is somewhat difficult to tell if the benefactor will survive the loss of the large quantity of blood which must be taken from his system to benefit the patient.

But a younger brother of young Allen decided to take all the risks that his brother might be given at least a fighting chance for his life. So the two were brought down to one of the operating rooms of the hospital and, while a large number—not less than 60 or 70—keenly interested medical men looked on, the operation was performed. Professor Primrose, Register of the Faculty of Medicine, of Toronto University, was in charge, and he was assisted by the most expert men in the big institution. All the most rigid precautions known to exact modern surgical practice were employed to avoid infection of the wounds. Both arms were carefully shaved and bathed and re-bathed in antiseptic and germicidal fluids. The instruments employed had previously been boiled and also subjected to chemical preparation. Every cloth and bandage had been carefully sterilized by heat, so that no germ could remain thereon. The chief surgeon and his assistants wore long white sterilized gowns over their clothes, special caps on their heads, and their mouths were covered with gauze, so that not the slightest taint of disease, actual or potential, should reach the open wound. And, in order that assurance might be made doubly sure, the operator's hands were washed and soaked in germicidal fluids and then kept covered with thin rubber gloves.

A skilled medical man watched the young man who was giving up his blood to his brother, noting the action of his heart the while, that there should be no collapse or disaster. And there, while the scores of men of science looked on with almost bated breath, brother gave up almost a quart of blood to brother, risking disease and death itself that the bond of kinship might be proved indissoluble in this life. And so successful was the operation that the young man who volunteered for operation has left the hospital in good condition, whilst his sick brother seems on the high road to recovery. He will doubtless retain his leg, which, it is interesting to note in this connection, had been prepared for amputation before arrangements had been made for the transfusion of blood.

It is only when some such important operation as that just described is performed that the layman wakes up to the fact that near-miracles are common occurrences in modern surgical practice. And to Harvey must go unlimited praise for the preservering genius which discovered the fact that the heart acts as a great pump forcing blood to circulate to all parts of the system and therefore supplying all its tissues with nutrition.

The Biological Museum of the University of Toronto contains an object which to the uninformed layman or professional appeals merely as so much useless, encumbering lumber. It is just an old, hardwood table, its cover warped and scarred, the legs rickety, the construction poor and entirely inartistic. It dates from away back in the sixteenth century, and its general appearance attests its great age. But antiquity is not sufficient explanation for its presence in the storehouse of scientific objects of interest and value. Nor is it the reason alleged therefor. On that old rickety table were performed in 1615 the very experiments of William Harvey which demonstrated the circulation of the blood in animals, the primary act that made possible the modern transfusion of blood operation.

But since Harvey's days other discoveries quite as marvellous have been made. Simpson, who made practical use of anaesthetics, and Pasteur, whose theories that all diseases are caused by germs, suggested to Lister the idea of antiseptic operations, rank as the greatest benefactors of the age. To understand just what these discoveries mean one has but to think back to a few days ago when a woman was run over by a street car in this city and her two legs badly mangled. Amputation was necessary, but she was too much weakened by loss of blood to be anaesthetised, so the surgeons had to perform the operation as best they could without inducing merciful unconsciousness. The scene was more than the nurses could stand, although they are inured to operations of almost all kinds. And such scenes were common before the discovery and employment of anaesthetics.

Then the practice of antisepsis came to the assistance of the surgeon. That is, they learned by careful preparation and rigid precaution to exclude all chance of germs invading the field of operation and so avoided most of the unpleasant and often fatal complications that generally accompanied the operations of the older surgeons. And that means more than appears on the face of the statement. For instance, at one time suppuration was regarded as almost a necessary accompaniment of operation. Now, many of the vital organs of the system are contained in the abdomen, which on the inner aspect of its wall is covered with a thin membrane, the petiyoneum. The surgeons early learned that suppuration was fatal to a patient if it involved this membrane. Hence, until the practice of antisepsis was introduced, they dared not operate on the abdomen, which meant that many affections, which of themselves or in their early stages were comparatively non-malignant, were allowed to go on unchecked or to involve other more vital structures, and finally cause death. Now, of course, the abdomen is as accessible to operation as any other part of the body.

It is doubtful if those who so strongly decry the practice of vivisection fully understand the amount of benefit it has brought to suffering humanity. It was by means of experiments on animals that workers at the Rockefeller Institute in New York fully established the possibility and the benefits of transfusion of blood. In the same manner it was learned that organs could be transplanted not only from one animal to another of the same species, but from one animal to another of an entirely different species, something that at one time was regarded as a physiological impossibility. So at this stage of surgical knowledge, a kidney can be successfully transplanted from a hog to a man, blood vessels can be removed from a dog and grafted into the human body, and the bone from the leg of a rabbit has been found to accommodate itself nicely to its new position in the leg of a man.

All this is wonderful enough in all conscience, but it does not recount the climax of the surgeon's achievements. Some of them almost savor of the restoration of life to the dead. After all other efforts to revive the unconscious and apparently defunct have failed, the surgeon does not hesitate to make an incision by which he can reach the heart and by massage cause it to resume its normal function.

Not so very long ago a patient with cancer of the stomach was regarded as doomed to lingering, agonizing death. This fell disease is still incurable, but the surgeon does not hesitate to eradicate it by operation, and numbers of cases are on record of persons who have had their stomach removed because of cancer, and who have made rapid and permanent recovery therefrom.

The casual visitor to an operation theatre is puzzled by mysterious figures generally placed on a small blackboard within sight of the attendant nurses. These always bear reference to the number of sponges, instruments, and other appliances used in connection with an operation, for, be it known, patients have on more than one occasion been removed from the table with more than the ordinary, normal contents within their body cavities. Mr. Dooley humorously relates that Mr. Hennessey after an operation jingled like a carpenter's tool chest when he moved, and that when he was reopened they discovered a whole assortment of hardware within him. So before the wound is sewn up the nurses carefully check everything that has been used. Some surgeons make it a practice to fasten all instruments to the receptacle in which they are kept by a long tape so that they cannot possibly be mislaid.

This much is certain, the science of surgery has become so exact that the patient of to-day enjoys an immunity from fatality that two generations ago would have been regarded as an entire impossibility.—Toronto Daily Star, Wednesday, November 3rd.

MARRIED TOO YOUNG.

There should be a law preventing the marriage of girls under 20 years of age, for where one is happy when married at 17 nine are rendered miserable for the rest of their lives. The story of these latter is told in almost every police court of the land, for it would appear that nine out of every ten fool marriages are comprised of girls married when on the sunny side of 20. How can it be otherwise, when a girl knows so little of life—of men—at that early age, when she is all impression and romance, the glamor of which is so often rudely dispelled within a few months of marriage, with the result that thereafter is misery.

The inexperience of the young girls, too, so often leads to wretchedness of the worst kind, and a case in point is reported only recently by the press of a large city in Ontario. It ought to serve as an object lesson to giddy girls not to be in a hurry to throw off sweet girlhood. Let the woman tell her own story:

Although needing extra nourishment while nursing her four months old child, the husband had provided nothing for her to eat except bread and tea. He never permitted her to have any money and had forbidden her to buy any food at the grocery store. Her strength failed on the scanty diet until she was not able to nurse her baby any longer and she had attempted tp keep life in the little body by feeding it half a biscuit softened with water and sweetened with a little sugar.

The baby continued to fail. The man refused to get a doctor and also refused to get a bottle for the baby. He also had stopped the milkman from coming. He said he could not afford milk. The wife said he had not provided her with any underclothing and that both she and the baby were insufficiently clothed.

When the baby would cry in the night the man would shake it and stick his fingers down its throat to stop the sound. He did not drink, she said, but treated her cruelly.

Neighbors had heard her screams the night before the man was arrested. She had screamed because he had kicked her cruelly, and had pinched her until her face was swollen. Through the conduct of her husband her own life and life of the baby had been endangered. Neighbors had notified Inspector Sanders of the Charities Organization and Humane Society.

Now Cured of Rheumatism

Mr. James Clark, Maidstone, Sask., writes: "I suffered for four years with rheumatism in my shoulders and could not lift my arms above the head. I tried nearly all the advertised remedies but none of them gave me relief. It cost me at least $100.00 for medicines before I used Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills.

"With the use of this medicine, I soon found relief. I followed up this treatment for six months and was then quite free from rheumatism. While using Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills I also used Dr. Chase's Backache Plaster when so stiff that I could scarcely bend. They always found the weak spot and gave relief while the internal treatment was bringing about a thorough cure."

The success of Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills has been phenomenal. One pill a dose, 25 cents a box, at all dealers or Edmanson, Bates & Co., Toronto. Dr. Chase's Recipes will be sent free on request.

Two Minute Talks About

PANDORA RANGE

for Coal or Wood

Its Long Life

THE Pandora Range is for those who desire to make a permanent investment. The high quality of the materials and the superior method of construction assure long life.

The Body of the Pandora is very heavy. The Rods and Bolts are on the outside where they cannot burn or rust out. The Expansion Rings of the cooking section provide ample allowance for extreme expansion and contraction and eliminate the possibility of the metal cracking.

The Cooking Top is Burnished which toughens the surface of the metal and increases its strength. McClary Oil Cement is used between the joints. Unlike cheap, ordinary cement, it will not dry out and need replacing. The Nickelling will not tarnish and is many times more durable than the single coat of nickel on ordinary ranges.

The Semi-Steel Fire Box Linings are twenty per cent. heavier than cast or gray iron linings. Sulphur fumes, so destructive to cast iron, cannot penetrate the hard, smooth as glass surface of Semi-Steel. The Grates have Three Faces, which allows the wear to be distributed on three sides, insuring triple durability.

If you want a range of guaranteed quality get the Pandora. It's built to give you lasting service.

WHERE EDUCATION FAILS

By the Editor—(From Canadian Courier).

Last Sunday I attended a church in a country town—for I had joined the migration from the big city and had gone "home" for Thanksgiving. The hymns and the general service was much the same as when I was a Sunday School scholar in that same congregation more than a quarter of a century ago. There were the same fathers and mothers—not all, of course, for there were some vacant seats. Those whom I remembered did not seem to have changed much, for what matters a few more wrinkles and a shade greyer hair? But what struck me most forcibly was the limited number of people between twenty and forty years of age. Eliminate the visitors, and the rest were under twenty or over forty.

And I was led to wonder why these people were content to let their young folk go away to the big cities to work and marry, and to add to the city's population. Here were a number of people, owning property which was growing slowly but surely less valuable, because the population of the town was dwindling. And not only was their property getting less valuable, but the social life of the town was becoming less attractive, and things generally were showing retrograde rather than advancing progress. Yet these people seemed to have no pangs of regret, no ambition to stay the exodus, no visible desire to build up the community as thousands of newer communities in the West are being built up. In other words, the community itself seemed like an aged man sitting in an easy chair by the kitchen stove calmly awaiting that inevitable dissolution which comes to all men sooner or later.

The pathos of it all appealed to me in a new way. The problem of the Ontario town and village was presented in a new light. What the cause? What the remedy? Who the doctor?

The cause is complex no doubt. Wrong education forms a large element. The High School is perhaps the greatest cause. It is educating the young people out of the towns, teaching them that the professions are accessible, and offer great rewards. The High School teacher is not a native of the place, has little sympathy with its progress or possible future, and is bent only on producing scholars who will shine in the big business college, the Model, and the Normal schools, the colleges and universities. The High School teacher's progress does not correspond with the progress of the town; it depends rather on the success of his pupils at the greater centres of college education. His aim, therefore, is to drive the young men and the young women out of town.

These thoughts led me to wonder if the High School should be abolished, or simply reformed. Abolition is impossible perhaps, but reform should be easy. The trustee board might begin by saying to the teachers: "Now gentlemen, we desire you to inculcate into every pupil in your school that it is his business to so educate himself that he will help the town and the county to become bigger and greater. Your courses of study must be such that our young men and women are fitted to take part in the activities of this town, and not in the activities of the big city. You will be held responsible for the young people you drive out of town." The teachers would probably think the trustees were crazy, but it would lead to a valuable discussion.

Dr. Robertson, in his address to the Y.M.C.A. convention in Toronto last week, said that education should include three departments—domestic science for the women, who managed the homes; nature study for the farmers, miners, fishermen, foresters, and men in towns; and manual training for men in industrial life. This in brief is my idea. Why should any county support three High Schools which exist for the purpose of taking the country's best young folk and sending them away to help build up other communities? Still it is true that the High Schools of Ontario, except in a few of the wiser cities, are simply depleting the rural communities of their finest human products.

Other reforms might also be made. Changing the spirit of High School education is not the only remedy. The spirit of the people must be changed. They must believe in their town and county and possess a determination to build it up. The man who buys a dozen farms, dispossesses them of people and populates them with sheep or cattle only is a man who must be fought. The man who refuses to lend his capital to enterprise and will invest only in first mortgages is another person who should be taught a lesson. The retired farmer who goes to live in a small town and votes down every suggested improvement and development must be educated to better sense.

The growth of the small towns in Ontario depends upon the growth of local industries. The men in the towns can do much to assist farmers and in encouraging them to adopt such methods as will employ more people and market more products. The great factors here are good local markets for all sorts of farm products and first-class facilities for shipping.

The growth of local industries depends on local patriotism, shipping facilities, supply of labour, and a first-class board of trade. When local patriotism dies, the town begins to fade away. When the board of trade ceases to find work to do, the town is doomed. Ten righteous men would have saved Sodom; ten determined, broad-minded, patriotic men can save any one of the moribund towns and villages of Ontario.

Not many years ago I was speaking to an audience in the famous fruit valley of Nova Scotia, the Land of Evangeline, and I pointed out as best I could that to my mind Nova Scotia was backward only because her young men were not encouraged to stay at home. They were educated to believe that success could be won only by going to Boston or some other New England city. A lady came to me after the meeting and thanked me for my criticism, saying that it came home to her, because she had six brothers in the United States.

Yet to-day rural Ontario is getting into much the same condition as rural Nova Scotia. The farming population is not growing as it should, and many of the rural schools have only half the pupils they once had. The young men have gone to Toronto, or Buffalo or Detroit, or to the great Canadian West. Is rural Ontario content to be the breeding-place, and the schoolhouse for a few large cities or for the newer provinces? Is rural Ontario willing to pass through the depressing stages which have marked the recent history of the agricultural sections of the New England States and of New York State? Surely not. Yet this is likely to occur unless the government of Ontario and the business men of the smaller towns waken up and take measures to prevent it. It is time to cry "Wake Up, Ontario."

Few will deny that there is more money to be made in agriculture in Ontario to-day that at any other stage in the history of the province. There are also fewer privations and more pleasures. The Agricultural College has helped, and there has been a general advance in all farming methods. All that Ontario requires now is that the young men shall be taught to stay on the farm. Abolishing the present High School and establishing agricultural High Schools would accomplish much. A few years ago there was a burst of enthusiasm about teaching agriculture in the rural schools, and at least two text books are to be found upon the bargain tables, a mute tribute to a short-lived provincial ambition. It is hard to say who should be hanged for this crime, the writers of the text books, the Minister of Education, or the public school inspectors. There is a culprit somewhere. If the Ontario Agricultural College is the stumbling-block, abolish it and use the money to establish the teaching of agriculture in rural schools. Transfer the experiment plots to the centre of every township, and bring this sort of education to the farmer instead of asking him to go to Guelph for it. At any rate, let us do something to save the situation.

Build up the agricultural communities, keeping the farming population of every township growing and the first step will be taken toward building up the declining towns and villages. The next step will be to make the towns and villages help themselves in other ways. Perhaps it might be wise to have a Provincial Board of Trade, presided over by a Cabinet minister, to whom any discontented and discouraged town or village could go for advice and assistance. It could maintain a staff of experts, who were well up in industrial and commercial possibilities, and these could be sent out to give expert advice as to the methods best suited to each community. One town might be advised to put in a huge cheese factory, another a butter factory and so on.

The other day, I bought some apples in a Toronto grocery store which had come all the way across the continent from Washington Territory. United States apples from a Pacific coast state selling in Toronto stores in competition with apples grown in the greatest, or what should be the greatest, apple province in North America—think of it. I asked the grocer why. "Honest selection, scientific packing, and co-operative selling," was the answer.

What value has education for the farmer and the villager if it unfits him to compete with producers and packers two thousand five hundred miles away? What value has physics and trigonometry and algebra and geometry if they do not fit us to take from nature that which she is prepared to give us if we have but common sense?

GOOD HEALTH FOR YOUNG GIRLS.

What Is Needed Is The Rich, Red Blood Dr. Williams' Pink Pills Actually Make.

Perhaps you have already noticed that your daughter in her "teens" has developed a fitful temper, is restless and excitable. In that case remember that the march of years is leading her on to womanhood, and at this time a great responsibility rests upon you as parents. If your daughter is pale, complains of weakness and depression, feels "all tired out" after a little exertion; if she tells of headaches, or backaches, or pain in the side, do not disregard these warnings. Your daughter needs help for she is most probably anaemic—that is, bloodless.

Should you notice any of these signs, lose no time, but procure Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, for her unhealthy girlhood is bound to lead to unhealthy womanhood. Dr. Williams' Pink Pills enrich impoverished blood and by doing so they repair waste and prevent disease. They give to sickly, drooping girls, health, brightness and charm, with color in the cheeks, bright eyes, a lightness of step and high spirits. A case typical of thousands cured through the use of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills is that of Miss Grace Cunningham, Winnipeg, Man., who says: "I really cannot say enough in praise of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, as they have made me feel like a new girl. I was pale and almost bloodless and think that on an average I missed at least three school sessions a week, because I felt like a broken down person, and too weak to do anything. The doctor's medicine I took did little more than keep me in hope; it certainly did not cure me. Then I was advised to take Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, and they soon made me feel like a new person. Day by day I gained strength and color, and I have your medicine to thank for it."

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills are sold by all medicine dealers or may be had by mail at 50 cents a box or six boxes for $2.50 from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

BABIES' SORES IN WINTER

Mothers Should Know About Zam-Buk.

Every mother should realize that the skin of her baby is so tender that the secretions of the body often lead to rashes, eruptions, etc., all of which may be removed by Zam-Buk. Scores of restless, crying babies, upon examination are found to be suffering from some form of skin irritation or "heat." Don't let baby suffer when Zam-Buk will cure!

Often, too, in winter, the little ones suffer from chaps on the chin, hands, or other parts of the body. Zam-Buk applied after the bath, and at intervals during the day, will prevent all trouble.

Mrs. L. Wood, of 475 Alexander Avenue, Winnipeg, says: "I have proved the value of Zam-Buk when applied to children's sores. Some nasty sores broke out around my baby's mouth, and despite all the preparations used, they refused to heal. I took him to St. Boniface Hospital and he remained there for two weeks. At the end of that time he was no better, and we again took him home. I was then advised to try Zam-Buk and obtained a supply. The effect of the first few applications was very gratifying, and a little perseverance resulted in a complete cure."

Zam-Buk will also be found a sure cure for cold sores, chapped hands, frost bites, ulcers, eczema, blood-poison, varicose sores, piles, scalp sores, ringworm, inflamed patches, babies' eruptions and chapped places, cuts, burns, bruises, and skin injuries generally. All druggists and stores sell at 50c. box, or post free from Zam-Buk Co., Toronto, upon receipt of price. You are warned against harmful imitations and substitutes. See the registered name "Zam-Buk" on every package before buying.

CURING CATARRH.

Accept Our Advice and Try This Remedy at Our Risk.

Catarrh is a disease of the mucous membrane. The mucous membrane is, one may say, the interior lining of the body. Catarrh therefore may exist in any part of the system.

When the catarrhal poison attacks the mucous membrane, inflammation and congestion are produced and nature fails to throw off the accumulated poisons. The organ, which has been afflicted, ceases to perform its proper function as nature intended it should. The result is, complication upon complication, which may lead to other even more serious afflictions.

We honestly believe Rexall Mucu-Tone will do wonders toward overcoming catarrh. It is made from the prescription of an eminent physician who made a long study of catarrh, and his great success with this remedy was an enviable one.

We want you if you are a sufferer from catarrh in any form, to give Rexall Mucu-Tone a thorough trial. Use it with regularity and persistency for a reasonable time, then if you are not satisfied come back and tell us, and without question or formality we will hand back to you every cent you paid us. This is certainly the fairest offer that any one could make and should attest our sincerity of purpose. It comes in two sizes, prices 50 cents and $1.00. Remember you can obtain it only at—The Rexall Store.—T. F. & T. J. Brown, Orangeville.

PETE'S PIONEERS.

Are Making Rapid Headway on Power Dam at Horning's Mills.

Our Correspondent Dilates on Thanksgiving and Hallowe'en Festivities.

Pete Edwards' Camp,
Horning's Mills, Nov. 8, 1910.

To the Editor,—

Should the wandering Jew take a trip through this territory at this particular time he would probably think that he had come upon an army frantically preparing to repulse an attack by throwing up earthworks, digging trenches, and laying mines, and the occasional roar of a heavy charge of dynamite would lend color to his fancy; nor would his seven-league boots come amiss could he content himself with a shovel in the lower diggings, for be it known that while the big banks must go up over 50 feet, the foundations of the same must be built up from the solid clay, which lies some 15 or 20 feet below the daisies. But the work goes bravely on. While one brigade is delving, another is piling up the earth, and of a verity there has been a great change in the appearance of things hereabouts during the past ten days. Jack Frost, by his occasional nocturnal visits, has sharpened up man and beast, and this rather rugged section of Mulmur township is being ruthlessly and rapidly scored, scarred and shivered to provide light and power for the present and future generations. Pete's pioneers will certainly leave a permanent "monument' among the hills and dales.

Heretofore emphasis has been laid upon the work of building the big embankment, but it must not be thought that the dam is the only or even the most difficult part of this huge undertaking. The construction of the power-house, with its foundations, 16 feet below the surface, and a flume 32 inches in diameter and 1,600 feet in length, will take some little time, considerable capital and much hard labor, but it is all on the card and the programme will be carried out in its entirety. Figures and details are rather tiresome, but it may be taken for granted that the most modern machinery will be installed and the latest plans followed by the Dufferin Light and Power Company. To checkmate Johnny Frost the whole force was detailed for duty on the pipe line last week, and the way it threw timber, cut down elevations (some 20 feet) and levelled up gulleys speaks well for the muscle of the men and the energy of the overseer and ensures a good job completed in good time. The steel ends and the wooden staves for the centre of the big tube are now on the ground and the work will go steadily forward. Winter weather will not interfere with work on the power-house site.

Though we have had a few snow flurries, the weather continues favorable, even 'lovely,' the frost not yet being severe enough to interfere with operations. In camp all is serene, quiet and harmonious, the dove of peace perched on the mantle-piece in the drawing-room cooing alike to Irish Paddy, Scotch Sandy and Canadian Johnny. The rules for personal conduct in camp are very strict and are impartially enforced by Mr. Edwards. Profane language, loud talk and boisterous conduct are absolutely prohibited. Every man's deportment must be that of a high-born lady, otherwise he stands to have his skull cracked with a club. Cigarettes are taboo. The sight of a pick and shovel man with one in his mug and perhaps another behind his lug, was too much even for the natives and a bunch of the dope users was let out without ceremony. The English language still prevails here, the only Dutchman in the party having recently taken his departure.

The festivities in connection with Thanksgiving Day came off with great eclat. An appropriate service was held on an adjacent hillside, the camp choir singing "Any old place I hang my hat is good enough for me" accompanied by the music of a battery of wheel-scrapers, and some of the boys ate so much turkey that they went to roost in a hemlock tree at sundown, while those who partook of chicken are crowing yet and may be heard any morning about two of the clock. Hallowe'en was celebrated in a joyous and gentlemanly manner. The bungalow and the lawn were electrically illuminated, three fiddles, a concertina, an accordeon, and a kettle-drum furnished the music, the elite of the township was represented and for five hours the fun was fast and furious. A prize was offered for the best looking man in the bunch, but the judges decided that they could not conscientiously hand out the chromo. Amid protests they positively refused to give something for nothing. However, beauty does not build big banks, and next morning the boys "got into the collar" as sprightly as ever.

As before intimated, the cold weather puts snap and vim into man and beast and, barring heavy rain, nothing is allowed to interfere with the system in vogue here, and every day sees the big bank more nearly approaching the size and contour desired by the engineers. Pete and his pioneers are confident that, all in good time, a flood of light and power will be turned on the dark spots in Dufferin and adjacent counties.

GLENCROSS.

The young people of Glencross have started a Christian Endeavor. They had their first meeting on Sunday night. We hope that the Society will meet with success.

We understand that Miss Zona Still is taking a course in the Orangeville Business College.

Tom Allen has been back and has threshed out Coulterville with his new McCluskey. The people are well pleased with it, as it is both fast and clean.

Councillor Moffitt must have had a profitable season this year. They have been working three farms and have done most of the good, paying road jobs in this division. It evidently pays to be a Councillor.

Mr. Will Price has rented the Bell farm and James McKibben is going to the Jeffers homestead.

Mr. A. Still is still travelling east. Keep your eye on the star and be not afraid.

Hazel nuts must be a good crop on the 4th line this season. Alex. Ross has been down it pretty often this fall.

We wonder what Bill Hicks is around the Corner so much for? There are no shingles to pack now.

YOUNG PEOPLE'S SOCIETY.

An address by Miss Sprague, a graduate nurse who spent last year in the Wakaw hospital and mission in Saskatchewan, was an interesting feature of the young people's meeting in St. Andrew's Church Monday night. The young lady, who is a clever and entertaining speaker, is a cousin of Mrs. A. Henderson, whose guest she was while in town. Mr. Ross, representing the Knox College Students Missionary Society, also addressed the meeting. The musical programme consisted of solos by Mr. S. R. Frost, and a quartette by Misses Harshaw, McKenney and E. and M. Huston. The meeting was well attended.

BAPTIST CHURCH.

Next Sunday morning Rev. Mr. Davies will speak on "The Divine Attributes," and Mr. E. A. Warren will render one of his choice solos. In the evening a special service of song will be held, when solos, duets, choruses and gospel hymns will be rendered, and the pastor will give a short address on "The Sweetest Message in the World."

You are going to be able to buy your drugs and drug store goods as cheaply at home this season as in the larger cities. We buy in large quantities. The manufacturers and wholesale houses give us bigger discounts for doing so. You reap the benefit. Remember, we underbuy and undersell any other drug store in the county. So it makes no difference what article you may see advertised by any of our competitors, that same article can be purchased at Brown's Cut Rate Drug Store for less money.

MRS. DANIEL McBRIDE.

Mrs. Daniel McBride, an old and greatly respected resident of this town, passed away at the home of her son, John McBride, in Winnipeg, on Tuesday of last week at the ripe age of 70 years and 6 months. Mrs. McBride had been living in Winnipeg for 18 months. Her illness, which was due to an internal malady, began about five months ago. Deceased lady was born in Chinguacousy township, being a daughter of Mr. John Beatty, one of the early residents. Mr. McBride moved from Cheltenham to Orangeville about forty years ago and followed the trade of carpenter here for many years. He died in August, 1907 and since then his widow has made her home with members of their family. Four sons and a daughter survive, namely, John McBride, Winnipeg; Robert, Sault Ste. Marie; Albert, St. Thomas; George and Mrs. W. Blakey, Toronto. The remains were brought to her home town for burial, the funeral taking place from Wallace's Undertaking Rooms to the Forest Lawn cemetery on Friday afternoon. In the absence of Rev. W. M. Morris, Rev. Dr. Harper, pastor of the Methodist Church, conducted the services.

THE LATE SAMUEL LEWIS.

The late Samuel Lewis, whose death in Owen Sound on Tuesday of last week was briefly referred to in our last issue, was a native of Armagh County, Ireland, whence he emigrated to Canada when about twenty years of age. After a short residence with his uncle, Rev. Alexander Lewis, on a farm adjoining the village of Mono Mills, he learned the trade of tanning and worked at Mono Mills and at Toronto in Edward Pease's tannery. Returning to Mono for a number of years he drove the stage from Mono Mills to Toronto and later when the Northern Railway was built drove to the nearest station on that line. When the Toronto, Grey & Bruce railway was built, he drove stage for his cousin, the late ex-Conductor William Lewis, between Mono Mills and Orangeville. Retiring afterwards to his farm, he resided there until seven years ago, when he moved to Owen Sound with Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Wilson. Mrs. Wilson is a niece. The deceased was unmarried, a member of the Presbyterian Church and a staunch Liberal-Conservative. The remains were brought to Orangeville for burial, the funeral taking place from Wallace's Undertaking Rooms to Mono East Cemetery last Thursday forenoon.

JAMES WIGGINS.

It becomes the sad duty of the editor of the Times to chronicle the death of one of Longmont's most respected and most useful citizens. In the death of James Wiggins, this city and section has lost a man who was active in the advancement of all of the material affairs of city and community. He was for years a member of the city council where he labored for the proper administration of the municipal laws and the building of a city out of a small colony town.

His occupation was that of a designer and builder of houses. He was really an architect, though confining his work, in that line, to the needs in his own work. The many public and private structures in this city are monuments to his skill. He will remain long in the kindly remembrance of the people of Longmont.

Mr. Wiggins was born in Innisfillen, Simcoe county, Canada, October 6, 1851. He married Miss Frances May, of Orangeville, Ontario, October 8, 1872, and from his union there were born six children: Oliver, May, Harry, Frank, Gillman and Mary. Oliver died in Longmont four years ago next month. May, as Mrs. Fenton S. Beckwith; Mary, as Mrs. Dale Williamson; Frank and Gillman all reside in or near Longmont. Harry is a resident of Denver.

Mr. Wiggins, with his family, came to Longmont twenty-six years ago.

The funeral services were held this afternoon from the home on Emery street, at 2 o'clock, under the auspices of the Masons, and the remains were laid to rest in the Longmont cemetery.—Longmont, Colorado Times.

Mr. Wiggins was a native of Orangeville, but left here 26 years ago. Joshua Wiggins, this town, and Wm. Wiggins, Toronto, are brothers, W. J. May, West Toronto, and Isaac May, East Garafraxa, brothers-in-law, and Mrs. John Bailey, this town, and Mrs. Thos. Rice, Malone, N.Y., sisters-in-law.

A PRESENTATION.

A happy event took place in the Central Rooms in Rosemont on Wednesday, Nov. 2nd, when the children of the Sabbath School and the members of the Women's Auxiliary of St. Luke's Church presented Mrs. (Dr.) Island with addresses expressive of their esteem and the general regret with which her removal from the village is regarded. The addresses read as follows :—

Rosemont, Nov. 2nd, 1910.

Mrs. S. J. Island.

Our Dear Teacher,—We are very sorry that you are going away and will not be able to teach our Class any more. We wish you could stay with us, for you have always been so kind. The Sunday School will seem different without you. But since you must go, we ask you to accept this W. A. pin as a parting gift. With it we give our love and best wishes.

Ever Lovingly,
Your Sunday School Scholars.

Kathleen Armstrong.

Rosemont, Nov. 2nd, 1910.

To our valued friend and esteemed President of the Women's Auxiliary, Mrs. S. J. Island :—

We, the members of St. Luke's W. A., on behalf of ourselves and representing the entire congregation of St. Luke's church, desire to express our appreciation of your friendship during the years you have lived in this vicinity. As one of the charter members of our Auxiliary and as Secretary for several years, you have contributed largely to the success of our work. Years of service in a common cause have made your life so much a part of our work that we shall always remember you. May the blessing of God rest upon you at all times.

May we ask you to please accept from us a life membership in the W. A. We give it as a token of our regard and in the hope that it may serve as a tie to bind our hearts in Christian love.

Faithfully yours,
On behalf of St. Luke's W. A.
Mrs. Joseph Murphy,
Aggie McDowell,
Secretary.

The children's address was read by Master Willie Whitworth, and the address from the Auxiliary by the Secretary, Miss McDowell. Rev. J. N. Blodgett, rector of St. Luke's, made a fitting reply in behalf of the recipient. Mrs. Island also responded briefly, expressing her heartfelt thanks to the children and ladies for their unexpected kindness and saying that she felt her unworthiness of the great honor they had done her.

ADDRESS TO TEACHER.

An interesting and enjoyable entertainment was held in the school house of S. S. No. 10, Melancthon, on Thursday evening, Oct. 27th, at which the teacher of the school, Miss Banks, who resigned a short time ago to take charge of Mono College school, north of Orangeville, was presented with a silver tea set and water set, accompanied by an appropriate and eulogistic address. The presentation was made after a short concert programme had been given, a box social being held afterwards. The address which was read by Miss Mabel Ireland, was as follows :—

To Miss Banks :

Dear Teacher—We, your pupils, have taken advantage of this occasion to express to you our sincere and hearty appreciation of the excellent work rendered by you as the teacher of this school. Your efforts have been kind, painstaking, and unceasing. You chief aim, being the advancement of your pupils, has been carried out honorably, as shown by the high standing taken by them during the years you have been with us. The keen interest and loving manner, which you have exerted towards us at all times, has endeared you to the hearts of all, and in parting with you we feel a loss which we know can never be replaced. We ask you to accept this silver tea set and water set, not as a recompense, for we believe the consciousness of having done your duty will be your reward, but as an expression more easily referred to than expressed. We hope that your future may contain much of that which is brightest and best in life, and we assure you of our good wishes.

Signed on behalf of the school.
Nellie Gray,
Laura Hayes,
Velda Hammond,
Mossie Ireland.

Miss Banks made a feeling reply. She said that during the eight years she had taught in the school she had won many warm friends, and had no complaint to make against any of her pupils, or any of the parents or trustees, and this made the parting more harder to bear.

MR. & MRS. GALE

The Latest Sensation

Mr. and Mrs. Gale will appear in the TOWN HALL,

ORANGEVILLE

—ON—

Thursday, Nov. 17th., 1910

No words or pictures can adequately set forth the charm of an entertainment that is unique and picturesque, with a combination of lecture, story, song, and instrumental music, unlike anything else on the platform.

ADMISSION : 25c. & 35c.

Plan of the Hall will open at Brown's Drug Store Tuesday, Nov. 15th, at 9 a.m.

We hope all public spirited citizens will turn out and help the Charity Society in its plan to renovate our Town Hall.

Many dope fiends contracted the drug habit in the cradle

Certain dangerous drugs were given to them in their baby days in the form of "Soothing Syrups," "colic cures" and "infants' friends." The harmful effect of "soothers" containing opium, morphine, chloroform, chloral, etc., cannot be too strongly stated. Do not give baby a "soother" unless you positively must. Then give it and rest contented. Nyal's Soothing Syrup contains no opiates. It induces natural, healthy sleep—gives immediate relief to baby, calming the mother's tired nerves—does not put on soft, flabby flesh, making the little folks easy victims of childish diseases.

Nyal's

We wouldn't think of recommending Nyal's Soothing Syrup if we were not certain of its beneficial effects.

Anything you buy with the name Nyal's will give you entire satisfaction.

HORSE TOOK FRIGHT.

On Sunday evening as Mr. James Irwin, 6th line, east, Mono, accompanied by his wife and Miss Foster was on his way to church, his horse took fright at a man walking along the road. The pedestrian tried to seize the startled animal by the bridle, but only succeeded in further frightening it. Mr. Irwin found himself unable to control the thoroughly aroused equine. Mrs. Irwin jumped from the rig and had the good fortune to escape with several bruises. Mr. Irwin was thrown out and dragged some distance, but got off with several severe bruises and a bad shaking up. Miss Foster, the third occupant of the buggy, was also thrown out, but escaped uninjured. The horse, after upsetting the buggy rounded the 7th line corner at a mad pace and was found sometime later at the foot of the Nottawa hill, entangled among some stumps. The buggy was badly smashed, but the occupants have reason to consider themselves fortunate in escaping lightly.

THE GUNPOWDER PLOT.

A Fowl Supper was given by the members of Prince of Wales L. O. L. 320 in their hall on Friday night to commemorate the Discovery of the historic Gunpowder Plot. The place was crowded to overflowing with Orangemen, their wives, sisters and friends. After justice had been done to the excellent menu provided and served by the ladies, Deputy-Reeve Hilliard Anderson, Master of the Lodge, took the chair and a short programme of addresses was proceeded with. Rev. W. M. Morris, pastor of St. Andrew's Church, was the chief speaker and his capital address evoked much enthusiasm. Short speeches were also delivered by Messrs. Robt. Reid, B. McGuire, J. A. Marshall and Geo. H. Harshaw. The hall was then cleared and given over to the younger people who enjoyed themselves dancing for two or three hours. Everyone voted the Supper the best yet and the members are already planning to make next year's supper one.

Governor W. L. Wilson, of the Brampton gaol, returned home last week after spending three weeks in Grace Hospital, Toronto, where he underwent a serious operation for the removal of a growth in his throat. Mr. Wilson, we are glad to learn, is now fairly well on the way toward recovery. He is still quite weak from the effects of the operation and his protracted confinement, but his many friends hope to see him around again within a short time.

TITLE HOLDS.

Judgment was given by Mr. Justice Middleton on Friday in the case of W. J. Baldwin, of Aurora, one of the executors of the estate of the late John Jaffary, vs. W. E. Hunter, purchaser of the Jaffary farm. Hunter declined to accept the title and a motion was made by the executors under the Vendors and Purchasers Act for an order declaring that the objection made by Hunter, on the ground that the will of the late James Hunter did not give David Hunter, who sold to Jaffary, an estate in fee simple, did not constitute a valid objection to the title. The Judge held that the restraint imposed on David Hunter under the will was invalid and therefore the objection to the vendors' title fails.

INSTITUTE SOCIAL.

The Marsville Women's Institute will hold a Social in Marsville on Friday evening, November 18th. The programme will consist of a Scarf Drill by twelve young ladies, a play, entitled, "Why We Never Married" by seven old maids and seven old bachelors, choruses by the young people, music by Reading orchestra and duets, recitations and dialogues. Sandwich, cake and coffee will be served after the programme. Mr. Laban Boggs will occupy the chair. Admission, 15 cents.

Farming is a business which requires access to practical business information. This is supplied in the columns of The Farmer's Weekly Sun. The secret of the growing popularity of this paper lies in its untiring devotion to the interests of the farmer. To be posted a farmer must read The Sun. If you are not a reader of The Sun try it for 1911.

TOWN COUNCIL.

At the meeting of the Town Council on Monday night, W. A. Boos presented an account for $559.80, with engineer's certificate attached, for the new cement bridge across the Credit River on East Broadway. The account was handed to the Streets Committee with authority to pay if correct. The Cataract Electric Co. put in two accounts of $195 each for street lighting, but the Council refused to consider them until made out properly. Council holds that the amount Mr. Deagle insists on charging is in excess of his contract. The contract figures out at $192.50 a month. The following accounts were passed:—John Gough, $6.30; Dufferin Post, $40; Geo. King, $15.95; Thos. Campbell, $5.40, $14.55; John Hammond, $40.20; Rich Young, $9.95; Adamson Hardware Co., $5.15; Gillespie Bros., $14.30; Hugh Duke, 50c.; John Cannawin, $1.50; Fred. Manning, $1.50; S. Hughson, $1.50; James Grahame, $24; S. Ewing, 90c.

Messrs E. Bell, Geo. McIntyre, W. T. Bailey and Jos. Pattullo addressed the Council regarding an application from the Superior Cement Co. for permission to run a drain from their plant along the Orangeville-Caledon road allowance to the Credit River. Mr. Bell is opposing the application. The matter is in the hands of a special committee, which will probably report at next meeting. Complaints from T. Stevenson and W. L. Wettlaufer respecting their taxes were referred to the Court of Revision.

ORANGEVILLE PRESBYTERY.

The resignation of Rev. G. W. Rose, pastor of Alton and North Erin Presbyterian Churches, was accepted by Orangeville Presbytery at a meeting in St. Andrew's Church here on Tuesday. The resignation will take effect immediately and Rev. W. M. Morris, who was appointed interim moderator, will declare the pulpit vacant next Sunday. Calls from Mono Mills, Mono East and Adjala to Rev. J. R. Black, of Massie, in Owen Sound Presbytery, and from Camilla and Mono Centre to Rev. A. J. Fowlie, of Waubaushene, Presbytery of Barrie, were approved and will be transmitted to the interested Presbyteries in the usual manner. Should the two ministers accept they will probably be inducted into their new charges about December 1st. The meeting was marked by a lively and interesting discussion on the subject of church union. According to a remit sent down from the General Assembly the question of Union must be dealt with by the Presbyteries some time this winter. They are asked either to approve or express their disapproval of the documents agreed upon by the Joint Committee on Union as a basis upon which the Presbyterian Church may unite with the other negotiating churches. Rev. Hugh Matheson, of Caledon East, led the debate and made a strong speech in favor of Union. He was followed by Rev. Dr. McKenzie, of Shelburne, who upheld the principle of federation as a step preparatory to a full union. Many of the members spoke on the subject, which all realized was probably the most important the Presbytery has ever had to deal with. The debate was eventually adjourned until the January meeting.

BLOUNT INSTITUTE.

Blount Branch of the Women's Institute held a very successful meeting at the home of Mrs. W. Island on November 3rd. Mrs. Crombie gave a very instructive paper on the "Proper Preparation of Winter Clothing." Mrs. McKim a talk on "Suitable Clothes for the Country Woman," and Miss Garvey a humorous Irish reading.

MONEY TALKS.

The charge of wounding preferred by the Crown against George Swain, a Grand Valley hotelkeeper, was settled on Saturday for a money consideration. Swain struck Samuel Still over the head with a beer bottle on Grand Valley fair day, injuring him so seriously that he was confined to his house for two weeks under the doctor's care. The local authorities considered the matter so serious that they took immediate steps to have a warrant issued for Swain's arrest. He was subsequently released under heavy bail. The case was to have been tried by Police Magistrate Pattullo on Saturday, but when the hour fixed for the trial arrived it was learned that County Crown Attorney McKay had consented to a money settlement. Swain agreed to pay Still $150 and assume responsibility for the costs, which were about $30.

REPORT INCORRECT.

A report reached town last week that Reeve Dynes, of Mono, had been badly injured while threshing near Francis, Saskatchewan. The stories of the accident were vague and conflicting. One of the most startling was that he had died from his injuries and the body was on its way to his home here. Mr. Geo. H. Harshaw, Clerk of Mono, telegraphed to Mr. Dynes' father, Mr. Wm. Dynes, of Francis, Sask., for particulars. On Tuesday he received a letter from Mr. Dynes himself saying that he was quite well again and expected to be home on or before November 18th. In his letter Mr. Dynes said he had been off work for ten days, but said nothing about an accident. He stated, however, that he had just about recovered. This would indicate that he has either been ill or injured in some manner. The news that he is now well again will be a relief to his many friends and constituents in this county.

"DAD, HERE'S TO YOU."

We happened in a home the other night, and over the parlor door saw the legend worked in letters of red, "What is Home Without a Mother!" Across the room was another brief, "God Bless Our Home."

Now, what's the matter with "God bless our Dad." He gets up early, lights the fire, boils an egg, and wipes off the dew of the lawn with his boots while many a mother is sleeping. He makes the weekly hand out for the Butcher, the Grocer, the Milkman and the Baker, and his little pile is badly worn before he has been home an hour.

If there is a noise in the night Dad is kicked in the back, and made to go downstairs and find the burglar and kill him. Mother darns the socks, but Dad bought the socks in the first place and the needles, and the yarn afterwards. Mother does up the fruit; Dad bought it all, and jars and sugar cost like the mischief.

Dad buys the chickens for Sunday dinner, serves them himself and draws the neck from the ruins after everyone else is served. "What is Home Without a Mother!" Yes, that's alright; but what is home without a father? Ten chances to one it's a boarding house. Father is under a slab, and the landlady is the widow. Dad, here's to you— you've got your faults—you may have lots of 'em—but you're all right, and we'll miss you when you're gone. — South Alberta Courier.

PEEL FALL ASSIZES.

George Barker on Trial For Manslaughter, Was Discharged.

John Wilson, of Kilmanagh, Will Go To Central Prison For Nine Months.

The fall assizes opened here on Tuesday. There were two criminal cases and four civil cases on the docket. Mr. Justice Riddell presided. He made a record on the first day, opening the proceedings sharp at one o'clock and sitting until eleven that same night, in which time he disposed of two criminal cases and two of the civil actions.

The grand jury was composed of N. V. Watson, foreman, Henry Bracken, James Barber, George Cavan, James Curry, Henry Schooley, E. D. Goodison, N. G. Henderson, J. H. Moffatt, John Pexton, E. T. Stork, Robert A. Shaw, Arthur Wiggins.

The Jury's presentment read:—

To His Lordship, Mr. Justice Riddell:

We, the Grand Jury assembled at this sessions of the court, beg to present as follows:—

We wish in the first place to thank Your Lordship for your very kind and instructive address to the Grand Jury.

We also wish to congratulate the county on the fact that although the cases brought before us were of a very serious nature they were not numerous and we believe the County of Peel will compare favorably with other portions of the province in the small amount of crime committed within its borders.

We visited the gaol and the House of Refuge, and are pleased to say that we found both of these institutions in a clean, well ventilated and sanitary condition. We would recommend that a telephone be placed in the gaol.

We were very pleased to note the improvements that have been made in the offices of the Clerk of the Surrogate Court and County Crown Attorney, and also the School Inspector's office and would recommend that the improvement be extended to the other offices in the Court House, also that a water closet and bath be placed in the basement for the use of the caretaker and his family.

We would recommend that a suitable flag be purchased for the flag pole on the grounds as the one now in use is very small and shabby looking.

We would also recommend that the County Council take into consideration the matter of building a concrete wall on the west side of the river in front of the county buildings, similar to the one on the east side.

There is another matter which we wish to bring to your Lordship's attention. The grand jury found that the closet and wash room on the main floor were locked and wish to know if the jurors and witnesses are to be excluded from same. If such is the case we would recommend that another closet and wash room be placed in the building for those attending court.

All of which is respectfully submitted.

NICHOLAS V. WATSON

Crown vs. Barker.

The first case was the trial of George Barker for manslaughter. It will be remembered that an Irishman named Michael Mangle was killed in a quarrel with Barker in the St. Lawrence Starch Factory last summer. Mangle used a vile epithet to Barker who struck him on the head and on the breast. Mangle died a few moments later and Barker was arrested for his murder. The post mortem examination failed to find any evidence that Barker had struck an unusually severe blow and the charge was made to read manslaughter. Barker was allowed his freedom and has been working steadily at the starch works since his release. On hearing the evidence of William Jones, the only eye witness of the affair, the charge was changed to common assault. No other evidence was taken and the prisoner was discharged, Justice Riddell admonishing him as to his future conduct. Mr. J. J. Drew, of Guelph, was crown prosecutor, Mr. J. M. Godfrey, of Toronto, defending the prisoner.

Crown vs. Wilson.

John Wilson, of Kilmanaugh, was charged with indecent assault upon a young girl. He has spent the past 3 months in gaol here awaiting his trial. He was found guilty and was sentenced to the Central Prison for nine months. Mr. T. J. Blain appeared for him, Mr. J. J. Drew representing the Crown.

Evans vs. Merrill.

Evans vs. Merrill, a suit in which the plaintiff claimed damages for malicious prosecution, occupied the attention of the court for a short time. Mr. Blain appeared for the plaintiff, Mr. McFadden acting for the defendant. The plaintiff was awarded $25 and all the costs of the suit.

Hammond vs. Harris.

In this suit, Hannah Hammond, a married woman residing at Greenlaw, sued John Harris, a storekeeper at Cheltenham, claiming $1,000 for attempted assault. Plaintiff claimed that Harris made improper proposals to her, embracing her and kissing her. Harris denied the charge but, both persons concerned having consented to have the case tried by the judge and not by a jury, he was found guilty by Justice Riddell. The amount to be paid the plaintiff will be decided upon later.

McIntee vs. McIntee.

This was an action brought by the heirs of the late Ellen McIntee to establish her will which was disputed by some of her children. Judgment was reserved, Mr. W. H. McFadden and W. S. Morphy appearing for the plaintiffs and Mr. W. Petrie, of Hamilton, for the defendant.

Horan vs. MacMahon

A dispute over farm lands in the Township of Albion occupied the attention of the court until a late hour on Wednesday. In this action Messrs W.D. Macpherson, E. J. Hearn and J. J. Lamont appeared for the defendant, Messrs. McBrady and O'Connor acting for the plaintiff Horan. The land in dispute consists of 6 acres. Judgment will be given on Saturday.—The Conservator.

GREATEST CURE FOR RHEUMATISM IS "FRUIT-A-TIVES"

"I Honestly Believe It," says Mr. Mills

Knowlton, P.Q., Oct. 12th, 1909.

For many years I suffered from severe Rheumatism and the attacks were very distressing and prevented me from doing my ordinary work.

I tried many remedies and physicians' treatments but nothing seemed to do me much good, and I was becoming very anxious for fear I would become a permanent cripple from Rheumatism.

I tried "Fruit-a-tives" and this medicine has entirely cured me, and I honestly believe that "Fruit-a-tives" is the greatest Rheumatism Cure in the world.

E. E. MILLS,
Asst. P.M., Knowlton, Que.

"Fruit-a-tives" not only strengthens and heals the kidneys—but also regulates the bowels, improves the action of the skin—and thus keeps the blood pure and rich and free from uric acid which causes Rheumatism.

"Fruit-a-tives"—the great fruit medicine—is sold by all dealers at 50c a box, 6 for $2.50; trial size, 25c; or sent on receipt of price by Fruit-a-tives Limited, Ottawa.

DANGEROUS DANDRUFF

Will Make Canada A Baldheaded Nation If Not Checked.

M. Pasteur, the great French Physician of Paris, once said, "I believe we shall one day rid the world of all diseases caused by germs."

Dandruff is caused by germs, a fact accepted by all physicians.

Dandruff is the root of all hair evils. If it were not for the little destructive germs working with a persistency worthy of a better cause, there would be no baldness.

Parisian Sage will kill the dandruff germs and remove dandruff in two weeks or money back.

T. Stevenson guarantees it. It will stop itching scalp, falling hair and make the hair grow thick and abundant.

It puts life and lustre into the hair and prevents it from turning gray.

It is the hair dressing par excellence, daintily perfumed and free from grease stickiness. It is the favorite with women of taste and culture who know the social value of fascinating hair.

A large bottle costs only 50 cents at leading druggists everywhere, and in Orangeville by T. Stevenson. The girl with the auburn hair is on every package.

NOVEMBER WEATHER.

Rev. Irl R. Hicks Makes His Monthly Forecast.

The November issue of Word & Works says:—

A Reactionary Storm Period falls on the 1st, 2nd, and 3rd, being near the center of the Mercury equinox, in the Venus period, and at New Moon at an eclipse node. The month will come in with menacing conditions—rising temperature, falling barometer and positive storm areas moving rapidly from west to east. Heavy autumnal storms should not surprise the student of these forecasts the first three to four days of November. Rain and thunder storms will turn to sleet and snow northward, and high, cold gales will come from the northwest as the barometer rises behind the storms. These storms will bring discomfort and danger to navigators on the seas and lakes. The last three days of October, up to November the 4th, central on the 1st, is one of the most positive seismic periods of the year. The Earth will not pass out of the seismic strain engendered at this period until after the opposition and eclipse of the Moon on the 16th.

A Regular Storm Period is central on the 8th, disturbing from the 6th to the 11th. The culmination of the Mercury period is at the crisis of this period. Moon is at extreme declination south and at first quarter. Storms of rain, snow, sleet and wind are indicated for this period, all followed by high barometer, sweeping northwest gales and very cold for the season. Only the foolhardy will despise storm possibilities and indications, and venture on the lakes at this time.

A Reactionary Storm Period covers the 13th, 14th, 15th and 16th. The facts that the Moon is on the celestial equator on the 13th, and both full and in perigee on the 16th, indicate that decided storm conditions will begin at the beginning, and continue to the end of this period. Thunder, wind and rain will begin in the west on and touching the 13th. Low barometer will attend these storms as they progress from west to east. The culmination will come on and touching the 16th, when change to rising barometer, northwesterly gales and possibly a November blizzard will set in from the northwest. All coast regions and cities specially exposed to high tides, or tidal waves, should be reminded of possible danger on and near Wednesday, November the 16th. That date is also the centre of the most decided seismic period of the year, extending three to four days before and after the 16th. On that date falls the Full Moon at an eclipse node, causing a total eclipse of the Moon, and hence bringing Earth, Moon and Sun on a direct line with each other. According to the calculations of this "storm prophet," Earth, air and seas will undergo an astronomic strain that will be heard from at this time. See if the whole tribe of plagiarizing prophets don't go forecasting seismic trouble when they read this prediction.

A Regular Storm Period is central on the 19th, covering the 17th to 22nd. The indications are that little intermission of fair weather will appear between this and the preceding storm period. This will likely cause a prolonged spell of threatening weather, increasing into renewed storms of rain and snow on and touching the 19th, 20th and 21st. On the heels of these storms the barometer will rise and change to much colder with high gales, will come out of the northwest.

A Reactionary Storm Period is central on the 23rd, 24th, 25th and 26th. This period will culminate on and touching the 25th and 26th, Moon being on the celestial equator on the 26th. Low barometer, higher temperature, with possible lightning, thunder and rain, on the 26th. Rising barometer and change to colder will come promptly behind the storms. The month goes out at the oncoming of a regular storm period with Moon in apogee on the 30th, and New Moon on December 1st. Falling barometer, rising temperature and increasing cloudiness will appear in the west by the 30th, bringing to that section rain and snow by December 1st. The 28th to 30th are in a seismic period.

FARM WISDOM.

The lazy man usually gets busy at the wrong end of the day.

Spread sunshine wherever you go; not doubts, gloom or gossip.

Every good farmer goes to the barn after supper to see that everything is safe and snug.

Time now to get all the buildings under good roofs. Leaky roof above and rats below, do not pay.

Avoid setting traps where the neighbors' cats and dogs can get into them. They love their pets, even if you do not.

Don't borrow money of the boys and refuse to pay it back! Such meanness too often causes a flight from the home nest.

Don't build up a big fire in the house, leave the children alone, and go visiting. Burying their bones and building a new house are too saddening.

Suppose you had all the pennies and nickels that you have spent foolishly! Try saving them up for a year, and put the proceeds into better stock of some kind.

Many a woman is a good manager and an excellent farmer, yet is tied to a careless, lazy man. Where such is the case let her be consulted and her advice taken; or give her the financial end to take care of.

Many farmers burn the wrong end of the candle. They sit up until late hours, and get up after the sun, dull and spiritless. "Early to bed, and early to rise, makes a man healthy, wealthy and wise"—to what is going on.

Do not leave meat, etc., on the stove hearth or table where a hungry cat or dog can reach it while you are gone out for half an hour, and then want to kill it for being a rogue! That is unreasonable. Put things away and feed the cats and dogs.

What is a trip to town to the wife or mother unless she has a little money to frivol away as she pleases on oranges, a new ribbon or a book, candy or a trolley ride? Some women have hard times; yet their husbands declare they love them!

Teach the family orderly methods. How often it makes the tired mother take unnecessary steps picking up John's old socks, Jennie's cast-off skirt, or Jim's cap and coat. Putting things in their place at once saves time, friction and unnecessary steps. Try it.

GLAD TIDINGS FROM NOVA SCOTIA.

Miss Kathleen Murphy tells how she suffered and how easy and complete was her cure by the great Canadian Kidney Remedy.

Tangier Mines, Halifax Co., N. S., —Nov. 7.—(Special).—There is no longer any doubt that of the thousands of suffering women of Canada nine out of every ten owe their troubles to Kidney Disease. For this reason it is glad tidings that Miss Kathleen Murphy, of this place, is sending out to her suffering sisters.

"My troubles started from a cold," says Miss Murphy in an interview. "I had pains in my head and back, and Rheumatism and Diabetes finally developed.

"Then I started to take Dodd's Kidney Pills and they cleared out the Rheumatism, cured my Kidney Disease and brought back my health.

"I would not be without Dodd's Kidney Pills for I have given them a thorough test and found them to be all that is claimed for them."

The secret of health for women is to keep the kidneys strong and healthy. Healthy Kidneys mean pure blood, abundant energy and a clear, healthy complexion. The one sure way to keep the kidneys healthy is to use Dodd's Kidney Pills.

HYDRO-ELECTRIC NUMBER.

The Publishers of the Canadian News have issued an Hydro-Electric number which is particularly interesting at this time. It contains a forty-page illustrated description of the 110,000 volt Transmission System constructed by The Ontario Government for the purpose of distributing Niagara power to the municipalities throughout South-western Ontario. The history of the project, the agreements between the Commission, The Ontario Power Company and the municipalities, and the most interesting features pertaining to the construction of the High Tension Transmission line and the various distributing stations, are for the first time reviewed at length in one publication. There is also a biographical sketch of the Chief Engineer, Mr. F. W. Sothman, this being the fifth in the series "The Makers of Electricity in Canada." Hugh C. MacLean, Limited, Toronto, are the Publishers.

Mr. C. F. Bate, Walkerton, has been appointed Manager of the Brampton Branch of the Merchants Bank and took up his duties last week.

Had Eczema In Both Legs

You could scarcely imagine a more severe test of this ointment than the cure of Mrs. Clark recorded here. For twenty years she suffered all the tortures of this terrible disease and tried in vain the prescriptions of doctors and the cures commonly recommended.

Mr. Fred W. Clark, Petworth, Ont., writes:—"My mother had Eczema in both legs for about 20 years and suffered from the dreadful itching, stinging sensations which can never be described. She doctored and tried everything for it but got no relief until she used Dr. Chase's Ointment which was recommended to her by a friend. She found that this brought relief and by continuing its use has been cured of Eczema. I do not think any one could have this horrible disease any worse than she did and can recommend Dr. Chase's Ointment as a thorough cure for Eczema."

Dr. Chase's Ointment, 60 cents a box, at all dealers or Edmanson, Bates & Co., Toronto. Dr. Chase's Recipes sent free.

We go to all parts of the world for the wonderful ingredients of Psychine (pronounced Si-keen). We combine these ingredients in the finest chemical laboratories in Canada, and so great is our 30-year-old faith in this preparation that we'll buy a 50-cent bottle of it from your druggist and give it to you to try.

For nearly the third of a century we have known what Psychine will do. We have known it to cure hundreds of thousands in that time, of some of the most desperate cases of disease known to medical science.

We have received thousands of unsolicited testimonials, which we will gladly let you look over should you desire.

Think of it, a third of a century's experience with one preparation, a third of a century's intimate knowledge of what extraordinary cures it has made—almost a lifetime!

Do you wonder then with that perfect knowledge of Psychine, that we are anxious to bring it to the notice of everyone in Canada suffering from disease?

Do you wonder that we want those to know who are using wrong methods of cure, who are not getting well, and who we know will be benefited by Psychine.

Do you wonder that we can buy hundreds of thousands of 50-cent bottles of Psychine from the druggists of Canada to give to those who wish to try it?

Psychine builds vitality.

It strengthens and increases the white corpuscles of the blood—the phagocytes, the policemen or scavengers of the blood.

These white corpuscles of the blood, when strong enough, destroy every disease germ that gets into the body, keeps the body healthy.

If these white corpuscles are not in sufficient numbers or are not sufficiently strong, then these disease germs destroy them and disease holds the body. That's the cause of nearly every disease that afflicts the human race. For years, centuries, in fact, it has been recognized that herbs are the most effective treatment for disease.

It is only within recent times that we have been able to tell just why they were so effective.

Because certain of them increased and strengthened the white corpuscles or phagocytes.

These herbs are employed in compounding Psychine.

We go all over this world to obtain these herbs. Arabia, South America, China and Japan all contribute.

And the result is a preparation that will restore health and build vitality as no other preparation will.

That has proven itself in nearly the third of a century's use as no other preparation has proven itself.

That is a most effective treatment for:

La Grippe	Bronchial Coughs
Bronchitis	Weak Lungs
Hemorrhages	Weak Voice
Sore Throat	Spring Weakness
Anaemia	Early Decline
Female Weakness	Catarrhal Affections
Indigestion	Catarrh of Stomach
Poor Appetite	Night Sweats
Chills and Fevers	Obstinate Coughs
Sleeplessness and Nervous Troubles	Laryngitis and Dyspepsia
After-effects of La Grippe.	Pleurisy, Pneumonia and

Now we don't ask you to take our word for the tremendously beneficial effect of Psychine. Fill out the coupon below, mail it to us and we'll give your druggist an order (for which we pay him the regular retail price) for a 50-cent bottle of Psychine to be given you free of cost.

We will undoubtedly buy and distribute in this manner hundreds of thousands of these 50-cent bottles of Psychine.

And we do that to show our entire confidence in this wonderful preparation.

A confidence that has been based on our 30 years' experience with this splendid preparation, with a full knowledge of the hundreds of thousands of cures it has made.

THE FEET IN PRISON.

Tightly imprisoned in the modern shoe the feet perspire and the skin is chafed and irritated, until it is in anything but a healthy condition. Corns and bunions are formed and walking becomes torture. Possibly you never thought of Dr. Chase's Ointment in this connection but it brings wonderful relief and comfort almost instantly. Its soothing, healing effects are magical.

The largest sale of cattle, other than thoroughbreds, ever held in the County of Peel was held on the farm of Mr. J. R. Fallis, near Brampton recently. Michael Collins, of Port Credit, is the owner of a Cochin China rooster with four wings. The bird is perfect in all other points. It is five months old, weighs from 9 to 10 pounds, stands 13 inches high, and measures 22 inches from comb to tail. When he flies he uses his four wings and they do not seem to bother him. The second pair of wings start about half way up the body and run down the thigh to the joint. When standing or walking the wings stick straight out behind the legs.

PURIFIED HIS BLOOD

When the sewers of the body—bowels, kidneys and skin ducts—get clogged up, the blood quickly becomes impure and frequently sores break out over the body. The way to heal them, as Mr. Richard Wilson, who lives near London, Ont., found, is to purify the blood. He writes:

"For some time I had been in a low, depressed condition. My appetite left me and I soon began to suffer from indigestion. Quite a number of small sores and blotches formed all over my skin. I tried medicine for the blood and used many kinds of ointments, but without satisfactory results. What was wanted was a thorough cleansing of the blood, and I looked about in vain for some medicine that would accomplish this.

At last Dr. Morse's Indian Root Pills were brought to my notice, and they are one of the most wonderful medicines I have ever known. My blood was purified in a very short time, sores healed up, my indigestion vanished. They always have a place in my home and are looked upon as the family remedy."

Dr. Morse's Indian Root Pills cleanse the system thoroughly. Sold by all dealers at 25c a box. 6

Sold in Orangeville only at our store—The Rexall Store. T. F. & T. J. Brown.

ILL-TREATED HORSE.

A charge of ill-treating a livery horse belonging to W. C. McCutcheon, on Monday, October 31st, was laid against Russell Martin, of this village. The case was tried by J. P.'s Law and Anderson on Thursday night of last week. Martin pleaded guilty. A number of witnesses were then called to find out the nature and degree of the abuse. After hearing the evidence the magistrates assessed Martin $10 fine, with $7.25 costs, and $10 damages. The charge of discharging firearms on the streets of Beeton, which was laid against Russell Martin, came before J. P.'s Law and Anderson on Saturday night. Martin pleaded guilty and the magistrates imposed a fine of $1 and $3.50 costs.—Beeton World.

THE FEET IN PRISON.

Tightly imprisoned in the modern shoe the feet perspire and the skin is chafed and irritated, until it is in anything but a healthy condition. Corns and bunions are formed and walking becomes torture. Possibly you never thought of Dr. Chase's Ointment in this connection but it brings wonderful relief and comfort almost instantly. Its soothing, healing effects are magical.

R. J. Sproule, of Flesherton, lost a valuable horse in a peculiar way. While driving along the road the animal suddenly stumbled and an examination disclosed the fact that its leg was broken just above the fetlock. The animal had to be shot. The largest sale of cattle, other than thoroughbreds, ever held in the County of Peel was held on the farm of Mr. J. R. Fallis, near Brampton recently. The stock was in good condition and the high prices were obtained for everything offered. Cows brought as high as $100 each and heifers and steers up to $60 and $70. The sale aggregated $5,800.

Michael Collins, of Port Credit, is the owner of a Cochin China rooster with four wings. The bird is perfect in all other points. It is five months old, weighs from 9 to 10 pounds, stands 13 inches high, and measures 22 inches from comb to tail. When he flies he uses his four wings and they do not seem to bother him. The second pair of wings start about half way up the body and run down the thigh to the joint. When standing or walking the wings stick straight out behind the legs.

PURIFIED HIS BLOOD

Dr. Morse's Indian Root Pills Healed Mr. Wilson's Sores

When the sewers of the body—bowels, kidneys and skin ducts—get clogged up, the blood quickly becomes impure and frequently sores break out over the body. The way to heal them, as Mr. Richard Wilson, who lives near London, Ont., found, is to purify the blood. He writes:

"For some time I had been in a low, depressed condition. My appetite left me and I soon began to suffer from indigestion. Quite a number of small sores and blotches formed all over my skin. I tried medicine for the blood and used many kinds of ointments, but without satisfactory results. What was wanted was a thorough cleansing of the blood, and I looked about in vain for some medicine that would accomplish this.

At last Dr. Morse's Indian Root Pills were brought to my notice, and they are one of the most wonderful medicines I have ever known. My blood was purified in a very short time, sores healed up, my indigestion vanished. They always have a place in my home and are looked upon as the family remedy."

Dr. Morse's Indian Root Pills cleanse the system thoroughly. Sold by all dealers at 25c a box. 6

ILL-TREATED HORSE.

A charge of ill-treating a livery horse belonging to W. C. McCutcheon, on Monday, October 31st, was laid against Russell Martin, of this village. The case was tried by J. P.'s Law and Anderson on Thursday night of last week. Martin pleaded guilty. A number of witnesses were then called to find out the nature and degree of the abuse. After hearing the evidence the magistrates assessed Martin $10 fine, with $7.25 costs, and $10 damages. The charge of discharging firearms on the streets of Beeton, which was laid against Russell Martin, came before J. P.'s Law and Anderson on Saturday night. Martin pleaded guilty and the magistrates imposed a fine of $1 and $3.50 costs.—Beeton World.

THE BANNER

THURSDAY, NOVEMBER 17, 1910.

WHO WILL BE SHERIFF?

Aspirants for Peel County Sinecure Already Pulling Wires.

The death of Mr. George Broddy, the veteran Sheriff of the County of Peel, referred to elsewhere in this issue, has caused no little stir among the Conservative politicians of the County to our south. If rumor is to be relied on there are easily a score of men, who would not be averse to stepping into the vacant shrievalty, which at the lowest is worth $1200 a year and brings the fortunate occupant into enviable public and social prominence. The Banner has it on the authority of a man, who generally knows what is doing in Peel, that Mr. S. A. Egan, of Bolton, is an active aspirant for the office. "Father" Egan, as his friends call him, has been prominent in municipal and public affairs for a score of years. An aggressive party worker and a clever platform speaker, with a ready fund of native wit, he has an important following, particularly in Bolton and Albion township, and there are many stalwart Conservatives, who would be only too well pleased to see him selected for the vacant office. Mr. Egan stood the convention against Mr. S. Charters, the present member, prior to the last Ontario elections. He was rather badly defeated, and it is said that he did not take his beating with any more grace than the exigencies of the occasion demanded. It is whispered too that he did not give Mr. Charters the loyal support in the election campaign that the nominee of the convention felt he had the right to expect, but it is doubtful if this impugnment of his loyalty to the Conservative party is deserved by Mr. Egan, who has always been known as a stalwart Tory, ready to sink his personal views and ambitions for the good of the party weal. However, be this as it may, Mr. Egan is very anxious to become Sheriff of Peel, and if hard work and the active assistance of his friends count for anything he should stand a good chance of securing the coveted position. Mr. Nathan Henderson, of Palgrave, and Mr. E. J. Ellis, ex-Warden of Peel, are among the men in this end of the County, whose names are mentioned for the office. Whether they are actively in the field or not The Banner is at present unable to say. Brampton, Chinguacousy, Toronto Twp., and even Toronto Gore, where the electors are largely of the Liberal persuasion, have each their aspirants. The lucky winner will be chosen by the Executive of the County of Peel Liberal-Conservative Association, which will likely be called together very shortly for that purpose. The appointment is of course made upon the recommendation of Mr. S. Charters, the sitting member, but Mr. Charters will undoubtedly be guided by the selection of the Executive rather than his personal views.

It is almost unbelievable that so many people should address their letters so carelessly or so badly that they reach the dead letter office at Ottawa instead of their destination. What is even more remarkable is the fact that thousands of these letters contain money, cheques, post office orders or drafts amounting in the aggregate to a very large sum. Statistics compiled by officials of the Department show that no less than 2,547,749 letters, books, packets, etc., were received at the dead letter office at Ottawa during the past year. These included 5,427 letters, containing money amounting to $27,206, 3,419 letters containing checks to the face value of $518,044, 460 letters containing drafts to the face value of $171,883, 2,093 letters containing express orders to the value of $47,917, and 3,967 letters with postoffice money orders with $43,669. Some of the contents of the postal parcels, etc., received at the dead letter office are of a most curious nature. There were thirteen suits of baby clothes, 220 blouses, 254 cakes, twelve packages of chewing gum, twenty-four packages of cigarettes, one marriage contract, eight corsets, one ear drum, two gramophones, four parcels of hair, eighty-eight pieces of maple sugar, fifteen pedigrees, ninety-eight pair of shoes, 502 silver watches, fourteen artificial teeth, and six pairs of trousers.

THE NAVAL POLICY.

The naval programme of the Ottawa government presents one of the most serious questions that has confronted the people of Canada for many years. It would be both idle and ungrateful to deny that Canada has enjoyed inestimable benefits from British connection and protection. The fact that Britain is mistress of the seas has meant much to the peace of this country and the prosperity and extension of its important foreign trade. The Mother Land has maintained her supremacy at enormous cost. New Dreadnaughts, the latest types of torpedos, torpedo destroyers and submarines have added grievously to the burdens of the taxpayers of the United Kingdom. While Canada has enjoyed the benefits of Great Britain's supremacy on land and sea, and has shared in the glories of the Empire's achievements, it has up to the present contributed little or nothing toward the cost of defending its coasts and protecting its merchant marines. What the Government proposes is the creation of a Canadian navy. This will undoubtedly mean a very large and steadily growing annual expenditure for naval purposes. Eventually it may mean that this country will be saddled with the upkeep of a standing army as well as the maintenance of a navy. This will at any rate mean the introduction into Canada of the system of militarism which has made armed camps of the nations of Europe and subjected their peoples to taxes that have grown to be a national burden. Canadian ideals do not lie in the direction of the perpetuation on this continent of the old world system of huge standing armies and costly navies, but rather toward general disarmament and the settlement of international differences by some peace tribunal.

THE MUNICIPAL OUTLOOK.

Probability of Some Hot Contests in Surrounding Townships.

Aspirants for municipal honors are beginning to unfold the ambitions they have been secretly cherishing for many moons. In most of the rural municipalities the plans of the men who are anxious to serve their fellow-electors are pretty well known and in the course of another week or two it ought to be possible to give a pretty accurate forecast of the slate in many of the townships. It is different in Orangeville and to a perhaps lesser extent in the villages of Shelburne and Grand Valley, for in these urban centres the candidates do not as a rule declare themselves until a week or so prior to the nomination meeting. This plan has the advantage of preventing election turmoil and unrest during the busy Christmas season, but it is doubtful if it would work very well in the country, where the candidate has more ground to cover and requires more time in which to familiarize the electorate with his personal qualifications and the platform upon which he bases his solicitations for their "votes and influence."

Indications are that there will be stirring contests in most of the rural municipalities of Dufferin County. In Melancthon Reeve Oldfield will retire and Deputy-Reeve Dryden and ex-Reeve McGhee will fight it out for his seat. Councillors Clarke and Higgins will likely oppose each other for deputy-reeve, and several new men are spoken of for the Council. Reeve Greer and Mr. J. Reaburn, who came so nearly winning last year, are the probable contestants for the Mulmur reeveship. An effort is being made to induce Deputy-Reeve Lawrence to step up and make the fight three-cornered, but Mr. Lawrence, it is understood, would prefer to stay where he is for another term. Reeve Dynes, of Mono, will retire and Deputy-Reeve Anderson will stand for Reeve. If Mr. J. A. Marshall should oppose him—and it is freely predicted he will—the electors of Mono will have a red-hot contest. In this event Coun. Moffitt will aspire to the Deputy-Reeveship and Coun. Geo. Little will give him a wrestle for the seat. This will mean another fight worth while. Coun. Parks will stand for councillor again and there will be plenty of good men to fill the other places from. Reeve Hosick and Deputy-Reeve Simpson are both retiring in Amaranth. Coun. Hamilton has his weather eye on the reeveship, and Coun. Menary is casting wistful glances in the direction of the deputy-reeve's chair. They will land alright unless ex-Reeve Bryan, or perhaps ex-Reeve Spence, should decide to take a hand in the game. In that event no one can tell what might happen. "All serene" is the word from East Garry and East Luther, but developments are promised later. Reeve McBride and Deputy-Reeve Smeaton will both seek re-election in Caledon. Ex-reeve W. J. Limebeer is spoken of as likely to oppose McBride, but there is a well-defined feeling that it will all end in talk. If the three Councillors—Cameron, Giles and Armstrong—decide to stand again for the positions they now hold there is every likelihood of an acclamation in Caledon.

THE GRAND CENTRAL.

Mr. F. Marshall, owner of the Grand Central Hotel property, has bought the furniture and other chattels and will become responsible for the management of the house, which he has decided to run as a first-class temperance hotel. Special attention will be paid to the needs of the farming and travelling public. Mr. Marshall's reputation in Orangeville as a business man and citizen is a guarantee that the programme he has laid down will be strictly adhered to. He has secured the services of Mr. J. E. Booth as manager. The dining room will be run under the personal supervision of Mrs. Booth, whose experience in the past should ensure an excellent service. As a temperance house we hope the Grand Central will receive a fair share of the patronage of the temperance people of this locality.

Eczema's Tortures

Mrs. Link, 12 Walker St., Halifax, N. S., writes: "After three years of miserable torture and sleepless nights with terrible eczema, and after trying over a dozen remedies without obtaining anything but slight temporary relief, I have been perfectly and entirely cured by Dr. Chase's Ointment. After the third or fourth application of this grand ointment I obtained relief, and a few boxes were sufficient to make a thorough cure. It is six months since I was freed of this wretched skin disease, and as there has been no return of the trouble I consider the cure a permanent one."

Such cures are not brought about by imitations and substitutes for Dr. Chase's Ointment. It is therefore necessary for you to be certain that the portrait and signature of A. W. Chase, M. D., the famous Receipt Book author, are on the box you buy. 60 cts. a box, at all dealers or Edmanson, Bates & Co., Toronto. Write for a free copy of Dr. Chase's Recipes.

IMPORTANT LEGISLATION.

Ottawa Government Will Have to Face Difficult Problems During Coming Session.

West in Favor of State Control of Elevators and Hudson Bay Railway.

The coming session of Parliament, which opens on Thursday, promises to be one of the most interesting sessions held in recent years. The speech from the throne, after a suitable reference to the demise of his late Majesty King Edward the Seventh, will foreshadow much important legislation. Some of the subjects to be brought before the House have already excited keen controversy, especially in the West. No matter is so urgent in the minds of the Western people as the construction and operation of the Hudson Bay Railway. At every point where he touched during his recent tour through the Prairie Provinces, Sir Wilfrid Laurier was strongly urged first to build the Hudson Bay Railway without delay, and then to guarantee that it should not pass under the control of any or all of the three transcontinental railways. The fact that the road is to begin at the Pas Mission has led to the assertion that the Government is committed to Messrs. Mackenzie and Mann. This firm, it is understood, wishes to build the road as contractors for the Government and operate it as a part of the Canadian Northern system. The Grand Trunk Pacific is building a line from Melville through Yorkton to the Pas and will undoubtedly be granted running rights over the Hudson Bay Railway, and running rights will no doubt be conceded to the C. P. R. whenever desired. There is, however, a strong sentiment in the West in favor of Government operation either through a commission or through an independent company, and it is to be doubted whether the Government can retain the support of the Western members in putting through any plan which contemplates surrendering the road to any of the present transcontinental lines.

From the West there is an equally urgent demand for Government ownership and operation of the terminal grain elevators at Fort William and Port Arthur. Convictions registered in the courts and admissions made by Sir Wilfrid Laurier in his speeches throughout the West abundantly prove the contention that mixing of grain and other abuses detrimental to the farmer have existed in at least some of these terminal elevators. It is said that the Premier will not go the length asked for by the West, but will introduce legislation based upon the statutes of Minnesota.

Some time ago he sent a well known newspaper man as his personal representative to investigate conditions at Duluth, and it was found that at that point little or no friction existed between the elevator men and the grain growers. At the same time it is to be noted that the success of the Minnesota statute has entirely resulted from the elimination of politics in the administration of the law.

The Government is also pledged to pass legislation permitting the incorporation of co-operative societies under a Dominion charter, and this legislation may meet with strong opposition from the retail merchants and from other sources which may seriously embarrass many members in the House. There is also legislation promised to aid the dead meat industry, but there is no reason to believe that Alberta's demands for Government abattoirs will be acceded to.

DAUGHTERS OF THE EMPIRE.

A largely attended meeting of the Orangeville Chapter of the Daughters of the Empire was held at the home of the Regent, Mrs. C. R. McKeown, on Friday afternoon. Several new members were enrolled. Arrangements were made to hold a social at an early date, to which the members will have the pleasure of inviting their husbands and friends. It was decided to advertise for tenders for a house and property suitable for the hospital, which the ladies propose establishing in Orangeville. Tenders, which must be sealed, will be received by the Secretary, Mrs. T. J. Brown, up to noon on Monday, November 28th.

QUALITY COUNTS.

The experience of the farmers of Denmark shows that it pays to produce an article of a superior quality. In an article in a recent issue of Canadian Farm Prof. Skelton, of Queen's University, makes the significant statement that had Danish farmers who shipped their produce to England last year received only the average prices current, they would have been paid $2,250,000 less for their butter, $1,350,000 less for their eggs and $5,400,000 less for their bacon than they actually did receive. The point is that by their attention to the quality of these products the farmers of Denmark have won a place in the estimation of English consumers that enables them to sell at higher prices than their competitors. The Danes are a nation of farmers, who are credited with having a greater per capita wealth than any other European country. Nine farmers in Denmark out of ten own the soil they till as against one in ten in Great Britain and two out of three in the United States. This is considered one of the great factors in their success. Another important factor in their success is education. The Danish farmer, Prof. Skelton states, is the most enlightened in Europe. Illiteracy is practically unknown from the fact that attendance at school to the age of fourteen is compulsory. Although the country has a population of only 2,500,000, about the same as Ontario, there are something like thirty agricultural colleges. Nowhere in the world has co-operation been developed to the extent it has reached in Denmark. The co-operative idea pervades every activity of the farm. There is co-operation in production and marketing. There are over one thousand co-operative creameries, which produce four-fifths of the butter output of the country. Some thirty bacon-curing associations are responsible for two-thirds of the entire bacon product. Butter, eggs and bacon are marketed co-operatively, chiefly in England, where English co-operative societies alone buy over $12,000,000 worth of butter a year. There is also co-operation in establishing joint credit banks and co-operation in insurance against loss. The Dane has satisfied himself as to the value of co-operation and adopts the principle in whatever form of business activity he finds it workable. Co-operation, our authority concludes, "has thrived in Denmark because the farming population is enlightened and homogeneous, because the farms are of the size where joint action is most desirable, because Britain offers a splendid market in easy reach, and because the bulk of the farmers are engaged in producing two or three uniform commodities for a highly centralized export trade. It does not follow that the institutions that have approved themselves in Denmark could be transported to Ontario or Alberta. But with all deductions for difference of circumstances it would seem that, especially in the field of co-operation, Canadian farmers might profitably take heed of the work done by the sturdy Dane."

HOW TO CURE STOMACH TROUBLE.

A Great Sufferer From Indigestion Tells How She Was Cured.

Stomach trouble is a general name for all forms of indigestion, whether great pain after eating, belching of wind, heavy feeling in the stomach, nausea, or the sharp pains that often make you think you have heart trouble. There are two things noticeable in indigestion. One is that doctors always find indigestion a prominent symptom in a bloodless run-down state. The other, that sufferers usually find relief when a tonic is taken that restores the general health. Without a doubt stomach trouble is simply stomach weakness, and the cure is to make the stomach strong enough to digest food without trouble. Any other treatment is patchwork and cannot cure. As the processes of digestion are controlled by the blood and nerves, the stomach that is too weak to digest food needs a tonic to give it strength. And in all the world there is no better tonic than Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. They actually make new, rich blood, tone the nerves and so strengthen the stomach and all the bodily functions. We submit the following as proof that Dr. Williams' Pink Pills will cure even the most obstinate cases of stomach trouble. Mrs. John Graf, Fort Saskatchewan, Alta., says, "For years I suffered great torture from indigestion. I took many different medicines, but instead of benefitting me I was growing worse all the time, till my stomach got so bad I could neither eat nor drink without pain. Even cold water would cause me suffering. Nor did I get any relief when the stomach was empty, as I still suffered from a horrid burning pain. I went to Edmonton and consulted one of the best doctors there, but he told me that he could do nothing for me, that all I could do was to diet. For some time I took only hot water and a small piece of brown bread for my meals, but even that did not help me and I got so weak and run down that I despaired of ever being well again. I bought a so-called electric belt and wore it for six months, but it was simply money wasted. Then one day a friend asked me why I did not try Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. I did not know they were intended to cure indigestion, but being assured that they were, decided to try them. I soon found the Pills helping me, but my condition was so bad when I began using them that I continued taking the Pills for about five months before I felt that I was completely cured. Then I could eat any kind of food, and although more than two years have passed since my cure, I have not since had the least sign of the trouble. I can most heartily recommend Dr. Williams' Pink Pills to anyone suffering from this terrible trouble."

Sold by all medicine dealers or by mail at 50 cents a box or six boxes for $2.50 from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

MONO CENTRE.

I thought Mr. Editor, as our burg has not been represented in your columns for sometime, that I would send you a few items, which I hope will prove of interest.

Mr. and Mrs. John Crozier, from Dawson City, are visiting the latter's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Alex. Turnbull, at present and purpose spending the winter here.

Mr. Alexander Turnbull has returned home after spending a couple of months with his daughter, Mrs. Wm. Fleming, of Toronto.

Mr. Thos. Gamble is making preparations for moving to the West next March. He made a sale of his live stock to the amount of over $580 to a Mr. Thompson, of Marsville, last Friday.

Archie McQuilkin has started to make the rounds collecting taxes. Tax collecting and looking for a wife are both difficult tasks, but Archie is not troubled over the latter problem for his love seems to be in his pocket and not in his heart.

Wedding bells have been ringing around here all summer, but as the threshings are all over now Harry will surely bring matters to a climax.

Threshing has all been finished in this neighborhood with the exception of Arthur McCarston and George Barclay.

Sargent G. L. Burrow, the noted astronomer and runner, who was one of Arthur McCarston's importations last summer, has taken the foot train for parts unknown. Arthur's other importation, Captain R. J. Burnett, the noted musician and man of many languages, is at present working for Mr. E. Avison.

The celebrated Scotty McDonald is in our section at present and is working for Mr. Arthur McCarston. Wake up, Scotty, it looks bad to see the old man in the field first and the young man always last.

MARSVILLE.

Mr. Harold Jestin has returned home after spending two months in the vicinity of Red Deer. He reports a very favorable harvest in that section.

Mr. J. T. Handley has disposed of his 150 acre farm to Mr. Fleming, of Orangeville. $8500 was the purchase price.

Mr. Elwood Turner has resumed his old route once more down the ninth line.

V. Armstrong says he has some trouble calling Central as T. P. keeps the line in constant use.

We wonder who will be the next bachelor to resign. We think T. N. is in the notion.

INGLEWOOD.

It is quite a while since our town was heard from, but everything is going on the same as ever.

The cement walk is completed from Dufferin to McColl streets.

Misses K. Haines and Nell Spratt visited at the former's home in Georgetown over Sunday.

Mr. Will Baird left this week for Watford, where he has accepted a position in a boot and shoe store. Will has our good wishes and he will be greatly missed. His place here is being filled by Mr. A. Bracken.

Mr. and Mrs. Longhurst are the guests of Mrs. Blackwell.

The lecture in the Methodist church is postponed until Tuesday next on account of Thursday evening being so wet.

Evangelistic services have been successfully carried on for the last three weeks by Rev. Mr. Stevens, of Toronto.

We are pleased to learn Mr. Henry Bracken is building a chopping mill to replace the one recently destroyed by fire.

Deep sorrow is felt for Mr. T. Davidson in the loss of his little daughter, Clarisa, from blood poisoning.

We wonder how Herb and Bert enjoyed Thanksgiving.

Quite a number intend attending the G. H. S. concert in Georgetown on Friday night. Don't forget the day Rex and Archie.

Some of our boys had a pleasant run on Hallowe'en. We wonder why.

Persian Lamb setts at Ritchie's.

W. A. AT HOME.

The Woman's Auxiliary of St. Mark's Church will hold an "At Home" in the basement of the Church on Friday evening, November 25th, from 7 to 10 o'clock. His Old Age Made Free From Suffering

BY GIN PILLS

ANNAPOLIS, N.S.

"I am over 80 years of age and have been suffering with Kidney and Bladder Trouble for fifteen years. I took doctors' medicine but got no help. I want to thank you for sending me the sample box of GIN PILLS.

I have taken six boxes of GIN PILLS altogether but got relief before I had taken near that amount. I had to get up some nights every fifteen minutes and had to use an instrument before I could urinate.

Now, I can lie in bed four or five hours without getting up. I can say that GIN PILLS have nearly cured me and I shall always keep a box in the house."

W. H. PIERCE.

Do as Mr. Pierce did—write us for free sample box of GIN PILLS and see for yourself just how much they will do for you,—then buy the regular size boxes at your dealer's—50c. or 6 for $2.50. GIN PILLS are sold with a positive guarantee of money back if they fail to give prompt relief. National Drug and Chemical Co., Dept. A. Toronto. 51

HORNING'S MILLS.

The abundant crop of beech-buts that lay strewn o'er the hill tops and in the valleys that surround this picturesque village clustered about Horning's Lake, are now completely covered with the white mantle that betokens the near approach of winter.

Mr. R. J. Huxtable, of Outlook, Sask., is visiting in the village.

Mr. Robt. Yokom has moved into one end of Mr. Beatty's store.

Vance, K.C., of Shelburne.

At present writing we have fairly good sleighing in this section.

Hon. I. B. Lucas, M.P.P., of Markdale, passed through Melanethon the other day.

The recent snow appears to be a great help to the hunters in tracking game through the surrounding woods.

George Shoaff is said to be watching for a big bear back by the beaver meadow.

Mr. Dave Scott, of Primrose, spent Sunday at home.

A meeting will be held in St. Andrew's Church, on Friday evening, in connection with the Sunday School Institute. Two prominent Toronto ministers will be in charge.

MONO MILLS.

The members of the local Farmers' Institute Club will hold the first meeting of the winter season in the Orange Hall on Wednesday evening, Nov. 23rd, beginning at 7.30. The subject of the meeting will be the "Open Letter," written by Mr. J. W. Flavelle, Toronto, addressed to the farmers of Ontario. Since the appearance of this letter in the Farmer's Advocate last June it has become the subject of much discussion among farmers and all those interested in farming operations. In this letter Mr. Flavelle lays the serious charge against farmers of not doing their part in the advancement and development of the country. A copy of the letter will be presented to the meeting and discussion will follow. The farmer's position in this matter will be defended by such sturdy agriculturists as Messrs. Geo. Lee, Wesley Kee, Wesley Duke, Charles Crombie, John Meek, W. J. Mills and others. The President, Mr. John E. Jackson, will occupy the chair. These Institute meetings are free of charge and a cordial invitation is extended to everyone to come and spend an evening discussing these questions which are of vital importance to farmers.

TEACHER'S NERVES.

Teachers often have the reputation of being cross when the trouble is with the nerves rather than the disposition. Mr. A. Sutherland, Principal South Bar School, Sydney, N. S., writes: "I was nervous and worried, had indigestion and headache. Doctors failed me. You can depend on me to recommend Dr. A. W. Chase's Nerve Food for I believe it has entirely cured me." Tired brains and feeble nerves are soon restored by this celebrated food cure.

ONTARIO'S FARMS.

C. C. James Says That Product Could Easily be Doubled.

"In the Province of Ontario we have 175,000 farms, whose annual productions total about $250,000,000. If by some magic of process of regeneration we could turn all the indifferent farmers into wideawake, progressive, up-to-date farmers, the total production would easily be doubled, and it is not beyond the reach of possibility to treble our output."

These significant words were uttered by Mr. C. C. James, Deputy Minister of Agriculture for Ontario, in the course of an address on "The Problem of the Indifferent Farmer" at the annual meeting of the International Association of Farmers' Institute Workers, in Washington, D.C., on Monday evening. Mr. James' address was an effort to bring home to his audience the fact that whatever helps the farmer to a larger production and larger life necessarily contributes to the prosperity and uplift of the whole community.

"The possibility," said Mr. James, "of adding two or three hundred million dollars yearly to our rural income surely makes this a big problem. Let me ask right here, is there any other problem on the American continent that comes into the same class with it? You gentlemen who are engaged in this field know how it is to be worked out. You know the foundation courses upon which this great wealth may be built. These courses are plain and simple:—(1) Drain the soil; (2) sow only the best seed; (3) carefully protect and store the products of your fields of orchards; (4) feed these products only to profitable stock; (5) put the finished product on the market in the best form.

"If we could in some way bring the indifferent farmer to the knowledge of those five plain, convincing lines of work, we would have solved the problem—all else would come easily as a natural sequence. And what a solving of other problems there would be! A man in our Province who has been a farmer for many years said to me the other day: 'Push the drainage of land; spend money on it. If you can get all the farmers to drain their land you will solve the problem of good roads, for they will have money enough to build them for themselves.' Increase the incomes of the individual farmers and we will have the means at our disposal to renovate, to reconstruct, to develop the rural public school system along rational lines. And so we might enlarge upon this question along many lines.

"All this line of development looks to be simple, and therein is one of the greatest difficulties—it is its simplicity that makes it so difficult. It is easier to build a Dreadnought than an agricultural college. We can arouse the interest of two continents in solving the problem of aerial navigation, but it is difficult to get the people to demand—no, let me put it more mildly; it is difficult to get the people to support the proposition of spending money freely in teaching the indifferent farmer how to drain his land, why he should use only the best seeds, why he should test his dairy cows, why and how he should spray his apple trees, and how, in short, he can increase his income by one thousand dollars a year.

"This brings us to the question as to how we are to solve the problem of the indifferent public. If the development of our agriculture means the greatest wealth creation within the nation, and if the stirring of the indifferent farmer to better things is the key to the situation, why do not our people—manufacturers, bankers, professional men, business men, and intelligent farmers—rise in a mass and demand that this work be undertaken and carried through? There are at least two reasons: In the first place, there is a too prevalent opinion that work done among and for the farmers is a charitable contribution to a class that should be able to take care of themselves. What a woeful misconception of this movement! Helping the farmers to larger production and to larger life can be justified only on the ground that thereby we are contributing to the prosperity and uplift of the whole community. A town of 5,000 people is surrounded by a farming community. Through the agricultural uplift $1,000,000 could easily be added to the annual production of the surrounding and contributing country. Is it conceivable that such an addition could be made without touching or affecting every banker, every manufacturer, every storekeeper, every doctor, every lawyer, every newspaper owner in the town?"

What was needed, Mr. James continued, was that the subject should be taken out of the country and discussed in the city, by Boards of Trade, Bankers' Associations, Retail Merchants' Associations, Teachers' Conventions. People should be brought to realize that it was not local, but national; not charity, but an investment of public funds that would yield big returns to the whole people. It should have the attention of men who have built big industries, planned great enterprises.

GLENCROSS.

The Christian Endeavor on Sunday evening was largely attended. The topic, "Temperance" was discussed by Miss R. Gordon.

Mr. James Morton's sale of last week was quite a successful one. We understand that Mr. Morton is intending to retire from farm life.

A number of our young people attended the party given by Mr. and Mrs. J. Moffatt last Friday evening.

We hear that there are going to be a couple of weddings in the neighborhood. Our young men are scarce but they are evidently going to be scarcer.

SUFFERED FOR YEARS WITH STOMACH TROUBLE

"Fruit-a-tives" Promptly Cured Him

DANIEL SAUNDERS, Esq.

Mr. Daniel Saunders, of Shoal Lake, Manitoba, is one of the best known gentlemen in Canada's great wheat country. He lived for years in the West—made a success of his farming—and has now retired from active business life to enjoy the fruits of his work.

When a man of such financial and social standing voluntarily testifies to the great benefits he has received from taking "Fruit-a-tives" there can be no doubt but that "Fruit-a-tives" deserves the confidence of every reader of this paper.

SHOAL LAKE, MAN., JUNE 11TH, 1910.

"For years, I was bothered with persistent Dyspepsia and Indigestion, having severe pains after meal time. I tried everything that I could get but the pain in my stomach became no better.

Last summer, Mr. Oatway, a druggist of my town, recommended "Fruit-a-tives" to me. While taking "Fruit-a-tives", I in no way gave up any food that I was in the habit of eating, neither did I stop smoking. Yet in spite of all, "Fruit-a-tives" has done wonders for me and I strongly advise all my friends to use it."

DANIEL SAUNDERS.

"Fruit-a-tives" is the only medicine in the world made of pure fruit juices, and will always cure Indigestion, Dyspepsia, Sour Stomach, Biliousness, Constipation and any other disease that comes from disordered Stomach, Bowels, Kidneys or Skin. 50c. a box. 6 for $2.50, trial size, 25c. HAS STODDART SKIPPED?

Telegraphed That He Would Leave for Orangeville Tuesday Morning.

Has Not Reached Here Yet.

The local Crown officers are beginning to manifest some anxiety regarding the whereabouts of W. G. Stoddart, formerly a prominent business man in Grand Valley, against whom the Grand Jury at the Fall Assizes here last week returned a true bill on a rather serious criminal charge. When the Jury announced its finding, the Crown Prosecutor made application for a bench warrant. This was granted, but was not taken out, because it was understood that Stoddart was starting for Orangeville on the first train to voluntarily surrender himself. Mr. A. A. Hughson, who represented the accused during the proceedings in the magistrates' court in Grand Valley last summer, telephoned to Cornwall shortly after the Grand Jury announced its finding informing Stoddart of the result. Later in the day Mr. Hughson received the following telegram in answer to his message:—

Cornwall, Nov. 7th, 1910.

A. A. Hughson,
Orangeville.

"Leaving a. m. train for Orangeville."

W. G. STODDART.

If Stoddart left Cornwall at the time indicated in his message he could have reached Orangeville Tuesday evening. He did not arrive Tuesday nor yet on Wednesday. As a matter of fact he has not been seen or heard of either here or in Grand Valley since he telegraphed Mr. Hughson. In the light of subsequent events the telegram looks like a clever ruse to gain time in an effort to evade the strong arm of the law. On Thursday Crown Attorney McKay appeared before Police Magistrate Pattullo with a certificate of Stoddart's indictment and obtained a warrant from Mr. Pattullo for his apprehension. This was entrusted to High Constable Hughes for execution. Hughes telegraphed High Constable Smith, of Cornwall, with instructions to arrest Stoddart, but up to the hour of going to press late yesterday afternoon the local authorities had not been apprised of his arrest. It is therefore evident that he has left Cornwall.

Laxacold
TRADE MARK
A TRIPLE CURE FOR LAGRIPPE COUGHS, COLDS, HEADACHE AND NEURALGIA

Here is something that will cure your cold in a day and a night," is what we say in showing Laxacold to those who ask for something of that sort.

Laxacold works on a new principle—it drives the cold out of the system—doesn't merely smother it temporarily to have it reappear a day or so later, as some other preparations do. It never nauseates and does not cause ringing of the ears, for it contains no quinine. It simply relieves your system and leaves you feeling right. We couldn't afford to risk our reputation by recommending the wrong thing—but we know all about Laxacold; it will not disappoint you. 25c. buys a box.

Anything you buy with the Name Nyal's will give you entire satisfaction.

Healthy Happy Children

As everyday food for growing children, good bread and butter is much more wholesome than meat. It is lighter in the stomach, more easy to digest and furnishes every element of health and strength necessary for the growing child, provided the flour is rich in that fine quality of high grade gluten which distinguishes Ogilvie's

Royal Household Flour.

It is this rich nourishing element which makes children grow fat and happy when given plenty of bread made from this finest of all flours. Children thrive on it. It puts flesh on their bones and brings the rosy flush of health to their cheeks.

This is not so with bread made from inferior flours. It falls very far short of being whole food and fails to build up strong, vigorous growth. For the children's sake buy the best flour—Ogilvie's Royal Household. It counts for health and happiness. Best and most nutritious for pastry as well as for bread.

"Ogilvie's Book for a Cook," with 125 pages of recipes that have been tried and tested, will be sent free if you will send us your address and mention the name of your dealer.

ASK YOUR BANKER FOR ADVICE

The average bank customer does not make nearly the full use of his banking privileges. Almost any bank is glad to give him advice on ordinary business matters and to point out to him the pitfalls into which he may be led through lack of financial experience.

If a man wants to sell you stock in a mine that is going to bring you in 1,000 per cent. on your investment and that will be as big a producer as the Bonanza Mine of Nevada, it is likely that if you ask the bank about it they will tell you not to touch it, and you will be just so much ahead of the game as the amount you intended to invest.

If somebody comes along with an investment that is going to make as much money as the Bell Telephone and wants to let you in on the ground floor, your bank will know that it is a very hazardous gamble and will give you advice which, if you will follow it, will keep a bunch of money in your pocket.

Your banker is generally well-informed as to sound investments, and, while he does not wish to be placed in the position of guaranteeing anything, yet he knows all those which are safest, which bring the best returns and involve the least risk, and you are less liable to lose either principal or interest if you ask his advice and follow it.

Banks like to take care of their customers, to help them to prosper, and, if they are permitted, they will always do so by guiding them in safe financial and business channels.

The people who flourish upon the inexperience and folly of persons who have money to invest would have a very hard time to make a living if everybody kept their money in the bank, and consulted their bank as to the quality of the investments in which they propose to put it.

On the part of the banks themselves, it would be a good policy to encourage this idea more, and to frequently exhibit their willingness to give their counsel and to share their special experience and knowledge with their customers.

FIRE RESISTANCE OF CINDER CONCRETE.

The cinder concrete walls of the buildings used in subjecting floor constructions to fire tests at Columbia University were erected two years ago and have been subjected to five fire tests of 4 hours each, during which the average temperature has been 1,700 degrees Fahr. At the end of each four hour test a stream of water at 60-pound nozzle pressure was played back and forth over the ceiling for 10 minutes while the ceiling walls were red hot. After this severe treatment, Prof. Ira H. Woolson states the walls were practically as good to-day as they were when new, except that the rear wall has been scored by the water to a depth of from ¼ to 1 inch for 2 or 3 feet near the top. This wall gets the direct stream for a portion of the time and always receives the deflected stream from the ceiling.

A duplicate of this building torn down some years ago sustained seven four hour tests at 1,700 degrees before its removal. At that time the walls were as good as those in the present structure. Professor Woolson is of the opinion that within reasonable limits the percentage of coal and the amount of fine material in such cinders have very little if any effect upon their fire-resisting qualities. He believes that sifting and washing the cinders would be a useless expense and injurious to the cinders as aggregate for concrete. The pieces of coal which came next to the surface of these walls have been burned to an ash, but remain in place and act as a non-conductor of heat. Plenty of particles of pure coal can be found in the walls less than 2 inches beneath the surface.

Two Chatham, Ont., aldermen, Frank Baxter and Dr. McRitchie, were hurt when an auto in which they were driving ran into a wire stretched across a road.

THE NAMELESS FOLD.

By Mary A. Lathburn.

A Shepherd of the nameless fold
The blessed Church to be,
Our hearts with love and longing turn
To find their rest in thee.
Thy kingdom come! Its heavenly walls
Unseen around us rise,
And deep in loving human hearts
Its broad foundation lies.

From out our low, unloving state,
Our centuries of strife,
Thy hand, O Shepherd of the flock,
Is lifting us to life;
From all our old divided ways
And fruitless fields we turn
To Thy dear feet, the simple law
Of Christian love to earn.

Oh holy kingdom! happy fold!
O blessed Church to be!
Our hearts in love and worship turn
To find ourselves in thee;
Thy bounds are known to God alone,
For they are set above;
The length, the breadth, the heights are one,
And measured in His love.

A NOVEL EUCHRE PARTY.

The diversion that proved most successful at a popular summer hotel was lone-handed euchre with prizes.

This was six-handed euchre played progressively, but with prizes offered for the greatest number of lone hands, as well as for the largest number of points won by any player.

At all the tables lone hands were of course, a recognized feature, the head table, which played twenty-one points, governing the game.

Score cards in the shape of Maltese crosses were cut from pink-tinted cardboard. In the four points of the cross the numbers 10, 4, 1 and 5, were written, beginning with 10 at the top and numbering to the right.

These numbers were punched to represent the number of points due to the player. Thus, for 15 points 10 and five were punched once each, for 20 10 was punched twice.

Narrow ribbon drawn through the tally at the top enabled the player to attach it to the front of coat or gown.

Whenever a lone hand was won the successful player spoke to the scorer and received a bouquet of pink sweet peas tied with white ribbon. At the end of the progression the person with most bouquets received what was called "the lone-hand prize."

In this way the best player was doubly rewarded with flowers and a prize.

Another award in the form of a pink fan was made for the greatest number of points won by any player.

Nerves Were Exhausted

Wants others to know of her remarkable cure by use of DR. CHASE'S NERVE FOOD.

Mrs. Martin's condition as described in her letter below gives some idea of the extraordinary reconstructive power of Dr. Chase's Nerve Food. Such cures as this have placed Dr. Chase's Nerve Food where it stands today as the most popular and most effective nerve restorative that money will buy.

Mrs. Edwin Martin, Ayer's Cliff, Que., writes,—"Before I began using Dr. A. W. Chase's Nerve Food I was in a terrible condition. Dizzy spells would come over me and I would fall to the floor in a faint. I could not even sweep the floor without fainting and my nervous system seemed to be entirely exhausted.

"The use of Dr. A. W. Chase's Nerve Food has built up my system wonderfully so that I can do my housework and washing without any trouble, and I want others to know about it." TO PREVENT CHILDREN SEEING MOVING PICTURES.

Move May be Made by Ald. Welch to Limit Age to Sixteen Unless in Charge of Older Persons.

Alderman Welch is contemplating the introduction of a measure into the Toronto council to prevent the attendance of children under sixteen years of age at moving picture shows unless in the company of their parents or other older persons. He says there have been films exhibited in the city recently, which he has seen, which he thinks such young persons should not see. While many of the pictures shown are quite unobjectionable and many are instructive, yet some of those which might be permissible for older persons he would consider unsuitable for children. Of course, he would not consider it necessary or wise to attempt to restrict parents from taking their children with them. His proposed action is along the line of similar restrictions adopted in New York.

There are at present about fifty moving picture theatres in Toronto, paying an annual license fee of $50 each.

The Lone Trapper and His Story.

By Ernest C. McVeigh, In Rod & Gun

He drifted on to the beach in front of the camp, and stepped out of the little nine foot bark canoe without making a sound that we could hear. I say he drifted, but I really don't know how he came. He wasn't there a moment ago, and now he was, and it wasn't dark either, only dusk.

Lifting his craft from the water with one hand he laid it down gently on the sand, placed the paddle carefully inside of it, and came up to where we were sitting around the door. The stranger is always welcome at the hunters' camp, so I stepped forward to meet him and asked if he had had his supper. He was long and lanky, and his clothes hung loose. Not that he had so much of them a rough coat and pants, with a cheap cotton shirt, open at the neck, and something on his head that had once been a soft felt hat. It had no shape on it, or, as I found later, it had many shapes. As he came up from the water it was turned up in front, and drooped at the back and sides. As I spoke to him he reached up and gave it a twist that left it turned up over one ear, and flopped over the other in a manner that suggested a Scotch terrier when watching a rat hole. He was clean shaven and lean of face, but his voice was soft and pleasant when he spoke.

"No stranger, I don't think I have had supper, but I am not hungry, thank you."

"Well, it's supper time and you can't come to a hunters' camp without eating, come in with me and see the cook."

"No, really friend, I am not hungry, many thanks to you just the same."

"I guess it won't hurt you to have a dish of tea anyway. What time did you have dinner?"

"Well I didn't have dinner to-day, but I had breakfast this morning, and I will be home in a few hours."

I could hear some of the fellows laugh behind me, and I wanted to laugh myself, but the more he hung back the more I was determined to force our hospitality upon him. It may not have been in good taste, but some of these bushmen are as shy as children, and require pressing, so I persisted.

"Well, come in and have a mouthful of whiskey then, if you won't eat."

"You are very kind friend, and I will take a very little, thank you."

Now that did not please me, for I was afraid I had made a mistake, and he was one of those fellows who will drink whiskey rather than eat. But I was wrong again, for he had stopped me before I had half a drink in the glass, and then swallowed that quantity rather as a compliment to me than as if he really liked it. This made me feel very friendly toward him, and I again pressed him to eat something. The table was not yet cleared off and seeing this he sat down for a few minutes, but he didn't eat enough for a child. So we were soon out at the front with the boys, who were enjoying their evening smoke in the pleasant air, that was and mild for the time of the year.

I drew up a short bench for our visitor, and as he seated himself I asked—

"Where do you call home in this country?"

"Well, I am living just now with an Indian a few miles down the lake."

He would push the old hat around on his head as he started to speak, and the quick nervous movements of his hands contrasted strangely with the slow drawl of his soft, even toned voice, and I made up my mind that we had stumbled on a "character," or rather an odd genius had stumbled on us, and I wanted to make him talk if I could.

"I suppose you do some trapping?" I asked him.

"Oh yes, a little, but fur is scarce around here now. Used to be some, yes quite a lot."

"I expect there was, I got two mink myself since we came to camp."

"Did you now, that's nice, not so easy to get now, very little good fur left. But there is one silver fox here yet, yes, indeed. Have been trying to get him for two winters now."

"That is interesting, have you seen him often?"

"Oh, no, never seen him at all, only his trail you know. You see a silver fox has a different trail from red fox. Every time he jumps he strikes his tail on snow, leaves big marks, red fox never does that. Saw this chap's trail on big marsh ten miles south two rivers. Always crosses that marsh on jump.

"Well, that's a new one on me, but I don't know much about such things."

"Any of you fellows ever hear that before?" I asked this of the men of our hunting party, who had now gathered round to listen to the stranger. They declared they had never heard that one, and the Doctor said—

"If it is correct that the silver, as well as the "cross" fox is only a freak of nature, and not a distinct breed, it would be strange indeed if he possessed that peculiar characteristic."

The old hat had made a complete circle of his head by the time I turned to our trapper again and I said to him:—

"You know that the people in the far North West will have tried to breed the silver and the cross fox claim, with some show of reason, that they are only freaks, as a litter from a pair of silvers may show one cross, or silver, and the remainder just common red."

"No, I have never heard that."

"Well now, if there is only one silver fox in this country, and he here for two years would it seem to support that theory?"

The hat was getting fits now. "Well, it would seem so, now wouldn't it, but I would like to get that chap I speak of just the same."

"I guess you would, and so would most any of us. Do you get many fishers in your traps?"

"Not many, the fisher is a smart cuss, more like him to eat what's in the trap than get caught himself. Got one last winter though, in funny way, made me laugh. My chum and I struck fisher track in bush and followed. In about a mile came to a hollow log, tracks goingin and nothing coming out. Stopped up ends of log, and cut hole in top, could hear him, but nothing doing. Put trap down in hole and cut second hole. Fisher ran into trap. Had him so far all right, cut hole little bigger and tried to pull him out, he stuck, chum said, "Hold on, I see foot caught side of hole, put in finger to loose foot, jumped back and held up hand, end of finger gone, "Hell, that's not foot" —chum was mad, knocked hell out of that fisher.

"Shouldn't wonder if he did. I suppose you hunt more or less. Deer, moose?"

"Some, not much, just to eat you know. Killed a moose once, sorry ever since. Chum and I going through bush, moose came out of brush. I shoot quick and then find cow, too far from camp to bring in, and there was calf. Calf followed us, tried to drive it away, wouldn't go, kept following. I felt bad, Chum cursed. Sat down for time to let calf go away, wouldn't go, we went on, calf followed, got mad and killed damn calf. Felt like murderer, bad business, sorry yet, no business to shoot. Chum told me so ten times."

He grabbed the old hat and rubbed it all over his head: None of us laughed; we didn't feel like it, and we were sorry for him.

"Did you ever have trouble with wolves?"

"Oh, yes, damn wolves, I am afriad of wolves. Never know what they will do, and never know where they are. Maybe close to you, maybe ten, twenty miles away."

"Are there many close to us here? I know there are some."

"Yes, more than you think. I got bad scare last winter. Went out on lake to fish through ice; took two pair blankets to stay all night, made a little brush shelter close to shore, cut holes not far out and fished. Caught some fish and then made tea in front of shelter. Had little dog with me. After supper moon came up bright as day. Heard wolves com- down lake, could see them soon, ing - six or eight. Damn scar- small pa- - scared too. Caught ed I tell you, dog -e in the oth- dog by neck one hand, - with er and waited. Wolves came - rush, ran around holes in ice, licke- at blood where I killed fish, and went on down the lake like hell. Dog all shakes, me too, wolves never seen us. Don't know why they didn't smell us, but glad they didn't.

"What is your opinion as to the number of deer they kill?"

"Don't know how many they kill, but they will kill all they want to, not all they want to eat you know, but all they want to kill. They kill them just for fun—yes you bet they do. I had the laugh on one last summer. Was going up a river trail on foot one day and stopped at a rapid, when I heard wolves away on other side. In a minute one big son of a gun came out of bush to edge of water and stood facing bush. He had come to head off deer at crossing. You would think he was laughing with tongue hanging out, waiting for the deer. I had only shot gun and no balls, but gave him both barrels anyway—you should see him go—wow. Bet he forgot the deer for awhile—I hid in the brush and deer came past but no wolves. Guess that fellow met them and told them that hell was out for noon down by that rapid."

"Did you ever trap any of them?"

"Only one, and I guess that was an accident, they are too smart for me. Wonder what they were made for anyway? Them, and black flies and mosquitoes. I don't know."

"Do you know of a case where they actually killed anyone?"

"Well no, I don't, I have heard of them doing it, but I don't know of a case. I do know of cases where they acted as if they wanted to eat a man pretty bad, but the men were not taking any more chances than they could help to find out whether they were in earnest or only fooling."

"No, I don't suppose they were, but there is a lot of rot talked about the wolf. We have lost a hound bitch, and the men in lumber camp on Hemlock Lake say that the wolves killed her near their camp the night she was lost. What do you think about it?"

The old hat went up on the right side, down on the left, and half way round, before he answered.

"Now, I don't think so, but who can tell? If she was 'running' I would say no, sure, but if she was not I don't know. You can't be sure about a wolf. I used to think I knew something about them, and I wasn't afraid of them, but a few years ago they put the fear in me and I've had it ever since. I was trapping all alone that winter and had a good shanty on a small lake, one of a string of lakes. It was a cold, hard winter with deep snow and no crust. Guess it was a bad year for wolves. The only runs they had were on the lakes and streams where the snow would not lie so deep. They would hunt up and down these and go into the small swamps leading off the ice after the rabbits. I could often hear them go past the hut at night, and sometimes they would stop and howl, but I didn't mind them much then.

"Some days I would have long trips to make and could not get home before dark, and one evening about the end of February I found that a small pack was following me as I came in. They didn't run and howl, but when I would cross a lake and look back I could see them coming, and the next lake the same, and so on until I got home. The next day I got in early, but aftes dark I wanted a small pail of water and took my pail to go down to the water hole in the ice. I got half way down when I met a big wolf in the path. He stood facing me showing his teeth and I shook the pail at him, tninking he would run, but not a run; instead of that he stepped toward me and I backed up, keeping the pail between us and he came on after me. He looked real nasty now, I tell you, and I began to think it was a long way to the door of the hut. I was afraid to turn my back on him, but I did reach the door at last, and I went in almighty quick and slammed it shut while I got my gun, but when I did get it and looked out he was gone.

"I was some mad, but I was some frightened too, and I went after that water with the gun in one hand and the pail in the other, and I went slow, but I came back fast as I could walk, yes I did, not so badly frightened you know. But that wolf did look big and nasty to me, coming after me step by step with head down and eyes turned up, and his teeth flickering. Did any of you gentlemen ever meet one like that?

A murmur of dissent went around the group of listeners, and our trapper went on.

"I didn't hear a wolfe howl that night and I wasn't thinking of wolves when I came in next evening just at dusk, but as I turned up my path from the lake to the shanty something made me look out across the lake, and there was two wolves coming for me for all they were worth about two hundred yards away. I had my snowshoes on my back, and you ought to have seen me go up that path and into the shack. I guess I was ten feet ahead of them when I shut the door, and I was scared, yes I was. That was no way for wolves to act, anyway. Why didn't I shoot? Well, mister I don't know, and then perhaps I do, too, I had a small rifle in my hand all right, but I tell you them two shadows coming for me forty miles an hour didn't look like very good marks for a small rifle bullet, no they did not. Now, if I had had a gun and buckshot it would have been different, but as it was the house for me, yes sir.

He took a turn out of the hat for a few moments and then continued.

"You may think it queer that I was afraid, but you see I was alone in that big woods and them damn wolves weren't playing according to rules; No, sir, they were not. Why it was just as if they had been waiting for me, and to come like that, with no noise or anything, but just come-wow.

"Well, when I took a look out they were gone, yes sir, clean gone, and I didn't go far from the house that night. The next day I was out on a - cent line, and I came down from dus- behind the shack, and it the woods - and I waited wasn't dark either, - began to in the house until the light - fade a little, then went down near the lake to have a look around, and, by James Christopher, there was them two devils over near the other shore sitting on their tails and watching down the lake. Say now, wouldn't that jar you some? It did me, and it made me mad. I judged the distance was about three hundred yards, and I cut loose at them. I made the snow fly pretty close, but I don't think I hit, and they went off into a swamp over there almighty quick.

"Now that beat anything I ever knew about wolves, and I couldn't figure it out no way. If they wanted me so bad why didn't they follow me and get me? The snow was too deep and soft for them to run in the woods, but there were strips on any of the larger lakes where they could run me down easy, and I had been walking on these without my snowshoes most every day.

"Well, I couldn't figure it out anyway, but I got so I thought about wolves more than I did, now I tell you. The next day it snowed heavy and I stayed in. But the following day I was out on a line that took me over two larger lakes and I put a good supply of cartridges in my pocket before starting. I got a few pelts and was heading for home in good time, and was only about three miles out coming along on a lake close to shore when I looked back and there was a pack of wolves coming on my track, and coming fast for the footing was pretty good along there.

"I knew that there was a good stretch of open bush between me and home, and the snow was so deep that all low bush was covered anyway, so I took to the bush. There wasn't a sound out of them beggars, so I couldn't tell how they were getting on until I had gone some distance through the bush. Then I stopped and looked back. My snowshoes were of the largest size, but the snow was so soft that even they made a deep track, and you should have seen them wild dogs. Wolves don't like snowshoe tracks for some reason, and most of them were jumping in the snow and making bad time of it, but two of them were coming in the tracks and doing a little better. They were having so much trouble that I lost some of my fear of them and began to cool off a little. I figured that if they made such poor time in the first quarter of a mile they would be worse later on, so I waited until the two leaders were about two hundred yards from me and tried a shot, or two. I got one and the others howled like devils when they saw me, and I lit out. Another quarter mile, or thereabouts. I stopped again and found that the leader hadn't gained on me, while the bunch were still some distance behind him and all trying to run in my tracks, but they were tumbling over each other in all shapes. I got the leader at the second shot and waited until the bunch came in range and fired a couple more into the crowd of them. Then I lit out again, but I felt safe now and began to enjoy myself. The next time I turned two more had drawn away from the pack and I waited until I got them both. I expected they would have given up only they could see me all the time, and this encouraged them to keep on. I got one at the next stop and tried to count what was left. I made them five, but they were so mixed up it was hard to make sure. By the time I had got to within half a mile of the shanty there were only three left, and I was waiting to get them when I heard howls between me and the camp. This brought the sweat out on me again, and greatly encouraged the three behind me, who were about all in. I had to go on anyway, so when I knocked over one of the three, I set my face once more for home, and I was filled with rage against the wolves ahead of me, for I felt that they knew what was being hunted. They would not howl, like waiting to head off deer, the devils.

"I was doing some tall thinking as I mooched along, and I made up my mind that my only plan was to down the two behind me before I had to deal with those in front, so I pulled up and waited for them. I was not afraid of them now, and let them come quite close, or as close as they would, as they stopped some distance away, and they were the worst played out specimens you ever seen. I up with the rifle and went on slowly, keeping a sharp lookout for the home guard.

"I came in sight of the shack from the rear, and then I saw them. Only two, and they were at the end of the short wood trail between me and the house. I don't know when they seen me but I saw them as they dashed into the snow to meet me. But I had been having some good practice at that kind of shooting and the last one was still thirty yards away when I stopped him for good.

"No, gentlemen, I don't like wolves, I am afraid of them, and I guess I had better be going. No thank you, no more for me."

This last in answer to my offer of urther liquid refreshments, so I went own to the beach with him, where he set the little canoe in the water, stepped in, sank down on his knees, swung his paddle and with a "Good-night, sir," was gone as if he had never been.

As I came back to the gang, the Doctor remarked, "Say, E. J., you are strong on history. When did Ananias die?"

And I answered, "Ananias never died; I have hunted with him, and many of him, these many years."

After La Grippe

"I had suffered several weeks with LaGrippe. Had pains in my head and eyes. It felt as though there was a heavy weight on the top of my head, until it seemed that my brain would burst. I was so nervous that I could not rest or sleep. When I dozed off I would awake with a sudden jerking of my whole body. Dr. Miles' Nervine, Heart Remedy and Nerve and Liver Pills cured me. A number of friends have since realized the same benefits."

MRS. ALVIN H. LOCKS, Seabrook, N. H.

The after effects of LaGrippe are often more serious than the disease, as it leaves the system in a weakened condition that invites more serious troubles, such as pneumonia, etc.

Dr. Miles' Restorative Nervine should be taken for some time to thoroughly restore nerve strength.

WORTH MOUNTAINS OF GOLD

During Change of Life, says Mrs. Chas. Barclay

Graniteville, Vt.—"I was passing through the Change of Life and suffered from nervousness and other annoying symptoms, and I can truly say that Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has proved worth mountains of gold to me, as it restored my health and strength. I never forget to tell my friends what Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has done for me during this trying period. Complete restoration to health means so much to me that for the sake of other suffering women I am willing to make my trouble public so you may publish this letter."—MRS. CHAS. BARCLAY, R.F.D., Graniteville, Vt.

No other medicine for woman's ills has received such wide-spread and unqualified endorsement. No other medicine we know of has such a record of cures of female ills as has Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

For more than 80 years it has been curing female complaints such as inflammation, ulceration, local weaknesses, fibroid tumors, irregularities, periodic pains, backache, indigestion and nervous prostration, and it is unequalled for carrying women safely through the period of change of life. It costs but little to try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, and, as Mrs. Barclay says, it is "worth mountains of gold" to suffering women.

HE FOUND THEM NO FAITH CURE

But Dodd's Kidney Pills Cleaned out W. F. Black's Sciatica.

He was in agony when a friend gave him a box. Now he recommends them to everybody.

Newcastle, N.B., Nov. 14. (Special) In these cold fall days when the chill winds crystalize the uric acid in the blood and cause the pangs of Rheumatism and Sciatica to bring sleepless nights to many a home, a man's best friend is he who can tell his neighbor of a sure cure for his tortures. Such a friend is Wm. F. Black of this place. He suffered from Sciatica and lame back. He was so bad that he could not lace his boots or turn in bed. Dodd's Kidney Pills cured him and he wants all his neighbors to know of the cure.

"Yes," Mr. Black says, in an interview, "I was so bad with Sciatica and Lame Back that I couldn't lace my shoes or turn in bed, when a friend gave me about a third of a box of Dodd's Kidney Pills. I started taking them without much faith in their curative powers, and found them all they were recommended.

"Now I am recommending Dodd's Kidney Pills to all sufferers from Kidney Disease."

Dodd's Kidney Pills are no faith cure. They're a simple but sure cure for diseased kidneys.

FIELD CROPS IN CANADA.

Large Increase in Acreage Sown to Fall Wheat.

A Census Office bulletin issued from Ottawa on Saturday states that the closing months of the year give good reports for nearly all of the field crops of the Dominion. Potatoes alone indicate a partial failure, and in all the Provinces there are complaints of rot in the fields and in the heaps for winter storage. The area is 503,262 acres, and the estimated yield 74,048,000 bushels. This is an average of about 147 bushels per acre, which is nearly uniform for all the Provinces.

Turnips and other field roots show a yield per acre of 402 bushels, and a total yield of 95,207,000 bushels, for a crop of 236,622 acres.

Hay and clover are computed for 8,515,400 acres, and a yield per acre of 1.82 tons.

Sugar beets are grown most extensively in Ontario and Alberta, where they supply roots for three sugar factories. The area in crop this year is 16,000 acres, which is a substantial increase upon t last year. The yield per acre is 9.69 tons, the total yield being 155,000 tons.

The roots supplied to the Berlin factory are testing 17 per cent. of sugar, and at the Wallaceburg factory 16 per cent., but a product of 5,000 acres in Ontario is being shipped to factories in Michigan. The product of 8,200 acres in that Province is marketed at Wallaceburg and Berlin, where the average price is about $5.86 per ton, or better than $57.80 per acre.

Computed at the average local prices, the matket value of potatoes this year is $33,447,000; turnips and other roots, $21,444,000; hay and clover, $149,716,000; fodder corn, $11,957,000; sugar-beets, $887,000.

The report on fall wheat sown this year shows an area of 790,300 acres, whereof 682,500 acres is in Ontario and 107,800 acres in Alberta. Last year the area was 609,200 acres for Ontario, and 98,000 in Alberta. The condition of the crop is reported at 98.40 per cent., as compared with 93.60 last year.

The per cent. of fall ploughing completed this year, compared with the area planned for, is less than last year, but the report is made for a period one month earlier. The per cent. of summer-fallowing, compared in the same way, is somewhat lower, but increases are shown for Saskatchewan and Alberta.

LOCAL OPTION CONTESTS.

Between 80 and 90 Municipalities Will Vote on January 2nd.

Another important Local Option Campaign is in progress in the Province of Ontario.

On Monday, January 2nd, 1910, between 80 and 90 municipalities will vote upon the question of Local Prohibition and the inevitable result would seem to be the still further weakening of the Liquor Traffic and strengthening of the Temperance Forces.

This year, contests are on in both the extreme Eastern and Western parts of the Province. The Town of Amherstburg in Essex County, and the Town of Lancaster in Glengary County will both vote, together with many other places scattered in between.

Eastern Ontario has more than its share of contests. Every municipality in the County of Glengary is into the fight, including the Town of Alexandria, the Villages of Lancaster and Maxville, and the Townships of Kenyon, Lochiel, and Lancaster.
